THE THIRTY-FIRST REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONORABLE THE EARL CADOGAN, K.G.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

1. At Appendix I. of this Report is printed the emendations necessary to be made in the Addenda to the Index of the Act or Grant Books and Original Wills of the Diocese of Dublin 1272–1800, being Appendix IV. of my 26th Report, in consequence of the references to Marriage Licences between the periods 1672–1685 and 1713–1741 having been taken, in the absence of the original registers, from a transcript of a private Index. Since then the original books of Marriage Licences have been found, as stated in my last Report, and many mistakes were found to exist in the transcript. These are now corrected by printing the correct entries in cases where mistakes exist in the published Index. Appendix I.

2. I regret to have to report the death of Mr. J. C. Bailey, an experienced clerk in this Department, which occurred in the month of January. The vacancy has been filled by the appointment of Mr. J. F. Morrissey.

3. I have been approached by the Historical MSS. Commission, with a view to having MSS. committed to them, for the purpose of publication, deposited temporarily in the Strong Room for safe custody during examination and transcription by their Inspectors. I am very happy to have been able to meet the wishes of the Commission.

4. Permission was given by the Lords of H.M. Treasury to purchase some Records of the late Killaloe Diocesan Registry; also two lots at the auction of a portion of the library of the late Sir Thomas Phillipps, bart., which had apparently at one time formed portion of the Records of the Crown. Schedules are given at paragraphs 70 and 71 respectively.

5. The Title Book, 1638–1648, of the Diocese of Dublin, stated in the Introductory Note to the Appendix of my 26th Report to have been then in the custody of the Registrar of the diocese, has been transferred here (see paragraph 69).

State Paper Office.

6. The books and papers received from the Chief Secretary's Office during the year were of an unusually varied character. They included—

1. The files of Letters received in that Office for the year 1888, occupying 71 cartons. Also the Registers of Letters received for 1886 to 1888, 10 large volumes.
2. Sixty volumes of Letter Entry Books, as follows :—
   Government Letters, 1854–80.
   Irish Departmental Letters, 1859-76.
   Letter Book, "First Division," 1864-76.
   Irish Departmental and Country Letter Book, 1876-79.
3. Papers of the Queen's Colleges Commission, 1884: Minute Books of Meetings, Minutes of Evidence, Letter Books, Correspondence and Draft Report, 5 cartons and 3 vols.
4. Educational Endowments Commission, Minutes and Letter Books, 1879–81, 2 vols.; Papers and Returns, 1879-91, 14 cartons; School Accounts, Parish of St. Bridget, Dublin, 1837–86, 3 vols.
5. Abstracts of Poor Law Union Accounts, and Abstracts of Numbers of several classes of Paupers relieved in 1857, 4 portfolios.
6. Boundary Commission, Ireland, under Redistribution of Seats Act, 1884; Minute Books, Registers of Letters, Minutes, Letters, Maps, and Draft Report, 1884-5.
7. Commissioners of Ministers' Money, Tin Box containing Memoranda and Forms.
8. Barrow Arterial Drainage, 1888, Maps, Plans, and Sections.
9. Evicted Tenants Commission, 1892; Letters, Papers, and Books, 18 cartons, and 9 parcels.

7. The Searches made for the Chief Secretary's Office numbered 307, the largest number yet registered in one year.

8. The following, with the permission of the Lord Lieutenant or the Chief Secretary, were permitted to examine or obtain copies of State Papers: M. Felix Salomon of Leipzig, Mr. O'Connor Morris (on behalf of Lord Ashbourne), Colonel Lunham, and Mr. J. G. Swift MacNeill, M.P.

9. The letter files of 1888 received from the Chief Secretary's Office have been checked and placed in 49 carton boxes, numbered 3,411 to 3,458.

10. The arrangement of the Letters and Papers of the period 1760 to 1789, mentioned in last Report as having been commenced, has been completed, and a manuscript catalogue prepared extending to nearly 700 pages. The collection as now arranged has been formed by bringing together the letters and papers of this period from the following collections in the State Paper Office already referred to in former reports, viz.:—

11. (a) "Miscellaneous State Papers" referred to by Old Official Index, arranged according to subjects (Rep. IV., p. 24, Rep. V., p. 31). This collection consists mainly of letters to the Irish Government from Public Departments or Officials in England and Ireland; classified in part according to the Department from which they came, and in part according to the subjects with which they deal. They include a continuation of the important series already transferred under the title of British Departmental Correspondence. The system of arrangement has been retained and has been supplemented by the addition of the letters and papers of this period found among the following:—

12. (b) "Miscellaneous State Papers," arranged chronologically, (Report V., p. 31). These papers were arranged in years in 1872, but the index then formed being of little practical value, all papers before 1790 have been withdrawn from it and amalgamated with this present collection.

13. (c) "Irish Departmental Correspondence." The majority of the papers of this small class were included in the collection of Papers earlier than 1760 mentioned in Rep. XXIX., s. 23, and Rep. XXX., s. 8. What remained of it has now been included in the present series.

14. (d) Miscellaneous Papers, 1760-1811, found by Sir B. Burke (see Rep. XIII., p. 14). Those prior to 1760 were included in the transfer of 1897; of the residue, those to 1789 are included in the present collection and in the Miscellaneous Papers which are to supplement it.

15. (e) The collection referred to in Sir B. Burke's VIII., (p. 23), IX. (p. 17), and XVI. (p. 14) Reports. The papers of this collection commenced in 1779. Those from this date to 1789, which occupied 4 cartons, numbered 620/15, to 620/18, have been inserted in the collection now formed. These papers are not, as seems to be implied, included in the comprehensive index of this collection mentioned in Rep. XX., p. 26.

16. (f) Occasional documents for this period found during the general arrangement of the different collections.

17. Besides these Departmental Letters and Official Papers there are a number of Miscellaneous Letters and Papers, filling 5 or 6 cartons, for the same period and derived from the same sources. The arrangement and catalóguing of these also was commenced but could not be completed in 1898.

18. In addition to the work in arranging and cataloguing these Official Letters and Papers, the following classes have been cleaned, examined, arranged, made up in brown paper parcels, and labelled, and entered up:—

Letters and Papers of Commissioners of Customs, 1790–1831.

Letters and Papers of Commissioners of Excise, 1797–1835.

Constabulary, Letters of Major Miller, Inspector-General of the Munster Constabulary, 1829–36.

Other Constabulary Returns and Papers, 1828–36.
Crown Solicitors' Accounts, 1801–35.
Relief Commission Papers, 1845–47.
Land Commission, 1844: Papers, 1843–44.

Departmental Letters and Official Papers, 1760–89.

Land Commission, 1844. Correspondence, Returns, and Minutes of Evidence and Proceedings.

19. The DEPARTMENTAL LETTERS AND OFFICIAL PAPERS, as has been observed, are arranged according to Departments and subjects. A list of the Heads of this collection was given in the 4th Report, D.K.R., pp. 24–5. As the papers under many of the heads in that list do not commence until after the period covered by the collection now transferred, it may not be amiss to give a list of the heads under which the papers now transferred are grouped. In this the more important or more numerously represented heads are given in capitals:—

Accounts, 1763–89; Addresses, 1778–80; Admiralty, 1760–82; Annuities, 1778–89; Banks, 1782–89; Barracks and Public Works Commissioners, 1760–89; Chief Secretary's Office, 1777–85; Commander of the Forces, 1777–79; Convicts, 1762–89; Council Office, London, 1762–82; COUNCIL OFFICE, Dublin, 1760–89; Courts of Law and Equity, 1779–89; Crown Lands, 1768–87; Crown Solicitor, 1779–89; Currency, 1768–89; Customs Commissioners, 1772–89; Dublin Castle, 1763–84; Dublin Paving Board, 1787–88; Dublin Police, 1784–89; Dublin Quay Walls, 1788–89; Dublin Wide Street Commissioners, 1777–84; Ecclesiastical, 1759–89; Education, 1786–88; Excise Office, 1772–89; Fairs and Markets, 1769–78; Fisheries, 1774–88; Genevan Colony and New Geneva, 1783–89; House of Industry, 1771–89; HOME OFFICE, 1760–89; IRISH OFFICE, 1760–85; Inland Navigation, 1772–88; Knights of St. Patrick, 1783; Law Opinions, 1772–87; Light Houses, 1768–89; Linen Board, 1774–85; Lotteries, 1780–89; LORD LIEUTENANT, 1760–89; Magistracy, 1787–89; Military Miscellaneous, 1759–89; Naval, 1770–88; PARLIAMENT, 1763–89; Patents, 1728–89, Peerage Claims, 1772–88; Phœnix Park, 1762–89; Post Office, 1762–89; Prisons, 1765–89; Quarantine, 1760–89; Quarter Sessions, 1783; REVENUE COMMISSIONERS, 1760–89; Roman Catholic Priests, 1782–87; Roman Catholic Oaths, 1770–87; Secret Service, 1767–88; Sheriffs, 1771–89; Smuggling, 1777–86; Stamp Office, 1773–89; STATE OF COUNTRY, 1760–89; Stationery and King's Printer, 1763–86; Surveys, 1786–89; Trade and Manufactures, 1776–89; TREASURY, 1760–89; Volunteers, 1778–87; Ulster King of Arms, 1780–88; War Office, 1760–72.

20. This collection of Departmental Letters may be regarded as forming the continuation of the important class of British Departmental Correspondence transferred in 1894. The letters from the principal Government Departments have generally been put up with considerable regularity, yet frequent gaps occur in every series. Appendix II. contains a few notes by Mr. James Mills on this collection.

Appendix II.

72. On 21st July, 1898, Rev. Christopher T. M'Cready, D.D. presented to this department the ancient Vestry Book of the parish of St. Audoen, Dublin, which had become his property; the volume extends from 16th April, 1636, to 9th November, 1702.

73. Deeds affecting the right of the Crown were deposited here by the Quit Rent Office during the year, to the number of ninety-three, of which eighty-four are conveyances of Crown and Quit Rents.

Sorting and Arrangement of Records.

74. The re-arrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has progressed from October, 1764, to January, 1788, and of the Answers from January, 1764, to November, 1787, comprising 5,435 fasciculi, assorted into 916 brown paper parcels.

75. One thousand seven hundred and eighteen bundles of Crown and Peace Office Records, 184 bundles of the late Landed Estates Court Records, and 517 bundles of the Census Returns for 1841 have been cleaned, stamped and parcelled into brown paper dust-proof parcels.

76. One thousand nine hundred and fifty-eight Bankruptcy files in portfolios have been cleaned, newly corded, stamped, and labelled.

77. One hundred and forty-eight bundles of Building Papers, Glebe Title Deeds, Maps and Terriers, and See Leases of various dioceses, have been folded to an uniform size and arranged in covered parcels; as have also 316 bundles of Exchequer Pleadings and Papers.

78. The arrangement and consolidation of the Cause Papers of the Court of Chancery, commonly called Masters' Papers, have advanced as far as the end of letter N, making 11,277 bundles of Cause Papers.

79. Three thousand one hundred and seventy-six Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Cloyne have been repaired, sized, and pasted on guards, and twelve volumes of them bound. Two hundred and fifteen leaves of Parish Registers have been repaired and sized, and 124 volumes of Records, 277 volumes of specifications and patents of invention, and eleven volumes of indexes, have been bound.

Indexing and Calendaring.

80. An Index has been made to a Will and Grant Book of the Diocese of Ferns for the years 1791–1803, to a like volume of the Diocese of Leighlin for the years 1666–1691, to a Grant Book of the Diocese of Ardfert for the years 1780–1788, to a Cork and Cloyne Marriage Licence Book for the years 1776–1786, and to a Diocesan Registry and Will and Grant Book (Diocese of Clonfert), 1716–1754.

81. An Index has been made to the Decretal Orders on Cause Petitions under the Chancery (Ireland) Regulation Act, 1850, and to the series of Masters' Orders in Chancery for the years 1850–55.

82. The Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Ossory have been indexed, and the engrossment has been bound for the use of the public.

83. The Indices to the Wills of the Dioceses of Ireland, with the exception of Dublin (which has been already printed), are in process of being compared with the original Wills and checked with the Will Books, and it is expected that the long-deferred work of preparing for press a general Consolidated Index of these Wills can soon be undertaken.

Proceedings under the Parochial Records Acts, 38 & 39 Vict., c. 59, and 39 & 40 Vict., c. 58.

84. The Report of Parochial Officers having custody of their Parish Registers under Retention Orders were all duly furnished.

85. The Retention Orders granted by the Master of the Rolls up to the commencement of the present year are 581 in number.

86. Registers of the following Parishes were repaired and bound at the request of the respective custodians, viz. :—Ballyadams, 1 vol., Cloyne, 4 vols., St. Peter's, Dublin, 2 vols., Stradbally (Leighlin), 2 vols.

87. The Records of the following parishes, which became attachable during the year 1898, have been transferred to this Department :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Glenties, ...	Donegal, .	2	1852–1897	—	1853–1897

St. John's, Kilkenny. . .	Kilkenny, .	3	1809–1890	1809–1854	1813–1892

88. In the following parishes the Records were allowed to remain in local custody under Retention Orders :—

Aghalee.
Billis.
Cappagh.
Newtownbarry.
St. John's, Monkstown.
Stratford-on-Slaney.
Tomregan.

89. The Master of the Rolls cancelled the Retention Order for the parish of Magheragall, and issued a new one on 26th July, 1898, in consequence of the erection of a vestry room, which necessitated the removal and re-erection of the safe.

90. The Retention Order, which had been granted for the parish of Eirke in 1879, was cancelled by Order of the Master of the Rolls, dated 11th May, 1898, and under the same order two Registers were transferred to this Office. This step was taken in consequence of the loss of a vestry book, containing entries of Baptisms, 1762-9, which had been included in the Retention Order.

91. A Register of the parishes of Tracton and Nohoval, 1745--1784, which was not returned in the original inventory, was recovered by Rev. Geo. Herrick, Incumbent, and deposited here under warrant of the Master of the Rolls.

92. The fees received in stamps during the year reached the total of £985 8*s.* 6*d.*, an amount which shows an increase of £122 6*s.* on the receipts of the previous year.

94. A large number of Searches dealing with matters of historical and antiquarian interest have been made during the year. Among these I may mention more particularly the History of the Counties of Clare, Fermanagh, and Monaghan; of the Parishes of Ardee, Clonfert, Derrybrush, Errigal Trough, Killucan, Monkstown, Tallaght, and Tullylish; of Carrickfergus, Waterford, Thomascourt, Mount Merrion, Limerick Cathedral, Dublin Hospitals, and Dublin Printing in the 17th Century; of the O'Carrolls of Ely, and the families of County Fermanagh; of the 68th Regiment; the Cromwellian Settlement of Ireland; the Military and Civil History of the year 1798; the life of William Molyneux, of Dublin, and materials for contributions to the Dictionary of National Biography.

Dated at the Public Record Office,
Four Courts, Dublin, this Fifth day of May, 1899.

J. J. DIGGES LA TOUCHE,

Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland, under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER,

Master of the Rolls.

APPENDIX II.

Extract from Memorandum by Mr. James Mills on the Departmental Letters and Official Papers, 1760–1789, transferred in 1898.

Among the matters illustrated by this collection may be noted the progress of the Bills of the Irish Parliament, which may be traced in the papers under the heads of Parliament, Council Office, Ireland, Irish Office, and Council Office, London, and sometimes under Treasury and Home Office. A curious example of the way in which Bills of consequence were sometimes pushed through the necessary stages is given in the following letter of the Under Secretary at the Irish Office in London (Irish Office letter, 1776, April 21):

"Crown-street [London], April 21, 1776.

"SIR,—Two days since, I called on Sr. Stanier Porten to settle the manner of transmitting the Bills; and as it was determined to send them by a messenger, I gave notice thereof to the Council officers, and as all the persons concern'd in forwarding the business seem to have been animated with an uncommon zeal for dispatch, I think some of the particulars not unworthy to come to his Excellency's knowledge.

"Mr. Frewen, the Deputy Clerk of the Crown, obtain'd the Lord High Steward's permission to leave his attendance on him in the Hall,* that he might examine the Bills with the transcripts, but the Attorney-General's clerk, who is the constant coadjutor to that officer on these occasions, could not possibly quit his station; therefore Mr. Dring, of the Council Office, acted as his deputy, and before the Lords had adjourn'd, which was about six o'clock, the examination of the Bills was finish'd.

"Sr. Stanier Porten, whose curiosity had carried him to the trial, left the Hall at 2 o'clock, to get the proclamation sign'd by the King, which he got done.

"Mr. Cotterel was obliged to attend on the Foreign Ambassadors in the Hall during the whole trial; but has found time to write to you what the messenger brings with him, and to give some directions, ordering the messenger to attend at 10 o'clock.

"In the meantime Mr. Dring was to get the Bills sign'd and seal'd.

"Accordingly, he went to Mr. Rigby's, where my Lord President and the Attorney-General were to dine, but was refused to be admitted. Upon this he went back to the office, wrote a letter in the name of Mr. Cotterel to Lord President, requesting him to prevail on the Attorney-General to sign the Bills, for which purpose, he said, a clerk was waiting with them. These he carried in his bag, and Mr. Rigby's servants condescending to give the letter to Lord President, in 10 minutes the Attorney-General sign'd them, and dispatch'd him. Then he proceeded to the Lord High Steward's, who was to dine at 8 o'clock, and getting there a little before, got the seal affixt; and by half-past 9 they were made up and delivered to Raworth, the messenger, who inform'd me that he should not sett off that night (all this was between 2 and 10 o'clock yesterday), as a messenger was come from Dublin, and Lord Weymouth must answer some letters, which he could not do till this day.

* The Lord Chancellor was sitting as Lord Steward at the trial of the Duchess of Kingston for bigamy.

"Now I must observe, that so many great and little people, who were all concern'd to complete and perfect the business so necessary at this time for the Irish Government, concarring to act their several parts, at a time they really might have been excused (if they had not been well disposed) almost deserves a chronicle; though I own it puzzles me in some degree that it should have so happen'd.

"You will be so good as to acquaint his Excellency with the purport hereof, and believe me to be,

"Dear Sir,

"Your very faithfull and obedient humble Servant,

"ROBT. WESTON."

The discussion in London between representatives of the Irish Government and the London authorities on the laws affecting Irish Trade is reported in a number of very full letters written by Sackville Hamilton, one of the Irish representatives, to the Chief Secretary (Trade, 1780, Jan. 1 to April 11). Hamilton met with every consideration, and speaks with much satisfaction of Lord North's "Honor, Steadiness, and Favor for Ireland." (Feb. 2.)

Under the head "POST OFFICE" are some interesting papers describing the mode in which the mails were conveyed through the country. Almost to the end of the period covered by this collection, the mails were carried by a mounted postboy riding alone. It is no marvel that they were frequently robbed.

Robbers, however, were not the only danger that the postboys had to face, as may be seen from the following letter:—

"SIR,—I am commanded by Lord Clermont to represent to you, for the information of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, that on Wednesday morning the 1st inst. between 1 and 2 o'clock, the centinels at Newgate stopped the postboy who was carrying the mail from this office to Kilcullen, and one of them struck the horse with his musquet, and the other stabbed him in two places in the side with his bayonet, so that he is still dangerously ill.

"I am to add that about six in the morning of Monday, the 6th inst. while it was full daylight, a centinel at Newgate struck another postboy who was bringing the mail from Kilcullen to this office, and wounded him twice in the head with his gun.

"The 55th Regiment was upon guard on the 1st inst., and the 47th on the 6th.

"As the safe and speedy conveyance of His Majesty's Mails is of the utmost consequence to the trade and correspondence of this Kingdom, which, together with the persons employed in the service, have always been under the protection of Government, Lord Clermont thinks himself oblig'd to beg His Excellency will be pleas'd to issue his orders that the mails may not in future be detain'd by the soldiers upon guard, that the postboys may not be molested, that the offenders I have mentioned may be pun'sh'd in an exemplary manner, to deter others from the like attempts, and that the Postmaster of Kilcullen may have satisfaction for the damage done to his horse, or the loss of him if he dies.

"It would be injustice not to acknowledge that the commanding officers of the 55th and 47th Regiments have behaved themselves with great civility and politeness upon this unlucky occasion. They with all diligence discovered the offenders, and offered to try them by a court martial, but as Lord Clermont was then in the country, and expected in town in a few days I thought it right to wait for his lordship's orders.

"I have the honour to be with great respect,

"Sir,

"Your most obedient and most faithful humble servant,

"JOHN WILSON, Sec.

"Genl. Post Office, Dublin,

"Augt. 14th, 1770."

It was not, however, until 1785 that the merchants of Cork and Belfast began to agitate for a more secure and convenient mode of conveying the mails. The first effort in this direction is to be found in an offer made by three merchants of Cork in the following letter:—

"Cork, 3rd Sep^r., 1785.

"MY LORD AND SIR,—As his Majesties Post Masters General of this Kingdom we take the liberty of addressing you, humbly to submit to your consideration a plan for conveying the mail to and from Dublin hither in post carriages, agreeable to the mode now so universally adopted thro'out England. We are well aware of the many difficulties we have to encounter in venturing upon so very new and hazardous an undertaking, yet so ambitious are we to promote what must be of such utility to trade and general advantage to the kingdom, that, under y^r hon^ble patronage, we are ready to give ample security for establishing regular post carriages and horses, which during the six summer months shall take up and bring down the mail in 28 hours, and in winter not exceed 30 hours; allowing us at the rate of Mr. Palmer's* original engagement, which we understand to be 3*d.* per English mile down and 1½*d.* back, with half a guinea p. week to each of the attending guards (should such be deem'd necessary), warranting us a contract for twenty-one years or any longer engagement you may deem our humble endeavours worthy of.

"We have the honor to remain with the greatest respect,

"My Lord and Sir,

"Your most hmble. and obedt. serv^ts,

"B. O'DONNOGHUE,

"JOHN ANDERSON,

"H^y. FORTESCUE.

"R^t. Honble. the Post Masters General."

* Mail coach contractor in England.

This proposal was favourably received by the Post Office authorities in Dublin, and it was recommended by them in a letter from the Secretary of 7th September, 1785. They considered that "very essential advantages must result, not only by the more speedy conveyance of His Majesty's mails, but from the communication which will thereby be opened in little more than twenty-four hours between Dublin and Corke, which, by the present mode of travelling, takes up a space of five days."

Further consideration showed difficulties which prevented the immediate carrying out of this improvement. In a letter of 13th December, 1786, the Secretary writes:—"Upon enquiry into the state of the roads throughout the Kingdom in general, they appear'd to be in such a situation as to preclude the possibility of such an establishment at present, nor was it likely that they would be so soon put into sufficient repair for that purpose as might be wish'd. That the moment they were so, and that contractors could be found to undertake such a plan, they would again call the attention of Government to that very important and desireable object."

In 1788 a more than usually important mail robbery brought the question again into prominence.

"Gen. Post Office, Dublin,

"Thursday, Feb. 28th, 1788.

"Information is further received this morning that the postboy with the mail for Dublin was again robbed last night at nine o'clock, between Dunleer and Drogheda, by two men, one a tall, the other a short man. The latter of whom tied the postboy's hands behind his back with a garter, and took the entire mail away, containing the postbags from the following towns that should have arrived here this morning, viz., Armagh, Banbridge, Belfast, Castlebellingham, Donaghadee, Dromore, Dundalk, Dungannon, Dunleer, Flurrybridge, Hillsborough, Loughbrickland, Lurganbreen, Markethill, Newry, Newtownards. * * * *"

This robbery appears to have hastened the action of the authorities, and in the following month an advertisement was published for proposals for "carrying the mails in coaches, attended by guards." In considering the cost of the new arrangements, the Postmasters-General observe (letter, 31 May, 1788)—"That as the solicitor's bills for the expence of prosecutions for mail robberies since the establishment of this Office amount, upon an average, to £1,000 a year, a saving nearly to that amount may be expected to the revenue of this Office if the Mail Coach plan shall be established."

Smugglers plied their calling with much success, notwithstanding the Irish Fleet of Revenue Cruisers. Several letters point to the little port of Rush, though so near Dublin, as one of the most formidable homes of the smuggler. During war, especially the American War, the smugglers were frequently found manning and directing the French and American privateers, which infested the coast and seriously menaced the trade of the country. The following letter, preserved under head of Revenue, illustrates how completely the trade was sometimes at their mercy:—

"Custom House, Waterford,
"13th August, 1781.

"HONOURED SIRS,—I am sorry to acquaint your Honrs. that this port is now so compleatly block'd up by privateers that no vessel going out, or coming in, can possibly escape; one of them, a lugger of 16 six-pounders, commanded by Dowling, just now chaced the Hunter Impress boat into the very harbour; this privateer lies at anchor frequently in the sound between the two Saltees, and slips out occasionally on seeing any ship. A brig and lugger chased several vessels yesterday (Sunday) off the Tower, and took one of our coal traders (the Iris, Captn. Tedball) and two sloops of little value, one of which they ransomed for one hundred guineas, and the other they suffer'd to pass free, but finding the Iris had a few packs of bay yarn on board, which she took in here, they would not ransom her on any account. Another of the privateers, which has committed great depredations on this coast, carrys 26 nine and twelve-pounders and 250 men, and has (it is reported by some who were prisoners on board her) ransomers on board, to the amount of forty thousand pounds; she is call'd the Princess de Norrice, one McCarthy, commander; there is also another cutter on the coast, call'd the Chardon, of 20 guns. In short, I can assure your Honrs. with certainty, that scarce a day passes that vessels are not taken in view of the people about Dunmore and Tramore, and unless some effectual steps shall be taken to prevent it, there must be an end to all trade here, as insurance will not be had for any premium. And what makes our situation the more deploreable is that the Nemesis, frigate, and Viper, cutter, have been order'd for Cork, whither they sail'd the 10th inst, to convoy a fleet from thence to England, so that we have now a repetition of every evil to expect from those pirates, who were hardy enough to take many vessels at the harbour's mouth, at a time when they knew that some of his Majesty's ships of war were at anchor within.

"I am, with great respect, Hond. Sirs,
"Your most obedt. hble. servt.,

"J. GAHAN,
"Survr."

Great as was the danger from the privateer pirates, the unlighted coast formed a still graver source of disaster. Some interesting particulars are included under the head of "Light Houses," especially as to those at Hook, Tuskar, and Howth. So late as 1788 the question whether oil lamps might not be an improvement on the open coal fires hitherto used, was under discussion; experiments were gravely made and reported on.

Among matters of internal interest, the occasional distress caused by general or local failures of the crops, at several times occupied the attention of Government. Among the means adopted were encouragement of coastwise conveyance of corn from districts of plenty to distressed districts, purchase of corn to be retailed at low price to the poor, &c.

A letter of Lord Temple, when leaving office, to his successor, Lord Northington ("Lord Lieutenant," 23 May, 1783), deals very fully with the means of meeting the then threatened dearth. Among other measures referred to, he adds that "the laws of this Kingdom do not enable Government to stop the distillery, else an immediate relief might be afforded against the threatened calamity."

The Excise authorities had already (Revenue, 19 July, 1766) called attention to the waste of corn from unchecked distilling in time of scarcity, and had urged this an additional reason for increased aid from the military for their officers.

Section 5 of the Act 21 & 22 Geo. III. c. 24, which enabled Catholic priests to register themselves, has led to the preservation of lists of the Catholic clergy of several dioceses. Some of these registers are very full of interesting details, including, beside the name and rank of the clergyman, his age, and the date and place of receiving the different orders, and the names of the ordaining bishops.

Under the head, "Surveys," are some very interesting letters of Colonel Vallancey, describing the accident by which he discovered Petty's maps in the Royal Library in Paris, and his subsequent progress in the transcription of the maps. Two of these letters are subjoined:—

"My Lord,—Having by accident turned over the King's Catalogue of the Bibliotheque Royal de France, a discovery offered of much importance to Ireland. On enquiry of Lord Erlsfort, the Secretary of State, &c., I believe your Grace will find that the Down Survey or the survey of the forfeited estates, made by Sir Wm. Petty, are frequently allowed to be evidence in Court, in cases of property. That on this account an office called the Surveyor General's of Land, was established for the preservation of this survey; that many years since, a fire in the Castle of Dublin consumed many of these surveys; that the copy in possession of Lord Shelborn is imperfect, and cannot supply this defect. That these copies are all laid down on a scale too small for ascertaining the just bounds of estates, and were not intended by Sir Wm. Petty for that purpose, but only a contraction of the great originals towards making a small map of Ireland.

"That the original on a large scale was shipped for England, in order to be engraved in London, in the reign of Queen Ann; the ship was taken in the passage by a French privateer and carried into St. Maloes, and many fruitless searches have been made to recover these Surveys.

"Lord Harcourt made every enquiry possible for them in France; Lord Shelborn did the same; the Catalogues of the French Libraries were turned to in vain; no such maps appearing in the Catalogues under the words Cartes or MSS, the Librarians never gave themselves further trouble. I have experienced the same both at Oxford and Cambridge.

"My pursuits this day in the French King's Catalogue were for old Copies of the Bible, and consequently turned to the volume entitled Theology, curious to know in what manner the collection was made. I perused the Preface, and to my great astonishment at page 50, found the enclosed account of the original Survey of Ireland, by Sir Wm. Petty, on the large scale, and I suppose complete; if not, probably there remain those now deficient in the Surveyor General's Office.

"If on enquiry your Grace shall find these to be of consequence and worthy of being obtained, or of being copied, there can be no doubt of its being accomplished, by application of Lord Sydney or of Mr. Pitt to the French Ambassador.

"Disappointed of the opportunity of dedicating my map of Ireland to your Grace, which I had hopes of doing in the most superb manner the art of engraving would permit, and desirous of throwing my mite into the great Pyramid of popularity, so justly erected to your Grace's memory in Ireland, I take the liberty of communicating this discovery to your Grace, and if it should happen that copies may at length be taken of the originals now in the French King's Library, that your Grace will be pleased to have in memory the employment of my eldest son, an excellent Engineer and Draughtsman, who after serving all the American War, is now starving on half pay at St. Omers.

"I have the honour to be with most perfect respect,

"Your Grace's most obedient most humble Servant,

"CHAS. VALLANCEY,

"Cecil Street, 27th Jan., 1786.

"His Grace the D. of Rutland."

"Paris, 4th March, 1787.

SIR,—I have the honour to acquaint you that I was dispatched by Lord Sydney on the 21st ulto., and arrived here on the 26th, on the next day had an audience of the Duke of Dorset, who furnished me with a letter to Monsr. Le Noire, Chief Librarian. This gentleman was in the country and did not arrive till this day. Monsr. Le Noire has assured me of every means to facilitate the copy of the maps; it must be made in the library, he said we might work from nine in the morning to six at evening. This would be sufficient; but the under librarian objects to these hours and declares he will shut up the library each day at twelve. I requested M. Le Noire to permit the books to be taken to my lodgings; he said, the King's orders were positive against such an indulgence, but the under librarian whispered it would be granted if the D. of Dorset would ask it of the King. In vain I solicited for a sight of the maps, on my first arrival. The sub-librarian could not grant that favour till M. Le Noire arrived—he had indeed shewn them to Baron Power, but I must wait for an order. At length he granted me that favour yesterday, for two minutes only. At the first cast of my eye, they appear to be the maps of each barony, with the Down Survey, only as far as it extended in each barony; executed in a more masterly manner than anything of the kind remaining in Ireland. The title page is finely illuminated, and every part shews great care and attention has been paid to this work.

"It is impossible to form an idea of the time it will require to make this copy: the shortest will be four months from this date; three will be sufficient if I am indulged to take the books to my lodgings, which are within pistol shot of the library, in hopes the proximity might be some inducement to this favour; but, if the under librarian carries his point of granting me only three hours in the day to work, it will require much longer time than I have specified. Thus circumstanced in the midst of the most expensive city of the world, even for common necessaries of life, I hope, sir, you will be pleased to send me a further credit, more than half the sum advanced, being already expended.

"I have the honour to be, sir, with perfect respect,

"Your most obedient, most humble Servant,

"CHARLES VALLANCEY.

Perhaps the latest instance of the warlike use of a rath is contained in a letter describing a forcible resistance to the Sheriff of County of Tipperary at Oldcastle, seven miles from Templemore. "The Garrison, as it was called, was a Danish Fort, the form circular, and planted with fir trees that made the place so dark as not to be able to see into it; the banks round it were about eighteen foot high, with a stake hedge at top and a deep fosse round this, in an open field on a rising ground." So strong was the place that Sir John Carden, the writer of the letter, and the Sheriff agreed that it could not be taken without artillery.

The humane desire to improve the condition of the PRISONS, which was being urged on by Howard, led to inquiries and much beneficial work in Ireland. Towards the end of this period Sir Jeremiah FitzPatrick, M.D., was appointed Inspector-General of Prisons and Hospitals. The following account of the difficulties he met in attempting to introduce reforms in the Marshalsea, is of interest:—

"To His Excellency, George Nugent Grenville Temple, Lord Lieutenant-General and General Governor of Ireland.

"The Memorial of Sir Jeremiah FitzPatrick, Inspector-General of Prisons,

"Most Humbly Sheweth—

"That in consequence of the rules proposed for the effectual regulation of the Four Courts Marshalsea, agreeable to your Excellency's will, the greatest disorder and violence has taken place in that prison; in so much, that Memorialist is in the greatest danger of his life, and finds that without your Excellency's protection he cannot with safety visit that Marshalsea again, not even to have the works at present undertaken finished.

"By the regulations, the Marshal considers himself injured in point of expence. The wealthy, who have families lodged with them for several years past—and still remain, altho' entitled to the two last Insolvent Acts—but will not give up their effects to their just creditors; those who have more than one room; those who keep mistresses, and all the whisky drinkers, are disobliged; so that in place of your Memorialist finding friends, after all his exertions for prisoners—it was with the greatest difficulty he escaped their rage on Fryday morning last—which he effected by sliping thro' the hatches, when they least expected it.

"On Saturday Memorialist received the enclosed card, dated the 21st, and on Sunday was cautioned by a Member of Parliament, and other gentlemen not to venture there again without the army or some persons to protect Memorialist.

"On Monday Memorialist received the note dated the 23rd June. Your Memorialist, however, was determined not to become troublesome to Government, except it became unavoidable, and conscious that he was discharging his duty in fulfilling your Excellency's commands, he went yesterday to see the works in respect to the Bath and Hospitals, &c., carried into effect; and prepared himself with pistols, which he had in his coat-pockets, with a large coat thrown over his shoulders, loosely. Memorialist had not been one minute in the yard, when one of the prisoners, by whom he had formerly been abused, accosted him by saying the bathing would soon be begun; alluding in Memorialist's opinion, to the pumping. Memorialist went on to give his directions to the men who were at work at the bath, and finding himself followed by near one hundred persons, and that a prisoner who personated a judge in old robes, with a person before him who kept beating an old tin vessel (as if a drum) paraded the yard, and that numbers were coming round Memorialist, he began to entertain fears for his safety, and was moveing towards an open space to avoid them, and sometimes looking towards the upper windows, from whence he heard they would fire. Memorialist foot struck against some obstacle, on which one of the pistols, until then concealed, went off, and as the muzzle was upwards, fired into the air. Memorialist immediately, but with difficulty escaped, which he verily believes he could not have done had he not kept another loaded pistol presented whilst he retreated to the door.

"Memorialist was particularly abused by three or four persons, who seemed the ringleaders, and by a William Alexander English, who vehemently swore that Memorialist was acting officiously, and had no right to visit or inspect that Marshalsea; and that if Memorialist ever attempted to enter his apartment for the purpose of carrying the proposed or any other regulation into execution, that he would kick Memorialist downstairs, no matter by whom directed or supported.

"Your Memorialist declares that he is thus prevented from discharging the duties of his office, and of forwarding the regulations so humanely intended by your Excellency, therefore prays protection.

"June the 24, 1788."

The following copy of the draft of a reply to a Treasury letter gives an explanation of a very confusing use of one of the terms employed to describe the money of account here. It throws light on a question which even yet sometimes causes a difficulty.

"Dublin Castle, 16th February, 1786.

"Dear Sir,—Agreeably to your desire I communicated the enclosed petition of Charlotte, Duchess Dowager of Athol, to my Lord Lieutenant, and His Grace requests that you will inform Mr. Pitt that the expression in His Majesty's grant for the payment of Her Grace's annuity in lawful money of Great Britain does not imply British currency distinguished from Irish currency, with a difference of exchange, but means no more than that the payment of the annuity shall be made in such lawful money as is current in Great Britain as well as in Ireland. The expression is made use of in similar grants and is common in bonds and other legal proceedings here where Irish money only is the consideration.

"Your most faithful and obedient servant,

"T. O[rde].

"George Rose, Esq."

I have not touched on the letters of political consequence, yet the collection contains many such. These are ranged chiefly under the heads of Home Office, Lord Lieutenant, and Treasury. Among these are to be found, besides official letters of advice and direction from the Government in London, in many cases also the original drafts of the replies, which show not only the answer sent but sometimes the manner in which, after repeated changes, the ultimate form of the answer was arrived at. The whole collection forms an important addition to the now available sources of the history of Ireland in the last century.

No. 12,797.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

11*th July*, 1900.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date, forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-second Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), D. HARREL.

The Deputy Keeper,
Public Record Office,
Four Courts.

THE THIRTY-SECOND REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL CADOGAN, K.G.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit to your Excellency my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, on the proceedings had during 1899 in connection with the Public Records in Ireland.

1. On the 10th of June took place the death of John J. Digges La Touche, LL.D., the Deputy Keeper of the Records. Dr. Digges La Touche had been identified with the Record Office from its foundation in 1867. Previously Clerk of Pleadings in the former Rolls Office of Chancery, he was appointed the first Assistant Deputy Keeper of the Records in the new Record Office. On the death of Sir Samuel Ferguson in 1886, he succeeded as Deputy Keeper. On the retirement of Sir J. Bernard Burke in 1892, he was appointed to the further office of Keeper of the State Papers.

Bringing to this Office in its infancy the knowledge and experience gained in the chief of the former Record repositories in Ireland, the duty devolved on him of directing the archival training and organising the clerical work of the new Office staff. These duties he pursued with the object of producing work of most practical value to inquirers. Such Record publications as the Office has hitherto been able to issue through the medium of its annual Reports—the Calendar of the "Fiants," that of the Christ Church Muniments, the Indexes to the Dublin Consistorial Act Books, and other reference works of less bulk—were planned, undertaken, and carried out under his direction, and often under his own minutely accurate editorship. Besides these published repertories, he directed the formation of a great number of indexes, now placed in manuscript in the public Search Room, which have made available for reference many classes of Records formerly quite out of the reach of readers. Besides his archival work in the Office, he edited for the Huguenot Society a volume of Registers of the French Churches of St. Patrick and St. Mary, in Dublin.

An active officer, firmly maintaining discipline, Dr. Digges La Touche was, at the same time, a sterling friend to those employed under him. To them, as to the State he zealously served, his loss is great.

2. On June 2nd, a few days before Dr. Digges La Touche's decease, occurred the death of Mr. John Overend Overend, the Assistant Deputy Keeper of the Records. He had suffered for some time from serious illness, which caused his absence during most of the preceding winter. On the formation of the Record Office, Mr. Overend, then a clerk in the Court of Exchequer, was appointed to this Department to bring to its aid his knowledge and experience of the Records of the Courts of Common Law; and he has done useful work in connection with them. He was promoted to be Assistant Deputy Keeper in 1889, on the death of Mr. William M. Hennessy.

3. Your Excellency was pleased to appoint me, previously the Senior Clerk in the Office, to be Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, and also Keeper of the State Papers, in succession to Dr. Digges La Touche; and Mr. Henry FitzPatrick Berry, M.A., Barrister-at-Law, also a Senior Clerk in the Office, to be Assistant Deputy Keeper.

4. A further vacancy on the staff had arisen early in the year by the transfer of Mr. C. E. Royds to the offices of the Local Government Board in London. The three junior vacancies were filled only in October by the appointment of Mr. Alexander Flint, M.A. (Edinb.), Mr. Thomas Edwin Harvey, B.A. (Royal Univ.), and Mr. Samuel Watt, B.A. (Dubl.), successful candidates at the Civil Service Class I. Examination held in August.

5. The facilities offered to the Historical MSS. Commissioners (as noted in par. 3, 31st Report) have been availed of by them. Several volumes of papers from the collection of the Marquis of Ormonde have been deposited here, and examined in the office by one of the Commissioners' Inspectors. Dr. La Touche had, in 1898, expressed a wish that, in order to deal more satisfactorily with the papers left in our charge for the use of the Commissioners, someone on the staff of this Office should receive a recognised position in connection with them. The Commissioners, early in the year, with the approval of the Master of the Rolls, and with the consent of the Treasury, appointed me one of their Inspectors of Manuscripts.

6. In February, the sale by auction was announced of the great collection of manuscripts, chiefly State Papers, preserved by the Earls of Hardwicke. Among them was a very large mass of State papers, letters, and letter-books belonging to Philip, third earl, as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 1801 to 1806. The attention of Government was at once called by this Office to the importance of these papers, and permission was asked to bid for eighty-six lots, which appeared to include books and papers of the Irish Government. Your Excellency, with the sanction of the Treasury, authorised the purchase of these lots, within certain limits. The public sale, however, was not carried out, the British Museum having secured the entire collection by private contract before the day announced for sale.

7. A further instalment of the MSS. of the late Sir Thomas Phillipps was offered for sale in June. Only one lot relating to Ireland appeared to be of an official character making it proper to be preserved in this Office. This was, with the sanction of the Treasury, secured at the sale. It is entitled, "A book of the Survey of the county of Dublin, which hath been performed in pursuance of a contract made with the Honorable Commissioners for the assessment of the said county, dated the 20th of Jan., and now returned and finished by Thomas Taylor and Edward Lucas, May 25, 1658."

8. In the fifth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, sect. 28, it was noted that the unproved wills preserved at the District Registry of Kilkenny had been left in the registry. This fact was overlooked in later transfers from that registry until noticed during last year. The District Registrar, at my request, made a search, which resulted in finding two parcels of original wills, chiefly unproved. These have been received, and on examination were found to contain 158 wills of the Diocese of Ossory, 1664 to 1858; three wills of the Diocese of Leighlin, 1808 to 1818; one of the Diocese of Ferns, 1771; and fifteen unproved wills lodged in Kilkenny District Registry, 1858 to 1864. They have been restored to their places in the several collections to which they belong, and entered in the proper indexes.

9. The publications of the Commissioners of Patents have, since the erection of this Office, been deposited here as received from time to time at the Record and Writ Office. They have been regularly arranged here and made accessible. The very small use made of them here induced Dr. La Touche to concur in the suggestion of the Commissioners to limit the papers sent, to those which, under section 100 of the Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks Act, 1883, are required to be lodged in the Record and Writ Office, with the addition of the Yearly Indexes. The sets of "Abridgment Volumes" and the "Illustrated Official Journal of Patents" are, therefore, no longer deposited here.

10. Judges' or Examiners' Notes on Title and Judges' Copies of Petitions in the Landed Estates Court, together with some volumes of Indexes to Records of that Court, were found to have been not included in the transfers made from that office. The Land Judge considering them necessary for the business of his offices, their retention has been sanctioned by a certificate of the Land Judge, under sub-section 4 of section 14 of the Records Act, 1867. Considerable public inconvenience having been felt from the want of the Indexes, these have, by arrangement with the Registrar, been transcribed here and the copies placed for public reference in the Search Room.

11. The most numerous and extensive transfers of Records to this Office in recent years are those from the Offices of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace of the several counties. These Records were not named in the Public Records Act, 1867. Those, however, of most of the counties of Ireland have been brought within its scope by different Orders in Council in 1885 and subsequent years, under the 5th section of the Act, and there are now but eight counties not so included in our operations. A Report on the Records received from these offices has been prepared by Mr. Herbert Wood, of this Department, and is printed as an Appendix to this Report.

64. 146 certificates were granted for examination of Records for Literary purposes. Under these 2,460 volumes or files of records were produced for Literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

65. The arrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has been continued from 1752 to October, 1764, and the Answers to June, 1764, comprising 4,747 fasciculi, made up in 789 brown paper covered parcels.

66. The arrangement of the Intestacy papers from the Principal and District Registries of the Court of Probate, 1858--1878, has been completed. They have been put in separate envelopes, occupying 171 zinc boxes. The collection of Unproved Wills for same period, and the proved Wills for 1877 have been similarly dealt with. They occupy 12 and 41 boxes respectively. Thirty-four boxes of Wills of several Dioceses have been stamped.

67. 1,136 Bankruptcy files in portfolios have been cleaned and stamped; and 1,495 portfolios labelled.

68. The re-arrangement and consolidation into a single series of the Cause Papers from the former offices of the Masters of the Court of Chancery—known as Masters' Papers—have advanced as far as the end of letter R, making 3,705 bundles of Cause Papers, which have been made up in 295 parcels.

69. 22 bundles of Christ Church Deeds, 686 bundles of Inventories, Bonds, &c., of several Dioceses, 102 bundles of Lunacy Cause Papers, 36 bundles of Chancery Deeds, 254 bundles of miscellaneous Records from Master Murphy's Office, 442 bundles of Crown and Peace Office Records, 18 bundles of Writs of Summons, 71 bundles of Population Returns, 1831, and 2,290 bundles of Census Returns for 1841, have been cleaned, stamped, and made up in brown paper covered dust proof parcels.

70. 1,422 Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Cloyne have been repaired, sized, mounted on guards, and prepared for binding. The leaves of a Register of the Diocese of Clonfert have been repaired and sized. Fifty volumes of Records have been bound.

71. In XIV. Report, p. 7, is described the collection and arrangement here of the "Parochial Returns" or annual certificates, transmitted to the Bishop under 46th Canon (1634), of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials in each parish. They had in most dioceses been very indifferently kept. All which came to this Office have been carefully arranged and made accessible, and they frequently prove valuable by supplying records of entries of which the original books have disappeared, and by explaining doubtful or defective entries. The returns, especially those from country parishes, are often on small or irregular strips of paper, liable to the danger of being mislaid when placed in the hands of readers. To secure them, it is intended to mount each of the small returns on a guard, and to bind those for each parish as a separate volume. This work has been commenced, and nineteen parishes have been mounted preparatory to binding.

Indexing and Calendaring.

72. Indexes have been made to six volumes of Registers of Consistory Acts of the Dioceses of Ardfert, Clonfert, Killala, and Killaloe.

73. The Inventories of the Prerogative Court, 1668–1858; Marriage Licence Bonds and Affidavits of the Diocese of Cloyne, 1801–1866; and Administration Bonds of the peculiar of the Dean of Lismore and of the Lordship of Newry and Mourne have been indexed, and made accessible to the public.

74. An Index has been made to the Marriage Licence Books of the Diocese of Dublin, 1672–1685, and 1713–1741 which were recovered in 1897 (XXX. Report, par. 1).

75. An Index has been made to the Unproved Wills received here as lodged in the District Registries of the Court of Probate, 1858 to 1878.

76. Transcripts of the Indexes to the Records of the Landed Estates Court have been made from originals lent by the Land Judge's Registrar, completing those in use here down to 1878.

77. Some progress has been made with the collation of the different Diocesan Indexes of Wills preliminary to the intended Consolidated Index. The collation of the Indexes for Cashel and Emly, Cork and Ross, Cloyne, Limerick, Raphoe, and Waterford and Lismore, has been completed during the year. The revised Indexes to the Wills of Clonfert and Ossory have been re-engrossed for public use.

78. An Index has been made to the collection of Council Office papers relating to Unions and Divisions of Parishes and Changes of Sites of Parish Churches, down to 1845.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

79. Section 21 of the Public Records Act, 1867, founding this Office, placed prominently among the duties of the Department the printing "from time to time such Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes of Records, and also such Records in the custody of the Master of the Rolls, as the Chief Secretary may select, or as the Master of the Rolls shall recommend as fit to be printed." With the exception of the long-completed Facsimiles of National Manuscripts of Ireland, this important branch of the work of the Office has hitherto been represented only by the Appendixes to the Annual Reports. This form of publication is in several respects inconvenient, and, as the means of publishing such work, has for some years been entirely discontinued in the London Record Office. The desire of giving due effect to the intention of this section has ever been in the view of the heads of the Department, and the hope of its realisation has been adverted to in several of Sir Samuel Ferguson's early reports.

80. A large amount of manuscript matter left by the former Irish Record Commission on its determination in 1830 was regarded by the Commissioners then as almost ripe for publication. A closer acquaintance with this material shows it to be, though unquestionably valuable for reference, yet very incomplete, and unsuitable in form for publication. The only group of this material fit in its present state for such use is that consisting of transcripts and translations of the early Irish Statutes. Even these prove to be very imperfect. The task of revising and completing the text and translation as left by the Commissioners was undertaken by Dr. Digges La Touche, and much work for this purpose was done under his direction. I feel it to be one of my first duties to complete this work, and to have ready for press the material for a volume of the early Statutes of Ireland, whenever your Excellency, with the consent of the Treasury, may see fit to cause to be printed this most valuable contribution to the history of the country, as yet for the most part unpublished. The duty of preparing this work for press has been undertaken by Mr. Berry, Assistant Deputy Keeper, and some progress has been made.

81. Not less important for historical research are the early Justiciary Rolls, containing entries of legal and other business (sometimes including proceedings in Parliament and orders of the Council) before the Capitalis Justiciarius, the Chief Governor of Ireland, in the course of his journeys through the country. Many of these Rolls were included in the collections for a proposed publication of the Plea and Memoranda Rolls by the Irish Record Commission. This work of the Commissioners is very incomplete and unsuitable for publication, as has been pointed out in the Twenty-sixth Report of the Deputy Keeper, p. 56. As a preliminary to the preparation for press of a Calendar of these Rolls, a full abstract of two of the earlier Rolls of Edward I. was prepared during the year, and it is proposed to continue this work.

82. There was published during the year "An Index to the Act or Grant Books and Original Wills of the Diocese of Dublin, from 1800 to 1858," as an Appendix to the 30th Report of the Deputy Keeper. This, a continuation of the similar Index to 1800, published with the 26th Report, was prepared under the direction of Dr. Digges La Touche, and the greater part was passed through the press by him. xxx. Rep., par. 82.

xxix. Rep., par. 7.

83. The Cork Archæological Society, having at its own cost published the Index to Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Cork and Ross from the Draft Index prepared in this Office, Mr. T. George H. Green, M.R.I.A., applied on behalf of that Society for similar assistance towards the publication of the Index to Marriage Licence Bonds of Cloyne Diocese, 1630–1800, which has been accorded him.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

84. The Registers of ten parishes which had become attachable under the Act 38 and 39 Vic., ch. 59, by the death or resignation of the Incumbents, were included in the warrants of the Master of the Rolls for transfer to this Office. Of these, six were removed here, and four are retained in their parishes under Retention Order, under the Act 39 and 40 Vic., ch. 58.

85. In two instances where the Parish Records were preserved under Retention Orders previously made, the orders were cancelled during the year, and the Records placed in this Office. In one case, Rathfarnham, at the Incumbent's request; the other, Killaderry, in consequence of the safe having been reported unfit for their keeping.

86. The Records of the parishes transferred here comprise:—

87. The parishes whose Records were included in warrants for transfer, but which keep them under Retention Orders are:—Ballydehob, Killanne, Lislimnaghan, and All Saints, Newtownpark.

88. The number of Retention Orders, permitting the retention of Parish Records in approved receptacles in their respective parishes, which have been granted by the Master of the Rolls is 586, of which 560 were in force at the beginning of 1900.

89. The Annual Reports required by the 6th Section of the Parochial Records Act, 1876, from the clergymen to whose custody Records are committed under Retention Orders, were all duly received last year.

90. Five volumes of Parochial Records belonging to two parishes whose Records are locally held under Retention Orders —Bailieborough (4 vols.), and Ballyadams (1 vol.)—were repaired and rebound in this Office. Advice for improving the condition of the books was offered in other cases.

91. The Incumbent of Calry reported the finding of a book of loose leaves—a Register of Marriages, 1833–5. This had been returned in the original inventory of the Records of the parish, but was not forthcoming when the books were transferred to this Office. It has now been sent up and deposited with the other Records of the parish here.

92. The Incumbent ot Trim also reported the existence of two volumes not included in the Inventory of the Records of his parish; one a Register of Baptisms, with entries of Confirmations from 1782; the other, Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials, 1829–1849

93. A statement, made by a private person, led to inquiries which showed that a Register of the Parish of Dunkerrin, County Tipperary, which was included in the original Inventory and Retention Order, is no longer in the hands of the Incumbent. A lengthened correspondence and inquiries in various quarters have not as yet led to its being found. This case affords another instance of the danger which attends the local custody of Records, even with every precaution provided by the Acts strenuously enforced. The Records of this parish were committed to the care of the Incumbent in 1879. Every year since, as required by the Act, the successive Incumbents have reported that the Records were all safe. Yet, apparently all this time the earliest volume described in the order was wanting, and it remained for a private applicant to give the information of its absence.

It is only just to say, that, though occasional instances of great neglect come under notice, the vast majority of the clergy show every care for their charge, and a willingness loyally to carry out the requirements of the Acts.

94. It may be suggested that the safety of the older Parish Records might be secured, without to any large extent defeating the intention of the Act of 1876, by encouraging Incumbents charged with the custody of Records under Retention Orders, while they retain the later more frequently consulted books, say, for the last seventy years, to deposit in this Office the earlier volumes, which need more care, are of less use locally, and are more difficult to search and to read by persons inexperienced in consulting records.

State Paper Office.

95. During the year 1899 there were received from the Chief Secretary's Office:—

(i.) Seventy-one carton boxes of State Papers for the year 1889. These have been examined, labelled, and replaced in 52 cartons (Nos. 3459 to 3510.)

(ii.) Papers relating to appointments of Sheriffs for the years 1876, 1879 to 1889. These have been arranged, noted in the Registers, and restored to their proper places in the cartons.

96. The Searches made for the Chief Secretary's Office during the year numbered 262.

97. Owing to the vacancies in the Office Staff, the work of re-arranging and calendaring the older papers was much interrupted. The Calendar of Miscellaneous Papers, 1760–89, was advanced, and nearly completed; and some progress has been made with the final arrangement and Calendar of the Papers for 1790–1819. The Relief Commission Papers, 1845–47, have been arranged and made up in brown paper parcels.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office,
Dublin, this Tenth day of April,
1900.

JAMES MILLS,

Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER, M.R.

APPENDIX.

Report of Mr. Herbert Wood on the Records of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace transferred prior to 1900.

The Office of Clerk of the Crown and Peace was originally granted by letters patent from the Crown, and was held for life, good behaviour, or during pleasure. The grantee or grantees often held the office for a whole province, and had the right of appointing deputies. The Patent of the Clerk of the Crown always contained an express grant of the office of Clerk of the Peace;* though in some few cases the latter was granted separately by the Crown. By the Act 37 Henry VIII., c. 1 (English), it was enacted that the power of appointment to the Peace Office should lie in the hands of the Custos Rotulorum in each county or city. That this Act was not immediately extended to Ireland is evident from the fact that, in the reign of Charles I., we find several instances of grants of the office of Clerk of the Peace made by the Crown.

In the next century, Mr. Whichcote, who received letters patent from the Crown for the office of Clerk of the Crown (which, as usual, included the office of Clerk of the Peace) for the province of Leinster in 1724, complained that soon after his appointment the Custodes Rotulorum of several counties in that province appointed their own Clerks of the Peace. The law officers were ordered to ascertain the truth of the case; but I cannot discover that any decision was arrived at.

The Custodes Rotulorum evidently continued to appoint their own deputies, for in 1794 John Pollock was appointed Clerk of the Crown and Peace for the province of Leinster, but his claim to the Clerkship of the Peace was opposed by several Custodes Rotulorum. They were proceeded against by the Attorney-General, who filed an information ex-officio against them. In Hilary term, 1799, the Court of King's Bench gave judgment against the Crown. Mr. Pollock, however, in 1818, proceeded to take action in the Court of Common Pleas against a Mr. Harding, who had been appointed to the Clerkship of the Peace for the King's County by the Custos Rotulorum in 1789. Whilst this action was pending, an Act was passed (1 Geo. IV., c. 27) assimilating the Irish to the English usage, i.e., giving the Custos the power of appointing the Clerk of the Peace for his county, and making the office tenable during good behaviour only, with power to the Magistrates to dismiss the holder of such office in case of misdemeanour, and to make the election themselves, should the Custos fail to do so. Soon after this Act was passed, the case of Pollock v. Harding was decided by the Court of Common Pleas declaring that the power of appointment was vested in the Crown (Mich., 1821).

A further Bill was accordingly prepared to extend the former Act so as to include those Clerks of the Peace whose appointment prior to 1820 would be affected by the recent decision against Harding, but such Bill does not appear to have been passed into law. However, with two or three exceptions, the two offices were held separately, the Clerk of the Crown being appointed by the Crown, and the Clerk of the Peace by the Custos Rotulorum of the county, till 1877, when, by the Act 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56, it was provided that, in any county or county of a city, upon the death or resignation of either Clerk, the two offices should, as soon as possible, be amalgamated.

* The reason why the grant of the office of Clerk of the Peace was always contained in the patent of Clerk of the Crown was, probably, that the Clerk of the Crown must be Clerk of the Peace at each Assize, all Commissions of the Peace being suspended whilst the Commission of Assize was being held.

CROWN OFFICE.

The Clerk of the Crown may be regarded as the Clerk of the Court of Assize, as well as the Secretary to the Grand Jury for criminal business. His duties are various, arising partly at Common Law, and partly out of a series of legislative enactments. They may be enumerated as follows:—

i. Criminal.—His duties, under this head, consist of receiving and preserving all informations, examinations and recognizances of the Magistrates; drawing up bills of indictment in cases in which they have not been prepared by the Crown Solicitor, or for private individuals; swearing the Grand Jury, and attending them with the indictments; attending the Crown Court, arraigning the prisoners, entering on record all pleas, orders and proceedings of the Court in the Crown Book; swearing and examining the several witnesses on the trials; preparing and keeping all records of the Assizes; preparing all warrants necessary for the transmission of prisoners, the execution of offenders, &c.

ii. Fiscal.—It was the duty of the Clerk of the Crown to file and keep all affidavits, maps, plans and estimates for grounding any presentments or affidavits accounting for public money; to deliver copies of all presentments to the Grand Jurors, and of all discharged queries to the Treasurer of the County; to make out queries on all presentments of the Grand Jury; to record the fiat of the Judge; to receive traverses, &c. The Local Government (Ireland) Act, 61 & 62 Vic., c. 37, s. 14, has recently deprived the Clerk of the Crown of the above duties by transferring all the fiscal business of the county to the County Councils.

iii. Coroners' Inquests.—All inquests held by Coroners are returned to the Clerk of the Crown, with the depositions, examinations, &c., prior to the ensuing Assizes.

iv. Civil.—These duties were those of Registrar of the Civil Bill side of the Assize Court, in which decrees, dismisses, renewals and appeals were heard under the Acts 2 Anne c. 18, and 1 Geo. II. c. 14. In 1796, when this business was handed over to the Assistant Barrister at Quarter Sessions, the Registrarship devolved upon the Clerk of the Peace.

v. Miscellaneous.—These consist of making up and returning all estreats into the Exchequer; receiving and keeping printed copies of the registry books of the freeholders of the county, which the Clerk of the Peace was required to furnish him with at every Spring Assizes; producing such printed copies at every election of Members of Parliament, if required; making returns in obedience to orders of Parliament; occasionally taxing costs, &c. Some of the above duties are now obsolete.

The Clerk of the Crown of the Queen's Bench is the officer of the Queen's Bench (Crown Side), which possesses original jurisdiction in criminal matters and superintendence over inferior jurisdictions connected with the preservation of the peace. The Judges of this Court are the Chief Conservators of the Peace, and Supreme Coroners throughout Ireland. Presentments by the Grand Jurors of the county and city of Dublin were formerly made in the King's Bench, so that the Clerk of the Crown of the King's Bench, besides his other duties, performed the functions, both fiscal and criminal, of the Clerk of the Crown for the above county and city. In 1729, to relieve the pressure on the gaols through the increase of crime, a Commission Court of Oyer and Terminer was created for the county and city of Dublin, and sat in the King's Bench. The Officer of the King's Bench continued to discharge the office of Clerk to such Commission till 1794, when he was obliged to resign his duties, as far as the Court of Oyer and Terminer was concerned, to John Pollock, who claimed it as grantee of the office of Clerk of the Crown for the province of Leinster. The former continued, however, to perform the fiscal duties attendant on his office till, by the Act of 7 & 8 Vic., c. 106 (1844) such duties for the county of Dublin were handed over to the Clerk of the Crown for Leinster, whilst, a few years later, by the Act 12 & 13 Vic., c. 97, s. 42, all the fiscal powers of the Grand Jury for the city of Dublin were transferred to the Municipal Council of Dublin. The Clerk of the Municipal Council, however, was obliged each year to lodge with the Clerk of the Crown of the Queen's Bench a schedule of such applications with respect to Grand Jury Cess as were approved of by the Council, to be fiated by the Judge. This last connecting link between the Queen's Bench and the financial administration of the city has recently been severed by the Local Government (Ireland) Act.

PEACE OFFICE.

The office of Clerk of the Peace grew out of the Commissions appointing Justices of the Peace. These were at first issued in England under the Act 18 Ed. III., stat. 2, c. 2, "to hear and determine felonies and trespasses done against the Peace." Previous to this Act these Justices were called Conservators or Guardians of the Peace. By the Act 36 Ed. III., c. 12, it was enacted that, in their commissions, they should be authorised to hold sessions on four stated seasons of the year. This was the origin of Quarter Sessions. The Magistrates' commissions gave them jurisdiction over all crimes affecting the public peace, excepting treasons. Felonies and trespasses were mentioned, but by the Acts 1 & 2 Philip and Mary, c. 13, and 10 Car. I., c. 18, the Justices were ordered to forward cases of felonies (except petty larcenies) to the Assizes. Cases of assaults, riots, rescues of cattle or goods taken for distress, and trespass attended with violence, came within their jurisdiction. Although the earlier Acts were adopted in Ireland only by the Act 10 Henry VII., Commissions of the Peace had been recognised in this country long before, as the following passage in the Irish Act of 28 Henry VI., c. 2, will show: "saving the commissions made or to be made to Justices or Keepers of the Peace after the old custom." Besides these regular Quarter Sessions, Special Sessions have at various times been authorised to be held for the execution of some particular branch of magisterial duty, such as the registration of freeholders, presentment sessions, &c.

In consequence of the disturbed state of the country at the end of the eighteenth century, some counties were, for their easier administration, divided into districts under an Act of 1787, and a Barrister of not less than six years' standing appointed to assist the Justices in the administration of justice. This plan was found so effectual that the procedure was extended to other counties. In the appointment of an Assistant Barrister, he was made a Magistrate virtute officii, but it was left to the discretion of the other magistrates to make him chairman or not; but, with few exceptions, this appears to have been regularly done. A similar authority had been held by the Recorder of the city of Dublin, and other cities with a criminal jurisdiction, for a long time previously.

Soon afterwards, in 1796, the jurisdiction in ordinary Civil Bill cases was transferred from the Judges at Assizes and the Sheriffs to the Assistant Barrister, and the Clerk of the Peace became his Registrar.

In the same year, by the Act 36 George III., c. 20, s. 17, magistrates were authorised to hold Petty Sessions in proclaimed districts. The convenience of such an arrangement apparently caused the system of Petty Sessions Courts to be extended to other districts. The procedure was improved by the Act 7 and 8 George IV., c. 67, by which the magistrates could divide the counties into districts for such a purpose. They were to forward all informations and recognizances to the Clerks of the Crown and Peace once every month, and the Statute required that, in any magisterial act, two Justices should concur.

The criminal and civil jurisdiction of the Magistrates and Assistant Barristers was gradually extended from time to time. Amongst the more important extensions of the Assistant Barristers' civil authority may be noted the following. In 1816, by the Act 56 George III., c. 38, ejectment proceedings were to be taken before the Assistant Barrister, and in 1827, by the Act 7 and 8 George IV., c. 69, replevin cases were to be tried before him. By the Act 6 and 7 William IV., c. 75, the Assistant Barrister was given an equitable jurisdiction in cases involving legacies or distributive shares, where the amount was small. The Act of 14 and 15 Vic., c. 57, (1851), gave him the right to hear and decide insolvency petitions, which had formerly been tried by Commissioners. In 1857, by the Probate Act, 20 and 21 Vic., c. 79, all contentious matters as to grants of probate or administration, where the amount in dispute did not exceed a certain limit, were brought within his jurisdiction. In 1858, by the Act 21 and 22 Vic., c. 88, s. 3, it was enacted that Assistant Barristers should henceforth be styled Chairmen of Quarter Sessions. In 1870, by the Landlord and Tenant (Ireland) Act, 33 & 34 Vic., c. 46, cases relating to the occupation and ownership of land in Ireland were to be decided by them. The title of Chairmen of Quarter Sessions was again altered in 1877, when, by the Act 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56, various changes were made in the jurisdiction and status of the County Courts and County Officers, amongst others being the alteration in the style of Chairmen, other than Recorders, to the title of "County Court Judges and Chairmen of Quarter Sessions." The most important change effected by this Act was the partial devolution of the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery upon the Civil Bill Courts, whereby proceedings connected with the execution of trusts, mortgage charges, sale or partition of property, partnerships, infants, Married Woman's Property (1870) Act, Trustees' Relief Acts, legacy and administration matters, &c., where the personal property does not exceed £500, and the real property £30 annually, are to be taken before the County Court Judge, who is invested with all the powers of a Judge of the High Court of Chancery therein.

By the above Act the offices of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace in each county were to be amalgamated on the death or retirement of either, and the future holder of the joint office was to be a civil servant, and appointed by the Lord Lieutenant.

In cities and towns which are counties in themselves, the position of Assistant Barrister is held by the Recorder. These separate criminal and civil jurisdictions held by Corporations were formerly more numerous. The only Recorderships now existing in Ireland are those of the cities of Dublin, Cork, Belfast, and Londonderry, and the town of Galway.

The duties of the Clerk of the Peace are as follows:—

i. Criminal.—These include the receiving and preserving all informations, examinations and recognizances forwarded by the Magistrates; preparing bills of indictment on all informations; posting-notices of times of sessions; preparing the precept for the Quarter Sessions; getting it signed by two Magistrates, and delivered to the Sheriff; entering all indictments, &c., in the Crown Book; calling over and swearing the Grand Jury, prosecutors, and witnesses for the Crown; estreating recognizances and making a return to the Exchequer, &c.

ii. Fiscal.—The Clerk of the Peace formerly attended at Special Sessions held under the Road Presentment Act, entered the approval or disapproval of the Magistrates on all applications as ordered, and discharged or respited Queries as the Bench should direct.

iii. Civil Bill Court.—As the Clerk of the Peace was the Registrar of this Court, he had to prepare all summonses, decrees, &c., in cases of Civil Bills, Renewals, Ejectments, Probate and Legacy cases, and keep registers recording the cases with the decisions of the Assistant Barrister. Records of Civil Bill cases decided by the Seneschals of the Manors were also lodged with him. The office of Registrar of the Civil Bill Court has recently been separated from that of Clerk of the Peace, by the Act 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56.

iv. Miscellaneous.—The miscellaneous duties of the Clerk of the Peace have comprised not only those where he is acting as Clerk to the Assistant Barrister or to the Magistrates acting magisterially, such as the registration of Freeholders, Voters, Jurors, Arms, Blacksmiths, &c.; insolvency cases, election of Treasurers, High Constables, Petty Sessions Clerks, &c.; the issuing of certificates for publicans' licences on the orders of the Magistrates, &c.; but also those duties imposed upon him personally by Act of Parliament, such as the receipt of notices of Meeting-houses, Printing presses, Jesuits; Manor Court papers, Poor Law Commissioners' orders, Fishery papers, Boundary notices, Trees Affidavits; Maps, Plans, and Awards; preparation of Jurors' and Voters' Lists, Militia Returns, &c. Several of the above duties are now obsolete.

The following Schedules dealing with the above classes of records are appended:—Schedule I., a list of all the classes of records of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace transferred prior to the year 1900, with explanatory notices; Schedule II., a list of all documents received from the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, but which do not properly belong to their collections; Schedule III., giving an explanation of the absence of many records for various counties; Schedule IV., being a tabular statement of the dates, for each county, of the various classes of records in the Crown and Peace Collections transferred prior to the year 1900.

ACCOUNTS AND REPORTS LODGED. . . 1790—1878.
These are abstracts of accounts, and reports, lodged yearly or half yearly with the Clerk of the Peace by various bodies, such as Town Commissioners (under the Act of 1854), Port and Harbour Commissioners, Corporation and Ballast Offices, Navigation Companies, Gas Companies, Mining Companies, &c., setting out their financial condition. They will often be found under their specific titles.

ACCOUNT OR MEMORANDA BOOKS, . . 1818—1878.
These books contain entries made by the Clerks of the Crown and Peace of incidental expenses in their official capacities; lists of copies of informations, &c., made out for Attorney-General, Crown Solicitors, and others; notes of attendances at Quarter Sessions, &c., and also accounts of expenses of a private nature.—See "Fees, Accounts of."

ACQUITTALS, RECORDS OF, ... 1799—1854.
These are records of acquittal at Quarter Sessions. There are very few of them, most of those on record being in Excise cases, where the Excise Officer has appealed against the Magistrates' decision of acquittal.—See also "Appeals."

ACQUITTAL REGISTER (Co. WICKLOW), . . 1808—1819.
This book contains a list of all prisoners acquitted at each Quarter Sessions, with an affidavit of the Clerk of the Peace that he has received no fees in such cases. By the Act 23 & 24 George III., c. 34, the sums so due to him were presented for by the Grand Jury.—See also "Presentment Papers."

ACTION BOOKS.—See "Complaint Books," "Attachment Books," and "Action Register (Dublin)." For boroughs other than Dublin see "Mayors' or Recorders' Books."

ACTION REGISTER (DUBLIN CITY), . . . 1837—1852.
This is a register of the processes in the Mayor's Record Court of the city of Dublin, and contains the number on the file, the names of the plaintiff, defendant, and attorney, date of filing subsequent proceedings, and when taken off the file.—See under "Mayors' Court Records" for other counties.

ADJOURNMENT, DOMINICALS OF, see under "Quarter Sessions."

AFFIDAVITS (DUBLIN CITY), ... 1776—1849.
These are affidavits made in connection with proceedings in the Record Court of Dublin, and consist of affidavits to postpone trial, affidavits of debt, affidavits of service, affidavits to qualify bail, &c.

AFFIDAVITS (ACCOUNTING), see "Presentment Papers."

AFFIDAVITS TO POSTPONE TRIAL, . . . 1761—1849.
These affidavits are made on account of the absence of a necessary witness, the illness of the prosecutor, &c., and sometimes contain the medical certificate. These are for County Dublin only; in other cases they may be found in "Crown Files," or "Assize and Sessions Papers."

AFFIDAVITS (RENEWAL AND EJECTMENT), see "Renewals and Ejectments."

APPEALS TO ASSIZES, ... 1797—1878.
These records consist mainly of recognizances entered into by the defendant in a Civil Bill action, and two sureties, binding themselves that the defendant shall prosecute his appeal against the Assistant Barrister's, Recorder's, or Seneschal's decision, at the next Assizes; an affidavit by him or his attorney being added to the effect that the appeal is bona fide (since 1877 this affidavit is no longer required). The papers upon which the original decision rested, viz., decrees, &c., are sometimes, but not always, included. The decision of the Judge will be found in Appeal Book or Appeal Lists, which latter are usually kept with the bonds. Appeals under Landlord and Tenant (1870) Act are also included. For Appeals earlier than 1796 see Crown Files and Civil Bill Books at Assizes. Appeals (county and city of Dublin) are made to the Commission Court or Judge at Nisi Prius. For Appeals to reduce fines, see "Fines and Estreats, Affidavits, &c., to reduce."

APPEALS TO QUARTER SESSIONS, . . . 1810—1878.
These are appeals from the decisions of the Magistrates at Petty Sessions, Police Magistrates, or the Lord Mayor, to the Assistant Barrister or Recorder, at Quarter Sessions. The cases in which such appeals lie include the following:—Poor's rate appeals, appeals against Griffith's valuation, estreats, excise and game law convictions, fishery convictions, wages orders, and other orders made by the Magistrates. These papers consist of the appeal bond, with the record of conviction or acquittal often included.—See also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions." The decision of the Assistant Barrister will be found either in "Appeal Books at Quarter Sessions" or "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions." For Tithe Appeals, see "Tithe Papers" or "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions."

APPEALS, CERTIFICATES OF (COUNTY MAYO), 1850—1858.

These books contain certificates by the Clerk of the Peace that the defendant has lodged with him an appeal against the decision of the Magistrates, and a certain sum for costs; and that he has duly entered into the necessary recognizance.

APPEARANCE BOOKS, ... 1761—1878.

These books contain entries of appearances by defendants, or their attorneys on their behalf, in cases connected with the Record Court of the city of Dublin.

APPRAISEMENTS AND APPRAISEMENT BOOKS, 1692—1847.

These appraisements are those of the Marshal of the Record Court of the city of Dublin, containing valuation of goods seized under an Attachment, with the order of the Registrar of the Court for so doing. The Appraisement Books contain lists of goods valued and their valuation.

APPRAISERS' AND ARBITRATORS' PAPERS, 1826—1866.

These papers consist of recommendation of people to be appointed appraisers and arbitrators, the appointments and the affidavits of those elected, &c. Public arbitrators were appointed by the Magistrates at Quarter Sessions to appraise damage done by trespass, and to examine the state of fences, &c. Upon appointment, they were obliged to take an oath that they would justly and honestly appraise, value, and arbitrate when called upon, and to enter into a bond of security. An appeal from the arbitrators' award lay to the Quarter Sessions.—For arbitrators' awards in Civil Bill cases, see "Civil Bill Papers."

ARMS LICENCE PAPERS, ... 1793—1846.

The registration of arms was enforced at the end of the eighteenth century, on account of the disturbed state of the country during the Insurrection movement. The papers connected therewith include the following:—

1. Arms Notifications and Applications.—Formerly it was necessary for every one who had arms in his possession to notify to the Clerk of the Sessions or Peace the number of arms which he kept, and to state his belief that he was qualified to keep them. After so doing, on appearing before a Magistrate, he could obtain a certificate or licence. By the Act 6 & 7 Vict., c. 74, Notifications were replaced by Applications, or Notices to the Clerk of the Peace that applicant intended to apply to the magistrates at the ensuing sessions for a licence to keep arms.
2. Arms Certificates and Licences.—These certificates were signed by a Magistrate or Magistrates, and stated that the applicant was a proper person to keep arms. Since 1842 they have been called licences, and on the back is printed an abstract or summary of the duties or obligations required by persons licensed to keep arms.
3. Arms Licence Lists, which are lists of all to whom licences had been granted at the preceding sessions, being mostly printed copies of the registers.

4. Arms Licence Returns, being copy returns furnished pursuant to orders of the House of Commons.—See also "Returns."
5. Miscellaneous.—These consist of notices of change of residence, transfer of certificates, declaration of purchase of arms from a licensee, &c.

ARMS LICENCE APPLICATION BOOKS, LISTS OR REGISTERS, ... 1841—48, 1875—78.

These books or lists are of three kinds, viz.:—

1. Lists of all the applications for arms licences, with a column for the ruling of the Court, as to whether the application should be granted or refused. They are called Application (Court) Books.
2. Entries of all persons who have applied to have their licences transferred, certified or endorsed.
3. Lists of all persons who have applied for arms licences under the Peace Preservation Act, 1875. These contain date, name of applicant, residence, nature of licence applied for, whether granted or refused, and nature of licence granted.

ARMS LICENCE REGISTERS, ... 1794—1846.

These are registers of all persons who have been granted arms licences by the Magistrates. They contain name, abode, number of guns, their registered number, the place where they were to be kept, &c.

ARMS PROCLAMATIONS, see "Proclamations."

ASSIZE, OR CROWN, PAPERS AND REGISTER, 1740—1875.

These consist of precepts, panels, issues, and any criminal record connected with the Assize business, except the indictments and informations. They existed as a separate class only in four counties, the usual custom being to keep them with the indictments and informations, as Crown Files at Assizes. The Register of Assize papers (County Monaghan) is a list of all informations and recognizances received by the Clerk of the Crown.

ATTACHMENT BOOKS, ... 1810—1849.

These books are registers of all writs of attachment issued from the Record Court of the city of Dublin, and contain the names of the debtor and prosecutor, amount at issue, and attorney's name.

ATTORNEYS' ACCOUNTS, ... 1820—1878.

These are accounts, either in the shape of lists, memoranda or books, of the amounts due or paid by attorneys to the Clerks of the Peace for signing Civil Bill decrees, &c. In the case of County Tipperary, they are called Docket Sheets.—See also "Fees and Expenses, Accounts of (Clerk of the Peace)."

ATTORNEYS' AFFIDAVITS, ... 1836—1863.

It was formerly requisite that all attorneys practising in Civil Bill Courts should take an oath to faithfully discharge all such duties as might be entrusted to their charge. This was, however, repealed by the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 75, s. 51, which Act substituted an affidavit to the same effect. They were sometimes enrolled on parchment.

ATTORNEYS' LICENCE LISTS AND REGISTERS, 1822—1878.

These lists consist not only of those made out by the Clerk of the Peace, containing the names of the attorneys who have produced their stamp certificates, but also, more recently, of printed lists of all attorneys who have paid their stamp duty, which are issued by the Stamp Office. The Registers contain the name and residence of the attorney so registering, the length of time he has been admitted, the date of his certificate, the amount of duty paid, and the place where the certificate was exhibited.—See also "Civil Bill Books."

ATTORNEYS' STAMP CERTIFICATES, . . 1835—1862.

By the Act 56 George III., c. 56, an attorney wishing to practise in any Court had first to pay a stamp duty to the Receiver General, and receive a certificate to that effect before he could practise in Court. The certificates were usually returned by the Clerks of the Peace to the Stamp Office (s. 59).

AWARDS.

For awards in the matters connected with drainage, railways, enclosures, turnpikes, &c., see "Maps, Plans, and Awards." For awards in civil bill cases see "Civil Bill Papers." Arbitrators' awards in case of trespass will probably be found amongst "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions," but those under the Landlord and Tenant (1870) Act are to be found in "Record of Claim and Dispute Books," for which, see "Landlord and Tenant (1870) Act, Books."

BAIL OR MANUCAPTORY BOOKS, . . 1623—1793.

These books contain recognizances to produce the body of bailee to the Marshal of the Record Court of the city of Dublin when required. They were so called because the bailor became pledge and manucaptor.—For Londonderry, see "Mayors' Court Bail Books."

BAIL BONDS (ASSIZES AND SESSIONS), see "Bonds and Recognizances."

BAILIFF'S PAPERS, ... 1836—1872.

These papers consist of the appointments of bailiffs by Clerks of the Peace under the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 75, for the execution of decrees; bonds entered into by them on their appointment, and resignations tendered by them.

BAKERS' OATHS, ... 1787—1811.

By the Act 27 George III., c. 37, it was enacted that no one be allowed to make or sell bread without first registering his name and abode with the Clerk of the Peace, and taking an oath that he would not enter into any combination to raise the price of bread, or allow bread to be made of any unlawful materials.

BLACKSMITHS' LICENCE PAPERS AND REGISTERS, ... 1798—1842.

The registration of blacksmiths, like that of arms, originated in the disturbed state of the country at the end of the eighteenth century. These papers contain notices and certificates of blacksmiths that they did not make pikes, and that they kept forges; affidavits of the truth of such notices, and certificates of Magistrates that they were fit and proper persons to keep forges, and recognizances entered into by blacksmiths not to make pikes. The registers and lists contain the names and addresses of all those who obtained licences.

BONDS (OF OFFICE), ... 1777—1869.

These are obligations entered into by parties on appointment to office, such as gaol governor, pound-keeper, weighmaster, pawnbroker, buttertaster, petty sessions clerk, bailiff, gaol contractor, &c., to well and faithfully perform such office. They are usually kept under their specific headings.

BONDS AND RECOGNIZANCES, ... 1743—1872.

These are obligations entered into by parties to appear at Assizes or Sessions, to be of the peace, to prosecute, &c., under penalty of forfeiture of recognizance by principal and his sureties. They are more usually kept with the Crown Files. Bonds entered into by parties in cases of appeal to Assizes will be found under Appeals to Assizes, but those in cases of appeal to Quarter Sessions will be found either amongst such appeals or in Crown Files at Quarter Sessions. For the enrolment of Bonds and Recognizances about the time of Elizabeth, on the Plea Rolls (Record Tower Collection), see Appendix to Deputy Keeper's 28th Report, pp. 47--51.

BOUNDARY NOTICES (OBJECTIONS) AND ORDERS, ... 1834—1873.

These notices are lodged with the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 6 George IV., c. 99, objecting to the decision of the boundary surveyors, and notifying intention to appeal to the next Quarter Sessions. The boundary orders are those made by the Lord Lieutenant in Council to alter the boundaries of counties or townlands.—For reports and maps referred to in the orders, see "Maps, Plans, Awards, &c."

BOUNDARY REPORTS, see "Maps."

BRIEFS (ASSIZES), ... 1785—1870.

These are abridgments, or brief summaries of Crown cases prepared by the Crown Solicitor for the opinion of the Law Officers, and cases for opinion of Counsel. There are also a few briefs for traversers.—See also "Crown Files at Assizes."

BUTTERTASTERS' AND WEIGHMASTERS' BONDS AND AFFIDAVITS, ... 1806—1874.

Appointments to act as buttertasters and weighmasters were made in cities and corporations under the corporation seal, and elsewhere by the justices of the peace at Quarter Sessions. Those who were appointed were obliged to enter into a bond, and to make an affidavit of intention to duly perform their office.

BYE-LAWS AND REGULATIONS, ... 1868—1878.

These copies of bye-laws and regulations by Harbour Commissioners, Market Trusts, &c., are forwarded to the Clerk of the Peace to be laid before justices at Quarter Sessions for their approval.—See also "Maps and Plans."

CAPIAS BOOKS, ... 1744—1878.

These books are registers of all those arrested under a writ of capias, and contain lists of persons against whom such writs were issued at each Assize or Sessions, with their places of abode, offences, sometimes prosecutors' names, and notes as to whether the bill of indictment was passed by the Grand Jury or not.

CENSUS RETURN PAPERS AND BOOKS, . 1813—1851.

These consist of the following documents connected with making the population returns for Ireland, viz.:—Precepts to call special sessions of magistrates to make arrangements, copies of instructions to enumerators, recommendations and appointments of enumerators, depositions of and compensation to enumerators, their returns of the divisions of the county into townlands, rough note books, &c. The only returns for 1813, apart from purely numerical ones, returned to this office by the Clerks of the Peace, are those for county Dublin and the half barony of Lecale, county Down, which give the name of the head of each family and the number in family; while for 1821 duplicates of the returns lodged in this office from the Record Tower have been received from counties Dublin and Wicklow.—See also "Coroners' Inquests" for returns of inquests made for Census purposes; and "Militia Papers" for Ballot Books, 1803--1809.

CESS APPLOTMENT BOOKS, ... 1834—1878.

These books contain lists of occupiers in each townland, with the net annual value of their property or holding, the amount of county cess or labour rate at which each is assessed by the Grand Jury, or parochial apploters, the amount collected, and sometimes the arrears.—See also "Presentment Papers."

CESS PAPERS, ... 1834—1870.

These papers contain lists of cesspayers, and various other documents connected with the collection of county cess for the county Carlow. For other counties, see "Presentment Papers."

CESS COLLECTORS, see "Constables (High)."
CESSPAYERS, see "Magistrates," and "Presentment Papers."

CHAIRMEN'S AFFIDAVITS AND DECLARATIONS, ... 1870—1877.

These are affidavits and declarations made by Chairmen and Deputy Chairmen of Quarter Sessions, and County Court Judges, of intention to faithfully perform their duty.

CIVIL BILL BOOKS AT ASSIZES, ... 1733—1796.

These are registers of the Civil Bill cases which came before the Judges of Assize down to 1796, when Civil Bill procedure was transferred to the Assistant Barrister at Quarter Sessions. They contain not only decrees, but also renewals of decrees and appeals. Civil Bill papers for this period should be sought for in the "Crown Files at Assizes."

CIVIL BILL BOOKS (QUARTER SESSIONS), . 1796—1878.

These books record the decision of the Assistant Barrister in ordinary civil bill cases. They also sometimes contain renewals, lists of attorneys' licences, and names of process servers. For entries of civil bill decrees in Manor Courts, see Manor Court papers, while those in civil bill ejectment cases will be found in "Ejectment Books." The following are the explanations of the abbreviations generally used in the Civil Bill Books:—D. W. P., dismissed without prejudice; D. O. M., dismissed on its merits; N. P. R., non-payment of rent; Y. R. A., year's rent in arrear; A., agreed; R., renewal; P. P. or P. S., proves process or service; P. C., proves case; P. D., proves defence.

CIVIL BILL EJECTMENTS, see "Ejectments."

CIVIL BILL PAPERS, ... 1796—1878.

These contain records connected with ordinary civil bill procedure, which by the Act of 36 George III. (1796), was transferred from the Judges at Assize and Sheriffs at the County Courts to the Assistant Barrister at Quarter Sessions. They consist of civil bill decrees, dismisses, defences, consents, interpleaders, affidavits of costs, affidavits to obtain decrees by default, writs of summons and plaint with the orders of the Superior Court remitting the cases, process servers' returns, awards, &c. In some few cases renewal and ejectment affidavits and replevins will be found included under this head. Civil bill papers before 1796 will be found amongst "Crown Files at Assizes."—See also "Poor Rate Decrees (Common Law Courts)." For Civil Bill Appeals, see "Appeals to Assizes."

CIVIL BILL TESTAMENTARY PAPERS, see "Probate and Legacy Papers."

CLERK OF THE PEACE, PAPERS RELATING TO OFFICE OF, ... 1801—1873.

These are mostly circulars and memorials concerning the interests of Clerks of the Peace in bills intended to be introduced into Parliament, copies of such bills, correspondence on the same subjects, counsel's opinion on cases submitted by Clerks of the Peace, as to their official position, &c.

CLERK AND DEPUTY CLERK OF THE PEACE'S AFFIDAVITS, &c., ... 1815—1877.

These papers include deputations, or appointments of deputies, by the Clerks of the Peace, affidavits both of Clerks and their deputies to faithfully discharge their duties, and bonds of security entered into upon appointment.—See also Queen's Bench (Crown Office) for affidavits or oaths of Clerk of the Peace.

COMMISSION OF ENQUIRY, RETURNS TO, . 1786—1827.

These are returns made in answer to queries sent by a Commission instituted in 1815 to enquire into the duties, salaries, and emoluments of the several officers, clerks and ministers of justice, of and within the several courts temporal and ecclesiastical. They consist of draft returns to queries, letters received from Commissioners, &c.—See also "Returns and Orders (Government, &c.)."

COMMISSION BOOKS AND PAPERS (COUNTY AND CITY DUBLIN), see "Crown Books and Files at Assizes."

COMMISSION PATENTS, ... 1693—1837.

These are patents for Special Commissions, or Commissions of Assize, and Oyer and Terminer, issued from the Crown and Hanaper Office to the Judges of the Superior Courts, appointing them, or some of them, to try special cases, or to deliver the gaols and hold ordinary Assizes. Upon receipt of these the Commissioners issue their precepts to the Sheriffs of the different counties.—See also Patent Rolls of Chancery for these Commissions. For the enrolment of Commissions about the time of Elizabeth on the Plea Rolls (Record Tower Collection), see Appendix to Deputy Keeper's 28th Report, pp. 47–51.

COMPLAINT OR ACTION BOOKS, ... 1661—1800.

These are registers of actions in the Record Court of the city of Dublin, giving the names of the parties, the nature of the complaint, attorneys' names, and the amount of the damage claimed.

CONSENTS, see "Civil Bill Papers."

CONSTABLES' (HIGH) APPOINTMENTS, BONDS, &c., ... 1818—1878.

The election of high constables or cess collectors was usually made at each Spring Assize, but in case of the death or resignation of a high constable between two Assizes, or the failure of the Grand Jury, at the next ensuing Assize, to fill up the vacancy, the County Treasurer was obliged (11 & 12 Vic., c. 32) to request the Clerk of the Peace to call a Special Sessions to make the appointment. The office of high constable has been done away with by the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 61 & 62 Vic., c. 37. These papers consist of bonds of high constable upon election, with warrants of attorney, and documents connected with the election at Special Sessions, such as requisitions of the County Treasurer to call Special Sessions, notices of such Sessions sent to magistrates, lists of magistrates to whom such notices were sent, the election of a high constable and approval of his securities. For the appointments made by the Grand Jury at Assizes, see "Presentment Papers," and "Presentments, Abstracts of."

CONSTABLES' OATHS, see "Constabulary Papers."

CONSTABULARY (MONTHLY ALLOCATION) ACCOUNTS, ... 1837—1847.

These are returns of accounts, which the Act of 6 William IV., c. 13, s. 51, required the Paymaster to submit to the Grand Jury, before being sent up to the Inspector-General. The above are for county Carlow only.

CONSTABULARY PAPERS, ... 1763—1873.

The constabulary body was originally a local force, appointed by the Grand Jury, and paid out of the county cess. The papers for that period include magistrates' recommendations of candidates, appointments of constables by the Grand Jury, oaths or affidavits of constables upon election to office, reports and returns of chief and sub-constables as to the state of the force (usually found in "Presentment Papers"), &c. Lists of constables are also often to be found in the earlier "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions." But by the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 13, the constitution of the force has been remodelled under the command of an Inspector-General, the appointment of constables rests with the Lord Lieutenant, and the county only pays half the expense of maintaining the force, the other half being paid out of the Consolidated Fund. The papers since 1837 include magistrates' resolutions for special sessions to consider the question of increasing or re-distributing the police force of the district (see also "Crown Books"), proceedings at such sessions, applications for police stations, and increase of barrack accommodation, account books, &c. The above collection does not include high constables' appointments, which are kept separately.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES (WOMEN) ACTS REGULATIONS, ... 1869—1871.

These are printed regulations respecting the periodical medical examinations of women at the Curragh, which were lodged with the Clerk of the Peace for county Kildare under the Act 29 Vict., c. 35, s. 18.

CONVICT RETURNS, ... 1829—1871.

These are returns of persons capitally convicted or under rule, order or sentence of transportation, copies of which were furnished after each Assize and Sessions to the Chief Secretary or (by the Act 17 & 18 Vic., c. 76, s. 27) to the Director of Prisons. They contain the names of the convicts, their ages, dates of conviction, terms of transportation, and crime.—See also "Crown Files."

CONVICTIONS, RECORDS OF, OR CONVICTION ORDERS, ... 1722—1878.

These are records of convictions, or of orders upon conviction, before two magistrates or at petty or Quarter Sessions. They consist of summary convictions upon a plea of guilty, excise convictions for breach of game, licensing, &c., laws, convictions of juvenile offenders, &c. They are often put up with Appeals to Quarter Sessions, or Crown Files at Quarter Sessions. Of recent years the papers connected with the case, such as informations, statements of accused, &c., are often attached to the record of conviction. Lists of convictions are also found to be amongst Fines and Estreats.—For Records of Convictions at Assizes, see "Crown Files at Assizes." Convictions (Petty Sessions) Books or Indexes are registers of all summary conviction orders received by the Clerk of the Peace from the Clerk of Petty Sessions under the Act 18 & 19 Vic., c. 126.

CORN RETURN OATHS, ... 1800.

These are oaths made by millers and corn sellers to make true weekly returns of the quantity and cost of grain sold or ground by them in pursuance of the Act 30 George III., c. 30, s. 4, for regulating the corn trade. These oaths are for county Wexford.

CORONERS' DECLARATIONS AND QUALIFICATIONS, see "Coroners' Election Papers."

CORONERS' DISTRICTS PAPERS, . . . 1845—1878.

By the Acts of 7 & 8 Vic., c. 106, s. 129, for county Dublin, and 9 & 10 Vic., c. 37, for the other counties of Ireland, it was enacted that it should be lawful for the magistrates, upon receiving a warrant from the Lord Lieutenant, to convene a special sessions for distributing the county into districts, and allocating such districts amongst the existing Coroners. These papers consist of petitions to the Lord Lieutenant, Lord Lieutenants' warrants, and the orders of the magistrates at such sessions. These orders were sometimes entered in the Crown Books at Quarter Sessions. The alterations of Coroners' Districts now belongs to the County Councils under the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 61 & 62 Vic., c. 37.

CORONERS' INQUESTS, ... 1735—1878.

These consist of records of inquisitions held before the Coroners with twelve jurymen, upon the bodies of people whose deaths have not been certified by a medical practitioner to have proceeded from natural causes. They contain the names of the jurors, verdict, date, and place of holding the inquest, &c. With these inquisitions are often found the depositions of informants and reports of constables. The returns and certificates made by the Coroner for the Grand Jury are sometimes included (if not, see "Presentment Papers"). Coroners' Inquests (Census Returns) are lists of all inquests held in the preceding ten years with name of deceased, verdict, &c., for Census purposes.

By 9 & 10 Vic., c. 37, s. 44, an inquest could also be taken before two magistrates, if not held by the Coroner within two days. In the case of county Monaghan, certificates of deaths in Lunatic Asylums by the Medical Officers are included.

CORONERS' ELECTION PAPERS, ... 1816—1876.

These papers contain the requisitions to the Lord Chancellor to fill up a vacancy amongst the Coroners of the county, the High Sheriff's notice of election, the poll books at elections (which were sometimes kept with the poll books for election of M.P.'s, and after 1850 were returned to the Hanaper Office), candidates' statements as to their property qualifications, declarations of Coroners not to weaken the Established Church, and affidavits that they would faithfully perform their duties. Coroners were elected by the Freeholders of the county, summoned by the Sheriff for that purpose on his receiving a writ de coronatore eligendo. Their appointment, since the passing of the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 1898, now rests with the County Councils.

CORRESPONDENCE, ... 1789—1878.

This series consists mainly of letters from Dublin Castle, Chief Remembrancer's Office, Board of Works, Paymaster of Civil Services, Fines and Penalties Office, &c., calling for returns, intimating procedure, &c. In some cases, letters of an unofficial nature, addressed to Clerks of the Crown and Peace, are included.—See also "Crown Files," and "Returns and Orders."

COSTS OF ATTACHMENTS, &c., . . . 1837—1849.

These are lists of the costs of attachments, &c., in the Record Court of the city of Dublin, with a certificate of taxing costs by the Registrar, and plaintiff's attorney's certificate of the sum due.

COUNTY BUILDINGS COMMISSION PAPERS, 1791—1870.

These consist of the minute books of the Commissioners appointed for the erection of county gaols, court houses, and bridewells, together with the papers connected with the purchase of sites and the erection of the buildings, such as leases, conveyances, architects' reports, tenders, vouchers for expenses of Commissioners, minute books, solicitors' costs, maps, and specifications, inquisitions, &c.—See also "Deeds and Leases" (in the case of county Londonderry), and "Maps, Plans, &c." They are usually indexed in the Search Room Entry Book under their separate titles.

COUNTY COURT BOOK, ... 1765—1770.

This is a record of proceedings in the County Court of Kerry held before the High Sheriff. This was the old County Court which was presided over by the Sheriff. His jurisdiction in civil actions, except replevin, was transferred to the Assistant Barrister by the Act 36 George III., c. 39.

COUNTY COURT JUDGES' DECLARATIONS, see "Chairmen's."

COUNTY SURVEYORS' CERTIFICATES, . . 1865—1870.

These are certificates issued by the county surveyor of Carlow for work done under his orders, and are addressed to the county treasurer for payment. In case of all other counties, see "Presentment Papers."

COURT BOOKS, OR COURT LIST BOOKS, . 1790—1871.

These are day-books of the various criminal cases tried at the Quarter Sessions of the city of Dublin. The cases for the day are entered up with a number corresponding to the number of the case in the Custody or Traverse Book, and the verdict and sentence are recorded against each name. If, however, the case is postponed, it must be traced on through the subsequent sittings, till the sentence is given. For other counties, the sentence will always be found in the Crown Books.

CRIMINAL RETURNS, ... 1816—1877.

By the Act 56 George III., c. 120, it was rendered necessary for every Clerk of the Crown or Peace to make to the Chief Secretary, at the commencement of each year, a return of the number of persons charged with criminal offences in the preceding year, and the subsequent proceedings. These criminal returns are purely numerical, and do not contain the names of the prisoners. The above are only drafts or copies.—See also "Crown Files," and "Convict Returns."

CROWN BOOKS AT ASSIZES, ... 1727—1878.

These books contain an abstract of each bill of indictment, and also record the name of the magistrate who committed the prisoner, the name of the prosecutor, with the amount in which he is bound; whether the prisoner was let out on bail or not; whether a true bill or no bill was found, and the verdict. They also contain prisoners' calendars and traverses of presentments of Grand Jurors (unless there are separate books for the latter), and Jurors' appeals to remit fines. The names of the judges and of the grand jury are given at the commencement of the entries for each Assize. For the county and city of Dublin they are called Commission (Crown) Books.

CROWN FILES AT ASSIZES, ... 1709—1878.

These files mainly consist of true, no, and unconsidered bills of indictment, with the informations, and sometimes the recognizances, attached. But they also will, at times, be found to contain many other records connected with the Assizes, such as grand and petty jury panels and issues, prisoners' calendars, witnesses' expenses, committals, and discharges from bridewell, records of conviction, recommendations to mercy, traverses, civil bill processes before 1796, briefs, death warrants, and commutation of sentences of death, excise prosecutions, Clerk of the Crown's declarations, &c. The numbers on each bill of indictment correspond with the entries in the Crown Books. In the cases of Louth, Drogheda, Carlow, and Armagh, Crown Files originally meant bills of indictment and informations only, while the other documents belonging to Assizes were classed as Crown or Assize papers. For the county and city of Dublin they are called Commission (Crown) Files. For the enrolment of bills of indictment, &c., at Assizes for the period Henry VIII. to Charles I., on the Plea Rolls (Record Tower Collection), see Appendix to Deputy Keeper's 28th Report, pp. 47–51.

CROWN BOOKS AT QUARTER SESSIONS, . 1757—1878.

These books are registers of the criminal cases which came before the Assistant Barrister, and contain an abstract of the bill of indictment, the name of the magistrate who signed the warrant, the names of the sureties, witnesses, and the sentence, with a calendar of prisoners at the end of each sessions. In many cases, however, they are made use of to record other sessions business, and contain often such matters as appeals from magistrates' decisions, publicans' licences granted, orders for alteration of petty sessions and Coroners' districts, lists of insolvents, lists of fines inflicted, and, in former times, presentments of nuisances, and constables' appointments. For the city of Dublin, they are divided into Custody and Traverse Books, which do not contain the verdict (for which see Court List Books). The Crown books and sheets for King's County are lists or summaries of the cases to be tried at Quarter Sessions, with the Assistant Barristers' or Clerks' notes of the verdict.

CROWN FILES AT QUARTER SESSIONS, . . 1722—1878.

These files consist, properly speaking, of only criminal business at Quarter Sessions, viz.: the bills of indictment (with their informations and recognizances), prisoners' calendars, and jury issues and panels; but at times civil records are included, so that these files should be searched in every case where the document required has not been found in its own class. Amongst the various records sometimes to be found amongst Crown Files are civil bill papers, fines and estreats, publicans' licence lists, tithe appeals, orders for postponing sessions, convictions, married women's protection orders, &c. For some enrolments of bills of indictment, &c., at sessions of the peace about the time of Elizabeth on the Plea Rolls (Record Tower Collection), see Appendix to Deputy Keeper's 28th Report, pp. 47--51.

CROWN PAPERS (CLERK OF PEACE), REGISTER OF, ... 1848—1854.

This is a register of all informations, recognizances, convictions, and appeals, received by the Clerk of the Peace for county Fermanagh, with particulars as to the nature of the case, and the magistrate before whom such paper was sworn. For other counties, see "Information Books, Lists, &c.," and "Recognizance Registers, Lists, &c."

CUSTODY BOOKS, OR ABSTRACT BILLS OF INDICTMENT, ... 1729—1875.

These books contain abstracts of all the bills of indictment preferred at the Quarter Sessions for the city of Dublin, except those where the accused was released on bail, which are kept separately as Traverse Books. They contain the prisoners' names, cause of indictment, witnesses' names, &c., and correspond to Crown Books for other counties, except that they do not record the verdict, and sentence, which will be found in the Court List Books. After 1846 they were continued as Crown Books (Custody). Before that date the officer had omitted to keep Crown Books, and only kept the Court List Books giving the rulings. His successor made up these Abstract Bills of Indictment from the bills of indictment themselves, but did not complete the work.

CUSTOMS, SCHEDULES OF, see "Tolls."

CUSTOS ROTULORUM, PATENTS OF APPOINTMENT OF, ... 1800—1845.

These are letters patent appointing a "Keeper of the Rolls of our peace, and all writs, precepts, processes, and indictments," concerning the keeping of the peace. He had the power of appointing the Clerk of the Peace (who was his deputy), under the Act 37 Henry VIII., c. 1, s. 3, (English). This power was confirmed for Ireland by the Act 1 George IV., c. 27.

DECLARATION BOOKS (DUBLIN CITY), . . 1758—1815.

These books contain the names of the litigants, and that of the attorney by whom the declaration or plea was made in the Record Court of the city of Dublin.—See "Mayors' or Recorders' Court Papers."

DEEDS AND LEASES, ... 1603—1871.

This class contains not only indentures connected with county matters, such as the assignment of lands, contracts, agreements, &c., for building sites for gaols, bridewells, court houses, &c., together with indentures of election of M.P.'s, assignments in bankruptcy, and apprentices' indentures, but also many leases, proposals, agreements, mortgages, marriage settlements, &c., which have been deposited with the Clerks of Crown and Peace for various official reasons (as, for instance, in registering a leasehold or freehold, it was often necessary for a man to produce his title deeds, which were sometimes left with the Clerk of the Peace), or else were part of the Clerk's private business as a solicitor.—See also "County Buildings Commission Papers," and "Freemen's Beseeches" (Schedule II.).

DEFENCES, see "Civil Bill Papers."

DEPUTY GOVERNORS' AND DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS' APPOINTMENTS, ... 1793—1862.

These are warrants of appointment of a deputy, by the governor or lieutenant of the county; also letters received by the Clerk of the Peace appointing a deputy lieutenant, or communications with respect to such appointments. The duties of the Clerk of the Peace under this head are now performed by the clerk of general meetings of lieutenancy.

DEPUTY GOVERNORS', LIEUTENANTS', AND DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS' LISTS, . . 1807—1875.

These are lists of the above officials, made out for Parliamentary or other purposes.—See also "Magistrates' Lists," and "Militia Papers."

DEPUTY GOVERNORS', LIEUTENANTS', AND DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS' OATHS, . . 1793—1874.

These are the oaths of allegiance, supremacy, abjuration, and the declaration against transubstantiation, required to be taken by any person holding an official position, and also the oath of 10 George IV., c. 7, s. 2, which deputy lieutenants professing the Roman Catholic religion were required to take.—See also "Militia Papers," and "Oaths of Allegiance."

DEPUTY GOVERNORS' AND DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS' QUALIFICATIONS, . . 1793—1878.

Governors and Deputy Governors were appointed for calling together and arming the Militia. Upon appointment, deputy governors had to send to the Clerk of the Peace a statement that they were possessed of real property to the amount of £200, or were heirs to £400 a year, with the place or places where the property was situated. By the Act 1 & 2 William IV., c. 17, s. 10, the positions of governors and deputy governors were taken by lieutenants and deputy lieutenants of counties. A deputy lieutenant was required to have a real estate of £150 a year, or personal property to the amount of £3,000, and was obliged to notify his qualification to the Clerk of the Peace. The above qualifications have been altered by the Act 45 & 46 Vic., c. 49, and must now be delivered to the clerk of general meetings of lieutenancy, or the town clerk.

DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS, see "Deputy Governors."

DOCKET SHEETS, see "Attorneys' Accounts."

DOG LICENCE LISTS, ... 1866—1872.

These are lists of dog licences issued by Petty Sessions Clerks. They contain name and address of owner, with number of dogs licensed. As the Petty Sessions Clerk is obliged by the Act 28 Vic., c. 50, to send these lists to the Secretary of the Grand Jury, they are more usually found amongst Presentment Papers.

DOGS (SPORTING), CERTIFICATES TO TRAIN, . . 1835.

Under the Act 10 William III., c. 8, s. 10, it was necessary for any one desiring to keep setting dogs for training to receive an authorization from the magistrates of the district. These are for the county Kildare.

DRAINAGE AWARDS, see "Maps, Plans, Awards, &c."

EJECTMENT BOOKS, ... 1816—1878.

These books register the names of the plaintiffs and defendants in ejectment cases, the lands or tenements, with their situation and acreage, rent, arrears, names of process servers, &c., with the decree of the Assistant Barrister.

EJECTMENT PETITIONS, PROCESSES, AND AFFIDAVITS, ... 1816—1878.

Jurisdiction in ejectment cases was given to the Assistant Barrister by the Act 56 George III., c. 88, whereby he was empowered to put a landlord in possession in cases of absconding, over-holding, or defaulting tenants. The petitions were made to the Court to decree possession. The processes, or summonses, were issued by the Court to the defendant to appear and answer complainant, and the affidavits are those made by the landlord or his agent, to ascertain the rent or to verify the ejectment. The decisions of the Assistant Barrister are to be found in the Ejectment Books. The recent ejectment processes, &c., are usually now put up with Civil Bill Papers. In cases where an appeal lay, see also "Appeals to Assizes."

EJECTMENTS, RETURNS OF, ... 1827—1833.

This is a register of all ejectment processes, with particulars, issued by the Assistant Barrister. It was drawn up in accordance with an order of the Commission of Enquiry on the Poor Laws.—See also Record Tower Collection for returns of this class. For draft returns of a similar nature, see also "Returns and Orders."

ELECTION OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, PRECEPTS AND INDENTURES OF, . . 1776—1865.

The indentures are deeds drawn up between the High Sheriff and certain of the electors, witnessing to the election of a representative or representatives in accordance with the writ issued for that purpose. The precepts are those issued by the High Sheriff to the Mayors, Magistrates, or other officers, to hold elections.—See "Polling Officers' or Sheriffs' Poll Books" for entries of election of Members of Parliament.—See also Crown and Hanaper Collection.

ELECTION OATHS, see "Election Papers and Books."

ELECTION OBJECTIONS, see "Voters' Objections at Elections."

ELECTION PAPERS AND BOOKS, ... 1783—1874.

These consist of High Sheriffs' oaths, polling clerks', election agents', and deputy returning officers' affidavits, appointment of deputy by the Clerk of the Peace, instructions to the returning officer, election accounts, and appointment and declaration of auditor, objections to voters by inspector, &c.—See also "Poll Books," "Polling Officers' or Sheriffs' Poll Books," and "Voters' Objections at Elections."

ELECTION TALLIES AND CHEQUE BOOKS, . 1797—1855.

These tallies are forms filled up with the registration number, name and address of elector, and signed by the Tally Clerk. They were filled up separately, or by fives. (See also "Voters' Objections at Elections," and "Poll Books.") The Cheque Books are copies of the Registers of Freeholders in alphabetical order with the elector's vote and notes of objections, disqualifications, &c., added.

ENCLOSURES, see "Maps, Plans, and Awards."

ENCROACHMENT PRESENTMENTS, &c., . . 1764—1837.

These consist of informations laid against people for encroachments on commons: presentments of Grand Jury against the same: conditional orders of the Court for the abatement of the nuisance (with affidavits of service), and orders of the Court to the Sheriff to prostrate such encroachments. The above are for county Dublin.—See "Presentments" and "Grand Jury Bill Books" for notices of such presentments in the other counties.

EQUITY CIVIL BILL PAPERS AND BOOK, . . 1878.

This class of papers comprises proceedings relating to administrations, trusts, minors, mortgages, partitions, &c., in Equity Civil Bill cases, which were included in the jurisdiction of the County Court Judge by the Act of 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56. The book is a record of statements of claim, abstracts of title, affidavits, &c., in such cases.

ESTREATS ORDER BOOKS, ... 1832—1838.

These books contain the orders of the Judges of Assize to the Clerk of Crown to estreat recognizances, and to issue warrants to the Sheriff to levy, under the Act 1 & 2 Will. IV., c. 44, being "an Act to prevent and punish tumultuous risings, &c."

ESTREAT BOOKS, &c., see "Fines and Estreats Books, &c."

EXCISE PAPERS, ... 1819—1859.

These papers consist of proceedings before magistrates in connection with the infringement, &c., of game and spirit licence Acts, and include informations and declarations by excise officers, summonses, common levy warrants and returns, acquittals, convictions, notices of appeal, and complaints by distillers against duty, also excise collectors' oaths of trust and allegiance. They are generally to be found under "Convictions," "Acquittals," and "Appeals." The excise laws were consolidated by the Act 7 & 8 George IV., c. 53, by which prosecutions for offences against excise laws are referred in the first instance to magistrates with appeal to Quarter Sessions.—See also under "Publicans." For Still and Revenue Fines, Convictions, &c., before 1827, see also "Crown Files at Assizes."

EXPLOSIVE ACT NOTICES, ... 1875—1876.

These are notices of recommendations proposed by the Home Secretary (under the Act 38 Vict., c. 17) with respect to small firework factories, gunpowder and mixed explosive stores, conveyance of explosives, and package of explosives, otherwise than gunpowder; and an Order in Council classifying explosives.

FAIRS, GRANTS OF, see "Patents."

FEE BOOKS, ... 1727—1848.

These are account books of fees received by the Clerk of the Peace, and the Registrar of the Record Court, of the city of Dublin. There is also a private cash book amongst the series.—For other counties, see "Account Books."

FEES ACCOUNTS (CLERK OF THE CROWN), . 1812—1873.

Before a Clerk of the Crown could receive his salary from the Grand Jury, he was obliged to present a schedule of fees and emoluments received by him since last Assize, with an affidavit testifying to the truth of the schedule. They may sometimes also be found amongst Crown Files at Assizes," or "Presentments."

FEES AND EXPENSES, ACCOUNTS OF (CLERK OF THE PEACE), ... 1809—1874.

These consist of copy accounts of fees and emoluments of the Clerk of the Peace furnished, with affidavit, to the Grand Jury: orders for payment of prosecutors, sessions accounts, or amounts due from attorneys for civil bill processes, accounts of the number of voters' registration lists sold, expenses in making up jurors' lists and voters' lists, accounts with Crown Solicitor, and orders for Crown summonses, accounts of fees to be laid before Parliament (see also "Returns and Orders"), memorials, &c., of Clerks of Peace to the Treasury respecting fees, &c.—See also "Presentment Papers" and "Account Books," for accounts of fees.

FEES (SHERIFFS'), see "Sheriffs."

FINES ACCOUNT BOOKS (OFFICERS'), . . 1852—1878.

These books took the place of "Fines and Estreats Books" under the Act 14 & 15 Vic., c. 90. Copies of the entries made therein have to be forwarded to the Chief Secretary.

FINES MEMORIALS, COPY REPORTS ON, . 1835—1844.

These consist of draft reports of the Clerk of the Peace upon memorials, referred to him by the Lord Lieutenant, appealing against fines imposed or recognizances estreated. They are for the county Down.

FINES (STILL AND REVENUE), see "Crown Files at Assizes."

FINES AND ACCOUNTS (PETTY SESSIONS), . 1831—1871.

These papers include not only lists of fines inflicted and recognizances estreated by magistrates, but also returns of the clerk of petty sessions, as to the amount received for stamp and dog licences. They are for the county Mayo.

FINES AND ESTREATS, AFFIDAVITS AND PETITIONS TO REDUCE, ... 1814—1878.

These consist of affidavits, petitions and declarations made by jurors, prosecutors and others to the Judge or Assistant Barrister for the reduction of fines inflicted upon them for non-attendance, &c.—See also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions and Assizes."—The result of the appeal at Assizes will generally be found in the "Crown Books at Assizes," and if at Quarter Sessions, in the "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions," or special books kept for the purpose.

FINES AND ESTREATS BOOKS, ... 1820—1851.

These are registers of all fines imposed and recognizances forfeited at Assizes and Quarter Sessions, and ordered to be estreated. They contain not only the name and address of person fined, but also by whom the fine was imposed, date, how levied, and in what way the money was allocated. The Clerk of the Crown or Peace was obliged to make these entries and to send a copy thereof with warrant attached to the Sub- or County Inspector for execution, and also to send a copy to the Comptroller of the Pipe, and more recently, to the Chief Remembrancer of the Exchequer. In two cases these books are called "Fines and Forfeited Recognizance Books." This series is continued under "Fines Account (Officers') Books."

FINES AND ESTREATS, LISTS, RETURNS, &c., OF, ... 1805—1872.

These consist of draft lists and returns of entries made in the books provided for keeping a record of all fines imposed, and recognizances forfeited and ordered to be estreated; which lists and returns were forwarded to the Police Inspector, the Chief Remembrancer of the Exchequer, or, after 1850, the Fines and Penalties Audit Office; also certificates of fines by the Coroner, or of "no fines" by the Clerk of the Peace, levy warrants to be executed by the police; returns thereto; circulars from the Fines and Penalties Office requiring returns, &c.—See also "Crown Books" for lists of fines and estreats. Estreats are extracts of forfeited recognizances, and were so called because, in ancient times, all recognizances used to be entered on a roll, and when they were forfeited, an estreat or extract was made of the recognizance, and sent to the Exchequer, for process to be issued thereon.

FINES AND FORFEITED RECOGNIZANCES BOOKS, see "Fines and Estreats Books."

FINES (JURORS') BOOKS, ... 1845—1854.

These books were kept solely for the registration of all fines inflicted on Jurors for non-attendance. In cases where there were no special books kept, these entries will be found in "Fines and Estreats Books." Copies of these entries had to be forwarded to the Chief Remembrancer of the Exchequer.—For appeals against these fines, see "Fines and Estreats, Affidavits and Petitions to reduce."

FISHERY PAPERS, ... 1842—1878.

These consist of bye-laws of Commissioners of Works concerning piers and harbours, and salmon and oyster fishing; orders for close season, definitions, certificates of fixed engines, maps, &c., which must be lodged with Clerk of the Peace under the Act 5 & 6 Vict., c. 106, s. 92.—For convictions for breaches of fishery laws, see "Convictions, Records of."

FREEHOLDERS' AFFIDAVITS, ... 1746—1854.

These are the affidavits of freeholders, leaseholders, and rent chargers, made before the magistrates or Assistant Barrister at Sessions, or a Judge of the Superior Courts, to the effect that the person making the affidavit is possessed of a freehold, leasehold, or rent charge of £50, £20, £10, or 40 shillings, and then delivered by the Court to the Clerk of the Peace to be filed, and to be produced by him, if necessary, at any election. The forty shilling freeholders' qualification was abolished in 1829, and the £10 freeholders substituted. Documents called certificates, and found amongst these affidavits between 1795—1832, are duplicates of the affidavits, and have the same force and validity. (See "Freeholders' Certificates.") Some deeds and leases are also to be found amongst these affidavits, in consequence of their having been produced at the registration, and being left with the Clerk of the Peace. Rejected affidavits are those which the Assistant Barrister has refused to allow to be registered. The alphabets are indexes to the affidavits, the number in the alphabet corresponding with the number on the affidavit.

FREEHOLDERS' CERTIFICATES, ... 1795—1850.

These certificates are of two kinds:—(1) Between 1795—1832, any freeholder, leaseholder, or rent charger, on making his affidavit to register his freehold, &c., could compel the Clerk of the Peace to give him a duplicate of the affidavit, with his certificate of the affidavit having been registered. This duplicate, called a certificate, in the event of the loss of the original affidavit, had the same validity under the Act 35 George III., c. 24, s. 41. (2) The second class of certificates comprises those issued between 1832—1850, which were parchment duplicates of the Certificate of Registration appended by the Clerk of the Peace to the original affidavit. The first class will always, and the second class often, be found amongst Freeholders' Affidavits. The Freeholders' Certificate Receipts in the Peace Collection for county Wexford are receipts given to the Clerk of the Peace by electors, or their agents, on paying for and receiving their certificates.

FREEHOLDERS' LISTS, ... 1796—1848.

These are lists, mostly printed, of all registered freeholders, leaseholders, and rent chargers, being, as a rule, the annual lists required to be printed by the Act 1 George IV., c. 11, for distribution to the Clerks of the Crown, Magistrates, &c.—See also "Voters' Lists."

FREEHOLDERS' NOTICES OF CLAIM OR APPLICATIONS, ... 1829—1833.

These are notices of intention to apply, at the next sessions, to be put upon the register of voters as a freeholder, leaseholder, or rent charger.—See also "Voters' Claims."

FREEHOLDERS' NOTICES OF CLAIM OR APPLICATIONS, BOOKS AND LISTS OF, . 1829—1850.

These are lists of all notices of intention to apply for registration as freeholders, &c., received by the Clerk of the Peace, and are either simple lists of names of applicants with their addresses and qualifications, or are registers of the notices, with the decisions of the Assistant Barrister entered up against each name, thus becoming Court or Rule Books. They are sometimes called "Voters' Applications, Books and Lists of."—After 1850 see "Voters' Lists."

FREEHOLDERS' REGISTERS, ... 1746—1850.

The Clerk of the Peace was obliged to enter in a register the name, residence, qualification, &c., of any freeholder, leaseholder, or rent charger whose affidavit was allowed by the Assistant Barrister. The register contains an entry of all the facts sworn to in the affidavit. These registers were continued as "Voters' Registers."

FREEHOLDERS' REGISTRATION PAPERS, . 1813—1836.

This is a miscellaneous bundle for county Sligo, containing various papers connected with the registration of freeholders.—For other counties see "Voters' Registration Papers."

FREEHOLDERS' REGISTRATION SESSIONS BOOKS, &c., ... 1820—1829.

These record the various sessions held for the registration of freeholders, with a note of the date to which each session was adjourned, and the signatures of the Clerk of the Peace and the magistrates present.—See also "Adjournment, Dominicals of," "Sessions (Quarter), Dominicals or Adjournment Notices"; "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions" in some cases, or "Sessions (Quarter) Register (Co. Wicklow)."

FREEMASONS' AND FRIENDLY BROTHERS' MEMORIALS, &c., ... 1824—1878.

These are memorials or lists of the members, with their names and professions, of each lodge of Freemasons and Societies or Knots of Friendly Brothers of the Benevolent Order of Saint Patrick, accompanied by the declarations or oaths of two members of each lodge, taken before a magistrate, and their certificate that their lodge or society is conducted comformably to the rules prevailing amongst Freemasons' lodges in Ireland. The Act of 2 & 3 Vic. c. 74, against unlawful oaths, excludes Freemasons' lodges and Friendly Brothers' societies from the operation of the Act, on condition of these memorials, &c., being registered with the Clerk of the Peace. Any declarations in this collection of a date earlier than 1839 would appear to have been registered under the English Act of 39 George III., c. 79, or the Act of 4 George IV., c. 87, against unlawful oaths.

FREEMEN'S ADMISSION, EVIDENCE RESPECTING, . 1842

These papers contain the evidence of certain freemen, taken down at an enquiry held in 1842, before the Assistant Registering Barrister, as to the method of admitting persons as freemen of the city of Dublin.

FREEMEN'S AFFIDAVITS, ... 1839—1849.

These are affidavits of freemen for the purpose of being registered as voters for the county of the city of Dublin. In these affidavits they make oath that they are freemen, and have resided in the city of Dublin, or within seven statute miles thereof, for the last six months.—For other counties see "Householders' Affidavits," or "Voters' Affidavits (Co. Kildare)."

FREEMENS' REGISTERS AND LISTS, . . 1832—1850.

These are registers and printed lists of all freemen who have registered their qualifications as electors.—See also "Householders' or Voters' Registers and Lists."

FRIENDLY BROTHERS' SOCIETIES, see "Freemasons' Memorials," and "Friendly Societies' Rules."

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES' RULES, &c., . . . 1786—1874.

These are the rules and regulations of mutual aid societies, which were submitted to the justices at quarter sessions and lodged with the Clerk of the Peace. They comprise societies of Friendly Brothers, mortality or burial societies, temperance and abstinence societies, annuity and tontine societies, building societies, zoological societies, &c. By the Act 38 & 39 Vic., c. 60, an Assistant Registrar for all Ireland, with a registered office, was appointed, and any rules of societies formed after that period would be lodged with him.

GAME KEEPERS' CERTIFICATES (CO. KILDARE), ... 1834—1837.

These are appointments (or deputations) of game keepers by the lords of manors, giving them authority to kill game within the manor.

GAME LICENCE REQUISITIONS AND REGISTER, ... 1799—1800.

These are requisitions made to the Clerk of the Peace for county Londonderry for a certificate or licence, which, under the Act 39 George III., c. 62, everyone, except a game keeper, who used a dog, gun, or net, was obliged to take out. The register simply records the names and addresses, under date, of the applicants.

GAOL CALENDARS, see "Prisoners' Calendars."

GAOL CONTRACTORS' BONDS AND CONTRACTS, ... 1815—1875.

These contractors' bonds are those entered into by contractors appointed to erect county gaols. They are lodged with the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 23 & 24 George III., c. 41. The contracts consist of agreements and deeds for supplying food to county gaols, &c.

GAOL GOVERNORS' BONDS AND ELECTION PAPERS, ... 1856—1876.

By the Act 19 & 20 Vic., c. 68, s. 20, it was enacted that every gaol governor then in office, and every gaol governor to be elected in the future, should enter into a bond for the due performance of office, and to indemnify the Sheriff in case of escape of any prisoner. The election papers are minutes of proceedings of the Board of Superintendence at any election of a governor.

GAOL INSPECTORS' REPORTS, ... 1787—1826.

These are reports of the gaol inspectors as to the state and management of the gaols, made upon oath at Assizes, or Quarter Sessions. The originals were formerly sent to the Inspector-General, but by the Act 7 George IV., c. 74, s. 56, they must now be laid before the Grand Jury. Consequently, since that date, they are to be found amongst "Presentment Papers."

GAOL (LOCAL) INSPECTORS' BONDS (CO. KILDARE), ... 1862.

These are bonds entered into by any one appointed local inspector of gaols, to the board of superintendence, for the due performance of office.

GAOL, PROPOSALS TO SUPPLY (CO. CARLOW), 1836—1843.

These are tenders or proposals made to the board of superintendence of the gaol by food contractors.

GAOL AND BRIDEWELL COMMISSION BUILDING PAPERS, see "County Building Commission Papers."

GAZETTES, see "Statutes."

GOVERNORS, see "Deputy Governors."

GRAND JURY APPLICATIONS AND PROPOSALS (COUNTY CARLOW), ... 1826—1870.

These are proposals to execute, and applications to keep in repair, public works, &c.; in the case of every other county they are put up with "Presentment Papers."

GRAND JURY BILL BOOKS, ... 1708—1876.

These are registers of the bills of indictment brought before the grand jury either at Assizes or Quarter Sessions, and contain the names of the prosecutor and person indicted, the offence, and the finding of the grand jury. The names of the judges, high sheriffs, and grand jury are also often entered for each Assize or Sessions, the grand jurors usually signing the book themselves. Resolutions of the grand jury are recorded in these books, and it was formerly the custom to enter presentments made by them, e.g., nuisances, appointments of constables, &c. Resolutions of the grand jury will now be found in "Presentments, Abstracts of," or "Grand Warrants."

GRAND JURY (MANOR) BOOKS, see "Manor Court Papers."

GRAND JURY MINUTE BOOK, ... 1837—1843.

This is a minute book of the grand jury of Dublin city, and contains notes of attendance, fines, resolutions, &c., of the grand jurors.

GRAND JURY PAPERS AND RECORDS, . . 1820—1868.

These are papers of a miscellaneous nature connected with the grand jury, which, in the case of two counties, have not been put up with "Presentments." They consist of resolutions, petitions, bills, papers in legal cases in which the grand jury have been engaged, declarations of secretary, cess papers and arrears, &c.

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDATIONS TO MERCY, 1760—1846

These are recommendations to mercy made by the grand jury in cases of persons sentenced to death, mostly in cases which are not now punished with capital sentences.—See also "Crown Files."

GRAND WARRANTS, see "Abstracts of Presentments."

GREEN WAX PROCESSES, see "Petitions and Memorials."

GUARDIANS (EX-OFFICIO) CERTIFICATES, see "Poor Law Commissioners' Orders, &c."

GUNPOWDER LICENCE CERTIFICATES, . . 1822—1843.

Licences to deal in or sell gunpowder were only granted upon applicant producing a certificate signed by two justices of the peace at Quarter Sessions, certifying that he was a fit and proper person to receive such licence. It was necessary also to add the name of the place where the gunpowder was to be kept.—See also Record Tower Collection.

HARBOUR COMMISSIONERS' ACCOUNTS, see "Accounts."

HARBOUR RATEPAYERS' LISTS, ... 1867.

By the Act of 1867 a copy of the list of all exporters and importers paying rates above a certain limit, which was made out by the Collector of Harbour Rates, was to be sent by the Secretary of the Harbour Commissioners to the Clerk of the Peace, for revision by the Chairman of Quarter Sessions. The above are for Limerick Harbour.

HEALTH OFFICERS' APPOINTMENT, ... 1819.

This appointment was made under the Act 59 George III., whereby, in cases where the vestry of a parish containing a sufficient number of inhabitants neglected to make the appointment of a Health Officer, it was incumbent on the magistrates to make such appointment at Quarter Sessions. The above appointment is for Birr, King's county.

HOUSEHOLDERS' AFFIDAVITS, ... 1782—1850.

These are affidavits made by householders and freemen before justices or the Assistant Barrister at Quarter Sessions, for the purpose of being registered as voters in a borough, and contain the name, residence, qualification of claimant, and the statement that not more than the current half year's rates are due and unpaid.

HOUSEHOLDERS' APPLICATION (COURT) BOOKS, ... 1832—1850.

These books contain lists of householders and freemen who have signified to the Clerk of the Peace their intention of applying to be put upon the register, the decision or ruling of the Assistant Barrister being entered against each name. They are sometimes called Voters' Application (Court) Books.—After 1850, see "Voters' Lists."

HOUSEHOLDERS' CERTIFICATES, ... 1832—1850.

These are certificates given by the Clerk of the Peace to a householder or freeman, certifying that he has duly registered his qualification. A corresponding certificate is to be found at the foot of the affidavit. The Householders' Certificate Receipts for county Wexford are receipts given to the Clerk of the Peace by electors, or their agents, on paying for and receiving their certificates.

HOUSEHOLDERS' LISTS, ... 1832—1844.

These are annual lists of householders and freemen who had registered their qualification. They are mostly printed, and were made under the Act 1 George IV., c. 11, for presentation to the Clerks of the Crown, Magistrates, &c., after being certified by the Clerk of the Peace.—See also "Voters' Lists."

HOUSEHOLDERS' REGISTERS, ... 1832—1850.

These are registers of all householders and freemen, whose affidavits have been allowed by the Assistant Barrister. They contain the name, residence, qualification, place, and date of registry; and are continued as "Voters' Registers."

INDENTURES, see "Deeds."

INDICTMENT, BILLS OF, ... 1642—1871.

A bill of indictment is a bill, or declaration, of complaint exhibited for some offence, criminal or penal, briefly relating the offence for which the accused is indicted. They were formerly prepared by the Clerk of the Crown or Peace under the direction of the Crown Solicitor; but now indictments at Assizes are prepared by the Senior Crown Counsel, and those at Quarter Sessions by the Clerk of the Peace. They are laid before the grand jury, and if they find a "true bill," the foreman signs accordingly "for self and fellows," and the case is then tried by a petty jury. If not, it is either called a "no bill," when there is not sufficient evidence against the accused, or an "unconsidered bill." The number on the bill is the same as the number of the entry in the Crown Book, which contains an abstract of each bill of indictment. These bills of indictment are in every case, except county Sligo and Dublin city, put up with the informations on which indictments are founded, as "Crown Files."

INDICTMENT BOOKS, LISTS AND DOCQUETS, . 1774—1866.

These are registers or lists of persons indicted, with the nature of the offence, date of Assizes or Sessions at which the accused was brought up, and how the case was disposed of. The names of the magistrates before whom the informations were sworn are also given in the lists or docquets. "Extra Indictments" were those cases where no bill of indictment was made out, through the person accused not being amenable.

INFORMATIONS, ... 1642—1871.

Informations, which are accusations or complaints laid before a magistrate against a person for some criminal offence, constitute the foundation upon which the bills of indictment are constructed. Excepting when they are put up as a class by themselves, or with "Convictions," they are included in "Crown Files."

INFORMATION BOOKS, LISTS AND DOCQUETS, 1807—1877.

These are registers and lists of all informations received by the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, from the magistrates before whom they were laid. They contain names of informants, traversers, nature of the charges, date of Assizes or Sessions, and the names of the magistrates who forwarded them. For county Fermanagh they are to be found in "Register of Crown papers received by the Clerk of the Peace," while lists of Informations received by the Clerk of the Crown for county Monaghan are indexed under "Assize Papers, Register of."

INFORMATIONS (MALICIOUS INJURY), see "Malicious Injury Informations."

INQUISITIONS (DUBLIN CITY), . . . 1744—1871.

These documents consist of precepts from the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of Dublin to the Marshal of the Borough Record Court to impanel a jury and enquire into amount of damages due in cases proceeding before them, and the inquisitions or returns to such precepts.

INQUISITIONS, see "Maps, Plans, Awards, &c.," "Weights and Measures Papers," and "County Buildings Papers."

INSOLVENTS' HEARING BOOKS, . . . 1828—1873.

The hearing book for the Queen's County (1828—1829) contains the hearings of petitions by Insolvents, imprisoned for debts amounting to less than £10, to be supported by their creditors, or in default to be discharged from prison under the Act 7 George IV., c. 74, s. 83. All the other hearing books come within the period 1852—1873, and contain minutes of hearings of insolvent cases remitted by the Chief Clerk in Insolvency to the Assistant Barrister for decision, under the Act 14 & 15 Vic., c. 57.—For minutes of hearings before 1821 see "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions."

INSOLVENTS' PETITIONS, SCHEDULES, &c., . 1705—1874.

Before 1821, when an insolvent was imprisoned for debt, he usually lodged a petition for discharge with the Clerk of the Peace for the consideration of the Magistrates, Assistant Barrister, or of the Mayor (in which latter case the insolvent's papers are to be found amongst "Mayors' or Recorders' Papers"). With the petition was included a schedule of his debts and assets, and an assignment of his property. As a notice of his petition was necessarily inserted in the Gazette, copies of the Gazettes are often to be found amongst Insolvents' papers at this period. By the Act 1 & 2 George IV., c. 59 (1821), this jurisdiction was transferred from the Assistant Barrister to the Commissioners in Insolvency, who travelled round the country to try cases. Between 1821—1852 almost the only insolvency papers in the various Peace Offices are the petitions to the Assistant Barrister to grant insolvent a weekly allowance from his creditors, or, in default, to discharge him from custody. In 1851, by the Act 14 & 15 Vic., c. 57, the Commissionerships were abolished, and, although insolvents had to send their petitions and schedules to the Insolvent Court in Dublin, they were generally referred to the Assistant Barrister to adjudicate upon. Consequently, between 1851—1874, we find warrants for the discharge of insolvent, warrants to gaoler to bring him up before the Assistant Barrister, orders of the Insolvent Court for insolvent to be tried by Assistant Barrister, affidavit of service of order, correspondence with the Chief Clerk, &c., the original petitions and schedules being returned to the Court of Insolvency. By the Act 35 & 36 Vic., c. 57, (1872), confinement for debt was in most cases abolished, and the Insolvency Court was done away with, only a few outstanding cases remaining to be settled.

INSURRECTION ACT PAPERS, ... 1796—1824.

These papers consist of directions to the Clerk of the Peace to summon Special Sessions under the Insurrection Acts, on account of the disturbed state of the country, minutes of proceedings at such meetings, memorials of the magistrates to the Lord Lieutenant to proclaim parishes, proclamations, precepts from the magistrates to constables to issue the proclamations, informations and examinations, though these latter are generally to be found with "Crown Files at Assizes."—See also "Recognizance Registers (co. Down)."

INTERPRETERS' APPOINTMENTS, ... 1870.

Interpreters are appointed, when necessary, by the Chairman of Quarter Sessions, and are removable at pleasure (14 & 15 Vic., c. 57).—See also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions," and "Sessions Papers (co. Mayo)."

JESUITS' REGISTRATION NOTICES, &c., . . 1829—1870.

By the Catholic Emancipation Act of 10 George IV., c. 7, s. 28, all Jesuits or persons bound by religious or monastic vows, living in the Kingdom at the time, or afterwards coming thereto, were obliged to forward to the Clerk of the Peace a notice or statement of their name, age, place of birth, name of Order, and Superior, usual place of residence, and date of registry. The above records consist of these notices, circulars sent to the different Clerks of the Peace calling for returns of such notices, and copies of such returns sent to the Chief Secretary.—See also "Returns and Orders." The above Act, though never repealed, is now obsolete as far as these registration notices are concerned.

JURORS' BOOKS (SPECIAL AND GENERAL), . 1835—1878.

These books contain the names of jurors, their abode, occupation, annual value of rated property, and situation thereof. They were made up from the Jurors' Lists as revised annually by the magistrates, and copies were sent to the Sheriff. Since 1871 the books of Special Jurors are kept distinct from those of General Jurors, as the jurors are now divided into the two classes of Special and General by the Clerk of the Peace before the books are made up, instead of by the Sheriff, as formerly, after receiving the Jurors' Books.

JURORS' (MARKET) BOOKS, ... 1844—1860.

In order to relieve the magistrates, Market Jurors were appointed under the Act 27 George III., c. 46, to inspect the fish, flesh, butter, bread, &c., exposed for sale, and the weights and measures in use, in the markets, and to seize such food and weights, if necessary, and to bring them with their owner before the Chief Magistrate. These books are registers of the Market Jurors' names, the various cases which were brought by them under the notice of the Chief Magistrate, and his decision as to the goods being condemned or otherwise. In some counties, lists of Market Jurors were entered in the "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions.—See also Saint Sepulchre's Manor Records, in the Miscellaneous Detailed Index.

JURORS' (REVISING SESSIONS) BOOKS AND PAPERS, ... 1833—1870.

These books consist of two classes—(1) The minute books of the proceedings at Revising Sessions; (2) the registers or court books of the magistrates' rulings as to the qualifications of those on the Jurors' Lists returned by the High Constable. The papers consist of warrants of the Lord Lieutenant for holding special sessions (see also "Jurors' Lists"), oaths of barony constables, magistrates' orders, notices for revision sessions, &c.

JURORS' DECLARATIONS, &c., FOR EXEMPTION, 1806—1867.

These consist of declarations and affidavits by people summoned to act as Jurors, that they are over age, and are consequently exempt from being called to act as Jurors.—The above are for the county of Dublin.

JURORS' LISTS AND RETURNS, . . . 1833—1878.

These were formerly annual lists or returns made by the high constable and collector of grand jury cess (upon receiving a precept from the Clerk of the Peace), enumerating those who were qualified to serve as jurors, with their residence, title or profession, and qualification. These lists were then revised by the magistrates, and copied into books by the Clerks of the Peace for the use of the Sheriffs. But from 1871 (34 & 35 Vic., c. 65) the returns have been made out by the Clerks of the Union, or the Collector General for the city of Dublin; and the Clerk of the Peace, upon receipt of these returns separates them into general and special lists. They are then revised by the Chairman of Quarter Sessions, and copies are printed. The above class consists not only of the Clerks of the Unions' returns, and Chairmen's amended lists, but also of warrants issued by the Lord Lieutenant for the holding of special sessions for the revision of jurors' lists, on account of the sessions appointed by the magistrates having been abortive, through non-attendance of magistrates, &c.; also correspondence with Dublin Castle with respect to such warrants.

JURORS' LISTS, WARRANTS, &c. RESPECTING, see "Jurors' Lists," and "Jurors' (Revising Sessions) Papers."

JURORS' PETITIONS AND AFFIDAVITS AGAINST FINES, see "Fines and Estreats, Affidavits and Petitions to reduce."

JURY ISSUES OR FINDINGS, ... 1722—1873.

These are the issues or findings of the petty juries at Assizes and Quarter Sessions on both criminal and civil matters, where a jury is empanelled. The issue sheet usually contains the names of the jurors appointed to try the case, and the finding in each case is written at foot by the foreman for self and fellows.—See also "Crown Files," and "Civil Bill Papers."

JURY PANELS, ... 1644—1877.

These are lists of grand and petit jurors drawn up by the High Sheriff from his jurors' books, in answer to the precepts directed to him by the Commissioners of Assize or the magistrates. Marks were often put against the names of those who attended, and the amount of the fines inflicted against the absentees. Special panels are also struck in certain cases, as when the technicalities of the case require a more than usually intelligent jury. Lists of grand jurors for each Assize or Quarter Sessions are to be found in "Crown Books," and of petty jurors on the issue sheets.—For jurors' panels, see also "Crown Files."

LANDHOLDERS, LISTS OF (KING'S CO.), . . 1824—1825.

LANDED PROPERTY IMPROVEMENT (1860) ACT PAPERS AND REGISTERS, . . . 1865—1875.

These papers consist of proceedings under the Act 23 & 24 Vict., c. 153 (part 2), giving to any limited owner the power to grant agricultural improvement and building leases to tenants, and comprise petitions to the Assistant Barrister to sanction such leases; draft leases and maps for his approval, abstracts of title and notices of intention to present petition. The register contains an abstract of the petition, the names of tenants applying for leases, and the order made on the petition.

LANDLORD AND TENANT (1860) ACT, PAPERS, see "Ejectment Papers."

LANDLORD AND TENANT (1870) ACT PAPERS, 1870—1878.

These papers consist of proceedings under the Irish Land Act of 1870 (33 & 34 Vic., c. 46), relating to the occupation and ownership of land in Ireland, and contain land claims, under the Ulster tenant right and other usages, claims for compensation for disturbance and improvements, notices of claims and disputes of claims, &c. Appeals against orders made in these cases are to be found sometimes in the above papers, but generally with the "Appeals to Assizes."

LANDLORD AND TENANT (1870) ACT BOOKS, 1870—1878.

The books under this Act consist of:—(1) Court or Land Books, which are minute books of the proceedings at Land Sessions, with the order of the Court countersigned by the Chairman; they sometimes record the claims and disputes. (2) Record of Claim and Dispute Books, which contain copies of claims and disputes, the orders of the Court, notices of appeal, and arbitrators' awards.

(3) Chairman's Books, which contain rough notes made by the Chairman. (4) Cheque or Docket Books, being the counterfoils of orders of the Clerk of the Peace on the Bank of Ireland, to lodge to certain credits in a case, or to pay to certain parties in a case, certain sums of money. (5) Confirmation of Leases Book containing the application of a tenant who seeks to have a proposed lease confirmed by the Court, with verification of tenant and order of Court. (6) Charging Order Book, containing entries of the receipt by the Clerk of the Peace of applications under Rule 46.

LEASES, see "Deeds."

LEASEHOLDERS, see "Freeholders."

LEGACY CASES, see "Probate."

LETTER CARRIERS' AFFIDAVIT, ... 1836.

LICENCES FOR KING'S COUNSEL, ... 1815—1820.

These are licences granted to King's Counsel by the Lord Lieutenant, allowing them to appear for defendants in Crown prosecutions. The petition of the party desiring the services of the King's Counsel is sometimes appended. This licence had to be submitted to the Judge who tried the case.—The above are for the county of Dublin only.

LOAN FUND RULES, &c., ... 1801—1877.

These are rules, orders, and regulations, of Charitable Loan Fund Societies, which were founded for the purpose of lending money to indigent farmers, tradespeople, &c. By the Act 4 George IV., c. 32, the organisers of these societies were obliged to deposit parchment copies of their rules with the Clerk of the Peace. By the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 55, a Loan Fund Board was appointed as central authority, and any new society must submit its rules to the Board for approval, after which a copy with a certificate of approval, is lodged with the Clerk of the Peace.

LUNACY INFORMATIONS, ... 1863—1869.

These are informations taken before a magistrate, alleging that a person is a dangerous lunatic, under the Act 8 & 9 Vic., c. 107, s. 10. They were forwarded to the Clerk of the Crown or Peace for the ensuing Assizes or Quarter Sessions, respectively, whichever should first happen. The above are for county Kerry; for other counties they will be found amongst "Crown Files at Assizes or Sessions."

LUNATIC ASYLUM REPORTS, &c., ... 1843—1886.

These are reports of the Inspector-General of Lunatic Asylums on private establishments for the care of the insane, licenses, applications for licences, certificates, &c. Copies of these reports were kept in Inspection or Minute Books by the Clerks of the Peace, under the Act 5 & 6 Vic., c. 123, to be laid before the magistrates at Quarter Sessions, before renewing the licences. For plans of Lunatic Asylums, see "Maps, Plans, and Awards." For resident medical superintendent's reports on county Lunatic Asylums, and Accounts, see "Presentment Papers."

MAGISTRATES' ATTENDANCE BOOK, . . 1787—1788.

This book contains lists of the magistrates who attended each sessions of the Peace for the county of Londonderry.—See also "Magistrates' Lists."

MAGISTRATES' COMMISSIONS, ... 1733—1874.

These are commissions issued to certain men in a county to be justices of the peace for that county. When anyone is made a justice of the peace, a new commission for the county is issued, directed to all the magistrates by name, including the new magistrate, with special reference to those who are to be of the quorum.

MAGISTRATES' LISTS, APPOINTMENTS, &c., . 1787—1878.

These lists were made out for various reasons. By the Act 27 George III., c. 40, lists of magistrates in the county were made out for the Judge of Assize, and also lists of magistrates who were ordered to attend sessions by the Judges of Assize. More recently, the lists consist of copy lists made out by the Clerk of the Peace for the Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper, and revised lists sent by the Hanaper Office with correspondence on the same subject; lists of magistrates, with their attendance at petty sessions, and returns of magistrates pursuant to Parliamentary Orders. ("Treasurers' Election Papers," "Sessions, Petty, District Papers," &c., also contain lists of magistrates, while for county Louth a list from the fourteenth century is to be found in a "Crown Book at Assize.") Besides these Lists, the above class consists of letters announcing appointments to the magistracy, letters applying to be appointed, correspondence from new magistrates as to procedure, letters of resignation, reinstatement, and various kinds of communications with respect to the magistracy. There are also a few other papers included, such as magistrates' resolutions (see also "Crown Books"), and protests, passport circulars, &c.

MAGISTRATES' QUALIFICATIONS, see "Magistrates and Cess . Payers' Oaths and Declarations."

MAGISTRATES' WRITS OF DEDIMUS, . . 1770—1835.

Upon appointment of anyone to be a justice of the peace, a commission is issued to one of the magistrates of the same county, giving him power to call the new magistrate before him, and administer to him the oaths, and hear him make the declaration. He then endorses a return, in the form of a certificate, on the writ or commission, which should be returned to the Crown and Hanaper Office.

MAGISTRATES' WRITS OF SUPERSEDEAS, . 1779—1875.

These are writs intimating to the magistrates to whom they are issued that they are henceforth superseded from further acting as justices of the peace, and commanding them to return all recognizances and other writings whatsoever relating to the peace of the county to the keeper of the records. These writs are sent to the Clerk of the Peace under a covering letter from the Lord Chancellor, requesting that a copy of the writ may be served on the magistrate to be superseded. A Return of Service is endorsed on the writ, which should be returned to the Crown and Hanaper Office.

MAGISTRATES' AND CESS PAYERS' OATHS, DECLARATIONS, &c., ... 1785—1878.

By the Act 23 George III., c. 30, in order to prevent improper people from becoming magistrates, it was enacted that any new magistrate should take the oath of having a sufficient property to qualify him for the post. By the Act 59 George III., c. 84, it was enacted that no magistrate should act in such capacity at the Road Presentment Sessions without taking an oath of qualification, and of intention to faithfully fulfil his duty. By the Act 3 & 4 William IV., c. 78, s. 6, a number of Cess Payers, not more than twelve or less than five, were to be appointed by the Grand Jury to act with the magistrates at such Presentment Sessions, and both magistrates and Cess Payers had to take an oath of intention to faithfully perform their duty. By the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 116, this oath was altered to a declaration. With these oaths and declarations will be found lists or certificates by the Chairman at these Sessions, of the names of the magistrates and cess payers who were present and made the declaration.—See also "Presentment Papers," amongst which, in a few cases, these oaths and declarations were kept, though they should be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace. By the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 61 & 62 Vic., c. 67, these declarations are no longer necessary, and the Road Presentment Sessions business is done by the District Councils.

MALICIOUS INJURY INFORMATIONS, . . 1862—1870.

These are informations lodged under the Act 14 & 15 Vic., c. 93, deposing to malicious injury received, and binding the informant to prosecute when called upon. These informations belong to the Crown Office, county Kerry. In the case of other counties, see "Crown Files at Assizes or Quarter Sessions." For petitions for compensation for malicious injury, see "Presentment Papers"; for awards, see "Presentment Books"; and for traverses of award of grand jury, see "Crown Books at Assizes."

MANOR COURT RECORDS, ... 1785—1859.

In 1785, by the Act 25 George III., c. 44, jurisdiction in civil bill matters was given to the seneschals of manors "for the more speedy and easy recovery of small debts." These manor court records consist mostly of copies of the seneschal's registers of decrees made by him in civil bill and court baron proceedings, which he was obliged to lodge with the Clerk of the Peace under the above Act. Appeals against his decisions were made to the Judges at Assize, or, in the case of the county and city of Dublin, to the Judges at Nisi Prius. The distinction between the civil bill procedure of the Seneschals and Assistant Barristers lay chiefly in the fact that cases before the former were tried by a jury. Besides these records, there are a few bonds and deeds of appointment of seneschals, and grand jury books, containing such entries as the appointments of constables, appraisers, adjusters of weights and measures, fines for false weights, presentments for nuisances, &c. The civil jurisdiction of the manor courts was abolished in 1859, by the Act 22 Vic., c. 14.

MANOR COURT PATENTS, ... 1515—1721.

These are copies, constats or abstracts, of those parts of charters or letters patent, by which manorial jurisdiction was granted. The seneschals were obliged to lodge these with the Clerk of the Peace by the Act 27 George III., c. 22, s. 2.

MAPS, PLANS, AWARDS, &c., ... 1777—1878.

These consist principally of maps, &c., ordered by Parliamentary Standing Orders to be deposited with the Clerk of the Peace, under the Acts 7 William IV., and 1 Vic., c. 83. They include maps and plans of railways, tramways, canals, coach and post roads, and turnpikes; court houses, gaols, bridges, lunatic asylums, infirmaries, waterworks, and borough improvements, reservoirs, land reclamations, piers and harbours, drainage, ordnance survey sheets, boundary maps, Newry and Barrow Navigation, petty sessions districts, &c. Together with the maps and plans there are the awards, inquisitions, judgments, reference books, reports, bye-laws, standing orders, &c., belonging to them. Amongst this class of maps there will be found a few which should properly be classed under "Presentment Maps." The maps for county Louth, dated 1777, were published in London in 1778.

MARRIED WOMEN'S PROTECTION ORDERS, see "Protection Orders."

MAYORS', RECORDERS', OR PROVOSTS' COURT RECORDS.

The Record Court was the chief court of civil jurisdiction in a city or borough. By some corporations the jurisdiction was claimed by prescriptive right, in others it was founded expressly by charter. It was presided over by the chief magistrate, while the Recorder was at first only an adviser or assessor, but afterwards sat as sole judge (3 & 4 Vic., c. 108, s. 175). No action could be brought in this Court for a less sum than forty shillings (Irish currency). Actions for smaller sums were to be brought in the Court of Conscience. The proceedings in the Record Courts were initiated by actions against persons, attachments against goods, or foreign attachments against goods in a third person's hands. In the forms and course of pleading, the Court observed the practice of the superior courts. The Marshal and Serjeant at Mace corresponded to the Sheriff and Process Servers respectively in the counties. The records of these courts consisted of:—

Mayors' or Recorders' Court Papers, . . . 1761—1878, which contain declarations, pleas and demurrers, venires, bills of costs, replications, cognovits, affidavits to show cause of bail, bail pieces, "sci. fas," issues, petitions, notices, insolvency petitions, &c.

Mayors', Recorders', or Provosts' Books, . . 1755—1843, which are registers of the proceedings and rulings before a mayor, recorder, or provost, in the Record Court of a city or borough. For the city of Dublin they are called Rule Books.—See also "Actions Register."

Mayors' Court Bail Books, ... 1753—1786, which contain entries of sureties in cases proceeding in the Record Court, with the signature or mark of the surety, and the signature of the attorney. These are for Londonderry only.

For the city of Dublin, the proceedings in the Record Court were formerly kept under their respective heads, such as Attachments, Declarations, Pleadings, Bail or manucaptory books, &c. The Manor Courts possessed a similar jurisdiction to the above.

MEDICAL CERTIFICATES, ... 1763—1871.

These are certificates issued by medical men to excuse, on account of ill health, the presence of prosecutors or witnesses from appearing at trials, or jurors from answering to their names when called. They are more often to be found either in "Crown Files," or "Fines and Estreats, Affidavits and Petitions to reduce."

MEETING HOUSES (RELIGIOUS), NOTICES TO REGISTER, ... 1760—1869.

By the Acts 6 George I., c. 5, and 52 George III., c. 155, Protestant dissenters were relieved from the disabilities imposed on them by law in the reign of Charles II., and allowed freedom of worship on condition that they registered their place of assembly with the bishop, archdeacon, or Clerk of Peace, and took the oaths of allegiance and supremacy and made a declaration. These notices simply state that a meeting house has been erected, or determined upon, for worship at a certain place by a certain sect.

MEMORANDA BOOKS, see "Account Books."

MEMORIALS, see "Petitions"; "Freemasons"; "Tithe."

MILITIA QUALIFICATIONS AND PROMOTIONS, 1793—1874.

The above contain the statements made by deputy governors and militia officers of their being duly qualified in point of property, for the posts to which they had been appointed, under the Act 33 Geo. III., c. 22, s. 10 (Irish); and returns of promotions in the regiments, which were sent to the Clerk of the Peace for the purpose of having them printed in the Gazette under s. 11 of the same Act; also books and rolls, which are registers of these property qualifications, commissions, and promotions. The necessity for these qualifications for militia officers was abolished in 1869, by the Act 32 Vic., chap. 13.—See also "Militia Papers."

MILITIA RETURNS AND PAPERS, ... 1759—1878.

The above consist mostly of papers in connection with duties imposed on the Clerks of the Peace by the Irish Militia Acts of 33 George III., c. 22, and 49 George III., c. 120. These papers contain Ballot Books (1803—1809), which are the lists of all men between 18 and 45 years of age, in the various sub-divisions of each county, returned by the constables, churchwardens, &c., from which the men to fill the various regiments were balloted for; returns of Militia Family Certificates (1795—1812), that is, returns of certificates by the commanding officer of all militia men entitled to have their families supported by the county, with the number in each family; certificates of deficiencies in the regiment; minute books of governors' and deputy governors' proceedings under the Acts of 1793 and 1803; returns and descriptions of recruits; property qualifications of deputy governors and officers' commissions and appointments in the Militia granted by the lord lieutenant of the county or the lieutenant-colonel; gazettes; returns to the War Office of the strength of the regiments; accounts with the War Office for entries in the gazettes; Under Secretary's certificates of the amount to be charged on the county for cost of storage; recruiting account book, correspondence, &c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

In almost all cases the term "Miscellaneous" refers to printed forms, scraps of paper, or documents which have belonged to the various Clerks of the Peace in their private capacity, and have nothing to do with the county business.

MORTALITY SOCIETY RULES, see "Friendly Society Rules."

NEWSPAPERS, see "Statutes."

NOTICES OF TRIAL, ... 1770—1818.

These are notices from the traverser to the prosecutor of the date when he will appear for trial, with affidavit of service. The above are for county Dublin only; for other counties, see "Crown Files."

OATHS AND DECLARATIONS.

Oaths may be classed under two heads. First, the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, which formerly every one filling any office, as well as Roman Catholics desiring to qualify for elections, were obliged to take. For these, see "Oaths of Allegiance," &c. The second class of oaths comprises those taken by persons on appointment to an office, being affidavits or declarations of intention faithfully and diligently to perform the duties of the office. These will be found under their several headings, as, "Attorneys' affidavits," "Magistrates' oaths and declarations," "Constables' oaths," "Election oaths," &c. By several Acts in the reign of William IV., a declaration could in many cases be substituted for an oath.

OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE (CERTIFICATES AND RETURNS), ... 1805—1830.

These are certificates by the Clerk of the Peace that certain people had taken the oath of allegiance and made the declaration as required by the Act 2 Anne, c. 6. These certificates had to be produced by the Roman Catholic voters at an election, before the officer could allow them to record their vote. The Returns (county Londonderry) are of those voters who have lost their certificates since last election.

OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE, &c., ROLLS, . . 1727—1845.

It was formerly necessary (2 Anne, c. 6) for any one holding, or obtaining, any office, civil or military, or any Roman Catholic desiring to qualify as an elector, to take an oath of allegiance and supremacy, and to make a declaration against transubstantiation, before being allowed to fill such office, or record his vote at an election. By the Act 10 George IV., c. 7, s. 2, a new form of allegiance oath (omitting the declaration against transubstantiation) was rendered obligatory, but only upon Roman Catholics desiring to fill any office or become an elector. After taking the oath, the roll was signed, and finally in most cases was sent up to the Rolls Office (see Search Room Index, Court of Chancery, Vol. 2). The affidavits of the magistrates before whom oaths were taken, and of the Clerks of the Peace, who issued certificates, to faithfully perform their duty, are also included in this series.

OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE, &c. (ROMAN CATHOLIC), REGISTERS, BOOKS, AND LISTS, ... 1793—1841.

These are registers of all Roman Catholics who took the oath of allegiance and supremacy, and made the declaration, for the purpose of qualifying as electors, and signed the roll. They contain the name of person taking the oath, his residence, trade or profession, and date of qualifying by taking the oath.

OATHS (ELECTION) see "Election Papers and Books."

OFFENDERS (JUVENILE), LIST OF, . . . 1855—1864.

This book is a register of all juvenile offenders convicted under the Act 18 & 19 Vic., c. 126, and contains name, crime, date of conviction, magistrate, and sentence. For the record of conviction, see "Convictions," or "Conviction Orders."—The above list is for Dublin city only.

OFFENDERS, RETURNS OF, see "Prisoners' Returns."

ORDERS (GOVERNMENT, &c.), see "Returns."

PARDONS (FREE), GRANTS OF, ... 1737—1835.

These are grants (by letters patent from the Crown) of pardon to criminals and are enrolled in the Rolls Office, High Court of Chancery. (See both Crown and Peace Offices for these.) For enrolments of grants of pardon about the time of Elizabeth on the Plea Rolls (Record Tower Collection), see Appendix to Deputy Keeper's 28th Report, pp. 47–51. See also Fiants (Chancery).

PARLIAMENT, MEMBERS OF, see "Election of Members of Parliament, Precepts and Indentures," and "Magistrates, &c., Return of."

PASSPORT PAPERS, ... 1858.

In this year notices respecting the issuing of Foreign Office Passports to individuals about to travel abroad were furnished to the various Clerks of the Peace to distribute, through the constabulary, amongst the magistrates of their county, who were required to forward their signatures and impressions of their seals, for transmission to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. The above papers consist of printed circulars and correspondence respecting their delivery.—See also "Magistrates' Lists, Appointments, &c."

PATENTS, ... 1693—1857.

These are original and copy letters patent from the Crown, comprising the following grants:—Lieutenant and custos rotulorum, fairs and markets, manors and lands (for which see usually "Manorial Patents"), inventions, clerk of the crown, high sheriffs, &c.—See also "Commissions," and under specific titles.

PAWNBROKERS' BONDS AND REGISTER, . 1800—1876.

By the Act 26 George III., c. 43, s. 14, the business of pawnbroking was first regulated by statute. Every pawnbroker, on being licensed, was required to enter into a bond, and a certificate was given him by the Treasurer, or Town Clerk, which had to be delivered to the City Marshal of the city of Dublin for registration. The Register records the names of the pawnbrokers to whom certificates were issued, and their sureties.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS, ... 1660—1871.

These consist of petitions to Judge of Assize, or Assistant Barrister, for discharge from prison of persons committed under a green wax process; for remittance of fine, compensation for damaged malt, &c. (A green wax process was a warrant issuing out of the Court of Exchequer to the Sheriff to levy fines, &c., and was so called because it was issued under the seal, made of green wax, of that Court,)—See also "Jurors' Petitions to remit fines," "Presentment Papers" (for Petitions to Grand Jury), "Clerk of the Peace, Papers relating to office of," &c.

PIERS AND HARBOURS, see "Maps, Plans, &c.," "Bye-laws," and "Harbour Ratepayers' Lists."

PLEADINGS, DECLARATIONS, &c., ... 1637—1849.

These are records of the proceedings in the Record Court of the city of Dublin, and contain, besides the pleadings and declarations, writs, recognizances, &c., connected therewith.—See "Mayors' or Recorders' Court Papers" for other counties.

POLL BOOKS, ... 1761—1850.

These are the books in which the poll clerk recorded the vote of the elector. They contain elector's name and residence, date of registry, situation and value of freehold, qualification, candidate's name in whose favour the vote was recorded, and observations.

They were delivered after the election to the Clerk of the Peace by the Sheriff, with an affidavit of verity. From 1850, (13 & 14 Vic., c. 69, s. 99) they were deposited in the Hanaper Office till 1872, when, by the Ballot Act of that year, open voting was abolished. They sometimes include polling officers' or sheriffs' poll books; voters' lists used at the poll, and objections; election tallies; and poll books for coroners' elections.

POLLING DISTRICTS, ORDERS, &c., . . . 1851—1873.

The earlier papers of this class come under the Act 13 & 14 Vic., c. 68, (1850), for establishing additional places for taking polls. They consist of notices to the Clerk of the Peace of intention to move the Court at Quarter Sessions to petition the Lord Lieutenant to alter the polling districts; orders of the Lord Lieutenant to change the districts, gazettes, &c. Under the Ballot Act of 1872 (35 & 36 Vic., c. 33), we have the reports of the Commissioner of Valuation, giving a list of petty sessions and recommending what departures from the petty sessions boundaries should be made in constituting the polling districts, and the orders of justices of special sessions appointed by the Lord Lieutenant dividing the county into polling districts and appointing polling places. However, it being necessary in some cases to alter these arrangements, under the Polling Districts Act of 1873, we have lists of the polling districts as confirmed or altered by the Order of the Lord Lieutenant. The Polling Districts and Petty Sessions Map for co. Londonderry is an Ordnance Survey map, with the separate polling and petty sessions districts marked out, and the changes recommended.

POLLING OFFICERS' OR SHERIFFS' POLL BOOKS, ... 1812—1841.

These books, beside containing the oaths and affidavits of officers engaged in taking the poll, were used by the Sheriff as a sort of minute book of the proceedings, either at the poll or at uncontested elections. They are sometimes to be found amongst "Election Papers and Books," and "Poll Books."

POOR LAW COMMISSIONERS' ORDERS, &c., . 1838—1876.

These are orders of the Commissioners appointed under the Act 1 & 2 Vic., c. 56, to provide for the more effectual relief of the destitute poor in Ireland. They consist of orders declaring a Union; orders for the election of magistrates as ex-officio guardians; for the election of guardians and returning officers; to raise or borrow money; to insure workhouses against fire; for contracting for vaccination; general orders, &c. With these orders are also included chairman's certificates of the election of magistrates as ex-officio guardians, and nomination and voting papers connected with the election of guardians. The Order Book (county Armagh) is simply a register of the orders received by the Clerk of the Peace. For Returns of Clerk of Poor Law Union, see "Voters' Lists." Between the years 1838—1847 the administration of the Irish Poor Law Act was vested in the English Poor Law Commissioners, but by the Act 10 & 11 Vic., c. 90, a separate Poor Law Commission for Ireland was established.

POOR RATE APPEALS AND BOOK, ... 1832—1868.

These are bonds entered into to appeal to the Chairman at Quarter Sessions from the decision of the Commissioners of Valuation, or the Poor Law Guardians, with regard to the poor rate to be paid. The book is a register of the decision of the Chairman. These appeals are for county Tipperary only. For other counties, see "Appeals to Quarter Sessions," or "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions."

POOR RATE DECREES (COMMON LAW COURTS), ... 1849—1868.

In order to aid the recovery of poor rates in Ireland, it was enacted by 12 & 13 Vic., c. 104, s. 17, that any poor rate decree of an Assistant Barrister, vouched for by the affidavit of an attorney, and produced in a Superior Court, should have the force of a judgment in such Court, and could be registered as such. Accordingly, we have poor rate decrees, attorneys' affidavits, registers of such decrees so lodged, and enrolments of judgments, in the records of the Common Law Courts. The present practice is to make an entry of the decree in the Judgment Book, and not to preserve the decree itself, as formerly.

POOR RATE, see also "Rate Books."

POPULATION RETURNS, see "Census Returns."

POSTING, ORDERS FOR, AND AFFIDAVITS OF, 1838—1856.

These are affidavits of the process servers, &c., that service by hand cannot be effected, and orders of the Assistant Barrister substituting service by post. These are mostly in Tithe Cases.

POUND-KEEPERS' BONDS AND REGISTER, . 1825—1872.

By the Act of 6 George IV., c. 43, every pound-keeper was obliged annually to enter into a recognizance. The Register simply records the name of the poundkeeper, his sureties, and place where pound is situated.

PRECEDENT BOOKS,

These books contain copies of various writs issued from the Record Court of the city of Dublin, or of orders, &c., issued from the offices of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, which formed precedents in drawing up others of a like nature.

PRECEPTS, ... 1644—1877.

These are orders issued by either the Commissioners of Assize, or the Justices, in the case of Quarter Sessions, to the High Sheriff to empanel a proper jury, and bring all prisoners and records before them, at a certain date. A panel of the jurymen is usually attached, showing that the precept has been executed.—See also "Crown Files." For Clerk of the Peace's precepts to the Clerks of the Unions, see "Jurors' Lists" and "Voters' Lists."

PRESENTING AND ACCOUNTING AFFIDAVITS, 1789—1824.

These are affidavits made by contractors in tendering for work, and also affidavits made by them, on completion of their work, for payment by the grand jury.—The above are generally put up under the head of "Presentment Papers."

PRESENTMENT BOOKS, ... 1663—1878.

Presentment Books, properly so called, are the manuscript books containing all presentments, which have been passed by the magistrates at Presentment Sessions, for the approval of the Grand Jurors at the ensuing Assizes, when they are usually noted as "allowed," or otherwise, by the Foreman.—See also "Presentments, Abstracts of," and "Presentments, Schedules of Applications for."

PRESENTMENT (ACCOUNTING AFFIDAVITS) RECEIPT BOOK (CO. MONAGHAN), . . 1813—1818.

This is a register of all accounting affidavits received by the Clerk of the Peace at Michaelmas Sessions, and contains notes as to the decision of the magistrates and cess payers at Road Sessions.

PRESENTMENT (ADVANCES) BOOK (CO. WICKLOW), ... 1854—1867.

This book contains an account of the presentments upon which advances were allowed to be made, and the sums which were advanced at various times upon such presentments. It also includes advances made to County Surveyors under the Act 20 & 21 Vic., c. 15.

PRESENTMENT (CONTRACT) BOOKS (CO. WICKLOW), ... 1835—1858.

These are registers of contractors paid at each Assize, the places where the road contracted for leads to, the limits of such road, number of perches, rate per perch, and amount paid.

PRESENTMENT (UNDISCHARGED) BOOKS, see "Presentments, Abstracts of," or "Query Books."

PRESENTMENT (PAYMENT) BOOKS (CO. WICKLOW), ... 1866—1877.

PRESENTMENT MAPS AND ROAD SECTIONS, 1795—1863.

These are maps and sections for new bridges, roads, drains, &c., which were sent up to the Grand Jury, along with the application of the contractor, to be presented for. The above class is found in a few counties only in cases where the large size of the maps necessitated their being kept separately, but the smaller maps will be found amongst "Presentment Papers."—See also "Maps, Plans, Awards, &c."

PRESENTMENT PAPERS, ... 1722—1878.

These papers comprise all the documents connected with the fiscal administration of the county by the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury, which is selected by the High Sheriff, has possessed, from the earliest times, not only a jurisdiction in criminal cases, under which it decides what bills of indictment are to go before a petit jury at Assizes or Quarter Sessions, but also in fiscal matters, as all authority connected with the making and repairing of public roads, buildings, &c., and the raising of a county cess to pay for such expenditure, has been vested in that body till 1898, when this fiscal jurisdiction was merged in the County Councils by the Local Government (Ireland) Act, 61 & 62 Vic., c. 37. The chief officers of the Grand Jury were a Secretary, a Treasurer to keep the accounts and make the payments, a County Surveyor, and High Constables to collect the county cess. Any application for public works, such as the making or repairing of roads, bridges, paths, &c., was made first to the magistrates and cess payers assembled at Presentment Sessions. The maps and specifications were examined, and, if the application was approved of, tenders for contract were invited, which were considered at an adjourned sessions. The schedules of the applications and contracts finally accepted were printed and laid before the Grand Jurors at the next Assizes, and if they also approved of them, and the Judge fiated them, the contract was completed. If, however, there was any objection raised to a presentment, it was done by a "traverse," which was heard before the Judge at Assizes. After a presentment had been finally approved, it appeared at the next Assizes as a Query, and if the work, or a given portion of it, had been completed in the meantime, and the County Surveyor had issued his certificate that the work had been duly performed, it was then marked "allowed" by the foreman of the Grand Jury, and payment was made by the County Treasurer. If not, it appeared as an undischarged Query in the Grand Warrant for that Assizes, and succeeding Assizes, till the necessary conditions for payment had been fulfilled. But although papers connected with the above proceedings form the great bulk of "Presentment Papers," there are also included papers in connection with the regular maintenance of county buildings, officers, hospitals, lunatic asylums, &c. The following list comprises the most important of the documents classed as "Presentment Papers":—Applications for the construction of public works, applications for payment, county surveyors' certificates, specifications and maps, cess payers' lists and returns, coroners' returns and certificates, contractors' bonds, constables' expenses, constables' (high) bonds and warrants of attorney, county officers' salaries and rent of county buildings, dog licence returns, accounts of fees of sheriffs, gaolers, clerks of the crown and peace, general valuation expenses, inspector-general and local inspector's reports of gaols and bridewells, malicious injury petitions, hospital, dispensary and lunatic asylums accounts, prisoners' returns (bridewell), petitions to Grand Jury, printers' bonds and tenders, Public Works' relief certificates, rate collectors' bonds, treasurer's accounts, traverses, remuneration of inspector of weights and measures, and witnesses' and prosecutors' expenses.

PRESENTMENT ROLLS (COUNTY KERRY), . 1789—1805.

PRESENTMENTS, ABSTRACTS OF, . . . 1780—1878.

These are lists of such presentments as are approved of at Assizes, together with any still outstanding queries, and are, after the Assize, printed for the County Treasurer, and called Abstracts of Presentments, Grand Jury Warrants, or Lists of Presentments and Undischarged Queries, in which form they constitute the Query Book for the next Assize. They also contain resolutions and appointments of the Grand Jury.

PRESENTMENTS, SCHEDULES OF AFFIDAVITS AND APPLICATIONS FOR, . . 1789—1877.

Formerly it was necessary for applications for presentments for roads, &c., to be made by way of affidavit, stating the necessity for the work, the amount necessary for its performance, and recommending overseers. Since 1819 (59 George III., c. 84), such presentments have been grounded on applications made to the magistrates and cess payers at presentment sessions. The Schedules of these affidavits and applications are lists prepared by the Secretary of the Grand Jury for the use of the grand jurors at the ensuing Assize.

PRESENTMENTS (ENCROACHMENT), see "Encroachment Presentments, &c."

PRINTING PRESSES, NOTICES TO REGISTER, 1832—1856.

By the Act 39 George III., c. 79, s. 23 (English), being an Act "for more effectual suppression of seditious societies," it was enacted that any one possessing a printing press and types for printing should make a declaration to that effect, which was to be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace.

PRISONERS AND TRAVERSERS TRIED, &c., RETURN OF, ... 1828—1876.

This is a day-book containing notes of the number of prisoners and traversers tried, and the amount of civil and criminal business done each day, before the Recorder of the city of Dublin, with the time spent and other notes.

PRISONERS' OR OFFENDERS' RETURNS, . . 1810—1872.

These are copy returns made after each Assize, or Quarter Sessions, for the information of the Inspector-General of Prisons under the Act 50 George III., c. 103, and comprise the name, age, crime of offender, date when committed, before whom tried, sentence, &c. Up to 1840, they were entitled "Prisoners' Returns"; from 1840, they have been called "Returns of Offenders."—See also "Crown Files." For "Prisoners' Returns (Bridewells)," see "Presentment Papers."

PRISONERS' CALENDARS, ... 1641—1872.

Gaolers are obliged, on or before the commencement of every Commission, Assize, or Quarter Sessions, to return to the judge the calendars of their respective gaols, recording the name of every prisoner who has been in his gaol since last Assize, his age, by whom committed, if bailed or not, and nature of offence, and if in gaol under a former rule, when and before whom he was tried, sentence imposed, and when discharged. The names of those who, at the conclusion of Assizes or Sessions, are handed over to the gaoler under rule of the judge, are entered in the Crown Book. The "Prisoners' Calendars" in the collection of the Peace Clerk of the city of Dublin are more like "Custody" or "Crown Books," and contain the date when each case was disposed of.

PROBATE AND LEGACY PAPERS AND BOOKS, 1837—1878.

By the Act 6 & 7 William IV., c. 75, in cases where the assets of deceased did not exceed £200, legatees or persons entitled to distributive shares, could, in case of default in payment, bring the matter before the Assistant Barrister, who could compel the executors to lodge with him accounts of the administration of deceased's effects. But, by the Probate Act 20 & 21 Vic., c. 79, in cases where the deceased's personalty was under £200, and his real property under £300, all contentious jurisdiction as to grants of probate or administration has been given to the Assistant Barrister, whose decree is communicated to, and acted on by, the District Registrar. By the Act 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56, this jurisdiction has been further extended. The above papers consist of copy wills, inventories, processes, affidavits, Probate Court Orders for referring the case to the Assistant Barrister, executors' accounts, &c. The Probate and Legacy Rule Books contain the decision of the Assistant Barrister, and sometimes a statement of the case with names of witnesses and process servers. From 1878, this series, as far as administration cases are concerned, is continued as "Equity Civil Bill Papers."

PROCESS SERVERS' PAPERS AND BOOKS, . 1817—1878.

These papers contain petitions and recommendations of candidates for appointment to office of server of processes of the Civil Bill Court, warrants of appointment, affidavits of due execution by process servers when sending in their books, and warrants for removal by the Assistant Barrister. The books are registers of all processes served, containing the name of plaintiff and defendant, cause of action, day on which process was received, day and place of service, name and description of person served, with reasons in cases where no service was effected. These books had to be periodically sent up to the Assistant Barrister, to whom the appointment of process servers was given by the Act 7 George IV., c. 36. The names of the process servers are also sometimes recorded in the "Civil Bill Books."

PROCLAMATIONS AND NOTICES, ... 1801—1878.

These consist of proclamations or notices by the Queen, the Lord Lieutenant, or Lords Justices, for the following objects:—Peace preservation (for the bringing in of arms, the declaration of baronies and counties as disturbed, &c.); prevention of vice, profaneness, &c. (issued at the commencement of each reign); appointment of sessions in certain places; uniform valuation of lands and rectification of baronies; proclamations annulling proclamations, &c. Constables' affidavits of posting proclamations are often affixed to those under the Peace Preservation Act.—For proclamations, see also "Tithe Papers."

PROOFS, ... 1846—1853.

These are notes of the evidence which the witnesses are prepared to give at the trial. The above are for Queen's county only, this class of records being usually put up with "Crown Files."

PROSECUTORS' (CROWN) CASES AND EXPENSES, WARRANTS FOR, &c., . . . 1839—1848.

These are lists of cases handed over to the Crown Solicitor to prosecute, with the warrant of the Assistant Barrister for so doing, and also for paying his expenses. Some accounts of expenses so incurred are also included. The above are for county Kildare only; for other counties, see "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions" for this class.

PROSECUTORS' EXPENSES, see "Witnesses."

PROSECUTORS, INDEX TO, ... 1817.

This is merely an index of names and addresses of prosecutors, with the amount of recognizance, if any, in which they were bound to appear and prosecute, for county Limerick only.

PROTECTION ORDERS (MARRIED WOMEN), 1866—1878.

By the Act 28 Vic., c. 43, police magistrates, or justices at petty sessions, can, on the petition of a married woman deserted by her husband, make an order that any property acquired by her after desertion shall be free from her husband's control. These orders must be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace within ten days.—See also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions."

PROVOSTS, see "Mayors and Recorders."

PUBLIC WORKS RELIEF ACCOUNTS AND PAPERS, ... 1846—1848.

These consist of proceedings in connection with the Famine Relief Committees (10 Vic., c. 7), and include circulars, applications, instructions, correspondence, pamphlets for distribution, account books, workmen's accounts, Relief Commissioners' minutes, certificates to certify the value of the ground taken for the relief of the poor, registers of such certificates with the verdicts of the Road Juries, &c.—See also "Presentment Papers."

PUBLICANS' BONDS, ... 1760—1815.

These are bonds entered into by publicans applying for licences, and their sureties, binding themselves to the Sovereign, the former in £50, and the latter in two sums of £25 each, to act according to the excise laws. These bonds had to be entered into before a licence could be granted.

PUBLICANS' CONVICTIONS, NOTICES OF, . . 1872.

These are notices of convictions of publicans for breaches of the excise laws before the magistrates of county Londonderry at petty sessions, under the Act 35 & 36 Vic., c. 94, whereby the Clerk of Petty Sessions is obliged to send such notices to the Clerk of the Peace.—For publicans' convictions under this and other Acts, see also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions," "Convictions, Records of," and "Excise Papers."

PUBLICANS' LICENCE APPLICATION (COURT) BOOKS, AND LISTS, ... 1806—1878.

These lists contain the names, addresses and sureties of publicans who have applied for licences, transfers, &c., being generally printed posters. The books contain the same particulars as the lists, with the addition of the order or ruling of the magistrates allowing or disallowing the licence. The books called "Publicans' Licence Certificate Application Books," contain the same information as the above. Appeals against magistrates' decisions were made at the next Quarter Sessions. See "Appeals to Quarter Sessions."

PUBLICANS' LICENCE CERTIFICATES OR QUALIFICATIONS, ... 1812—1873.

These are certificates issued by the magistrates at Special Licensing Sessions, or orders issued by the Chief Magistrate, that applicant is qualified to sell ale and spirits by retail, with the magistrates' approval of the sureties appended. Besides these certificates, which, however, are the most numerous, there are certificates of churchwardens, and neighbouring magistrates, that the applicant is a fit person to obtain a licence, and certificates of the Clerk of the Peace that applicant has received a licence. The "Publicans' Licence Certificate blocks" are merely the counterfoils of the cheque books from which the last named certificates have been taken. The "Publicans' Licence Certificate Lists" are lists or registers of all publicans who have received certificates from the magistrates. Upon receipt of these certificates, and paying the fees, publicans are entitled to a licence. It was also necessary for the publican in former times to enter into a bond (see "Publicans' Bonds"). The "Publicans' Licence Certificate Registers and Application Books" are the same as "Publicans' Licence Registers and Application Books."

PUBLICANS' LICENCE LISTS AND RETURNS, . 1761—1878.

These are merely lists or registers of those who have obtained licences or renewals each year, with addresses, the majority of them being the lists sent by the Collector of Excise to the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 3 & 4 William IV., c. 68.—See also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions."

PUBLICANS' LICENCE NOTICES (APPLICATIONS, &c.), ... 1796—1877.

These include notices of intention to apply for licences, notices of having obtained licences from the Excise Collector, notices of change of abode, and renewals, notices of withdrawal of licences by magistrates, &c. The Spirit Licence Notice Register for county Sligo (1864—1869) is a register of all notices received by the Clerk of the Peace stating that licences had been obtained. For Publicans' Licence Notices, see also "Crown Files at Quarter Sessions."

PUBLICANS' LICENCE REGISTERS, . . . 1799—1878.

These are registers of the publicans who have obtained licences, and contain the names of the publicans, their residences, sureties, and dates of registration. See also, sometimes, "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions." The books called "Publicans' Licence Certificate Registers" are of the same nature as the above.

PUBLICANS' LICENCE RENEWAL REGISTERS, 1846—1878.

These are registers of publicans who have renewed, or given notice of renewing, their licences, and sometimes contain the number of certificate and date of renewal, with an entry of the payment of the fee.—See also "Publicans' Licence Registers."

PUBLICANS' OATHS BOOKS AND ROLLS, . 1798—1806.

These consisted of two kinds of oaths taken by publicans, viz.:—the oath of allegiance, and the excise oath not to sell any liquor upon which duty had not been paid.

PUBLICANS' SURETIES, see "Publicans' Licence Registers and Application Books."

QUERY BOOKS, ... 1712—1878.

These books contain an enumeration of the various previous presentments which have been discharged only partially, or not at all, with the date of the original presentment. A note is made in the margin at each Assize, as to whether the item has been accounted for, discharged, or otherwise settled since the last Assize.

After each Assize an account of the new presentments and of the still undischarged queries is printed, and becomes the Query Book for the next Assize. The Query Books in the collection of the Clerk of the Peace are lists of undischarged presentments formerly laid before the Grand Jury at Quarter Sessions, or queries respited from the Summer Assizes to be settled at the ensuing October Sessions.

QUERIES, PAYMENTS OF, ... 1788—1804.

These are account books of the payment and discharge of queries or undischarged presentments, giving the date of presentment and date of payments, &c.—The above are for county Louth only; in the case of other counties they are usually found under the title of "Treasurers' Account Books."

RATE, see also under "Poor Rate."

RATE BOOKS, ... 1824—1870.

These books include not only poor rate books, but also a general assessment rate book (under Towns Improvement) and a flag tax (Londonderry) book. They contain usually the valuation of each ratepayer, with the amount due according to the rate struck, and arrears.

RATE COLLECTORS' BONDS, see "Presentment Papers."

RATE COLLECTORS, SUMMONSES TO, see "Voters' Registration Papers."

RECEIPTS, ... 1826—1878.

These comprise receipts for money lodged in Court, and paid out again by Clerk of the Peace; receipts for Crown witnesses' expenses; sheriffs' receipts for jurors' books and voters' lists; high constables' receipts for precepts; receipts for Crown papers sent to the Clerk of the Crown, &c.

RECOGNIZANCES (FORFEITED) REGISTER (CO DOWN), see "Fines and Estreats Books."

RECOGNIZANCES, see "Bonds."

RECOGNIZANCE REGISTERS, LISTS AND DOCQUETS, ... 1796—1855.

These are registers or lists of all recognizances received by the Clerks of the Crown and Peace from the magistrates before whom they were taken. They contain the names of the persons entering into the recognizances, with date of receipt, and sometimes the name of the other parties to the suit, and of the magistrate who took the recognizance. For county Fermanagh, the above information will be found in "Crown Papers (Clerk of the Peace), Register of"; and for county Monaghan, the lists of recognizances received by the Clerk of the Crown are entitled "Assize Papers, Registers of." The Register for co. Down (1796—1851) is mostly taken up with the recognizances to keep the peace made by United Irishmen, who surrendered in 1796—1797.

RECORD COMMISSION, RETURNS TO, . . 1810—1849.

These papers consist of orders of the Record Commissioners appointed in the year 1810; queries, and draft returns thereto; with letters from the Commissioners accompanying the reports sent by them to the Clerk of the Peace, &c.—See also "Returns and Orders."

RECORD COURT RULES, &c. (DUBLIN CITY), 1831—1846.

These are draft and copy general rules and table of officers' fees, drawn up for the use of the Borough Record Court. Notes of suggestions by Attorney-General, Recorder, and others, are written on them; also suggestions for the alteration of rules, by attorneys practising in that Court, and queries on the jurisdiction of the Court, laid before Solicitor-General, with his opinion thereon. For further information about the Record Courts, see under "Mayors' or Recorders' Court Records."

RECORDER'S (DEPUTY) APPOINTMENT, . . . 1873.

This is the appointment by the Recorder of a Deputy to do his business. The above is for county Londonderry.

RECORDERS, see "Mayors."

REFORMATORY SCHOOL NOTICES, . . . 1859—1861.

These are notices, sent to the Clerk of the Peace by the Lord Lieutenant, or Secretary of the Reformatory Schools for Juvenile Offenders, that such schools have been certified by the Chief Secretary under the Act 21 & 22 Vic., c. 103.

RELEASES, ... 1757—1841.

These are agreements made by one party in a cause to "remise, release, and for ever quit" any claim against the other party in that cause. They are usually endorsed with an affidavit of perfection. These are for county Dublin only.

RENEWAL DECREES AND AFFIDAVITS, . . 1774—1878.

These records mostly consist of affidavits made by plaintiffs or their agents that part, or the whole, of the sum decreed to them is outstanding and still unpaid. The renewal decree of the Assistant Barrister, with the Sheriff's order to his bailiffs to execute it, is sometimes, but not often, to be found with the renewal affidavit. However, the "Renewal Decree Books," or, in default of them, the "Civil Bill Books," contain lists of those cases in which renewal decrees have been made. The civil bill jurisdiction was handed over in 1796 to the Assistant Barrister, so that any renewal decree or affidavit made before that period, must be sought for either in "Crown Files" or "Civil Bill Books, at Assizes"; except in the cases of the county Dublin, where the judge decided these cases at Quarter Sessions, and the city of Dublin, where the Recorder had possessed this jurisdiction since 1758 (32 George II., c. 16).

RENTCHARGERS, see "Freeholders."

REPLEVIN PAPERS AND BOOKS, ... 1670—1878.

Most of these records date from the Act 7 & 8 George IV., c. 69, and consist of declarations made by the plaintiff to recover his goods, with rejoinders, demurrers, &c., bonds of plaintiff to prosecute; processes or summonses issued by Assistant Barrister to the defendant to appear in court on action of trespass and replevin; appeal affidavits and bonds, warrants of the high sheriff to the special bailiff to replevy goods; and return of order of execution by the sheriff. The replevin papers before 1827 belong to the old Sheriff's County Court. The Replevin Books contain a statement of the nature of the action, with the date of issuing process and order. Replevin Order Book (county Westmeath) is simply the block of the book containing the order of Clerk of Peace to sheriff to execute replevin.—See also "Civil Bill Papers," "Civil Bill Books," and "Ejectment Books" on title, which sometimes contain replevin actions.

REPORTS LODGED, see "Accounts and Reports."

RETURNS OF MAGISTRATES, &c., REGISTER OF, ... 1585—1856.

This is a register from the Peace Office, county Mayo, containing entries of returns of militia officers, and magistrates, and list of deputy lieutenants, deputy governors, and members of Parliament from an early period.—For list of sheriffs (county Louth), see "Crown Book at Assizes" for that county.

RETURNS AND ORDERS (GOVERNMENT, &c.), ... 1780—1878.

These are copy returns made in answer to orders from the Houses of Lords and Commons, Lord Lieutenant, Chief Secretary's and Second Remembrancer's Fines, &c. Office, Public Works, Judicial Statistics Office, Inspector-General of Constabulary, &c. The returns consist of the number of freeholders, leaseholders, &c., registered, expenses of registry; civil bill decrees; returns of offences, fees, fines, jesuits registered, manor courts, weights and measures, tolls and customs, judicial and criminal statistics, &c. —See also "Commission of Inquiry, Returns to."

ROMAN CATHOLIC OATHS, see "Oaths of Allegiance, &c."

RULE BOOKS, ... 1662—1847.

These contain the rulings of the Lord Mayor, or Recorder, in the Record Court of the city of Dublin. They are the same as "Mayors' Court Books" for other counties.

SACRAMENT CERTIFICATES AND AFFIDAVITS, ... 1711—1828.

These are certificates of clergyman and churchwardens, each testified to on oath by two witnesses, that a certain person did on such a day receive the Sacrament. By the Act 2 Anne, c. 6, any person desiring to fill any office was obliged, prior to taking the oath of allegiance and supremacy, to produce a sacrament certificate. By the Act 19 & 20 George III., c. 6, dissenters were allowed to omit this proceeding, which, as far as concerned members of the Established Church, was only abolished by the Act 2 William IV., c. 7.—See also Queen's Bench and Common Pleas collections for sacrament certificates or certificates of conformity, the former collection commencing in 1704.

SAVINGS BANK RULES, &c., ... 1818—1850.

These are transcripts of the rules and regulations of savings banks, and the bonds entered into by the treasurers thereof, which were lodged with the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 57 George III., c. 105.

SCHOOLMASTERS' AFFIDAVITS AND AUTHORIZATION, ... 1834—1844.

These affidavits are allegiance affidavits made by schoolmasters (county Limerick). The authorization (King's county) is the authorization of the Assistant Barrister, on a petition from people whose children were being taught by the schoolmaster, to free him from the necessity of having soldiers billeted on him.

SEARCH CERTIFICATE BLOCKS, ... 1873—1878.

These are the blocks of certificates issued by the Clerk of the Peace of having made searches amongst his records. They contain a note of the date of search and the name of the cause in which the certificate was issued.

SENESCHALS, see "Manor Court Papers."

SERGEANT AT ARMS OR MACE, ACCOUNTS OF EMOLUMENTS, ... 1803—1808.

This book is a register of the emoluments which the Sergeant at Arms derived from the issuing of attachments. This functionary corresponded to the process server in the counties. Although this book is in the collection of the Peace Office, county Dublin, it obviously belongs to the records of the Peace Office, Dublin city, the Sergeant at Arms being an officer of the Record Court.

SESSIONS (PETTY) BOOKS, ... 1798—1864.

These are registers of cases heard before the magistrates at petty sessions, containing the name and address of the informant or complainant, name of defendant, nature of charge, with the order or adjudication thereon. These registers contain both criminal and civil charges, the latter being mostly disputes about wages. For county Monaghan, there is also a Register of Summonses issued to attend at petty sessions.

SESSIONS (PETTY) CLERKS' ELECTION PAPERS AND BONDS, ... 1844—1878.

These papers include letters of resignation, notices to the Clerk of the Peace by the magistrates, notices of date of election, appointments and bonds, which the chosen candidate had to enter into, with two sureties, for the due performance of his office. The bonds commence in 1851 under the Act 14 & 15 Vic., c. 93, s. 2.

SESSIONS (PETTY) DISTRICTS PAPERS, . . 1818—1878.

These papers consist of applications for new petty sessions districts, or alterations of time or place for holding old ones, magistrates' orders setting out the bounds of such districts, and lists thereof as returned by the petty sessions clerk to the Clerk of the Peace. Entries of magistrates' orders, specifying the limits of each district (under the Act 7 & 8 George IV., c. 67, s. 3), should be found in the "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions." For Petty Sessions Districts, see also "Polling Districts Orders, &c."

SESSIONS (PETTY) PAPERS, MISCELLANEOUS, 1818—1871.

SESSIONS (QUARTER), DOMINICALS OR NOTICES OF ADJOURNMENT OF, . . 1775—1833.

These are the original notices of magistrates authorising the adjournment of Quarter Sessions from one date to another.—See also "Freeholders' Registration Sessions Book."

SESSIONS (QUARTER) INSURRECTION ACT PAPERS, see "Insurrection Act Papers."

SESSIONS (QUARTER) PAPERS, ... 1801—1871.

These papers are of a miscellaneous nature, and consist of affidavits to postpone trials, affidavits to ascertain costs or damages, warrants, civil bill papers, awards, posters, orders and affidavits before the Assistant Barrister, &c.

SESSIONS (QUARTER) REGISTERS, . . . 1806—1864.

The register for county Longford contains orders and resolutions of the Assistant Barrister and magistrates at special sessions for revising jurors' lists and tithe schedules. The register for county Wicklow contains notes of many matters done at Quarter Sessions, such as the registration of bakers, trees, smiths, arms, pound-keepers; receipt of saving bank rules, magistrates' commissions, adjournment notices, appointments, &c.

SHERIFFS' APPOINTMENTS, BONDS, &c., 1789, 1862—1872.

These are appointments and oaths of high and under sheriffs, and bond of indemnity from the under sheriff to the high sheriff.

SHERIFFS' FEES, LISTS, AND BOOKS, . . 1865—1871.

These consist of accounts of fees received for the under sheriff by the Clerk of the Peace for civil bill decrees granted and issued by him, the under-sheriff's receipts for same, and registers of the number of such decrees issued.

SHERIFFS' OATHS AT ELECTIONS, see "Election Papers."

SHERIFFS' POLL BOOKS, see "Polling Officers, &c."

SPECIFICATIONS, see "Maps, Plans, &c.," and "Presentment Papers."

SPIRIT LICENCES AND SPIRIT RETAILERS, see "Publicans."

STATUTES AND BILLS, NEWSPAPERS AND GAZETTES, ... 1752—1877.

The statutes and bills are printed copies of bills intended to be introduced in, or statutes passed by, Parliament, dealing with matters affecting the county (see also "Grand Jury Papers," "Maps, Plans, Awards, &c."). The gazettes are those lodged in the Peace Office containing notices of militia appointments, tithe matters, insolvency declarations, &c. The newspapers are few, and generally contain some notice affecting the counties.

SUMMONS AND PLAINTS PAPERS, . . 1870—1878.

By the Act 33 & 34 Vic., c. 109, s. 5, when, in any action of contract brought, or commenced, in one of the Superior Courts of Common law, the sum at issue did not exceed £40, the defendant might petition the judge to have it remitted to a Civil Bill Court. If this were granted, the original writ of summons and plaint with copy of the judge's order should be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace. Sometimes these papers are put up with "Civil Bill Papers." By the Act 40 & 41 Vic., c. 56, the Civil Bill Court has the same jurisdiction, as to the amount of damages to be awarded in these remitted cases, as the Court in which such action was originally brought.

TALLY ROOM BOOKS, see "Election Cheque Books."

TESTAMENTARY, see "Probate and Legacy."

TITHE CASES REGISTERS, ... 1834.

These are the registers of tithe memorials and schedules which had to be submitted by tithe owners to the Assistant Barrister at special sessions for revision, before any relief could be obtained under the Act 3 & 4 William IV., c. 100. They contain the names and descriptions of the tithe payers, names of lands chargeable with tithes, amount and arrears of tithes due, and the manner in which the value has been ascertained, with amendments by the Assistant Barrister on hearing, and observations.

TITHE DECREE BOOKS, ... 1832—1843.

These are registers of the decrees of the Assistant Barrister made by him upon hearing the petitions from the Attorney-General against tithe defaulters.—For Petitions, see "Tithe Papers."

TITHE OWNERS' MEMORIALS AND SCHEDULES, ... 1833—1834.

These are memorials presented by tithe owners who had not received their tithes for the years 1831 and 1832 or 1833, to the Lord Lieutenant, praying for relief under the Act 3 & 4 William IV., c. 100. On receiving such relief their arrears of tithe vested in the Crown. With each memorial is a schedule of the names and descriptions of tithe payers, the names of the lands chargeable with tithes, the amount and arrears of tithes, and how the value has been ascertained, whether by composition, arrangement, or average. Two columns were left to be filled up by the Assistant Barrister on his hearing the case, the first being reserved for amendments made by him, and the second for observations. These memorials are duplicates, the other copies being sent to Dublin Castle. It does not appear to have been necessary to lodge duplicates of the memorials of 1838 with the Clerk of the Peace.

TITHE PAPERS, ... 1792—1858.

These papers include, for the period between 1792—1832, petitions to the Vicar-General of the Diocese, citations to appear before him, magistrates' orders, appeals from magistrates' orders or applotments (see also "Crown Files"), tithe rentals, lists of tithe arrears, compositions for tithes (under the Act 4 George IV., c. 99), &c. But in 1833, the arrears of tithes had accumulated to such an extent that the Government, by the Act 3 & 4 William IV., c. 100, and, subsequently, by the Act 1 & 2 Vic., c. 109, came to the relief, and, advancing the distressed tithe owners certain sums of money, took over themselves the collection of certain arrears of tithes. By the latter Act composition for tithes was abolished, and rentcharges substituted. The records from 1833 consist of the following, viz.:—certificates of composition granted by the tithe owner to the tithe payer; lists of applications by tithe owners for revision of their memorials by the Assistant Barrister at special sessions; notices and lists of objections to particulars in the memorials; orders of the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council; proclamations of the Lord Lieutenant to the tenants in those cases where the tithe owners' memorials had been approved of, with copies of the schedules attached to the memorials, and gazettes containing the proclamations; notices by the solicitor to the Treasury that the Attorney-General would proceed against defaulters; petitions of the Attorney-General to the Assistant Barrister praying for decrees against defaulters; returns of average prices of oats for preceding seven years, taken from the Dublin Gazettes, and applications for such; applications to have tithe charge varied; correspondence, &c.—See also "Posting, Orders for," (mostly in tithe cases); and Diocesan Collection Index, in Public Search Room.

TOLLS AND CUSTOMS, SCHEDULES OF, . . 1817—1864.

By the Act 57 George III., c. 108, every person collecting customs, tolls or duties, or claiming the same, was obliged to exhibit a board with a list of all such customs printed on it, and the name of the person or corporation entitled to them, during the continuance of the fairs or markets, &c., and to lodge with the Clerk of the Peace a schedule of such tolls and customs.

TOWN COMMISSIONERS' ACCOUNTS, . . 1852—1878.

These are annual accounts or balance sheets, showing the total receipts and expenditure of all funds by the Town Commissioners, which must be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 10 Vic., c. 16, s. 95. They are sometimes indexed under "Accounts."

TRAVERSERS' BOOKS, ... 1778—1876.

These books contain abstracts of all the bills of indictment preferred at the Quarter Sessions for the city of Dublin, in cases where the accused was allowed out on bail. They contain the name of accused, cause of indictment, witnesses' and sureties' names, &c., and correspond to Crown Books for other counties, except that they do not record the verdict and sentence, which will be found in the "Court List Books." After 1847, they were continued as "Crown Books (Traverse)."—See note under head of "Custody Books or Abstract Bills of Indictment."

TRAVERSERS' LISTS AND LIST BOOKS, . . 1835—1863.

These contain lists of traversers (or accused persons let out on bail) with the charges against them, and the names of the prosecutors. The lists contain the decision of the Grand Jury; the list books do not. They are for the city of Dublin (Quarter Sessions), only. The numbers refer to the numerical order in the Traverse Books.

TRAVERSES, see "Crown Books and Crown Files at Assizes," and "Presentment Papers."

TREASURERS' ACCOUNTS AND BOOKS, . . 1733—1871.

These consist of books and papers containing accounts of all receipts and disbursements by the county or city treasurer, in connection with presentments by the Grand Jury; accounts of receipts of the county cess collected by high constables; printed statements of the financial state of the county after each Assize, &c. The books contain entries of these accounts by the Clerk of the Crown, to whom the treasurer had to hand them. These accounts were audited by the Chief or Second Remembrancer in Exchequer from 1837, but when the Equity and Revenue side of the Exchequer was abolished in 1850, the duty of auditor was given to the Receiver Master in Chancery. The office of County Treasurer was abolished in 1867 by the Act 30 & 31 Vic., c. 46, and the duties distributed between a banking company and the secretary of the grand jury. The accounts, which were now kept by the banking company, were still audited by the Receiver Master till 1877, when by the Judicature Act (40 & 41 Vict., c. 57, s. 75), the office of Receiver Master was abolished and his duties as auditor handed over to the Local Government Board. By the Act 61 & 62 Vic., c. 37, the office of county treasurer has been restored, but it is usually, if not always, held by a banking company.—See also "Presentments;" and Miscellaneous Detailed Index in Public Search Room.

TREASURERS' BANK BOOKS, ... 1844—1871.

TREASURERS' ELECTION PAPERS, . . 1792—1861.

These are papers connected with the election of a county treasurer. They comprise letters of resignation, precepts to the secretary of the grand jury to call a meeting, declarations of qualifications by the magistrates attending the election, minutes of the election, bonds entered into by the newly appointed treasurer, &c.—See also Crown Bonds, Exchequer.—The office of county treasurer was abolished in 1867.

TREASURERS' RECEIPTS, ... 1796—1832.

These consist of receipts given to the county treasurer by those receiving money from him for work presented for at a former assize. The "Receipt Book" (1813—1827) contains, on the one side, entries of presentments, and, on the other, against each entry, the signature of the recipient of the money so presented. These are for county Carlow only.—See also "Presentment Papers," and "Treasurers' Accounts."

TREES, AFFIDAVITS TO REGISTER, . . 1767—1878.

These are affidavits made by people who have planted trees, for the purpose of registering them with the Clerk of the Peace according to the Acts 5 George III., c. 17, and 15 & 16 George III., c. 26. They describe the number, kind, height, and age of the trees, the place where they are planted, and affirm that notice has been duly given to the landlord, and published in the Gazette. Copies of assignments of land on which trees have been planted, and some certificates of the Clerk of the Peace, will also be found amongst these records. The Registers of these affidavits (1767—1878) contain sometimes a full copy of the affidavit, at other times, only a précis, whilst at times the name and residence of planter, and the landlord's name, are alone recorded.

TRESPASS, RATES OF, ... 1813—1852.

These are the orders of magistrates who, at general sessions of the Peace, were authorised by the Act 40 George III., c. 71, to fix or alter the rates of trespass to be paid for all cattle and beasts found trespassing.

TURNPIKE ROAD PAPERS, ... 1753—1859.

These papers consist of resolutions, orders and minutes of the trustees of the various turnpike roads, affidavits of contractors, and treasurers' accounts of the trustees' annual receipts and disbursements (which had to be lodged with the Clerk of the Peace under the Act 13 & 14 George III., c. 26), &c. In 1857, a Commissioner was appointed to carry out the abolition of Turnpikes. For awards of this Commissioner, see "Maps, Plans, and Awards."

VALUATION BOOKS AND REPORTS, . . 1834—1877.

These are lists made by the Commissioners of General Valuation, under various Acts, giving the area of each townland with the net annual valuation, &c.—See also "Presentment Papers."

VOTERS' AFFIDAVITS, see "Freeholders' and Householders' Affidavits."

VOTERS' CLAIMS AND OBJECTIONS, ABSTRACTS OF, ... 1853—1870.

These are annual returns of the number of claims to vote, and of objections to such claims or to voters, made by the Clerks of the Peace, or of the Unions, or by any other voter. These returns were made by the Clerks of the Peace for the Assistant Barrister. These Abstracts are sometimes to be found under "Returns and Orders."

VOTERS' LISTS, ... 1832—1878.

Between the years 1832—1850, these consist of lists of freeholders, leaseholders, &c., who had registered their votes, and are merely copies of the registers (see under the titles of "Freeholders' Lists" and "Householders' Lists"). From 1850, they include not only such copies of the registers, but also the revised lists of the Clerk of the Peace; the revised and supplemental lists of the Clerks of the Unions of those rated occupiers who have paid their rates, and to whom no objection is offered; and the lists as amended by the Assistant Barrister at the Revision Sessions. The latter lists are handed to the Clerk of the Peace to have printed, and become the new register. Printed lists of claims and objections are also included in these "Voters' Lists."

VOTERS' NOTICES OF CLAIM, OR APPLICATIONS, ... 1825—1878.

These are notices of intention to apply at the next sessions to be registered as an elector, and simply contain the applicant's name and address, nature and amount of qualification, and townland where property was situated. After 1850, the notices of claim appear to have only rarely been preserved, but lists of claims are kept with "Voters' Lists." Before 1850, in some counties the claims of Householders and Freeholders were kept distinct, so that the claims should be sought for under these separate titles.

VOTERS' NOTICES OF CLAIM OR APPLICATIONS, BOOKS AND LISTS OF, ... 1829—1850.

These are lists of notices of intention to apply at the next sessions to be registered as an elector. They are either mere lists of names of applicants, with their addresses and qualifications, or are registered in a book, which becomes the Court or Ruling Book, the decision of the Assistant Barrister being entered against each name. In some counties, these lists and books are entitled "Freeholders" or "Householders" instead of "Voters." From 1850, the lists of claims will be found with Voters' Lists, Claims and Objections.

VOTERS' OBJECTIONS, ... 1852—1875.

These are either the objections of any voter to the name of some other voter, or applicant, remaining, or being placed, upon the register, or the objections of the Clerks of the Unions, or of the Peace, on account of a person not being entitled to a vote. The original objections, in the first class, have in a very few cases been preserved, while in the latter class, the word "objected" is written on the Voters' List against the name of the person objected to. Amongst the Voters' Lists will be found printed lists of objections.

VOTERS' OBJECTIONS AT ELECTIONS, . . 1822—1850.

These are objections made by an inspector at an election to certain voters recording their vote. The form of objection contains the voter's name, address and number on the register, with the inspector's reasons for objecting. This form is submitted to the sheriff, or his assessor, who allows or refuses the vote. These objections often contain Election Tallies as well. They will sometimes be found under the title of "Election Objections," or amongst Election Papers and Poll Books.—See also "Election Tally or Cheque Books" for a record of such objections.

VOTERS' REGISTERS, ... 1796—1878.

Between the years 1796—1850, the registers of those whose applications, or claims for votes, were allowed, were usually called either Freeholders' Registers or Householders' Registers, only a very few counties keeping them together as Voters' Registers (see "Freeholders'" and "Householders' Registers"). From 1850, under the Act 13 & 14 Vic., c. 69, s. 63, voters' registers are printed from the voters' lists as revised at sessions by the Assistant Barrister, and copies sent to the sheriff or returning officer. They contain the voter's name, abode, qualification, amount, place where the property is situated, and number on the register.

VOTERS' REGISTRATION APPEALS, JUDGES' ORDERS ON, ... 1832—1868.

These papers consist of the decisions of the Superior Courts on appeals against the decisions of the Assistant Barrister on revising the lists of parliamentary voters, and other records connected with the appeal.—See also "Voters' Registration Papers."

VOTERS' REGISTRATION PAPERS, ... 1823—1877.

These are miscellaneous papers connected with the registration of voters, and include oaths of clerks of the unions and rate collectors; lists of poor law unions; summonses to rate collectors to appear and produce rate books; precepts to clerks of unions and their receipts for same; contracts, tenders for printing, printers' bonds; appeals to the Superior Courts by applicant for a vote, against decision of the Assistant Barrister, with order of Court, &c., and other matters connected with the registration of voters and revision of voters' lists.—For county Sligo, see "Freeholders' Registration Papers."

WARRANTS, ... 1755—1842.

These are warrants to constables to apprehend; to keepers of gaols to detain prisoners; death warrants, &c., for the county Dublin. For other counties, see "Crown Files," "Fines and Estreats," "Convictions," "Excise Papers," "Jurors' Lists," "Replevins," and "Prosecutors' (Crown) Cases and Expenses."

WEIGHMASTER, see "Butter-taster."

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES PAPERS, . . 1825—1872.

The Acts of 5 George IV., c. 74, and 6 George IV., c. 12, were passed to secure an uniformity in weights and measures. This collection contains inquisitions by juries empanelled under above Acts to enquire into state of weights and measures in the county; indentures of verification of standard measures received by the Clerk of the Peace from the Exchequer; notices to people to have their weights and measures compared with the standard; inspectors' reports, diaries and bonds, &c. The Register of county Monaghan (1826—1827) is apparently a register of all weights and measures certified by the Clerk of the Peace, with his fees. See "Presentment Papers" for monthly accounts of Sub-Inspectors; and "Manor Court Papers."

WILD FOWL PRESERVATION PAPERS, . . 1877—1878.

These papers consist of correspondence between the magistrates and the Lord Lieutenant with a view to altering the close season for wild birds, which was laid down by the Act 39 and 40 Vict., c. 29.—See also "Crown Books at Quarter Sessions."

WITNESSES' AND PROSECUTORS' EXPENSES, DOCKETS, CERTIFICATES, AND REGISTERS OF, ... 1819—1878.

These dockets, or certificates, are accounts of witnesses' or prosecutors' expenses, as certified by the crown solicitor. They contain the name of the cause, names of witnesses, distance they came, how long from home, and the amount payable. Upon receipt of these, the Clerk of the Crown or Peace issued to the witnesses and prosecutors drafts on the county treasurer for the various amounts (see "Presentment Papers"). The registers or lists contain the same information as the dockets, with, sometimes, the signature of the recipient. There are also, amongst this collection, orders of Court for payment of expenses (made under the Act 55 George III., c. 91), and blocks of cheques drawn upon the county treasurer.—See also "Crown Files," "Fees' Accounts," and "Prosecutors' (Crown) Cases and Expenses.

WRITS, ... 1631—1849.

These are writs issued from the Record Court of the city of Dublin. They comprise the following:—Writs of attachment, writs of certiorari and procedendo, writs of capias, sci. fa., fi. fa., distringas, venires, and panels, &c. See also "Pleadings and Declarations." For writs of dedimus and supersedeas, see under "Magistrates"; for writs of summons and plaint, see "Summons and Plaints."

WRIT BOOKS, ... 1663—1878.

These books contain entries of Office Writs issued out of the Court of Record of the city of Dublin. They give the nature of the writ, date when returnable, date of teste, and attorney's name, the more recent volumes also containing amount of debt and costs. There are also entries of writs returned to the Superior Courts, and writs issued for assaults, &c.

SCHEDULE II.

The following is a list of documents found amongst the records of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, but which do not properly belong to their collections. The reason for their appearance in these collections would seem to be that the Clerks of the Crown and Peace sometimes carried on, at the same time, professional work as solicitors or held other offices, such as that of Town Clerk. Many documents of a private nature will also be found under "Miscellaneous" and "Deeds" (see Schedule I.), which it is impossible to satisfactorily separate from the documents properly belonging to the Crown and Peace officers:—

ARBITRATION BOOK (DUBLIN CITY), . . 1848—1850.

BANKRUPTCY PAPERS AND BOOKS, . . 1800—1850.

These consist of merchants' account books and a few papers in bankruptcy cases. They have probably come into this collection through the Clerk of the Peace being sometimes a solicitor, and continuing his private practice along with his official duties.

BARROW NAVIGATION ENTRY BOOK, . . 1872—1874.

This is a register of all goods carried by this company, with the names of shippers, consignees, destinations, boats, &c. It was transferred to this office with the county Kildare collection.

CIVIL BILL DECREE OR ORDER BOOK (UNDER SHERIFF'S) CO. WICKLOW, . . 1865—1878.

By the Act 27 & 28 Vic., c. 99, s. 20, the Under Sheriff was obliged to keep a register of the decrees of the Assistant Barrister delivered to the Sheriff for execution, with the subsequent proceedings.

COMMISSION TO TAKE AFFIDAVITS (CO. SLIGO), . 1838.

This is a commission for taking affidavits in the county Sligo, in any case depending in the Court of Exchequer, under the Act 4 William and Mary. This commission was registered in the Secondary's Office of the Exchequer.

COURTS-MARTIAL PAPERS (COUNTY DUBLIN), . 1819.

These papers consist of a report of the evidence given at a trial by court-martial. There is no title, the papers being imperfect.

CUSTOMS BOOKS, ... 1813—1817.

These books were transferred with the records of the Peace Office, county Mayo, and contain entries of receipts for Customs under the following heads:—Herrings and live pigs, shamble, crane, street, and tongues; with a column for the number of men employed. There is nothing in these books to indicate the town where these Customs were levied.

EJECTMENT BOOKS (UNDER SHERIFFS'), CO. WICKLOW, ... 1865—1878.

By the Act 27 & 28 Vic., c. 99, s. 20, the Under Sheriff was obliged to keep a register of the ejectment decrees of the Assistant Barrister, which were delivered to the Sheriff for execution, and of the subsequent proceedings.

ELECTIONS (CONTESTED) TO COMMON COUNCIL, PROCEEDINGS IN, . . 1786—1840.

This is a minute book of the proceedings on hearing petitions against the return of members of the various corporations, or gilds, to sit as Common Councillors for the city of Dublin.

FREEMEN'S ADMISSION BOOK, . . . 1774—1823.

This is a register of persons admitted to the freedom of the franchise and liberties of the city of Dublin. It contains the name of the freeman, the date of admission, the corporation or gild, if any, to which he belongs, and states whether he obtained the franchise through servitude, birth, marriage, or special grace.

FREEMEN'S BESEECHES OR PETITIONS, . 1693—1837.

These are petitions, or registers of petitions, of persons desirous of becoming freemen. They are addressed to the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, and Commons of the city of Dublin, and are based on one of the following reasons:—(1), special grace; (2), the fact of being already a freeman of a gild by birth, marriage, or servitude; (3), being a son of a freeman of the city at large. These petitions had to be granted by both the Aldermen and the Common Council. The ruling of the Corporation is written on the petition. In the case of applications made by freemen of gilds by servitude, the indenture of apprenticeship had often to be produced, and some will be found amongst the petitions. The election of members of gilds to be freemen of the city was regulated by the New Rules (1672), made by the Lord Lieutenant and Council under the Act of Explanation, 17 & 18 Charles II., c. 2.

FREEMEN'S BONDS, ... 1682—1791.

These are bonds entered into by freemen, binding themselves, under penalty, to the Treasurer of the city of Dublin, to provide themselves with arms during their residence in the city, and to pay twenty shillings monthly if they should exercise any faculty or trade of the gilds, before being admitted freemen thereof.

LETTER BOOKS (CO. WICKLOW), . . . 1839—1846.

These are machine-copied letter books kept by the Clerk of the Peace. The communications copied therein appear to have been sent by him in his private capacity as a solicitor, and not to be connected with his public duties.

MARSHALSEA ORDER BOOK (DUBLIN CITY), 1816—1819.

This book contains orders made by the Inspector-General of Prisons, surgeon, &c., with respect to the welfare of the prisoners or the state of the Marshalsea. There is a column for a note, made by the proper officer, of the order having been carried out, &c.

MAYORS, SHERIFFS, &c., APPROBATION OF BY THE LORD LIEUTENANT (LONDONDERRY), ... 1779—1837.

By an order in Council of 1672, for the regulation of corporations, known as "The New Rules" made under the Act of Explanation, 17 & 18 Charles II., c. 2, it was ordered that the mayor, aldermen, sheriffs, and burgesses, should within ten days of the election of a mayor and sheriffs for the ensuing year, or upon election of a recorder or town clerk, communicate the result to the Lord Lieutenant and Council for their approval. The above are the letters of the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council to the Mayor, &c., of Londonderry, approving of their choice.—See also Approbations, Record Tower Collection.

MILITARY ACCOUNT BOOK, ... 1805—1808.

This is a general account book of the 99th Regiment, which was found amongst the peace records for the county of Tipperary.

PILOT'S BOND, ... 1803.

This is a bond entered into by a pilot on being appointed to that post by the Commissioners of the Port and Harbour of Sligo, under the Act 43 George III.

PIPE-WATER DEBENTURE BOOK (DUBLIN CITY), 1810.

By the Act 15 & 16 George III., the citizens of Dublin were compelled to have lead pipes passed from the main pipes to their houses to supply them with water, and to pay the Corporation rates for such supply. In order to raise money for the increased water supply consequent on such an undertaking, the Corporation were authorized to issue debentures with interest payable from the rates. The above-mentioned book contains copies of such debentures for the year 1810.

PROVOST AND BURGESSES, INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE ELECTION OF (CO LONDONDERRY), . . 1771.

These instructions set out that upon the assembling of the burgesses and commons, and his Majesty's writ of mandamus havin been read, they shall proceed to the election of one burgess to be provost. The form of entry to be made in the Corporation Book is also given.

RENTAL BOOK (DUBLIN CITY).

This book is a brief and perfect Rental of the revenue of the Corporation of the city of Dublin, containing the tenants' names, denominations, term, rental, &c.—See also "Treasurer's (City) Account Book."

SURVEY BOOK (CO. WICKLOW).

This is a survey of Glenbride, Garraknock, Ballyknockin, and Ballystockin, in county Wicklow, with the acreage and description of soil.

TITHE ACCOUNT BOOKS, ... 1792—1806.

These are account books kept by agents of tithe owners, being accounts of the various sums paid, arrears due, mode of payment, &c. The above books are for parishes in the county of Wexford.

TITHE (CONSISTORIAL) COURT BOOK, . . 1831—1833.

This is a register of tithe cases tried before the Vicar-General, or his Surrogate, of the diocese of Kilmore, and preserved amongst the peace records of county Cavan. It contains the value of the tithes in family, flax, cows, sheep, oats, and meadow, with the amount of costs and decree of the judge.

TREASURERS' (CITY) ACCOUNT BOOK, . . 1763—1768.

This is a printed account of the receipts and disbursements of the treasurer for the city of Dublin, to which is prefixed a rental of city property and arrears of rent. See also Rental Book of Dublin Corporation property.

SCHEDULE III.

As many of the county collections are very imperfect, chiefly through the destruction caused by fire on various occasions, I have appended the following notes of such occurrences as can be gathered from the recent communications of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace, or from the Supplement to the Second Report of the Record Commissioners (1812):—

ARMAGH.

In 1885, the Clerk of the Crown and Peace reported that he had been informed that, about thirty years before, a fire broke out in the Peace Office, and many valuable documents were burned.

CORK.

A fire, which broke out in the Court House, 27th March, 1891, destroyed all the county records there.

DONEGAL.

All the records of this county were destroyed by soldiers billeted in the room containing them in the year 1798.

DOWN.

The Clerk of the Crown and Peace for this county stated in 1885 that he was informed that many of the county records perished when the offices were burned in 1856.

DROGHEDA.

The county records to 1793 were destroyed in the Tholsel of the town during the Rebellion of 1798.

FERMANAGH.

The offices in which the records were kept were destroyed by fire in 1780.

KERRY.

The Clerk of the Crown and Peace stated, in 1885, that he understood many old records were burned in the old Court House of Tralee before the present Court House was built.

QUEEN'S CO.

All records previous to Lent, 1782, were burned by a fire which broke out at Maryborough, 1782.

ROSCOMMON.

Almost all the documents in the several county offices were consumed in the fire which broke out in June, 1882.

TYRONE.

The Clerk of the Crown and Peace stated, in 1885, that many of the records were burned in a fire which took place about 1830.

WEXFORD.

The Peace Office records were destroyed in the Rebellion of 1798.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

31*st July*, 1901.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 30th inst., forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-third Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), D. HARREL.

The Deputy Keeper,

THE THIRTY-THIRD REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL CADOGAN, K.G.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, on the proceedings had during the year 1900 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. The valuable series of seventeenth century maps of Ireland preserved in this Office have, through the courtesy of His Majesty's Commissioners of Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues, received an important addition by the presentation of a large map of the "Government of Athlone," which, with other maps and manuscripts of the Headfort Collection, was acquired by the Commissioners in 1837 from the then representative of Sir Thomas Taylor, who was deputy Surveyor-General of Ireland in the reign of Charles II. The map, which was of very large size, consisted of several Barony maps of the Down Survey, with similar contemporary maps of about the southern half of the County of Roscommon, of which county no other such maps are known to exist. From long exposure in former times the map had become so much discoloured and injured as to be in its then state of little use. The Roscommon portion, especially, being drawn on inferior paper, has suffered greatly. The importance and historical interest of the maps, as well as the desire of making them available for purposes of more general research, induced Mr. Stafford Howard, C.B., the Commissioner in charge of the Land Revenues in Ireland, through Mr. J. Harper Scaife, the representative of the Commissioners in Ireland, to present the map to this Office, authenticated copies being made for the use of the Land Revenues Department. The large map has been, as far as possible, carefully cleaned, re-mounted, and bound here, separated, in the process, into its original component parts.

2. The Commissioners had also acquired a number of Barony maps, which, though of the same age and character, differ in detail from the record series of the Down Survey. These appear to be, some duplicates, others, early copies of the series of Down Survey maps prepared for Sir William Petty, and which, in 1787, were copied in the Bibliothèque Royale at Paris by Col. Vallancey, for the Irish Government, to supply the defects caused by the disastrous fire of 1711, in the Record set of the Down Survey. Mr. Howard, through Mr. Scaife, has generously offered to this Office, for better preservation and more general utility, the Barony maps in the Land Revenue Office, on the like condition of being supplied with copies for use of that Office. The offer has been gratefully accepted as to those maps, which appear to be duplicates of the originals, and, therefore, of more value than the Vallancey copies already preserved here. The task of preparing the copies has been kindly undertaken by Major Haynes, R.E., of the Ordnance Survey Office, with the consent of the Treasury. This work was in progress at the end of 1900.

3. Among the Headfort Collection acquired by the Commissioners of Woods and Forests are also the volumes of the Civil Survey for many of the counties of Ireland. This survey consists of returns made in 1654--5 of the extent and value of the forfeited lands, and contains many facts not noted in the particulars and tables accompanying the subsequent mapped Down Survey. Mr. Howard, at the instance of Mr. Scaife, has most generously offered to make these Records also available to the public by placing them here, on the same condition, that copies should be furnished for use in the Land Revenues Office. The transcription of the books for Co. Donegal has been completed, and that of Co. Dublin was in progress at the end of 1900.

4. The Right Hon. the Earl Annesley having informed me that there were, in his library, a number of MS. books which he believed to be of a public character, I visited Castlewellan and examined them. I found fifty-one MS. volumes of a public nature, of which a brief catalogue is printed in the Appendix. Three of the volumes appear to have been originally books of the Irish Exchequer; twenty-seven belonged to the Trustees of Forfeited Estates, 1700-3, of which body Francis Annesley, an ancestor of Lord Annesley, was an active member. Twenty-one volumes form a remarkably fine set of the books of "Survey and Distribution," showing the disposition, under Charles II., of the ownership of the lands forfeited under the Commonwealth. Other similar, but not identical, sets are preserved in this Office, in the Land Revenues Office, and in the Library of the Royal Irish Academy. Several of the Trustees' Books are duplicates of books here; others, however, would prove a desirable addition to the Records relating to that Board preserved in this Office. It is to be wished that these, as well as the three Exchequer books, should be placed with the similar Records in public custody. The books have been judiciously cared, and admirably preserved by Lord Annesley and his ancestors.

App. I

5. In the earlier part of the nineteenth century a practice became very common of having marriages celebrated in Dublin by degraded or unlicensed ordained clergymen of the Established Church. The practice was put an end to by the Marriage Act of 1844. Soon after that date Mr. John Samuels, the Registrar of the Archbishop, to secure them from being lost, purchased some of the books of entries kept by these persons. Later, his son, Mr. Arthur Samuels, secured several more. On the death of Mr. J. H. Samuels, the Archbishop's late Registrar, the books were offered by his representatives to this Office, and they were last year purchased with the consent of the Lords of the Treasury. The books are estimated to contain notes of some thirty thousand marriages, of which, in most cases, no other record exists; and all ranks and creeds seem to have taken advantage of this expeditious and generally inexpensive method of celebrating marriages. The entries are generally carelessly made. An index to these books is in course of preparation.

6. The Registrar of the Estate Duty Office, having stated that he held a number of old attested copies of Wills, offered to submit them for examination, to test if the originals had in all cases been returned to this Office. Those of 1812 have been examined, and were found to contain one the original of which has not been identified. It is proposed to continue the examination.

7. Mr. T. Pakenham Law, K.C., has deposited here, under section 16 of the Public Records Act, an original indenture dated 28th Oct., 1639, between Dorraghan M'Cooge and Philip Begoe, conveying lands in Co. Galway.

8. Mr. G. S. Cary informed me that he had purchased at the sale of the library of a local antiquary a number of Visitation Books of the Diocese of Cashel, for various years between 1664 and 1772, which originally belonged to the Registry of the Diocese. Mr. Cary has placed some of the books here, and has generously promised, ultimately, to present the collection to the Office.

9. Mr. T. George H. Green has deposited a Visitation Book of the Diocese of Dublin, 1841, which had been purchased by him.

10. A vacancy has been caused in the upper staff by the transfer of Mr. S. Watt to the office of the Irish Local Government Board. The vacancy had not been filled at the end of 1900. One searcher and one workman, who were Reserve men, were called out to the war, and their places were kept open. The former has returned to duty; the latter died in South Africa.

11. With the approval of the Master of the Rolls, and the sanction of the Treasury, two of the clerks have been engaged outside office hours on work for the Historical MSS. Commission, under the superintendence of Mr. C. Litton Falkiner, one of the Inspectors of Manuscripts under the Commission.

12. The Lords of the Treasury have consented to the increase of the pay of the inferior workmen from 15*s.* to 18*s.* a week, a reduction of one to be made in their number on next vacancy.

13. The convenience of Readers has been consulted in the erection by the Board of Works, at my request, of dressing-rooms and lavatories for lady and gentlemen Readers in connexion with the Literary Search Room.

Rep. xxxii., par. 80-1.

14. In November I had the honour to submit to your Excellency's Chief Secretary, a scheme, approved by the Master of the Rolls, for a series of Irish Record publications, as suggested in my last annual Report.

15. Attention has been called to the fact that many of the earlier Reports of the Deputy Keeper of the Records in Ireland are now out of print. Before any proposal to reprint them is adopted I venture to suggest that as these Reports contain some matters that are not of permanent importance, or that have been superseded by later information, the desired object might be attained, at once more conveniently and economically, by reprinting in separate form such Indexes and Calendars as are contained in the Reports out of print, and by embodying so much other matter as may be of present and permanent value in a general Guide to the Records of Ireland.

16. At the request of the Record Branch of the General Post Office, London, transcripts were made for, and at the expense of that Department, of the Letter-books of the Chief Secretary's Office, Ireland, preserved here, relating to the business of the Irish Postal Service.

17. A map of the Curragh of Kildare, transferred from the Office of the Clerk of the Peace of that county, which, under the Curragh of Kildare Act, (1868), was directed to remain in that Office, and of which a copy was also received here from the Rolls Office, was, at the request of the Clerk of the Peace returned to his care by order of the Master of the Rolls.

18. The examination and systematic arrangement of the large collections of Account and other books of the Vice-treasurer, Auditor, Teller, and other Officers of the Revenue in former times, which was undertaken, some years ago, by Mr. MacEnery, has been completed. The Records are described in his Report in the Appendix. App. II.

19. On the occasion of the hurried removal of the Records of the former Landed Estates Record Office from the Custom House, in 1869, a considerable number of Records which want of time prevented from securing a more orderly mode of transfer, were put into sacks, and brought here in that manner. The examination and arrangement of the contents of these sacks has been commenced by Mr. Ratcliff, and is in progress. Rep. II., par. 39.

From the Master of the Rolls in England: Ten volumes of Record publications.

From the Deputy Clerk Register, Edinburgh: Five volumes of Record publications.

Buildings and Fittings.

64. Three Bays in Floor 4 in Record Treasury were fitted with metal fittings and shelving by the Board of Works.

The remaining part of the principal floor of the Record Treasury has been laid with tiles, completing this work.

Two new lavatories have been fitted up for readers, and one for workmen.

Fees and Public Business.

65. The stamps for fees on copies and inspections of Records by the public during the year amounted to £868 15*s.*, being for—

68. One hundred and eighty-five certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these 3,401 volumes, or files of records, were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

Rep. xxxii., par. 65. 69. The arrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has been continued from November, 1745, to November, 1752, and of the Answers from May, 1742, to June, 1752, comprising 2,808 fasciculi made up in 442 brown paper covered parcels.

Ib. par. 68. 70. The re-arrangement and consolidation into a single series of the Cause Papers from the former offices of the Masters of the Court of Chancery, known as Masters' Papers, have been completed, 417 bundles having been dealt with during the year.

71. The wills and papers leading to grants of Probate and Administration for the year 1878 were finally arranged in 56 zinc boxes, and the increment of similar records for the year 1879 was stamped and arranged in 60 zinc boxes.

72. Three hundred and fifty-six Bankruptcy files in portfolios, for the year 1879, have been stamped and labelled.

73. A quantity of miscellaneous letters and papers, known as the Roden papers, from the Auditor-General's Collection, has been sorted, arranged, stamped, and made up into 44 parcels. The Accounts current of the various Poor Law Unions with the Finance Committee, under the Relief Act, 1847, have been similarly sorted and arranged in 135 parcels.

74. The Patents for Inventions, 1897, have been arranged and bound in 155 volumes. One hundred and fourteen volumes of Records, and forty-seven volumes of Search Room Indexes have been rebound.

75. The mounting on guards and binding of the Parochial Returns has been continued. Rep. xxxii., par. 71.

76. Six hundred and sixty-nine bundles of Consistorial Records of several Dioceses, 10 bundles of Custodiam Orders, 84 bundles of Queen's Bench Records, 734 bundles of Census Returns for the year 1841, and 478 bundles of Census Returns for the year 1851 have been stamped and made up into brown paper covered parcels.

77. Fifty-two bundles of Chancery Masters' Deeds, and 10 bundles of See Leases of various dioceses have been flattened and folded to an uniform size; and 433 bundles of See Leases and Building Papers have been placed in new wrappers and labelled.

78. One hundred and thirty-six Plea Rolls of the King's Bench, 108 bundles of Landed Estates Court Records, and 279 bundles of Incumbered Estates Court Records have been cleaned, re-papered, and labelled.

79. The annual increment of Records from twenty-four offices of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace has been arranged and stamped; and a number of detached Informations and Indictments of the City and County of Dublin have been arranged in order of date.

Indexing and Calendaring.

80. Indexes have been made to a Will, Grant and Diocesan Registry Book, 1704--1736, of the Diocese of Cashel; to two Will Books, 1786--1790 and 1796--1799 respectively, of the Diocese of Derry; and to a Will Book, 1654--1709, a Grant and Diocesan Registry Book, 1660--1693, and a Grant Book, 1675--1695, of the Diocese of Ossory.

81. The remainder of the series of Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Cork and Ross, covering the period from 1751 to 1845, and the Marriage Licence Bonds of the Prerogative Court have been indexed and made accessible to the public.

82. The revised indexes to the Wills of the Dioceses of Ardfert and Aghadoe, and of Elphin, have been re-engrossed for public use. The index to Ossory Wills has been amplified by the interpolation of the wills received from the Kilkenny District Probate Registry in 1899; and the index to Prerogative Inventories by the addition of a number of inventories previously classed as cause papers of the Prerogative Court.

83. The index to Administration Bonds of the Diocese of Ardagh has been collated with the original bonds.

84. A consolidated index to the Wills and Grants of the Court of Probate, 1858--1877, has been drafted, and is in process of arrangement. The index made to papers relating to Unions and Divisions of Parishes; and that to Unproved Wills from District Registries, have been engrossed for public use.

85. The work of indexing the Irregular Marriage Registers, which have been recently acquired (see par. 5), has been commenced.

86. A catalogue of the printed books in the library of this Department has been prepared.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

Rep. xxxii., par. 79 to 81.

87. Pending the receipt of authority to print the works suggested in my last report, progress has been made in preparing for press the text and translation of the Early Statutes, and in calendaring the Justiciary Rolls of the reign of Edward I.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

88. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of fifteen parishes which had become attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by the death or resignation of the Incumbents, were included in the warrants of the Master of the Rolls for transfer to this Office. In four of these cases the books have been removed here; in six others they are retained in their parishes under Orders made under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58; while five cases await completion of adequate arrangements in the parishes. The Records of S. Bridget, Dublin, also have been transferred, the building in which they were kept having been taken down, and the Retention Order previously made being consequently cancelled.

Rep. xxxii., par. 94.

89. In two cases Incumbents holding books under Retention Orders have adopted the suggestion made in my last Report of the desirability of securing the greater safety and increased utility of the older parish books by placing them in this Office. In one case—Shrule, diocese of Ardagh—the earliest register in a very fragmentary state, has been deposited here; in the second case the transfer was not completed until after the close of the year.

90. The Records of the Parishes transferred here comprise:

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Ballyclough, ...	Cork, . .	2	1795-1900	1798-1848	1796-1900
Cummer and Kilmoylan, .	Galway, .	1	1855-1879	—	—
Kilbrin and Liscarroll, .	Cork, . .	2	1808-1899	1805-1845	1809-1898
Shrule, ...	Longford, .	1	1727-1824	1727-1824	1795-1824
Templeomalus, . . .	Cork, . .	1	1834-1899	1842	1834-1880
S. Bridget, ...	Dublin, . .	13	1633-1885	1639-1845	1636-1859

91. The parishes whose Records were included in warrants for transfer, but which keep them under Retention Orders, are:—Christ Church, Leeson Park, Dublin; Holy Trinity, Killiney; Inver and Larne; Killeshin; Kilrush; and S. Laurence and Holy Trinity, Limerick.

92. The number of Retention Orders, permitting the retention of Parish Records in approved receptacles in their respective parishes, which have been granted by the Master of the Rolls, is 592, of which 565 were in force at the beginning of 1901.

93. The Annual Reports required by the 6th section of the Parochial Records Act, 1876, from the clergymen to whose custody Records were committed under Retention Orders, were all duly received last year.

94. The Reports refer to injury from damp in nine cases. Suggestions have been made for protection of the books, which, it is hoped, may prove successful. The danger, however, from this source is very great in many of the country Vestry rooms. Books belonging to three parishes whose Records are held locally under Retention Orders, were repaired and rebound in this Office.

95. An additional volume for the parish of Desertserges, including entries from 1755 to 1836, has been found by the Incumbent, and formally committed to his care by supplementary order. A Vestry book of the parish of Killallon, 1820--1877, has been deposited here by the Rev. T. Rudd.

96. Complaints continue to be received from members of the public of the difficulty of obtaining information from Parish Records remaining in local custody. Two persons reported, during the year, that they had applied to parish clergymen for searches, but had been informed that the Records were not in their hands, although in each case books of the date required were in their custody. In both cases the books were found on representations being made from this Office. In another case a Record agent complained that repeated applications, extending over some months, to an incumbent, for permission to search his books, had failed to receive any attention. These instances afford further evidence of the public inconvenience resulting from retaining the older registers outside this Office.

State Paper Office.

97. During the year 1900 there were received from the Chief Secretary's Office the papers for the year 1890, in sixty-seven carton boxes, with one carton of additional papers of the year 1889. These papers have been examined, checked, and put up in fifty-two cartons, numbered 3,511 to 3,562. The Index and Registers for 1889 were received at the same time.

98. The Searches made for Government during the year amounted to 261.

99. An Index has been prepared to the Reports on Prisoners' Cases, 1777 to 1789. Progress has been made on the arrangement and indexing of the Papers for the period 1790 to 1800.

100. The papers of the Commissioners of Ministers' Money have been arranged, indexed, and parcelled. The arrangement of the papers relating to Tithe composition and applotment, 1824--35, has been commenced, and considerable progress made.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office,
Dublin, this 25th day of July,
1901.

JAMES MILLS,

Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER, M.R.

APPENDIX II.

REPORT OF MR. M. J. MACENERY ON THE BOOKS OF THE TREASURY AND ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENTS OF IRELAND.

These Records, consisting of several thousand volumes now deposited in the Public Record Office of Ireland were transferred from the Landed Estates Record Office in the Custom House, which included the Record Branch of the Irish Treasury.

This report deals with the principal Records of the Irish Treasury previous to 1837, when the office of Vice-Treasurer was abolished. In addition to the classes dealt with here, the books transferred include a small collection of a minor and miscellaneous character consisting of rough books from which the items were posted into the principal Account Books; semi-private books containing entries of private as well as public transactions; and books of a strictly private character which were kept by some of the Treasury Clerks who acted as agents. These books were left in the Treasury, and were transferred with the Public Records to this Office.

The Treasury Records belong to a great department succeeded and, to some extent, represented, by the office of the Paymaster of the Civil Service, Dublin Castle. They contain a complete and detailed account of every transaction connected with the Irish Treasury from 1545 to 1837. They supply in a classified and accessible form the strength of the Civil and Military establishments, the names of the principal officials thereof, with their pay salary and allowance, and the names of such persons as have received any sums of money from the Irish Treasury through the Royal Bounty or for exceptional services. Classified accounts of the various sources of revenue and the sums received therefrom are also furnished.

The yearly increase of revenue and expenditure may be seen: at first the expenditure is met by the receipts, and as both increase the expenditure has a constant tendency to exceed the receipts. This tendency was met for a time by money received in aid of taxation from Annuities, Loans, and Lotteries; but, when the expenditure greatly exceeded the revenue, a National Debt was eventually established.

As Account Books they cannot materially differ from those of any great Accounting Department. To explain the systems adopted for receipt, payment, check, audit, and management, a brief sketch of the Irish Treasury and the principal changes in the mode of keeping the Public Accounts is supplied.

The Irish Treasury.

Previous to the end of the year 1793 this department was nominally vested in a Lord Treasurer, but the business was really conducted by the Vice-Treasurer, who was also styled Receiver-General, Paymaster-General, and Treasurer at War. The Lord High Treasurer nominally was the chief Judge in the Equity side of the Court of Exchequer, and by the Act 10 Hen. VII., c. 1, like power was conferred on the Treasurer of Ireland, as on the Treasurer of England, to appoint revenue officers; and he was directed to account yearly before the Barons of the Exchequer and such of the King's Council as should be appointed by the Lord Lieutenant, and the declaration thereof was to be certified into England.

Notwithstanding this enactment the functions of the Treasurer were very limited. The Vice-Treasurer, in the sixteenth century, got the most ample power with regard to the receipt and payment of public money; and the principal revenue officers were appointed by the Lords Lieutenant under their own Warrants. After 1793 the office of Treasurer was granted to Commissioners who held office until 1817, when the Treasuries in Ireland and England were united.

The Vice-Treasurer was primarily the proper officer, on receipt of the necessary warrants, to make all payments on the Civil and Military Lists; he was also the proper person to receive payments into the Treasury and issue Acquittances. Associated with him in keeping the Public Accounts were the Auditor-General, the Clerk of the Pells, and the Chamberlains; while the Teller of the Exchequer was his executive officer. The Vice-Treasurer was responsible for the receipt, issue and management of the public revenue, and was liable to account for the same. Under proper Warrants and authority he made the payments authorised by the Civil and Military Lists, and the various payments under the heads of Concordatum, and Appropriated Duties. He, or his Deputy, received all monies payable into the Exchequer and gave acquittances for same, and he was bound to pass his accounts before the Commissioners of Treasury Accounts and the Auditor-General. The Teller or Cashier acting under his orders received the monies and prepared the Acquittances. He also made payments of public money on authority of Debentures or Orders from the Treasurer or Vice-Treasurer prepared by the Auditor-General.

The office of Vice-Treasurer was abolished in the end of 1793 and Commissioners were appointed to execute the office of Treasurer and to carry on the duties hitherto performed by the Vice-Treasurer.

A Receiver-General and Paymaster-General was appointed subordinate to this Board, and with a view to perform under its directions the duties previously performed by the Vice-Treasurer. The Commissioners adopted as far as possible the methods of the English Treasury, and on the 31st December, three days after they had been sworn as Commissioners, they ordered the Commissioners of Revenue, the Postmaster-General, and the Commissioners of Stamp Duties to furnish weekly abstracts of the receipts, issues, and remains in their several departments. Instructions were also issued to the Auditor-General, Teller, and Clerk of the Pells; but as the whole system was changed the following year it is not necessary to go into details.

The Act 35 Geo. III., c. 28, which received the royal assent on 5th June, 1795, regulated the receipts and issues of the Treasury, but the Act practically embodied the regulations made by the Treasury Board on the 26th February, 1795, and the new system was really in existence from that date.

The office of Receiver-General and Paymaster-General was abolished, and future vacancies in the offices of the first and second Chamberlains were not to be filled up. The Teller of the Exchequer became a most important officer in the new system.

A Receiver-General was appointed to receive all duties, aids, revenues and taxes collected and levied by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, and he was to pay to the Teller, every week, all monies received by him on the previous week; and, for the purpose of issue, receipt, and keeping reliable accounts thereof, the Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells were associated with the Teller, and their duties are sketched below under the headings "Issue of Money," "Receipt of Money," and "Accounts and Check."

This arrangement continued without any serious modification except the introduction of the system of making all receipts and payments through the Bank of Ireland until 1817, when the Irish Treasury with all its incidents was merged in the Treasury of the United Kingdom. The powers of the Lords Commissioners of the Irish Treasury were then vested in the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury of the United Kingdom, and a Vice-Treasurer was again appointed to transact the revenue matters of Ireland in accordance with their directions. The Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells were associated with the Vice-Treasurer in keeping the public Accounts until the abolition of their offices in 1822. From 1822 to 1837 the Vice-Treasurer, under instructions from the Lords of the Imperial Treasury, executed everything necessary for the issue, receipt and payment of the public money for civil and military purposes; but in the year 1837 the Irish Treasury offices were abolished, and the Irish revenue became an integral part of, and subject to the same regulations as, the other revenue of the United Kingdom.

Issue of Money.

Previous to the end of 1793 payments on the Civil List were made on Debentures prepared and signed by the Auditor-General pursuant to the establishment letter, a copy of which was lodged with the Vice-Treasurer.

Payments on the Military List were made on Warrants prepared by the Commissary-General of Musters signed by the Lord Lieutenant, and countersigned by the Commissary-General.

Payments on Concordatum were made on Warrants from the Privy Council: they were not to exceed a certain amount, and were limited to special purposes. Payments of Appropriated Duties were made on Warrants from the Linen Board, or other parties entitled to receive them, and did not require a Government Warrant.

The Civil and Military Lists were the authority for all ordinary payments out of the Treasury. The Vice-Treasurer had no power to make payments not included therein without proper Warrants authorised or sanctioned by a King's letter. No Debentures or Warrants except those on Appropriated Duties were to be paid without being entered with and countersigned by the Clerk of the Pells.

Important constitutional changes were made in the year 1793. The King having surrendered his ancient power over the Hereditary Revenue the Act 33 Geo. III., c. 34, reciting this, enacted that a Consolidated Fund should be formed from the Hereditary Revenue and all Additional Duties, not appropriated; and in consideration of the surrender, it was enacted that a sum of £145,000 should yearly be paid thereout to meet the salaries and charges on His Majesty's Civil List, and a further sum to satisfy the Pension List.

Parliament for the first time got complete control over the finances of the country, and after March, 1794, supplies were voted by the Annual Appropriation Bill. To complete the change a Treasury Board was appointed, wholly responsible to the Irish Parliament.

The Board was authorised by the first Appropriation Act (34 Geo. III., c. 4) to make certain payments, and receive certain monies specified therein; and to issue the sum granted to His Majesty to meet the military and other services of the year as appropriated and allocated in the Act. While the Act was the ultimate authority for the payments, the immediate authority for the issue was two King's letters sent yearly when the Appropriation Bill was passed, one authorising the Civil, and the other the Military payments, specified in the Act.

The Commissioners forming the Treasury Board were appointed at the end of 1793, and regulated their process of issue according to the English method. They sent their orders to the Auditor-General who, having examined and registered them, sent on the orders for payment to the Teller. When the payment was made the Teller registered the order with the Clerk of the Pells.

A new system was started in February, 1795, which was established by Parliament in the following June, and thenceforth payments were made by the Teller as executive officer of the new Treasury Board.

The Commissioners were not to issue any money without the authority required in the Act, and the Bank of Ireland was to see that every draft from the Teller showed the particular service for which the same was drawn.

The Auditor-General having received Warrants from the Treasury Board prepared Debentures or Orders as his Warrants directed. In the case of orders, he submitted to the Treasury for signature a formal order for payment, and this was returned when the Board wished it to be paid. The amount and the fund for payment were then specified by the Auditor-General, and, after the order had been examined by the Clerk of the Pells, and had been perfected by the addition of his "examinatur et recordatur," it was sent to the Teller.

If the order was paid in full it remained with the Teller as his voucher, otherwise it was returned to the Auditor-General with a note of the part payment endorsed thereon.

This system continued until 1814, when new regulations were framed with the view of abolishing receipts and payments at the counter of the Exchequer, and causing them to be made through the Bank of Ireland: for every payment of public money the Teller issued his draft on the Bank of Ireland specifying the particular head of the service for which the payment was made, and every such draft was recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Pells and countersigned by him.

Money issued from the Treasury to Public Accountants in the neighbourhood of Dublin was obtained by drafts from the Teller on the Bank of Ireland in favour of the Accountants, and all such drafts were countersigned by the Clerk of the Pells. This and all other money received by Public Accountants was lodged immediately in Bank to their account, and they drew upon it for the several services comprised in their offices and duty, specifying the nature of the service and the particular head to which the sum mentioned was to be applied. Sums deducted for Pells, Poundage and Treasury Fees were to be carried to the credit of the public by the Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells every week in the account of the Consolidated Fund of Ireland. Hospital Fees were treated in the same way, and subsequently applied to Kilmainham Hospital.

This continued until 1817, when the Irish Exchequer became merged in that of the United Kingdom, the Irish Treasury Board was abolished, and a Vice-Treasurer again appointed.

After 1817 money was issued on Warrants from the Lord Lieutenant to the Vice-Treasurer, by whom they were countersigned; and they were entered and marked by a person authorized by him. The Auditor-General on receipt of notice that such formalities had been complied with issued his order for payment on the Teller of the Exchequer, and the Warrant so dealt with was authority to him therefor. Irish Issues were recorded in the British Exchequer in order that the annual grants of Parliament should not be exceeded: for current services they were made from the growing produce of the Consolidated Fund in Ireland, in each quarter, and the Vice-Treasurer transmitted an account of such issues to the Lords of the Treasury, who issued their Warrant for repaying same to the Consolidated Fund.

After 10th October, 1822, the offices of the Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells were abolished, and their functions devolved on the Vice-Treasurer. Under the new system Issues were divided into three kinds:—

1st. Permanent Charges on the Consolidated Fund.
2nd. Military Establishment annually provided for by Parliament.
3rd. Civil ,, ,, ,, ,, ,, ,,

The permanent charges on the Consolidated Fund consisted of Interest and Annuities charged on the Public Funded Debt, the Sinking Fund and the Civil List. The amounts of the two former having been calculated by the Loan Clerk and the Commissioners for reducing the National Debt, respectively, they were certified to the Lord Lieutenant by the Vice-Treasurer, and when His Excellency issued his Warrant to the Vice-Treasurer the latter issued his order on the Teller to pay the same.

The Vice-Treasurer had the distribution and record of the Civil List in his possession: prior to each quarter day he certified the charges of the establishment thereon to His Excellency and the money was issued as before—the Finance Accounts of the Civil List were kept yearly, the year ending on the 5th January. Charges under the authority of Acts of Parliament for salaries or fixed allowances were certified and issued as in the case of the Civil List, but for incidental expenses or disbursements application should be made to the Lord Lieutenant for his Warrant to the Vice-Treasurer to issue an order for payment on the Teller.

Advances from the Consolidated Fund by way of loan were made on Warrants originating with the Lord Lieutenant addressed to the Vice-Treasurer, who issued his order on the Teller to pay the same. The Teller's draft on the Bank of Ireland was countersigned by the Vice-Treasurer or his Deputy. The Teller deducted from salaries, allowances, and pensions, such deductions as were previously made in the Office of the Pells and Auditor-General, subdividing them into Poundage, Pells, Hospital, and Treasury Fees, and transferring them to the credit of the Consolidated Fund.

With reference to the Military Establishment, the regimental Agents monthly, or as often as necessary, applied to the Secretary at War for the sums necessary for subsistence and the allowance to their regiments. The Secretary at War, having all the materials for that purpose, transmitted to the Vice-Treasurer a statement of the amounts payable to individuals and the sums necessary for the subsistence and payment of the land forces, and directed him to pay the proper amounts to the regimental agents. On receipt of the statement from the Secretary at War the Vice-Treasurer moved the Lord Lieutenant for his Warrant directing issues from the Bank of Ireland, and His Excellency directed that sufficient sums should be placed to the credit of the Vice-Treasurer as Paymaster of the Military Establishment in Ireland. The Vice-Treasurer, by drafts on the Bank of Ireland, then paid the army agents and several individuals the respective sums authorised, taking their receipts for same and deducting fees as before, which, at the close of each quarter, were transferred at the Bank to credit of the Consolidated Fund.

Money was issued to the Barrack, Commissariat, and Ordnance Departments, under Warrants from their respective Boards addressed to the Vice-Treasurer, who then directed the Teller to transfer such sums from his account in the Bank of Ireland to the credit of the respective Boards, and each Board made its own payments.

Army Extraordinaries arising out of emergencies were issued in the usual way on the Warrant of the Lord Lieutenant addressed to the Vice-Treasurer: copies of these Warrants were immediately transmitted to the Treasury and Secretary at War for sanction, and such sanction was annexed to the Lord Lieutenant's Warrant.

After the 24th December, 1822, the Secretary at War executed the duties previously performed by the Commissioners of Military Accounts and the Muster Master-General, but the establishment of military accounts continued until 5th January, 1824, in order to clear away the arrears of accounts.

With reference to Parliamentary Grants for the Civil Service, issues were made to Public Boards, Hospitals, Schools, miscellaneous services and civil contingencies, in the usual way, on Warrants from the Lord Lieutenant addressed to the Vice-Treasurer.

Every order from the Vice-Treasurer to the Teller was accompanied by the Warrant or authority on which it was made; the Teller entered thereon the number and amount of his draft on the Bank, and the draft required the counter-signature of the Vice-Treasurer. The Teller retained the Vice-Treasurer's order as his voucher; but returned the original Warrant or authority on which the order was made.

This system entirely ceased in 1837, the Exchequer offices in Ireland were practically abolished, the revenue of Ireland became an integral portion of that of the United Kingdom subject to the regulations of the Lords of the Treasury, and Issues were made on Warrants from the Lords of the Treasury addressed to the Comptroller of the Exchequer. A Paymaster of Civil Services in Ireland was appointed for making payments in detail, imprest money being advanced to him from the English Exchequer, for that purpose, under Warrants from the Treasury. Army payments were made by transfers from the account of the Comptroller-General of the Exchequer to that of the Paymaster-General at the Bank of Ireland.

Receipt of Money.

The public revenue of Ireland consisted of—

I. Hereditary Revenue,
II. Additional Duties,
III. Appropriated Duties;

but, with reference to the manner in which receipts were made and recorded, there was no difference between these classes of revenue.

Previous to 1794 they were received from the Collectors by the Vice-Treasurer, and he or his Deputy gave an acquittance which was entered by the Clerk of the Pells, the Chamberlains, and the Accountant-General; the acquittance was the discharge to the party making the payment. The money was received through the Cashier or Teller, who was a subordinate officer.

In 1794 the Teller became the executive officer of the new Treasury Board. He received no money without issuing a cheque receipt for it. This receipt was made out by the officer of the Auditor- General attending in his office, and was signed by him and witnessed by such officer and by the officer of the Clerk of the Pells. The Clerk of the Pells recorded the receipts, and was directed to furnish to the Auditor-General a daily account of the receipts into the Treasury.

There was a period of transition from January, 1794, to March, 1795, during which the Receiver-General and Paymaster-General, under directions from the Treasury Board, transacted business very much in the manner of the former Vice-Treasurers. In February, 1795, however, new regulations were made and instructions issued to the Receiver-General and Paymaster-General, Teller, Auditor, and Clerk of the Pells,

This system was established by law in June, 1795, when the post of Receiver-General and Paymaster-General was abolished, and a new officer entitled Receiver-General was appointed.

The Receiver-General received all duties, aids, revenues, and taxes collected by and levied under the authority of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise; and he paid weekly to the Teller of the Exchequer all monies received by him during the previous week, distinguishing under their proper heads the various receipts according to the Accountant-General's Abstracts.

The Teller was to give to him indented receipts for every such payment, which were to be recorded in the offices of the Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells, and countersigned by both. Daily and weekly returns of receipts were to be sent by the Receiver-General to the Auditor-General, who was directed to record every receipt countersigned by him. A similar record was made by the Clerk of the Pells. Both were to examine weekly the Teller's accounts and issue certificates to the Lord Lieutenant and the Treasury Commissioners concerning the receipts, issues and remains. Half-yearly certificates were to be issued in like manner; and quarterly, half-yearly and yearly accounts, were to be sent by the Auditor (after having been approved of by him and them) to the Accountant-General.

The Accountant-General was directed to send weekly to the Lord Lieutenant and Treasury an abstract of the receipts, payments and balances, of the different revenue collectors; and similar abstracts were to be sent by the treasurers of the Board of Works and Barracks, Ordnance, Receiver-General of Stamps, and treasurer to the Post Office.

This system practically continued until the year 1814, when, instead of paying the sums received by him directly into the hands of the Teller, the Receiver-General paid them into the Bank of Ireland to the Teller's credit, and, on presenting the certificate received by him from the Bank, the Teller gave him an acquittance for the sum contained in the certificate: every such receipt or acquittance specified particulars, and was recorded and countersigned in the offices of the Auditor-General and Clerk of the Pells, as before. Money could only be received into the Exchequer in this way, and no acquittance could be valid except for money so received.

After 1822 it was again ordered that payments into the Exchequer, no matter of what kind, should be made into the Bank of Ireland to the credit of the Teller. The Cashier of the Bank gave a receipt to the party making the payment and debited the Bank for the amount in the Teller's account. The party then brought the receipt to the Teller, who prepared an Exchequer receipt, and it was not a complete acquittance to the party until countersigned by the Vice-Treasurer or his Deputy.

Every Exchequer receipt stated the amount and the account for which it was paid, was entered in the office of the Vice-Treasurer, and charged against the Teller. The account of the Bank for each week was furnished to the Vice-Treasurer.

This system of receipt practically continued until the abolition of the office of Vice-Treasurer in 1837.

Accounts and Check.

From the reign of Henry VIII. Commissioners were appointed from time to time by King's letter to examine and check the Accounts of the Vice-Treasurer, Board of Ordnance, and other great accounting Departments. The rolls of Finance Accounts as passed by these Commissioners, engrossed on parchment, extend from 1545 to 1822. The beginning of every account recites the Commission, and there is a certificate at the end signed by the Commissioners.

Previous to 1760 the Vice-Treasurer kept annual accounts as a rule, but from thence to 1794 he prepared and submitted to the Commissioners of Treasury Accounts, quarterly accounts of his receipts, issues, and the balance in his hand, together with the vouchers in support of same. The Commissioners, under their patents, were appointed to call for and examine these accounts, and, on being satisfied therewith, they signed them; but, before the accounts were fully discharged, they were liable to be reviewed by the Treasurer or Commissioners of the Treasury of Great Britain. Other accounts, such as those of the Board of Ordnance, Board of Works, and money advanced by Government by way of Imprest were formerly dealt with by the Commissioners of Treasury Accounts, but, at this period, the latter were subject to the Commissioners of Imprests and Foreign Accounts.

The Vice-Treasurer's accounts were first passed before the Auditor-General, and then before the Commissioners; his receipts were entered with the Clerk of the Pells, the Chamberlains, and the Accountant-General; his payments were entered with the Clerk of the Pells. The Vice-Treasurer delivered to the Auditor and Commissioners transcripts of his receipts, and similar transcripts were furnished by the Clerk of the Pells and the Chamberlains; and, when these were compared, they were a complete check on the accuracy of the Vice-Treasurer's transcripts, and showed whether he was fully charged with all monies received by him during the period of the account. The Vice-Treasurer also gave the Auditor-General a fair transcript of all his payments under the several heads of the establishment, with vouchers therefor, and a like account was given by the Clerk of the Pells; and when examined by the Auditor-General and engrossed on parchment, it was brought with the vouchers to the Commissioners of Accounts, who examined and signed it. This account remained with the Auditor-General, but a duplicate was given to the Vice-Treasurer as his "quietus est." The checks on the Vice-Treasurer's Accounts were thus quite complete; the books of the Clerk of the Pells and the Chamberlains were a check on his receipts, and not only was he obliged to furnish vouchers for his payments, but the Clerk of the Pells had an independent account of them. Furthermore, the authorities for his payments were in the hands of the Auditor-General and Commissioners of Accounts, and any payment made without proper authority was disallowed.

From 1794 under the newly appointed Treasury Board this system seems to have been maintained and continued until 1817, when the Irish Treasury was merged in the Imperial Treasury. Thenceforward the Vice-Treasurer was ordered to furnish an account of all Warrants which passed through his office during the year, and the same was laid before Parliament: like his predecessors, the Treasury Commissioners, he examined and signed the quarterly accounts of the receipts, issues, and remains of the Exchequer in Ireland, prepared by the Auditor, and transmitted abstracts of the same to the Treasury Board. He also furnished to the Commissioners of the Treasury, every week, a comparative view of the revenue paid into the Treasury, as formerly done by the Revenue Clerk of the Irish Treasury Board.

After the abolition of the Auditor-General's office, in 1822, all the accounts previously kept by him were kept and furnished by the Vice-Treasurer: he was directed—

(a) Weekly and quarterly to make an abstract of the receipts, issues, and remains in the Irish Treasury, to compare them with the Teller, and to transmit copies thereof, pursuant to the Treasury minute of the 23rd May, 1822;

(b) To prepare a quarterly account of the net produce of the Consolidated Fund paid into the Exchequer in Ireland, and the permanent charge thereon;

(c) To prepare an account of sums issued out of the growing produce of the Consolidated Fund arising in Ireland, for the public service in Ireland;

(d) To furnish particulars of Imprest money repaid into the Exchequer, and other monies received for the public; same to be transmitted within ten days after the expiration of each quarter;

(e) To prepare a quarterly account of the funded debt in Ireland, with the annual charge thereon, which was to be transmitted to the Commissioners for redeeming the National Debt;

(f) As soon as possible after each year ending the 5th January, to prepare and transmit to the Imperial Treasury, in triplicate, the following accounts, which were to be incorporated with the Finance Accounts of the United Kingdom:—

(1) An account, with appendices, of all sums paid into the Exchequer in Ireland on account of the public income;

(2) An account of the net produce of the Consolidated Fund paid into the Exchequer in Ireland, and the permanent charge thereon;

(3) An account of the public expenditure in Ireland, with appendices, and an account of the funded debt in Ireland, with the annual charge thereon;

(4) An account of the unfunded debt in Ireland and the demands outstanding, with appendices;

(5) An account showing how the grants for the Service of the year had been disposed of, distinguishing the various payments into proper heads;

(6) Accounts relating to the Treasury Department in Ireland, ordered by either House of Parliament.

He was also directed to take over from the Auditor-General and the Clerk of the Pells all the records and papers belonging to their departments.

Appended is a classified account of the classes of books and records of the Accounting Departments.

ABSTRACTS.

Abstracts were primarily kept to supply in a classified form compendious views of the receipts and payments into the Treasury; but after 1741 their main object seems to have been to serve as a check on the Vice-Treasurer.

Receipts, Abstracts of.

Auditor-General's Abstracts, 1795.—Weekly Abstracts of Receipts into the Treasury.

Vice-Treasurer's Abstracts, 1748--1797.—Weekly Abstracts of Receipts into the Treasury, 1748--1797. Also Biennial and Annual Abstracts, 1779--1795.

Receipts and Payments, Abstracts of.

Accountant-General's Abstracts, 1789--94.—These give weekly Abstracts of receipts into the Exchequer. They furnish the state of the various Collectors' Accounts, showing the balance from the former week, receipts and payments, and new balance; or in case a Collector's Account has been overdrawn by the Exchequer, they give the amount.

Auditor-General's Abstracts, 1795--1822.—These books give the receipts and payments into the Treasury in a classified form. They consist of—

Printed quarterly and yearly abstracts, ...		1795--9
Printed weekly abstracts, ...	...	1795--1818
Written ,, ,, ...	...	1796--1823
,, daily ,, ...	...	1797

The abstracts described as written are generally entitled "rough abstracts," and the printed weekly abstracts are copies of the original abstracts which were forwarded weekly to the Treasury. In 1822 the office of Auditor-General was abolished, and his functions were afterwards discharged by the Vice-Treasurer.

Bank Abstracts.—These abstracts were furnished by the Bank of Ireland to the Treasury pursuant to order bearing date 8th February, 1794, and they give the state of the Teller's Weekly Account with the Bank. From 1794 to 1803 they merely give gross payments, receipts and balances, from thence to 1814 no abstracts were forwarded or they have not been preserved. Afterwards a new series of abstracts appears giving the names of the parties lodging money to the credit of the Teller.

First series, ...	1794--1803.
Second series, ...	1814--1837.

Board of Works Abstracts, 1805--11.—These are weekly abstracts kept by the Board of Works.

Ordnance Abstracts—see Military: Ordnance Accounts.

Pells Office Abstracts.—The Clerk of the Pells kept an account of the receipts and payments into the Treasury; and after 1795 he was directed in addition to his own account, to make up the Teller's accounts every Saturday, and to certify the receipts, issues, and remains into the Treasury every Monday. The Pells Office was abolished in 1822; but the Vice-Treasurer continued his functions, and the Vice-Treasurer's abstracts are accordingly treated as a continuation of the Pells abstracts after 1822.

Weekly abstracts, ...	...	1692--1829
,, ,, (rough), ...	...	1772--1831
,, ,, (printed),	...	1795--1800

Post Office Abstracts.—These were furnished pursuant to Treasury letter of the 31st December, 1793, and give weekly abstracts of Post Office receipts, payments to the Treasury, and balance; they extend from 1794--1817.

Receiver-General's Revenue Abstracts.—These were furnished pursuant to Treasury letter of 31st December, 1793. They show the state of the Collector's weekly accounts and whether a balance remained on hand or the account had been overdrawn. Previous to 1807 no distinction was made between Customs and Excise, but after this they appear with separate abstracts in the same volume. They extend as follows:—

Customs and Excise, 1797--1806 { Customs, 1807--17. Excise, 1807--17.

There is another series extending from 1799--1800 kept for showing how much of the Collectors' balances consisted of specie and how much of notes, and when the balances consisted entirely or partly of notes the banks by which they were issued are given.

A third series of comparative abstracts extending from 1801--5, and 1809--35, gives an account of the revenue paid weekly into the Exchequer, together with that for the corresponding week in the previous year.

Stamp Office Abstracts.—These were furnished pursuant to Treasury letter of 31st Dec., 1793, and contain weekly abstracts by the Receiver-General of Stamps, payments thereout to the Treasury and balance. They extend from 1794--1815.

Teller's Abstracts.—These are weekly abstracts of receipts, issues, and remains. Up to 1799 they are written and detailed, but afterwards they are similar to and kept in the same printed forms as those of the Auditor-General. They consist of—

Weekly abstracts, written and printed,	...	1794--1837
,, ,, rough, ...	...	1796--1837

and there are also two books of Teller's receipts for 1836--7.

Treasury Abstracts.—These are weekly abstracts prepared or kept in the Treasury Office, and give an account of the receipts, payments, and balance. They are similar to the Pells abstracts for the same period, and previous to 1795 were kept by the Vice-Treasurer. They consist of—

Weekly abstracts,	...	1693--1795 (a few books are missing)

CASH BOOKS.

These are very important, and include four series—Counter Cash Books, Deputy Receiver-General's, Teller's, and Treasury Cash Books.

Counter Cash Books, 1727--1837.—These seem to have served as actual receipt books up to 1800, and they contain receipts and payments of every kind made by the Cashier in the Treasury, together with the signature of the recipients up to that date.

The accounts are balanced weekly, and although the receipts and payments sometimes differ from the receipts and payments in the Treasury Cash Books the weekly balances are always the same, for the reason stated in the paragraph on the Treasury Cash Books.

The books are kept in order of date, and the items are entered promiscuously. They only contain receipts and payments made by Teller, and the books were prepared by his clerk. To understand the importance and character of these transactions see account of payments and receipts under Payment and Receipt Books, Treasury. Some books are missing.

Deputy Receiver-General's Cash Books, 1779–1785.—These contain transactions of the Deputy Receiver-General with reference to Bills received from Revenue Collectors, Agency to Pensioners on the Civil and Military Establishment, &c.

Teller's Cash Books, 1733--68, 1777--94. At first the Teller would seem to have been a very subordinate officer with very limited powers, practically a mere Cashier. After 1794, while the Deputy Receiver-General was still nominally responsible, most of the duties practically devolved on the Teller, and the entries of his receipts and payments appear in the Counter Cash Book.

These books extend from 1733 to 1768, and from 1777 to 1794, and contain his receipts and payments. The Treasury was debited for his receipts and credited for his payments.

There are some other transactions with which the Teller had no official concern, and the books seem to have been kept to show how he stood personally with reference to the Treasury and other Government accounts.

Treasury Cash Books, 1689--1795.—These contain entries of every receipt and payment by the Treasury in respect of the public service and revenue. The accounts are kept weekly, and the balances are always the same as in the Counter Cash Books. Several receipts and payments were made without the instrumentality of the Teller, but as receipts for such purposes, e.g., forage, were immediately paid away, the weekly balance was not affected.

The accounts are classified, receipts and payments being entered under the proper heads of the accounts. They show the deductions for infirmary, poundage, hospitals, Pells. The earlier books show whether a payment was made by acquittance on a revenue collector or by cash at the Counter of the Exchequer. There is a column showing the page of ledger in which the item is entered, and a corresponding column in ledger shows the page of the cash book the entry was posted from. They cease in 1795, and, from that date, the ledgers refer to the page of the issue payment books. The series is very valuable as furnishing a record of the receipts and payments.

After 1757 there are two books for every year, each book containing the accounts for alternate weeks. Some books are missing at the beginning of the series, as well as those for the years 1757--8 and 1759--60.

CHAMBERLAINS, FIRST AND SECOND.—See Receipt Books, Treasury Receipts.

CIVIL CONTINGENCY ACCOUNT, 1802--3.

These books give the payments for civil contingencies, stating name of party, service, and amount paid. There is a rough duplicate for 1802. 275

CIVIL AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS, 1577--1831.

These contain compendious accounts of the various heads of the public service in classified form, together with the public expenditure to be incurred in respect of the same. They are copies of King's letters, which were the authority for issues. The letters were sent to the Auditor-General, and as he supplied a copy to the Vice-Treasurer, this set probably consists of such copies. This series is imperfect. 273-4

CIVIL LIST BOOKS.

Civil List, 1691--1834.—These books contain classified lists of the various persons on the Civil Establishment. They give number, date of King's letter, letters patent, or Government warrant, term, employment, officer's name, salary and quarterly payments. Series nearly perfect. 274-5

Digest of Civil List, 1577--1781.—This gives the heads and yearly cost of the Establishment, comparative lists for different years, and an estimate of the charge, addition to, or savings on the same for successive periods of two years.

Payments on Civil List, 1777--1807.—Series imperfect.

Pensions on Civil List.—Return of payments of, 1753--1829.

Pensions on the Civil List, 1830--7.—These books contain in day-book form the payment of Civil List pensions by the Teller of the Exchequer, together with sums received from the British Exchequer to pay the same. Other books run from 1830 to 1833.

Savings on the Civil List, 1802--4, 1794--1809.

State of the Civil List, 1818.

CONSOLIDATED FUND (IRELAND) BOOKS.

Abstracts.

These give abstracts of life annuities payable in London which were chargeable on the consolidated fund, and comprise the years 1812--27.

Advances from Consolidated Fund.

Advances for Clergy, 1832--3.—These are advances from the consolidated fund for the relief of Clergy pursuant to the Act 2 Will. IV., c. 41. They give date of advance, name of incumbent, parish, diocese, page of Journal, and amount advanced.

Advances for Mail Coach Roads, &c.—These give the advances for mail coach and turnpike roads pursuant to 45 Geo. III., c. 43.

The accounts are kept in order of counties, and extend over the period 1813--34.

Advances for Roads.—These books contain in order of counties the sums ordered by the Government to be paid. They give the amount, date of issue, mode of paying instalments, with the amount and date of payment to the different revenue collectors. They extend over the period 1810--19.

Journal of Advances.—These give properly classified weekly accounts of payments made from the Consolidated Fund for carrying on public works in Ireland pursuant to various Acts of Parliament, police purposes, Boards of Health, Tithe Commissioners, County Treasurers, principal and interest of Exchequer Bills, &c., &c. They extend over the period 1834--7.

Ledger of Advances, 1833--7.—The accounts in the Journal for the period 1833--7 are put into ledger form in these books. These are really part of Civil, &c., Ledgers.

Repayments of Advances, 1835--7.—Advances from the Consolidated Fund for expenses under the Tithe (Million) Act, 3 and 4 Wm. IV., c. 100, and repayments thereof.

Irish Consolidated Fund Books.

Charges on the Consolidated Fund, Ireland, 1830--7.

Duties and Revenue comprising the Consolidated Fund in Great Britain and Ireland with the respective charges thereon.

Great Britain and Ireland, 1817. Ireland, 1817--36.

Issues, &c., 1815--36.

(1st.) Quarterly issues from the growing produce of the Consolidated Fund in Ireland, distinguishing payments on account of Parliamentary grants in previous years.

(2nd.) Like accounts of Imprest and other monies received during same period.

(3rd.) Net produce of the fund in Ireland and the permanent charge thereon. After 1834 they only contain the permanent charge.

Journal, 1835--7.—A rough journal of issues.

Warrant Entry Book, 1819--20, 1832--5.

CONSTABULARY ACCOUNTS.

These give the amount advanced yearly from the Exchequer for the Constabulary, the amount chargeable on county, presented for by the Clerk of the Crown, levied by County Treasurer, and repaid by Excise Collector. They comprise the period 1822--1833.

There are like accounts for Peace Preservation, Superannuated Constables, &c., for the years 1816--34. See Salaries.

ECCLESIASTICAL REVENUE.

The dissolution of the monasteries in the time of Henry VIII. furnished considerable revenue to him and his immediate successors. The chattels, lands and possessions of the monasteries were vested in the Crown, and provision was made for some of the religious.

"First fruits," or "annates," were also vested in Henry VIII. They are the first year's profit of every ecclesiastical benefice or promotion payable by four instalments in two years. If default were made in the payment to the Clerk of First Fruits process issued as in case of Crown lands.

The fees payable on faculties or dispensations were included in sources of ecclesiastical revenues vested in Henry VIII. and his successors. The fees on faculties were apportioned between the Crown and the Dignitaries and officers employed in their collection.

"Twentieth parts," being the twentieth part of every year's value of a benefice or preferment, were vested in the Crown in like manner as the First Fruits.

The chattels of the monasteries were sold; and the lands, pending their grant, were let on lease.

A valuation of all benefices for the purpose of assessing the First Fruits and Twentieth Parts, was made by Commission 30 Hen. VIII. The record of this valuation is called "Valor beneficiorum." They yielded revenue until the Twentieth Parts were released to the incumbents by Queen Anne, confirmed by statute 2 Geo. I., c. 15; and the First Fruits by the same authorities were granted to trustees for the building of churches and purchase of glebes, and impropriations.

In the Commonwealth period various ecclesiastical lands, rents and revenues were appropriated by the Government.

FEES.

These books give an account of fees received on weekly payments in the Treasury. It is possible that the early books answered the purpose of Counter Cash Books also.

One series kept by the Auditor-General begins in 1691 and ends in 1837, the latter portion being kept by the Vice-Treasurer, who succeeded to duties of Auditor-General in 1822. The series is imperfect, and there is another series kept by the Clerk of the Pells commencing in 1707 and ending in 1726. 394-5.

FINES.

These Rolls contain original Estreats of Fines, Amercements, forfeited recognizances, &c., sent from the different sessions to the Exchequer, so that process might issue to levy the amounts coming therefrom to the Crown. 1H. 10. 8 214

Petty Constables and Jurors are fined for not attending sessions; tradesmen, chiefly millers and victuallers, for not bringing in their weights and measures on demand, or for excessive tolls; inhabitants of baronies and parishes for not mending bridges, making highways and other works passed as presentments; some homage fines are included. Writs to Sheriffs are sometimes copied when the person fined belonged to a superior class.

They supply the names and addresses of many persons throughout Ireland, chiefly during the period 1619--20.

GRANTS UNISSUED.

This contains returns of unappropriated money for the years 1817--20.

HANAPER OFFICE.

Profits accrued to the Crown from the sums paid on sealing writs, Letters patent of lands or offices, pardons, Court of Wards and Liveries, and King's Lands.

The Lord Chancellor for the time being from 5 James I., was entitled to a moiety of the receipts, and had power to order out of the other moiety, any disbursements he thought necessary for the use of the Chancery Court. The balance was paid into the Exchequer.

In passing his account before the Commissioners of Imprest Accounts the Clerk of the Hanaper produced the Office entry book showing all receipts which he verified on oath. This was his charge. The discharge consisted of the Lord Chancellor's receipt for moiety, warrants for disbursements, and Exchequer acquittances for payments into the Treasury.

Accounts, 1570--1711.—These are the audited engrossed accounts of the Hanaper Office, and give receipts, issues, and balances of the accounts. These entries are summaries of the receipts, &c. Full entries of receipts appear in the Receipt Rolls.

Receipt Rolls, 1548--1718.—These give full particulars of the receipts. From 1548 to 1568 these rolls have the accounts of receipts for First Fruits, Twentieth parts, and Subsidies. The roll for 1568--70 has Hanaper Accounts, Customs, and Subsidies. There is a Roll of M. 1628, which gives the receipts of the Clerk of the Crown, King's Bench.

HEARTH MONEY, POLL TAX, AND SUBSIDY ROLLS.

Hearth Money was a tax of 2*s*. on every hearth and fire place, established by the Act 14 and 15 Car. II., c. 17, and payable at Lady Day and Michaelmas by equal portions. The first portion was payable on Lady Day 1663, and it was to be collected in the different counties by the sheriffs.

The persons liable to pay were to be entered in a list which was to be prepared by the Justices of the Peace, and lodged with the Clerk of the Peace; and a duplicate thereof, signed by three Justices, was to be sent to the Exchequer. These lists are known as the Hearth Money Rolls.

Returns of any increase or diminution of hearths were to be sent to the Exchequer as in case of the original return.

By 17 & 18 Car. II., c. 18, the entire sum became payable on the 10th January, yearly.

The rolls contain, according to counties, baronies, parishes, &c., the names of the inhabitants liable to the tax, and the amounts they were to pay. So far as the number of hearths with which each person is charged can be taken as an indication of wealth and rank, these lists are a valuable addition to local and family history.

The Poll Tax with which the lists in this collection deals was established by the Act 7 Wm. III., c. 15, and was a duty of one shilling on every person, no matter of what age or sex. However, no person chargeable with one shilling only was obliged to pay for more than two children under the age of sixteen.

The clergy, from archbishops to parsons, and the laity from dukes to gentlemen, officials and traders, were liable to heavy amounts according to their degree.

The Commissioners appointed for each county were to cause duplicates of the whole sums charged on every hundred, barony, ward, &c. (without naming the persons), under the hands of three of them, to be delivered to the sheriff of the county, who was to transmit it to the Exchequer before 20th Jan., 1695--6. These are the lists in this collection.

Subsidies were grants made to the King from a very early date; but, with the exception of Co. Armagh, Dublin City, and a few concerning all Ireland, the rolls preserved all relate to the period from 1662 to 1669. Subsidies, both lay and clerical, were granted by the Parliament which commenced to sit in Dublin on the 8th May, 1661.

By the Act 14 and 15 Chas. II., c. 24, the clergy granted eight subsidies, at the rate in the Act, payable half-yearly, the first payment on Feb. 1661--2, and the last on Aug., 1669. There are no clerical subsidy rolls in this collection, but as the tax to be raised was very much like that of Twentieth parts the corresponding particulars can be found on looking at the Twentieth parts records. The lay subsidies are as follows:—

A grant of eight subsidies, payable in 1662--3, must have been made at same time with the subsidy of the clergy, but the Act does not appear to have been preserved. By the Act 14 and 15 Chas. II., c. 6, four subsidies, payable quarterly, were voted to commence after the payment of the eight subsidies, that is to be payable in 1664.

By the Act 14 and 15 Chas. II., c. 7, eight subsidies were voted, payable half-yearly, the first payment on Midsummer, 1665, and the last on Christmas, 1668. Four subsidies granted in 1665 by the Act 17 and 18 Chas. II., c. 1, were to be levied in addition to, in the same way, and at same times, as the previous eight subsidies under 14 and 15 Chas. II., c. 7.

These lay subsidies were to be levied off temporalities, lands and goods. Commissioners were appointed to deliver detailed lists of persons taxed to the sheriffs, &c., who were to collect the subsidies, and they were to return gross amounts into the Exchequer as a check on the Collectors' accounts.

The Commissioners, in obedience to writs from the Exchequer, returned copies of the lists supplied to the sheriffs, and these are the records now styled Subsidy Rolls. See also Hanaper Office Receipts.

2nd Series—Civil, Military, &c., 1799--1817.

Issue Books, 1794--1836.—These contain, in the order in which payments were actually made, abstracts of the orders on the Vice-Treasurer or Teller to make the payments. Their arrangement is somewhat complex—they are referred to by volume and page, or by page only, in the classes of ledgers corresponding to them. The portion 1823-36 is really a continuation of the Journal of Issues, Pells Office, but being referred to by the civil and military ledgers, the books are regarded as Issue Books. They are classified as follows:—

Civil, Military, &c., 1794--1803	{ Civil, Vote of Credit, &c., 1803--22 Military, 1803--22 ... }	1823--35
Civil, Military, &c. (except Consolidated Fund),		1836
Consolidated Fund, ...		1835--6
District Yeomanry Corps, ...		1798--1805

Issue Books (Civil), 1823--37.—The first two books of the series appear to be a continuation of the Civil, &c., Issue Books above, ending at 1822: as the ledgers do not refer to these, but to Journals of issues which are classed as Issue Books above, they are not included in the General Issue Books. The remainder of this series, 1824--37, contains personal accounts in rough dictionary order, running through four quarters of each year in one folio, and giving name, date of order, amount, date of issue.

Issue Books (Military), 1823--4.—These are a continuation of the Military Issue Books above, ending in 1822: as the ledgers do not refer to them, but to the Journals of issues, as above, they are not included with the General Issue Books.

Issue Books (Military, Paymaster-General), 1823--36.—These give reference to Paymaster's Ledger, 1823, the only one of its kind; numbers of accounts in numerical Register of Accounts, 1833--6; account of Paymaster-General of the Forces, 1824--6, and Paymaster-General's Ledger of General and Staff Officers, &c., 1824--36.

Journal of Issues, 1794--1822.—These entries in classified form give all payments made weekly in the Treasury. They extend from 1794 to 1822, and up to 1799 there are two books for alternate weeks, each year. They were kept in the Pells Office, but, on the abolition of that Office in 1822, the series was continued in the Vice-Treasurer's Office as general issue books, and, as such, are referred to by the Civil and Military Ledger.

Memorandum Books, 1802--17.—These give, in memorandum shape, the particulars of orders for issues, and contain name of party, account, sum, fund payable from, order of Lords of Treasury, date of issue, and number of issue. The column "Order of Lords of Treasury" gives number of application and date of order as they appear in the diary of applications. The number and date of issue appear in the warrant books.

Numerical Register, 1833--7.—This is a register of payments to land forces, militia, general officers, garrisons, &c., and merely contains number of order and amount. See Issue Books (Military, Paymaster-General).

Warrant Books, 1794--1822.—These give the particulars of the orders or warrants on which the payments were made. They state in whose favour the order was made, account, net and gross amount, authority for issue, number, fund, signatures, and date of delivery to auditor.

The number is the same as that in the Memorandum Books, and the authority column gives the particulars, date, &c., of warrant. They are classified as follows:—

Civil, Military, Vote of Credit, &c., 1794--6	Civil, 1796--1807 Vote of Credit, 1796--1807 Military, 1796--1822.	Civil and Vote of Credit, 1808--20.

There is a rough book of Concordatum Warrants for 1796 among "Rough Books."

LEDGERS.

There are a great many classes of ledgers, and the information they supply is extensive and most important.

District Yeomanry Corps, 1797--1802.—Separate ledgers were kept for the various district yeomanry corps during period of these ledgers, and they refer to the Issue Book authorising the payments therein.

Grants and Issues, 1804--37.—These give classified accounts, civil and military, of all issues from the Treasury, under the heads under which they ought to be accounted for. An account is opened for every grant; on the Dr. side appear the payments posted from the day books, and on the Cr. side the amount of the grant. They thus show the amount of a grant unissued without having to refer to the Auditor-General.

Some of the details are very meagre; for example, one order may contain the entire amount for salaries on Civil List for one quarter. From 1802--22 they have a column referring to Warrant Book for authority for payment.

Pay, Salary, and Allowance, 1804--16.—These books were kept in the Treasury, and contain personal accounts of the principal officers, whose accounts are also given in the Military (and Civil Grants) Ledgers up to 1822; and the series is continued as Grant Ledger, Paymaster-General's Office. The items are entered in a confused form, but the date of payment, amount, and title of account are given.

Paymaster-General's Office.—There were three kinds of ledgers kept in the Paymaster-General's Office, viz.:—

1st. General and Staff Officers, Garrisons, &c., 1823--36.—These books have columns referring to number in numerical register of accounts and page of Military (Paymaster-General) Issue Book.

2nd. Grant Ledger.—These contain personal accounts which were kept in the Pay, Salary and Allowance, and Military Ledgers, previous to 1823, when the Civil and Military Ledgers were amalgamated. Personal accounts, instead of being kept in the amalgamated ledger, as formerly, were now kept in this series. They give date of payment, number of warrant, and reference to Paymaster's Military Issue Book. They extend from 1823 to 1836.

3rd. Paymaster-General's, 1823.—This gives the account of the Secretary-at-War with the Vice-Treasurer, who was Paymaster-General of the forces. On the Dr. side appear payments by the Bank of Ireland for military purposes, and on the Cr. side warrants from the Lord Lieutenant to the Teller.

Regimental Ledger, 1823--36.—These contain, on the Dr. side, date of payment, number of warrant, service, reference to Paymaster's military issue book, and the amount. On the Cr. side appear net expenditure, together with any sums repaid by army agents pursuant to the clearing warrants of the Secretary-at-War.

The accounts were kept for the army agents in respect of individual regiments, and they extend from 1823 to 1836.

Treasury Ledgers, 1693--1836.—These volumes are sometimes styled Treasury Ledgers and sometimes Exchequer Ledgers. Up to 1729 they contain in classified form accounts of all receipts and payments made in the Treasury on the Civil and Military Establishments, Concordatum, and for secret or exceptional services; but from that date they only give the payments.

The books are most valuable, furnishing an account of the salaries attached to the various departments, together with the names and rank of the principal officials. The series, except the early portion, is complete. There is a column referring to the page of Treasury Cash Book for original entry of payment. After Issue Books were started the reference is made to them and not to the Cash Books.

In some years, when accounts were very large, other ledgers, which are really portions of these ledgers, were kept. These are Consolidated Fund, District Corps, Paymaster-General's, and Vote of Credit Ledgers.

To explain the nature of the entries more fully, I give a list of the ledger accounts for the year 1793.

Civil List.		Exchequer, King's Bench, Chancery, Common Pleas, State Officers, Incidents, Custom Officers, Perpetuities, Appeals, Nonconforming Ministers, Commissioners and Overseers of Barracks, Admiralty, Commissioners of Imprest Accounts, Pensions, French Pensions, Concordatum.
Military Establishment.		General Officers.
	Army.	Subsistence, Clothing, Arrears, Half-yearly Allowances, Contingencies and Allowance in lieu of Stoppages.
		Additional pay for Dublin duty, Battle axes, Garrisons, Incidents, Fire and Candles for Guards and Garrisons, Pensions, Half-pay Officers, Widows of Officers, Ordnance Contingencies, Barracks.
Extraordinaries.		King's Letters, Parliamentary Grants including Lottery Prizes, Bounty to Linen Manufacture, Further Bounty to Linen Manufacture, Premiums on Flaxseed.
		Prizage, and Commissioners of Public Accounts.
Appropriated Funds.		The various sub-heads of the Loan Account, Linen Manufacture, Lagan Navigation, Improving Dublin, and Duncannon Fort.

For other years the accounts would be different, and as a rule the accounts become more numerous for more recent years.

The accounts, Civil and Military, were kept in one series up to the year 1796, from this period to 1823 they were kept in two series, and from 1823 to 1836 the series is again united. Consolidated Fund, District Corps, Paymaster-General's, and Vote of Credit Ledgers were also kept for certain periods. They are, practically, other sub-divisions of these Ledgers.

With reference to Military Ledgers from 1804 to 1811, they are entitled "Military and Civil Grants," the first part of each volume serving as a Military Ledger, while the latter contains the Annual Grants, which are entered for this period in the Military instead of the Civil Ledger. They may be thus described:—

Civil and Military, ...	1693--1796
Civil, ...	1796--1822
Military, ...	1796--1822
Civil and Military, ...	1823--1836

LETTERS AND LETTER BOOKS.

This collection comprises original letters, as well as Letter Books, into which the letters have been copied.

Letters.

Original letters may be classed as—Letters to Treasury from Board of Works; Lord Lieutenant; Sundry Persons (Bank, Loans, &c., Revenue). Also Letters from Treasury to Auditor-General; and to Teller of the Exchequer.

Letters from Board of Works to Treasury, 1835--7.—These letters state that certificates have been forwarded to Secretaries of Grand Juries for sums expended on Mail Coach Roads that are leviable by County Treasurers, and are repayable into the Exchequer through the Collectors of Excise.

Letters from Government to Treasury, 1794--5.—These are warrants for payments of Loans, Lotteries, &c., forwarding Civil Lists, and giving various directions with reference to accounts, and calling in balances from various departments.

Letters from Sundry Persons to Treasury.

1st. Bank and Board of Control Business, 1794--7.—These are from the Bank of Ireland and the various accounting departments forwarding accounts, reports, or explanations. Generally, this collection may be said to comprise all matters concerning revenue and accounts which were dealt with by the Treasury acting as a Board of Control.

2nd. Loans, &c., 1795--8.—These deal with questions affecting Loans, Lotteries, and Annuities, whether in Dublin or London.

3rd. Revenue, 1795 and 1797.—Letters on Revenue matters.

Letters from Treasury to Auditor-General, 1796--1801.—These are the original orders for payment received by the Auditor-General, and notified by him to the Teller of the Exchequer.

Letters from Treasury to Teller of the Exchequer, 1794--1801.—These are the letters with reference to the receipt and payment of money forwarded to the Teller.

Letter Books.

These comprise copies of letters from Treasury to Auditor-General; Chief Secretary; Commissioners of Customs, of Excise, and of Stamps; County Treasurers; Postmaster-General; Secretary-at-War; Sundry Persons; Teller of the Exchequer.

Copies of letters to Treasury from Auditor-General; Chief Secretary; Commissioners of Customs, of Excise, and of Stamps; Secretary-at-War; Sundry Persons.

Auditor-General from Treasury.—There are three series of Letter Books of this class.

1st. Letters of a purely departmental nature, extending over the years 1795 to 1822.

2nd. When the Treasury Board was abolished in 1817 some of its functions devolved on the newly-created Vice-Treasurer, and on the abolition of the office of Auditor-General in 1822 the Vice-Treasurer's duties were further increased. These letters chiefly refer to military payments and accounts previously dealt with by the Treasury Board and Auditor-General, and they extend over the years 1817--37.

3rd. This series deals with letters and memorials referred to the Auditor-General while such office existed, and subsequently to the Vice-Treasurer, together with the reports thereon. It also contains returns and certificates furnished to the Government and various offices. The books extend over the years 1797--1825.

Chief Secretary from Treasury, 1805--17.—These letters deal with applications to the Lord Lieutenant for payments, notifications of removals from the Establishment, repayments and returns.

Commissioners of Customs from Treasury, 1805--17.

Commissioners of Excise from Treasury, 1805--17.

Commissioners of Revenue, &c., from Treasury, 1796--1817.—These deal with memorials to the Treasury for reduction of penalties, money in the hands of dismissed collectors or due of deceased collectors, orders to furnish accounts to the Treasury and Commissioners of Accounts, and directions to the Receiver-General and Teller with reference to money in the hands of collectors.

Commissioners of Stamps from Treasury, 1805--17.

County Treasurers from Treasury, 1806--10.

Postmaster-General from Treasury, 1805--17.

The six last mentioned classes of letter books are of a purely departmental character.

Secretary-at-War from Treasury, 1822--36.—This series gives copies of letters from the Vice-Treasurer, acting as Paymaster-General, to the Secretary-at-War.

Sundry Persons from Treasury, 1793--1817.—This series, extending from 1793 to 1817, contains copies of letters from the Treasury as a Board of control with reference to Banks, Bills, Loans, Lotteries, &c. It contains directions to the Auditor-General, Teller, Clerk of the Pells, and various subordinate boards with reference to keeping and furnishing accounts, preparing warrants, paying or receiving money, and furnishing explanations or returns. After 1804 the series splits up into two series, one being chiefly devoted to Accounts and the other to Banks.

From Auditor-General and Chief Secretary to Treasury.—See "Letter Books from Treasury," which contain the entire correspondence between the three departments.

From Commissioners of Customs, 1804--8.

From Commissioners of Excise, 1804--7.

From Commissioners of Stamps, 1804--13.

From County Treasurers, 1804--8.

The four classes of letter books last mentioned deal with matters of a purely departmental character.

From Secretary-at-War, 1822--36.—These contain copies of letters from the Secretary-at-War, or his department, to the Vice-Treasurer, as Paymaster-General of the Forces.

From Sundry Persons (Revenue).—These contain copies of memorials on revenue matters forwarded by various persons to the Treasury from 1804 to 1808.

Mercer's Hospital.

Quarterly accounts of expenditure from 1805 to 1821.

MILITARY.

There is a vast quantity of books dealing with military accounts. Primarily these books were kept to account for money spent on the army or military purposes, but incidentally and indirectly they supply information concerning the regiments on the Irish Military Establishment, particulars with regard to officers and men where special payments were made, movements of troops, and generally everything concerning the financial aspect of the army. Containing a great many names, and connected incidentally with a great many events, they throw some light on family and general history.

The principal military accounts are kept with the corresponding Civil Accounts, vide Civil and Military Ledgers, Payment and Receipt Books and Rolls, Cash Books, &c. Other volumes, although dealing exclusively with military matters, are classed with the corresponding Civil Books; vide Issue Books, Ledgers, Letter Books, &c. The principal military accounts are to be found in these.

The following are of a more subsidiary nature, and give, in many cases, details of these principal accounts, or were kept for the purpose of arriving at them. Others were kept in order to give special information concerning some of the accounts:—

Accounts, 1803--12.—Instructions to Comptroller Army Accounts, and for contingent Accounts of Staff Officers.

Accounts, 1824--36.—Account of the Paymaster-General of the Forces during above period.

Army Extraordinaries, 1801--15.—These books give the payments for the above purposes during a period extending over the greater part of the Napoleonic wars, and show a good portion of the monies laid out in preparation against a French invasion.

Artillery.

Abstracts, 1789--92.

Augmentation Account, 1793--1801.

Pay lists, 1790--9.

Paymaster T. Burgh, 1789--94.—Account of Paymaster Royal Irish Artillery.

Recruiting Accounts, 1798--1801.

Baggage.

Account of expenses in connection with army baggage, 1796--1822.

Barracks.

Accounts, 1789--1810.—These give barrack accounts for above period.

Regulations, 1789, 1811, 1814.—Regulations concerning barracks.

Clearing Certificates, 1825--36.

Letters from the War Office, London, informing the Paymaster-General that army agents will be instructed to receive the sums due to them from the public, and that certificates with reference to same have been forwarded.

Clearing Warrants, 1822--8.

Letters from War Office to inform Paymaster-General that army agents have been directed to repay the balances due by them to the public.

Clothing.

Clothing Certificates, 1743--1820.—Amounts certified for clothing in lieu of offreckonings. These include the corresponding Militia certificates from 1795.

Clothing Warrants, 1774--1821.—Warrants to pay the clothing contractors the sums due and certified in lieu of clothing.

There is generally an assignment of same by the contractor to the regimental agent.

Offreckonings.—Abstracts, Calculations, Certificates, and Accounts, 1795--1823.—These volumes are kept in a confused way. The calculations have reference to finding the sums to be inserted in the warrants, and the certificates give the amounts certified by Clerk of Offreckonings to be due to various regiments.

Offreckonings Ledger, 1807--22.—These contain contract warrant or assignment, colonel's name, date and period, period for payment, and agents' names. Accounts are kept as follows:—Army, 1807--22; Militia, 1808--16.

Commissary-General, 1580--1796.

These are very interesting accounts concerning contractors, commissaries, providers and surveyors of victuals and stores for the army in the several places in which it was quartered during the years 1580--1609, 1647--57, and 1689--1696. Several books are missing.

Debentures Pelled, 1726--30.

These extend from 1726 to 1730, and contain account of debentures issued to regiments and half-pay officers, receipts for the amounts, and fees deducted in Pells Office.

District Yeomanry Corps.

Accounts, 1799--1801.
Accounts (Pells Office), 1799--1800, and 1814--15.
Accounts, Rough, 1797--1801.
Agents, Index to, 1801--1802.
Calculation Book, 1811--13.
Cash Books, 1797--1802.—These are kept like Counter Cash Books, and give weekly sums issued to agents, probably by way of imprest, with their signatures for same.
The books extend over the years 1797 to 1802, and are combined cash and receipt books.
Clothing, 1797.—Account of clothing of District Yeomanry Corps.
Issue Books, see Issue Books (general).
Ledgers, see Ledgers (general).
Letter Book, 1797--8.—Treasury letters to Auditor-General re district corps.
Letters of Attorney, 1797--9.
Carlow Buffs, Company Book, 1794--5.

Draft Books, Paymaster-General's Office, 1822--36.

These give the paymaster's account with the Bank of Ireland: he is credited for money lodged by the Teller for military purposes, and debited for payments on his own drafts for military purposes.
The drafts are numbered consecutively, and the lodgments also, but blanks often occur in the latter on account of some of the lodgments not being for military purposes.

Establishment and Precedents.

Account of the military establishment for the years 1682--5, 1691--2, 1715, 1721, and 1728, with precedents to be adopted in military accounts and miscellaneous matters.
The last volume contains instructions to the Clerk of the Wool Accounts of exports for the year 1734.—See also Civil and Military Establishment.

Imprest Payments, 1794--1813.

Money advanced on imprest for army and navy, &c.

Leave Approbations, 1751--2.

Copies of letters from commanding officers requesting the Lord Lieutenant's warrant to grant leave of absence to their officers, and the orders thereon.

Letters, Orders, and Accounts, 1690--6.

Letters, Warrants, &c.

Original King's letters and warrants for the years 1793--4 appointing treasurers, and concerning payments on the Military Establishment.

Medicaments, 1801--16.

Account of medicaments furnished to the army by the Apothecaries Hall, Dublin.

Officers.

Appointments, 1795--1820.

Commissions, 1735--1832.—Copies or abstracts of military commissions, together with lists of staff and commissioned officers in the various regiments.

Leave, see Leave Approbations.

Names, Index to, 1820--30.

Notifications, 1795--1815.—Account of soldiers placed on the establishment, and of officers appointed or discontinued, during the years 1795--1801, and 1806--15.—See pay, salary, and allowance ledger.

Officers' Widows.

Assignments, 1720--48.—These contain entries of assignments, powers of attorney, and administrations from 1720 to 1748. One volume contains a list of officers' widows, 1733--49.

British Establishment, 1734--6.—Widows of officers transferred to British Establishment.

Certificates, 1745--51.—Certificates that widows were alive and unmarried.

Demands, 1733--57.—Entries of demands by officers' widows.

There are also rough books for 1752--7.

Establishment.—Establishments for the years 1710--33, 1715--17, 1724--5, 1727, 1794--5, with orders and instructions concerning the same.

Ledger, 1710--18.

Letter Book, 1722--30.

Lists, 1733--57, 1749, 1757--9, and 1811--14.—Lists of widows to whom quarterly pensions were due, together with petitions and warrants for payment of the same.

Memorials, &c., 1739--49.—Copies of memorials, precedents, reports, warrants, and accounts of officers' widows, together with establishment letters and regulations.

Receipt Books (general), 1716--27, 1725--59; (pensions payable in Great Britain), 1725--33; (pensions payable in Dublin and London), 1733--59.

Warrants, 1719--58.—Warrants of admission, sometimes containing memorials, references, and reports as to the admission of widows.

Ordnance.

There are two periods covered by the Ordnance Accounts, one commencing in 1567 and ending in 1721, and the other commencing in 1759.

FIRST PERIOD.

Accounts, 1571--1710.—Accounts of the masters of the Ordnance 1571--1634, and of the Master-General, 1698--1710.

MINUTE BOOKS.

These are of three kinds:—

1st. Minutes of the proceedings of the Lords Justices, and fees received by the Privy Council for the year 1696.

2nd. Minute Book of the English Treasury Board dealing with purely English affairs during the years 1787--8, probably procured to serve as a precedent.

3rd. Minutes of the Treasury Board, which was constituted in 1793 to superintend and control the public revenue and accounts. This important series extends from 1793 to 1817, and contains entries with reference to the receipt and issue of money; accounts, reports, and returns by public departments; everything relating to Loans, Lotteries, Bills, Fines, Seizures, &c.

NATIONAL DEBT.

The books dealing with this subject supply most important information towards explaining the development and history of the country.

At first every country has to meet expenditure out of receipts. Both increase as the country progresses, but expenditure has a general tendency to exceed receipts, and this tendency has to be met by some system of borrowing in aid of the ordinary taxes. In order to meet expenses connected with war, or very useful and exceptional public works or outlay, it is considered better and more convenient to provide for such charges by borrowing, instead of raising excessive taxes to defray the whole charge at once.

Pledging or farming portions of the public revenue, temporary Loans, Annuities and State Lotteries were resorted to as the means for raising money on the national credit; but, when the public debt had thus considerably grown while the national credit had in no way deteriorated, it was found necessary to fund a portion of the debt, and a national debt of a more permanent character was established.

Not only do the books give full information concerning these loans of a permanent nature, but they contain full particulars of Treasury or Exchequer Bills, debentures, &c., issued under authority of votes of credit, &c., to meet demands for public money in anticipation of the taxes.

They record the amounts of loans, rates of interest, terms given to borrowers, &c., and thus tell at a glance the state of the national credit. To the historian of special industries, or trade in general, they are of the utmost importance. The expenditure of every great event can be obtained from them in conjunction with the other account books. For example, in order to estimate the effect of the French Revolutionary wars and the disturbed state of the country which followed, these books will show that in the end of 1793 the total amount of the funded debt of Ireland was, in round numbers, £1,600,000, while at the close of 1816 the funded debt of Ireland amounted to £100,700,000, in round numbers, of which £86,400,000 was funded in England, and £24,300,000 in Ireland.

They show expenditure in connection with peace as well as war; and the amounts borrowed to execute public works, whether by the Irish or the Imperial Parliament, are fully set out.

They may be divided into—

1st. Books concerning the debt.
2nd. ,, ,, Loans, &c., comprising it.

1st.—National Debt Books.

Account Book, 1761--1817.—An account of the commencement, progress and amount of the National Debt of Ireland from 1761--1817, when the Irish debt was merged in that of England. It gives the nature of the different securities granted, and the interest paid; an account of the Sinking Fund, and an annual abstract of Debt, Interest, and Sinking Fund. The abstract only runs from 1792 to 1817.

Debt and Revenue Account Book, 1760--99.—Account of the growth of the National Debt, debentures issued, when interest commenced, date of issue, and for what purpose.

Like accounts are furnished with regard to Bank Annuities, Life Annuities, Long Annuities, Short Annuities, and Treasury Bills.

2nd.—National Debt, Loan, &c., Books.

Bank Annuities.

The Bank of Ireland in 1781 subscribed £600,000 on Loan Debentures at 4 per cent., subsequently converted into £600,000 Bank Stock at an annuity of £24,000, from Midsummer, 1783. The rate was raised to 5 per cent. in 1797, in which year and in 1808 loans of £500,000 and £1,250,000 at 5 per cent. were made. A further loan of £500,000 at 4 per cent. was made in 1821. The details of the payments of interest are to be found in the cash books, ledgers, &c.

Life Annuity Books.

Life Annuities were granted to subscribers pursuant to Acts passed in 1773, 1775, 1777.

Annuities amounting to £15,900 were granted under the Act of 1773 to the various subscribers.

Annuitants or their nominees were divided into three classes—First, 40 years and upwards ; second, from 20 to 40 ; and third, under 20 years of age.

The annuities were at the rate of 6 per cent. on sum subscribed, and were payable from Christmas, 1773.

As the lives fell in, in each class, the survivors of that class shared the entire amount, until every member received an annuity equal to his original subscription. After this the annuities of dying members fell to the Government.

Annuities to the amount of £10,500 were granted to subscribers under the Act of 1775 under similar conditions to the annuities of 1773, but, in this case, the amount set apart for each class was divided among the constantly diminishing members of the class until the last survivor received the entire amount payable yearly to his class.

Annuities to the amount of £22,500 were granted under the Act of 1777. It was intended to raise them at 6 per cent., as before, but as subscribers did not come in, the rate was increased to 7½. The other incidents are similar to those of 1775.

It may be mentioned that the annuities commenced 7, 6, and 18 months in the respective annuities before the time for the subscriptions had expired.

In order to enable persons in Great Britain to subscribe without the inconvenience of getting remittances from Dublin, agents were appointed in London by the Lord Lieutenant to pay annuities there according to rate of money current in Ireland.

Short Annuities and Long Annuities were granted to induce the public to subscribe to loans where additional inducement was required to secure subscribers when the price of Stock and the rate of interest were not considered sufficiently inviting.

Long Annuities were granted in connection with the great loans raised in England for imperial purposes during the French wars of 1798--1815, of which a portion was issued for Ireland. A certificate of the amount chargeable was received yearly, and the English Government was credited with that amount. There is no record of the annuitants in the account books of the Irish Treasury.

Assignments, Register of.—There is a volume for annuities of 1773 giving number of annuity, date and particulars of assignment. Like particulars for annuities of 1777 are to be found in the Subscribers' and Nominees' Register.

Cash Books, 1800--1804.—These give inter alia the accounts of the clerk who managed the annuity payments.

Day Books (Rough), 1786--95.—Account of payments in respect of life annuities. The proper entry books were filled up from this series.

Journal, 1779--1806.—This contains the transactions between the Vice-Treasurer or Teller of the Irish Exchequer and the London agent of the Irish Government for the payment of annuities payable in London, and the expenses of management.

Letter Book, 1777--1832.—Departmental correspondence concerning annuities.

London Annuities, 1807--8.—Expenses of management.

Nominee Books.—These give in dictionary order lists of the persons nominated by the subscribers to the different annuities, with their abodes, descriptions, and the sums subscribed, and also a collective view of the nominees of annuities that had "fallen" owing to death of nominee or forfeiture.

There are two volumes for each of the three annuities. In the case of 1777 there is a volume giving deficiencies in description of subscribers or nominees.

Nominee Books of Personal Appearance, 1797--1806, and 1812--30.—These give lists of nominees who appeared personally for payment at the Treasury Office.

Receipt Books.—These are very important as showing the amounts actually received and the persons who obtained the annuities. There are two classes of receipt books, one kept by the Treasury and the other by the Pells Department. In the Treasury books the annuities payable in Dublin and London are kept in the same volumes, but in the Pells Department separate books were kept.

Subscribers and Nominees, Register of.—These contain lists of debentures issued, date and number of issue, name and address of subscriber and nominee, and where the annuity was to be payable.

There are separate books for the annuities of 1773, 1775, and 1777, and there is an index.

Subscription Payment Book.—There are volumes for 1773 and 1775 giving names of subscribers and the particulars of the third, fourth and fifth payments of the instalments of the subscription. There is a similar volume giving third to sixth payments for 1777.

Loan Books.

The earliest loan charged on the Irish Exchequer, the record of which is preserved in the account books, was a sum of £33,050, at 10 per cent., advanced in 1692 by Sir Joseph Herne, Sir Stephen Evance, and Sir Wm. Scawen, of London, on security of the Quit and Crown rents.

Separate books were not kept for the payments of interest and principal, but the entries concerning them are to be found in the general cash books and ledgers. The greater part of this loan was paid off in 1697.

There are special loan books for subsequent loans; but abstracts of the accounts are entered in the Treasury Ledger and principal account books. They give the names of those who subscribed money for general or special purposes, those who were repaid, and those who received interest in the meantime. The loans were issued by authority of Parliament on debentures, annuities, lotteries, Treasury Bills, &c. It is difficult to classify the books dealing with transactions which are extremely complicated.

They naturally separate into two periods, one starting from 1715, when the second loan was issued, and ending in 1753, when the Irish public debt was practically paid off; the other, commencing in 1759 and ending 1817, when the Irish debt was merged in the debt of the United Kingdom.

The financial arrangement in the seventh article of the Act of Union, which became operative on 1st January, 1801, rendered Ireland liable to 2-17ths of the public expenditure. Vast expenditure became necessary at this time in connection with the Napoleonic wars, and Great Britain was found much more capable of standing the strain of war taxes than Ireland. Loans were necessary in both countries, but the Irish debt increased, in proportion, much more rapidly than the debt of Great Britain. Finally the Irish debt reached the point at which amalgamation became necessary, and in 1817 the Irish debt merged in that of the United Kingdom.

In order to explain the nature of the books a short history of the loans is furnished down to the period when money began to be raised by lotteries, Treasury Bills, &c.

A sum of £50,000 was raised for public defence by virtue of a resolution of Parliament, 1715. The interest was 8 per cent. until 1724, and 7 per cent. afterwards.

The debt was increased by £150,000 in 1729, and it bore interest at 6 per cent.; a further increase of £100,000 was made in 1731, and from this to 1741 the entire debt carried interest at the rate of 5 per cent.

In 1741 a loan of £125,000 at 4 per cent. was sanctioned. It was also enacted that £125,000 of the old debt should be reduced by lot to 4 per cent., and that the residue, which then consisted of £100,000, should continue to bear interest at 5 per cent.

A loan of £70,000, at 4 per cent., for the erection of batteries at Cork Harbour, was sanctioned in 1745, but only £58,500 seems to have been raised.

In 1749, the two sums of £125,000 and £58,500, at 4 per cent., were still unpaid, and £70,000, portion of the £100,000 bearing interest at 5 per cent., was also unpaid. The Vice-Treasurer was directed to pay off the sum of £70,000 at 5 per cent. then due, after 25th March, 1750, and out of the sum of £250,000 at 4 per cent. to pay off by lot a sum of £58,500. When these sums were paid off in 1750 the public debt consisted of £250,000 at 4 per cent., viz., £191,500 unpaid residue of the £250,000, and the £58,500 raised under loan for defence of Cork Harbour.

In 1751, £235,000, a portion of the £250,000 at 4 per cent., was still unpaid, and a further sum of £2,500 had been raised for defence of Cork Harbour. The Vice-Treasurer was directed to pay off by lot out of the balance in his hands a sum of £120,000, and in 1752, when this amount had been paid off, the public debt consisted of £117,500 at 4 per cent.

The entire debt, with the exception of outstanding arrears, seems to have been paid off in 1753.

A loan of £150,000 at 4 per cent., subsequently raised to 5, for the defence of the kingdom, was sanctioned in 1759. A further loan of £300,000 at same rate was sanctioned in 1761, but of this sum only £200,000 seems to have been raised. The debentures for this debt were called in to be cancelled and others issued in lieu thereof. A further loan of £400,000 at same rate was sanctioned, but of this sum only £300,000 seems to have been raised.

In 1763 the public debt consisted of £650,000 at 5 per cent., and it was enacted that of this, £300,000 should continue to bear interest at 5 per cent., and that £350,000, the residue chosen by lot, be reduced to 4 per cent. A further loan of £100,000 at 4 per cent. was sanctioned, but no part of it seems to have been raised.

The public debt, consisting of £600,000, partly at 4 and partly at 5 per cent., was consolidated in 1765, and the rate reduced to 4 per cent. A further loan of £100,000 at 4 per cent. was sanctioned, and debentures of £100 and £50 were issued to make up these sums. The new debentures were to commence and be numbered from the end of the previous debentures.

In 1767 the public debt amounted to £675,000 at 4 per cent., and a sum of £30,000 at 3½ per cent. was raised under a loan for £100,000 sanctioned that year.

In 1770, £625,000 residue of £675,000 at 4 per cent., and £30,000 at 3½, remained unpaid, and a further loan of £100,000 at 4 per cent. was raised to increase the Military Establishment.

The public debt amounted to £725,000 in 1771, portion being at 4 per cent., and the remainder at 3½. A further loan of £200,000 at not more than 4 per cent. was raised to increase the Military Establishment, and the Vice-Treasurer was directed whenever he had a balance of £30,000 to pay off so much of the 4 per cent. debentures.

The entire 3½ per cent. debt was paid off in 1773, and in the years 1773, 1775, and 1777, authority was given to raise the respective sums of £265,000, £175,000, and £166,000, by granting the annuities described under Annuity Books. (See above, page 60.)

In 1779 and subsequently, loans were raised by lotteries, Treasury Bills, &c., &c.

There is one loan book previous to 1730. From this period to 1756 they mainly consist of two series of receipt books for loan interest. O belonged to the Clerk of the Pells; the other belonged to the Vice-Treasurer, and was the counterpart of the books furnished by him to the Auditor-General. As the National Debt of Ireland ceased to exist in 1753 the last books of the series only deal with arrears of interest and debentures which were then paid off.

There are a few of the Vice-Treasurer's books for the loan of 1759, but they do not appear to have been kept for later loans.

Abstract Book, 1731--88.—Abstract of sums raised by debentures, Treasury Bills, and annuities during period of book.

Assignments, Registers.—These volumes give particulars of the different assignments of debentures issued for the various loans.

The same particulars are found in the receipt books:—

Bank Books.

Account Book, 1816--21.—Account of the Bank of Ireland with the Commissioners for reducing the National Debt.

Ledgers (Debt and Loan), 1797--1826.—These give the accounts of the Commissioners for reducing the National Debt with the Bank of Ireland and other banks, 1797--1826. One book contains an account of the various loans from 1799 to 1807, and the second, which commences in 1807, is a continuation of the loan accounts in the first.

Ledger (Stock), 1795--1826.—Account of the various kinds and amounts of Stock purchased for the Government.

Transaction Day Book, 1797--1821.—Account, in ledger form, of Stock in the Bank of Ireland, loan interest, &c. Stock is made Dr. to Bank for all payments on account of debentures redeemed, and Bank is made Dr. to Stock for sums received from the Treasury.

Cash Book, see Annuities Cash Book.

Discount on loan and lottery, 1782.

Letter Books, 1795--8.

Letters, &c., to the Treasury on matters connected with loans and lotteries.

Receipt Books.

These give the sums paid as interest, and are of two kinds—"Receipt books," and "rough payment books."

The regular receipt books give number of debenture, subscriber's name, state of interest, and signature of subscriber or nominee, together with a certificate from the Deputy-Clerk of the Pells. The rough payment books only contain entries of the names of the parties to whom interest was paid, and the number of the debenture or bill.

Sometimes this arrangement is reversed, the signature of recipient and the certificate of the Deputy-Clerk of the Pells appearing in the books which would otherwise have been rough payment books. In such case the books containing signature and certificate are regarded as receipt books, and the others as rough payment books.

There is one book for the period 1715--27 which gives an account for every subscriber or assignee to the loan of 1715. The particulars of assignments are also given. It is not strictly a receipt book, but as it is the earliest loan book it is classed with them.

1st. Receipt Books.—Various loans to 1753. 1715--1753.
,, ,, after 1759. 1760--1806.

2nd. Rough Payment Books.—Some of these are rough books kept in the office temporarily, pending entries into regular account books, and they extend from 1769 to 1790.

The others are like the regular receipt books except that they want signature of recipient and certificate of Deputy-Clerk of the Pells. They consist of—

3½ and 4 per cent. loans and Short Annuities, ...	1790--3
3½, 4 and 5 per cent. loans and Short Annuities,	1794--5
3½ and 4 per cent. loans and Short Annuities, ...	1796--1806
5 per cent. loans and Short Annuities, ...	1796--1806

Receipt Books (Appendices), 1750--91.—There is a further class of receipt books which gives receipt for arrears of interest on debentures already paid off, as well as interest on debentures drawn to be paid off at a future date.

Subscribers, Registers of, 1761--1785 and 1795.

The receipt books give the names of subscribers and their assignees, but separate lists of subscribers were also kept. There is a special book giving the instalments of the loan of £400,000 subscribed by R. Shaw in 1795.

Subscribers, Registers of Debentures paid off, 1733--42.

The appendix books to receipt books and the receipt books themselves show when interest ceased, and, therefore, indicate when debentures were paid off; but for the above period regular registers were kept.

Lottery Books.

The only State lotteries in Ireland were in the years 1780--1, when debentures to the amount of £210,000 and £105,000, respectively, at 4 per cent., were issued to the fortunate subscribers. The interest was to continue until the debentures were paid off.

The loan receipt books contain the receipts for this interest. The other books are:—

Certificates, 1785--1804.—These give date of payment of lottery debenture, number of certificate, to whom paid, and amount.

Return of Prizes Outstanding, 1834.

Also see Bank and Loan Books.

Treasury Bills.

These were first issued under authority of the Act which sanctioned lottery loans (19 & 20 Geo. III., c. 2), and the amount under this Act was not to exceed £140,000 at 3*d.* per day per cent. interest. Other issues were made under subsequent Acts.

In 1784 the Government offered holders of Treasury Bills the option of exchanging their bills for 4 per cent. loan debentures, with a premium of 10 per cent. Bills to the amount of £15,250 were exchanged in this way, and the amount was thus transferred from the unfunded to the funded debt.

Receipt Books, 1780--1809.—These are similar to the loan receipt books. The (1st) receipt books extend as above, and (2nd) the rough payment books, 1790--1805.

Also see annuity cash books.

Vote of Credit.

In 1759 the House of Commons passed a resolution authorising a loan of £300,000 at 5 per cent. There are receipt books for interest paid in respect of sums subscribed extending from 1761 to Lady Day, 1762.

NAVAL BOOKS: GREENWICH HOSPITAL, &c.

Advertisements of Naval Prizes, 1809--29.

Answers to Applications for Prize Money, 1806--32.

Applications for Prize Money, 1806--18.

Attorneys to discharged Seamen, 1809--18.

Blotter, 1810--32.—Rough entries of payments of prize money.

Cash Book, 1806--29.—Account of Treasurer to the Hospital.

Certificates, 1803.—This volume gives number, name and abode of persons entitled to receive prize money.

Letter Book, 1806--32.—Correspondence with reference to prize money and of a departmental character.

Lists, 1782--1829, 1790--1830.—These give very full particulars regarding the out-pensioners.

Notifications, 1805--29.—Notifications of the distribution of prize money.

Orders, 1809--18.—The orders made on applications for prize money.

Prizes paid into Greenwich Hospital, 1805--29.

PARLIAMENTARY GRANTS.

Account of the grants voted by Parliament in 1831, together with the services, issues, and remains for the years 1831--4. After January, 1835, the then remains were taken as savings for the Session 1835 by Treasury letter of 13th March, 1835.

Parliamentary Returns.

These are very imperfect, many books being missing. They are of two kinds:—

1st.—Copy orders from the House of Commons and Lord Lieutenant, with the returns made thereon for the years 1771--1835.

2nd.—Returns furnished to the British and Irish Governments by the Vice-Treasurer as representing the Auditor-General during the years 1822--37.

Pay Salary and Allowance.—See Ledgers.

PAYMENT BOOKS.

1st.—Pells Office, 1730--1798.

The Clerk of the Pells was to keep a full account of all payments of public money made in the Treasury, and these payment books contain, under their proper heads, entries of all payments on the civil and military establishments, and for exceptional services. Of these very few books are missing.

Previous to 1788--9 they contain entries of every kind, but afterwards they were split up as follows:—

2nd.—Teller's Office.

These give an account of the weekly payments by the Teller of the Exchequer during the years 1804--37.

3rd.—Treasury.

These state whether payments were made by Exchequer acquittance or by Teller, and give name of receiver, sum, and service, during the years 1779--85.

See Issue Books.

PAYMENT AND RECEIPT BOOKS (Treasury).

There are two great series of these books. One commences in 1654, and ends in 1822; the other commences in 1577 and ends in 1755. Both series are defective, several books not being forthcoming, but they supplement each other, and, taken with the payment and receipt Rolls and Collectors' Accounts, give an almost unbroken resumé of the public accounts from 1577 to 1822, when the office of Auditor-General was abolished.

Each book is divided into three divisions:—The first contains all the receipts into the Treasury; the second, all the payments in respect of the Civil List, and a statement from the Deputy Receiver-General that the balance of the receipts, after the payments on the Civil List have been made, is available towards payment of the Military List; and the last contains all payments on the Military List.

The payments are the same as those in the payment books of the Pells Office; one set of books signed by the Deputy Receiver-General was evidently prepared for the Auditor-General. The other set is a copy, and was always kept in the Treasury Office.

These books give the payments of every kind in classified form, but the receipts are sometimes only given in the form of abstracts to show the charge on the Treasury.

Down to March, 1794, the payments mainly consisted of the Civil List, Military List, Extraordinaries, including Parliamentary payments and payments on King's letters, and appropriated duties, and these payments were made from the funds realised from the hereditary revenue, additional revenue, appropriated duties, and loans.

After March, 1794, the Consolidated Fund was formed from the hereditary revenue, additional duties, and loans; and Appropriated Duties were raised as before. The entire revenue of the country consisted, therefore, of Consolidated Fund and Appropriated Duties, and from these were paid the Civil List, pensions, the list for military purposes, and other payments as before. Appropriated Duties were always paid for the purposes to which they had been appropriated.

In 1760 the entire revenue, consisting of Hereditary Revenue, Additional Duties, Appropriated Funds, and Loans, comprised the following sub-heads, viz.:—Ordinary revenue from the several collectors; other revenue from the same collectors appropriated to Loan, Linen, Tillage, Cambric, Protestant Schools, and Lagan Navigation; Quit and Crown Rents, Casual Revenue, Duty on Wrought Plate, Poundage of Additional Duties, Dismissed Collectors, Military Repayments, Subscription to Loan.

In 1795 the entire revenue, consisting of the Consolidated Fund, and Appropriated Duties, comprised the following sub-heads, viz.:—Ordinary Revenue, Quit Rents, Casualties, Stamps, Postage, Duties on Wrought Plate, Public Coal Yards, Wool Licences, Tax on Salaries, Poundage, Pells Fee, Loan and Bills, Lottery, Military Repayments; and the Appropriated Funds were for Loan, Linen, Lagan Navigation, Improving Dublin, Irish Fisheries, and King's Inns.

In 1760 the payments on the Civil List are classed as Exchequer, King's Bench, Chancery, Common Pleas, State Officers, Incidents, Custom Officers, Perpetuities, Appeals, Pensions, French Pensioners, Non-conforming Ministers, Concordatum, Prizage, Commissioners and Overseers of Barracks, Admiralty, Commissioners of Accounts, Linen, Cambric, Protestant Schools, Printing the Journals, &c., Roman Catholic Academy.

The Appropriated Funds include Loan, Lagan Navigation, Improving Dublin, Lighthouse on the Isle of Arran; other Appropriation Accounts were Linen, Irish Fisheries, Lighthouses round the coast, and King's Inns.

In 1795 the heads of payments were similar.

PAYMENT AND RECEIPT ROLLS.

These Rolls properly commence in 1545, but with them are deposited two rolls of a similar nature—remnants of an older series.

The oldest Roll, extending over the period T23--T24, Ed. I., 1295--6, contains an account of sums delivered out of the Exchequer, and other sums paid for necessary expenses. It shows the fees paid to the Treasurer and other officers of the Exchequer, and the office expenses of the Exchequer; fees to the Lord Chancellor, Justices of the Bench, Keepers of Castles, &c. This and a similar Roll for 30 Ed. I. are printed at pages 124 and 166 of Volume I., Record Commissioners' Reports.

The second is a Counter-Roll giving the Chamberlain's receipts, H43--T45, Ed. III., 1369--71.

The Payment and Receipt Rolls (proper) commence at 1545, and are the engrossed accounts passed before the Commissioners of Accounts, who sign them. They are practically copies of the payment and receipt books described immediately above. They cease in 1822.

The Military Account Rolls practically only commence in 1623. There is a special military roll, 1575--9, and two military ledgers 1579--84, and 1586--7. These give minute information concerning all military payments and exceptional services, such as rewards for captures of rebels, conveying letters, and other acts to facilitate Government.

The absence of the other books and rolls is a great loss to Irish history.

PUGET, BAINBRIDGE & Co.

This was a great London banking company. The Irish Treasury transacted all its English business through this house, and several other matters with reference to loans, &c.

Account of Receipts from Puget & Bainbridge being the quarterly amounts paid by them into the British Exchequer on behalf of the Irish Treasury for Sinking Fund, Interest on Government Stock, Long Annuities, and expenses of management. Every account is signed and dated by the Deputy-Clerk of the Pells, and the payments are recorded in the Payment and Receipt Books, page 66, &c. They extend from January, 1798, to January, 1817.

Bills, 1799--1804.—These seem to be lists of the Bills drawn by the Irish Treasury on this house, together with accounts for the various parties by whom they were cashed.

RECEIPT BOOKS (TREASURY RECEIPTS).

Receipt Books.

The books containing entries of receipts into the Treasury were kept in different departments according to the annexed list; but as they deal with the same transactions they are here classed together.

For their respective periods they record receipts of every kind, and their scope can be understood on examining the principal classes of receipts at page 66, or the more detailed list at page 71.

Every receipt had to be entered with the Chamberlains and Clerk of the Pells, as well as the Vice-Treasurer, and these officers were a check on the Vice-Treasurer, who was responsible for the amounts entered by these officials.

Books signed by the proper officer in each department were delivered to the Auditor-General to be compared with similar books from the Vice-Treasurer and the vouchers in his possession.

The books are counterparts of one another, and contain under their proper heads the amount of revenue received; to explain their scope see the list of the principal sources of revenue in the years 1760 and 1795, given at page 66.

Copies of the books supplied to the Auditor-General were kept in the office of the Clerk of the Pells.

Some few books, which belong to the Chamberlains or Clerk of the Pells, are included in the Vice-Treasurer's receipt books, as they are really counterparts, and previous to 1660 there are very few books for the Chamberlains and Clerk of the Pells.

Receipts, 1806--35.

Weekly accounts of receipts of revenue of every kind, from England as well as Ireland, including repayments of wages to seamen, profits on Loans, Lotteries, &c.

Receipts (Rough), 1800--37.

The rough receipt books contain weekly accounts of receipts into the Treasury.

RETURNS.

Returns of meal imported from America during the years 1800--1 by vessels touching at Cork for orders, sales thereof in Dublin, and the accounts of Government contractors for importing same.

Returns relative to the expense and maintenance of the poor of England, 43 Geo. III.

REVENUE BOOKS.

The nature and classes of the public revenue can be gathered by referring to the lists of receipts at page 71. The machinery for collecting it is described at page 70 (Collectors' Accounts). The principal and finished accounts are to be found in the payment and receipt books and rolls, cash books, &c., but the following books, which were subsidiary to these or kept for a special purpose, give much information. In 1804 separate Commissioners for Excise and Customs were appointed, thus completing a difference which had previously existed in the collection of these classes of revenue. On this account Revenue Books will be divided into Customs, Excise, and General Revenue Books.

Customs.

Bills, 1808--9.—Particulars of Bills received from the Collectors of Customs.

Incidents, 1811.—Payments in respect of incidents.

Letter Books, see Letter Books (General).

Excise.

Bills, 1808.—Particulars of Bills received from Excise Collectors.

Establishment Books, 1793--1812.—Quarterly returns of districts, officers and others on the establishment, together with their pay for the years 1793--1812.

Instructions for Gaugers, 1781.

Instructions for Inspectors, 1781.

General Revenue Books.

Abstracts, see Abstracts (General).

Approbations, 1800--6.—Approbations of His Excellency to memorials from the Customs and Excise departments.

Balances, 1795--1823.—Weekly remains or balances. The weekly abstracts give the receipts, issues and remains in the Treasury, the remains being the balances in the Teller's hands. This balance was distributed among the various branches of the Consolidated and Appropriated Funds, and the books are really counterparts of the "remains" column of the weekly abstracts.

Bills, 1804--7.—The Receiver-General's returns of Bills from the Revenue Districts.

Also see Revenue, Customs, and Excise.

Bills (Stamps), 1805--7.—Like returns in respect of Stamps.

Casual Revenue, 1829--37.—Returns of the Casual Revenue.

Collectors' Accounts, 1649--1822.

A sketch of the heads of the Revenue dealt with by the Revenue Collectors in 1790--1 is given on pages 71--2 to explain the nature and scope of their duties. Roughly speaking, they embrace Quit and Crown Rents, Customs, Excise, Seizures, Hearthmoney, &c.

During the Commonwealth Ireland was divided into Revenue Precincts and the Collectors accounted for the revenue received by them taking credit for salaries, expenses, and payments made on order.

During the greater part of the reign of Charles II. the largest part of the Revenue was farmed at fixed sums, and the farmers having paid, when directed, any demands warranted by the Establishments, sent in their accounts and took credit for these.

Commissioners of Revenue were appointed in 1682, on the expiration of the farm of the Revenue. All Ireland was divided into Revenue districts. Collectors were appointed to levy the various branches of the Revenue, subject to the directions of the Commissioners of Revenue.

The Collectors' accounts of receipts and payments (including salaries and expenses), with vouchers in support of same, were sent in quarterly, checked and audited, and deposited with the Auditor-General. Their receipts, after deducting salaries, expenses, and monies paid on acquittance or by order, were paid into the Treasury. These accounts give, from quarter to quarter, a very good idea of the commerce and various industries in the country, subject to taxation, and the persons engaged thereat. In this way they indirectly furnish extensive material for family history, as they give the names of the various persons to whom money was paid, &c. Every Collector acted as a Government banker, for, at a time when banking was in its infancy, if the Government desired to make a payment to somebody living, say, near Ennis, Cork, or Dingle, it simply sent him a "receipt" on the local Collector, who paid the amount when the payer handed him the Treasury receipt duly endorsed. The expense of coming to Dublin, or of sending money first to Dublin and afterwards to the locality where it was to be paid, was obviated in this way.

This receipt was called an "Acquittance," and could always be met by the Collector to whom it was issued, as the funds in the hands of the different Collectors were always known from their returns.

Military payments, bounties, &c., were very often paid in this way, and the accounts, accordingly, are full of the most valuable information. They cease with the abolition of the office of Auditor-General in 1822.

The Commissioners of Revenue were succeeded early in the nineteenth century by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise.

Stamps and Post Office Revenue were not levied under this system.

The accounts commence in 1649, but are very imperfect to 1683, when the Collectors' quarterly accounts commence.

As an example of the different CHARGES and HEADS of REVENUE and EXPENDITURE appearing in the books of Public Accounts of the Kingdom, the following Summary of the annual Balance Sheet is given as printed in the "Commons Journals," vol. xv., app. pp. xxiv.–xxv., for the year ending Lady-day, 1791 (the balances on hand from the previous year being omitted).

Collectors' Payments and Acquittance Books.

These books give an account of payments by the Revenue Collectors, on account of the Treasury, of money they had collected. The money formed portion of the Treasury Receipts, but instead of being received directly from the Revenue Collectors, was paid to third parties, who handed in Treasury Receipts for the amount. The object of this is explained in description of Collectors' Accounts above.

Acquittance Books (Pells), 1688--1726.—These give an account, in day-book form, of acquittances issued to Revenue Collectors. There is a volume for 1705--10, from the Second Chamberlain's office, which is a duplicate of preceding volumes for corresponding period.

Acquittance Books (Treasury), 1718--96.—These give an account of cash received from the Revenue Collectors, and also of acquittances. Acquittances presented for payment to a Collector gave name of party, Collector for whom issued, and often the service for which it was issued.

Deputy Receiver-General's Books.

Cash Book, see Cash Books, General.

Journal, 1779--85, 1788--95.—Journal of entries in Deputy Receiver-General's Cash Books.

Ledgers, 1788--95.—These are styled Collectors' Ledgers, and contain accounts of different Collectors and Bills receivable. These accounts are kept in different volumes towards end of series.

Ledger (Miscellaneous), 1752--77.—Special accounts of various persons drawn up in ledger form by direction of the Deputy Receiver-General. They were prepared for special purposes, and the particulars are taken from the cash books of the Teller of the Exchequer, who was his executive officer.

Letter Books, 1784--95.—Copies of letters acknowledging receipt of Bills or remittances from bankers and collectors of revenue; or forwarding Bills or receipts to the former and acquittances to the latter.

Register of Bills Receivable, 1783--95.—These give date of receipt of remittance, from whom received, date of Bill, by whom drawn, on whom, and in whose favour, whether at date or sight, when accepted, when due, number, and amount.

Exchequer Specimen Books.

Book containing forms for Bills and letters concerning receipt and payment of money, Cash Book, Certificates, General Imprest Roll.

Incidents, 1792--1816.

Accounts furnished to the Treasury by the Commissioners of Revenue of sums expended at the various Revenue districts in collection of the Revenue; and consisting of office expenses, salaries, allowances, and bounty. Separate books were kept for part of the time.

Customs and Excise, 1792--1807. { Customs, 1807--16. Excise, 1807--16.

See Collectors' Accounts, page 70.

Orders.

General Orders, 1804--5.—Orders relating to the collection and payment of Revenue.

Treasury Orders, 1804--17.—Orders from the Treasury directing the Commissioners of Customs and Excise to report on various matters.

Treasury Orders, Register of, 1804--17.

Port Establishment, 1795.

Quit Rents, &c., 1792--1803.

Account of Crown and Quit Rent received.

Receipts, 1793--4, 1810--14.

Weekly receipts for Customs, Excise, Stamps, and totals.

Reference Book, 1796--9.

Orders from the Treasury with reference to repayments and arrears directed to the Accountant-General or the Commissioners of the Revenue.

Returns.

Return of bonded stuffs from various ports, 1809.

Returns (Inland Department), 1798.—Weekly returns of the Receiver-General for the Inland Department.

Seizures, 1795--8.

These books give name of port, goods seized, by whom seized, net produce, how disposed of, authority, Crown and officers' respective shares. There is an index to seizures for 1809.

Specie Books.

Collectors' Specie Books, 1797--9.—Weekly abstracts of specie and notes in the Collectors' hands.

General Specie Books.—These books are partly cash books and partly journals of receipts and payments in the Treasury, either in the Teller's or Vice-Treasurer's department. They commence in 1742 and end in 1798. Only a few books remain.

ROYAL HOSPITAL, KILMAINHAM.

Receipt book of the Treasurer for 1690.

SALARIES.

Salaries to constables and allowances to judges chargeable on the Civil List from 1796 to 1833.

Salaries of a similar nature chargeable on the Consolidated Fund from 1833 to 1837.

SAVINGS BANKS' BOOKS.

By the Act 57 Geo. III., c. 105, for encouraging Savings Banks, sums of money were paid into the Bank of Ireland to the credit of the Commissioners for reducing the National Debt, and on account of various Savings Banks in the following manner:—

Three of the trustees of any Savings Banks, maintained solely for the benefit of the depositors, and no interest therein being claimed for any trustee or officer, issued an order directing the payment of a sum of money into the Bank of Ireland to the account of the above Commissioners and authorising the party making the payment to receive a Saving Bank debenture therefor. This order was presented to an officer of the Commissioners, who granted a certificate that he had seen the order, and on delivery of the said certificate and payment of the said sum, the officer within five days after payment, delivered a debenture containing a receipt signed by a Cashier of the Bank of Ireland for the amount, and carrying interest at the rate of three pence per cent. per day. The principal and interest of such debentures were chargeable on the monies or funds standing to the credit of the said Commissioners in the said Bank.

The interest on debentures was to be paid annually on the 5th April, or on demand. and on receipt of the interest the debenture was delivered up to be cancelled, and a new debenture was issued in lieu thereof.

Day Books, 1817--23.

These are really Journals: when a payment was made in favour of a particular Savings Bank the Bank of Ireland was debited for the amount to the Savings Bank which received a debenture for the amount, and the Bank and Savings Bank were credited with the amount of Stock purchased.

Debentures Cancelled, 1818--28.

These debentures were delivered up on receipt of interest and gummed to receipt blocks, which contained the receipts of the Cashier to the Bank of Ireland for the sums received from the Savings Banks, and placed to the account of Commissioners for reducing the National Debt. Some blocks are not filled up.

Receipt Forms, 1827--8.

These are the receipt forms for half-yearly interest.

Superintendents' Certificates, 1827--8.

Certificates from the proper officer of the Commissioners for reducing the National Debt, on receipt of which the Cashier of the Bank of Ireland was authorised to receive payments from the Savings Bank and place same to the account of the said Commissioners.

SAVINGS BANK (ST. PETER'S PARISH, DUBLIN).

Day Books, 1818--48.

These contain weekly accounts of lodgments. The books are divided into two series, the totals of No. 2 being transferred to No. 1. Some books are missing.

No. 14,558.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

27th June, 1902.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st inst, forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-fourth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), D. HARREL.

The Deputy Keeper,

Public Record Office,

Four Courts.

THE THIRTY-FOURTH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL CADOGAN, K.G.,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th Section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, on the proceedings had during the year 1901 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. The lamented death of Her Majesty the late Queen Victoria entailed on the staff of this Office many searches for precedents connected with the ceremonies and appointments involved in the commencement of His Majesty's reign.

2. In the exercise of the powers conferred by Section 5 of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, your Excellency, by Order in Council dated 24th July, 1901, has been pleased to place under the charge of this department the Records of the Offices of Clerks of the Crown and Peace for the County of Donegal, and for the County and City of Waterford; and by a further Order of 27th August, those of the Clerk of the Peace for the County of Kilkenny. During the year 1901 the work of transfer had been undertaken only for the Records of Waterford, which, amounting to some three tons in weight, had not all been brought in at the end of the year. The arrangement of the Records received had not sufficiently progressed to enable the list of them to appear in the present Report.

3. The duplicate Down Survey Barony Maps from the Headfort Collection, referred to in last Report as generously presented by the Commissioners of Woods, Forests and Land Revenues, for more general public use in this Office, have been deposited here. A list of the maps is given in the Appendix. They include 19 Down Survey maps of baronies in the following Counties:—Kilkenny (1), King's (3), Louth (3), Meath (5), Queen's (4), Waterford (3). The Louth and Waterford maps are especially valuable, as the maps of the Record set for the corresponding districts are almost, or in some cases quite, destroyed. The Record set for Meath and Queen's County are also injured and defective. One map of the barony of Inchiquin, Co. Clare, is unique, but, unfortunately, incomplete. It appears to be a contemporary copy of a lost Down Survey map of the Barony authorised in 1656. With these maps was transferred a Roll of 340 signatures to an oath against Transubstantiation, &c., taken at Kells in 1745.

Rep. xxxiii. par. 2. App. I.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 3.

4. The transcription of the volumes of the Civil Survey, preparatory to the deposit of the originals in this Office, has been continued. Twenty volumes for the baronies in Counties Donegal, Dublin, and Kildare, have been completed; and County Limerick was in progress at the end of the year.

Rep. xxxii., par. 79 to 81.

5. The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury have, through and at the instance of your Excellency's Government, been pleased to sanction the publication by this Department of an edition of the Early Statutes of Ireland, and a Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of Ireland of the reign of Edward I., preserved in this Office. Initial technical difficulties have delayed the commencement of the work of printing, but twenty-seven pages of the Calendar were in type at the end of the year.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 8.

6. The Visitation Books of the diocese of Cashel, referred to in last Report as placed here by Mr. George S. Cary, have been generously presented by him, and finally deposited in the Office under the 16th section of the Public Records Act. They include Episcopal Visitation Books, 1664 to 1772; some papers relating to Archidiaconal Visitation, 1747--53; and several maps and plans formerly preserved in the Diocesan Registry.

Par. 51, post.

7. Some Visitation Books of the Dioceses of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, with some other documents relating to those sees, having been offered for sale by public auction in Dublin, were, with the sanction of the Treasury, purchased for this Office and deposited here. The books formed part of the library of a clergyman who had been chaplain to a former bishop of those dioceses.

8. Captain W. H. O. Kemmis, R.A., through Mr. Lewis G. N. Kemmis, presented a MS. Return made by the Irish Record Commission in 1816, relative to the Offices of Clerk of the Pleas and Chancellor of the Exchequer in Ireland. It contains much matter not elsewhere brought together.

9. In addition to the vacancy on the staff at the beginning of the year two other clerks, Messrs Flint and Grylls, resigned or were transferred in the course of the year. The vacancies have been filled by the appointment of Messrs Thomas Joseph Morrissey, B.A., Charles James MacGarry, B.A., and Pierce Kent, B.A., successful candidates at the Civil Service Class I. examinations.

10. An exhaustive index to the books of Marriages by unlicensed clergymen in Dublin, the purchase of which was referred to in last Report, is in preparation. Owing to the very careless manner in which many of the entries have been made, it has proved a work of some difficulty. A report on this collection of Registers, by Mr. H. Wood, is included in the Appendix. App. II.

53. The Deeds affecting the rights of the Crown deposited here by the Quit Rent Office during the year number one hundred and thirty-four; of these one hundred and thirty are Conveyances of Crown and Quit Rents.

54. The following donations have been received for the Library:—

From Thomas Johnson Westropp, Esq.: MS. Copy of a Survey of County Clare, from an original drawn up between 1672 and 1679.
From the Right Honorable the Earl of Crawford: Handlist of Proclamations, Vol. III., and Supplement to Vols. I. and II.
From T. P. Le Fanu, Esq.: Register of the French Non-conformist Churches of Lucy-lane and Peter-street, Dublin.
From Rev. W. Reynell, B.D.: London or Gentleman's Magazine, 1760--1793 (23 volumes), and Hibernian Magazine, 1812.
From the Master of the Rolls in England: Fourteen volumes of Record Publications.
From the Deputy Clerk Register, Edinburgh: Three volumes of Record Publications.

Fees and Public Business.

55. The stamps for fees on copies and inspections of Records by the public during the year amounted to £833 16*s.*, being for—

Copies, 1,216 folios, at 1*s.*,	60	16	0

	£41	17	6

57. Inspections and searches, on behalf of Public Departments, have also been made without fees, as follows:—

Office of Arms,	150
Board of Works,	33
Quit Rent Office,	32
General Register Office,	26
Land Judge's Office,	19
Irish Land Commission,	15
Other Departments,	47
	322

58. One hundred and seventy-one certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these, 3,397 volumes, or files of Records, were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

59. The arrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has been continued from July, 1739, to November, 1745, and of the Answers from June, 1740, to May, 1742, comprising 1,212 fasciculi made up into 195 brown paper covered parcels. Rep. xxxiii., par. 69.

60. The increment of wills, and papers leading to grants of Probate and Administration for the year 1880 was stamped, checked and arranged in sixty-six zinc boxes.

61. Six hundred and twenty-one bundles of Consistorial Records of various Dioceses, twenty bundles of Queen's Bench Requisitions, and six hundred and forty-eight bundles of Census Returns, 1851, have been stamped and made up into brown paper covered parcels.

62. Eight hundred and eighty Bankruptcy and Arrangement files, 1879--1880, in portfolios, have been stamped and labelled.

63. The Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Cloyne have been repaired as a preliminary to binding; and eighty-one volumes of Records have been rebound.

64. The annual increments of Records from the offices of Clerks of the Crown and Peace for nineteen counties have been stamped and arranged; considerable progress has been made in the sorting and arrangement of the first transfer received from the Clerk of the Crown and Peace for the County of Waterford; and three sacks of Records of the City and County of Dublin have been arranged.

65. The Patents for Inventions, 1899, have been prepared for binding.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 19.

66. The examination and arrangement of the portion of the Landed Estates Record Office Collection transferred in sacks from the Custom House has been continued. The examination of the contents of seven sacks has been completed, and some bundles of the arranged documents have been stamped.

Indexing and Calendaring.

67. The examination of the ancient Pipe Rolls of the Court of Exchequer, with a view to compiling a catalogue of the Accounts they contain, has been commenced by Mr. MacEnery.

Rep. xxxiii., par 5.

68. The rough draft of the Index to books of entries of Marriages celebrated by unlicensed clergymen in Dublin has been completed.

69. Indexes have been made to Will and Registry Books of the Diocese of Cashel, 1670--1693; Diocese of Elphin, 1638, 1661--1682, and 1760--1765; Diocese of Killaloe, 1668--1787.

70. The index to Chancery Masters' Orders in Cause Petition matters, 1850--1858, has been supplemented by references to such orders contained in an Order Book of Master Murphy, 1850--1851; that to Chancery Orders for 1876 by a fresh index for letter B, which was found to be defective; that to Prerogative Inventories by the further addition of inventories previously classed as Cause Papers; and that to the Marriage Licence Bonds of the Diocese of Waterford and Lismore by the interpolation of references to a number of bonds for the years 1804 and 1816.

71. The consolidated index to the Wills and Grants of the Court of Probate, 1858--1877, has been arranged, and some progress has been made with the engrossment.

72. Indexes have been made to a portfolio of Writs Returned, Chancery, 1866--1877, and to a bundle of Miscellaneous Consents, Awards, &c., Chancery, 1850--1879.

73. Owing to the increase in bulk of the Records of the offices of Clerks of the Crown and Peace deposited in this Department, it has been thought convenient to prepare a separate detailed catalogue of the records for each county. During the year eleven such catalogues were completed.

74. The revised index to wills of the Diocese of Ardagh has been checked, a fresh engrossment for public use being in preparation; and the wills contained in the Will Books of the Diocese of Kilmore, 1808--1838, have been compared with the revised index to wills of that Diocese.

75. An index to the books in the library of this Department has been completed.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes and Records.

76. The printing of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of the reign of Edward I. has been commenced.

Proceedings under the Parochial Records Acts.

77. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages and Burials of twelve parishes which had become attachable under 38 and 39 Vic., c. 59, by the death or resignation of the Incumbents, were included in the warrants of the Master of the Rolls for transfer to this Office. In five of these cases the books have been removed here; in five others they are retained in their parishes under Orders made under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58; while two cases await the provision of adequate arrangements in the parishes. The Records of the parish of Lorum, Diocese of Leighlin, have also been transferred, it having been reported by the Incumbent that they were suffering from damp in the local repository.

78. The Incumbent of St. Mary, Shandon, who had stated that he was willing to adopt the suggestion which I made in a previous Report with a view to securing the greater safety and increased utility of the older parish books, deposited a complete series of the Parochial Records of St. Mary, Shandon, retaining in his custody under a supplemental Order a series of rough entry books. Rep. xxxii., par. 94.

79. The Records of the parishes transferred here comprise the following:—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Clonfadforan,	Westmeath,	2	1793-1883	1803-1845	1818-1883
Garryeloyne,	Cork,	1	1799-1887	1802-1843	1799-1891
Kilskeer,	Meath,	2	1792-1900	1795-1844	1792-1900
Lorum,	Carlow,	4	1804-1901	1804-1881	1806-1901
Painestown,	Meath,	2	1698-1899	1698-1849	1782-1901
St. Doulough's,	Dublin,	2	1820-1901	1820-1848	1821-1900
St. Mary, Shandon,	Cork,	8	1665-1880	1669-1848	1671-1872

80. The following are the parishes, the Records of which were included in warrants for transfer, but remain in local custody under Retention Orders, viz.:—Caledon or Aghaloo, Gilford, Street, Tamlaght-Finlagan, and Youghal.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 88.

81. In three of the five cases in which Parochial Records were included in warrants for transfer in the year 1900, but at the end of that year were still awaiting the completion of adequate local arrangements, Retention Orders were duly obtained. The parishes referred to are Rushbrook, St. Jude, Kilmainham, and St. Matthew, Irishtown.

82. Fresh receptacles were provided and approved for the safe keeping of the Records of the parishes of Kilbarron, Kilcronaghan, and Magdalen Asylum, Belfast, in all of which cases Retention Orders had been previously obtained. A new Retention Order was substituted for the former one in the case of Creagh and Taughmaconnell, and the books which had been deposited temporarily in this Department, were returned to the Incumbent.

83. The number of Retention Orders, permitting the retention of Parish Records in approved receptacles in their respective parishes, which have been granted by the Master of the Rolls, is 601, of which 576 were in force at the beginning of 1902.

84. The Annual Reports required by the 6th section of the Parochial Records Act, 1876, from the clergymen to whose custody Records were committed under Retention Orders, were all duly received last year.

85. The Reports refer to injury from damp in four cases, and suggestions for the protection of the books have been made. A register of the parish of Belleek, and a vestry book of the parish of Abbeyleix, both of which parishes hold their Records locally under Retention Orders, were rebound in this Office.

Rep. xxxii., par. 94.

86. The public inconvenience entailed by the continuance of so many of the older Parish Registers in local custody continues to be a matter of complaint by those engaged in genealogical research, and has been brought to my notice, both personally and through the medium of the public Press. The difficulty, delay and expense met in endeavouring to consult books in different localities, whose custodians are necessarily often absent, form a serious tax on persons pursuing genealogical investigations; while as regards the older books there seems to be no compensating local advantage.

State Paper Office.

87. The Government Papers received were of unusual bulk. They comprised additional papers of 1890, two carton boxes; Chief Secretary's Office Papers, 1891, 73 cartons. Papers relating to Distress Works, 37 cartons. Council Office Papers, 1889 to 1894, 102 cartons; Proclamations, 1886--8, 6 cartons; Fiant Book, P, 1867--70; Lunatic Asylums Book, 1853--5; Tramway Plans and Sections, 1878--83. Convict Department Papers, 40 bundles and 12 cartons, 1889--94.

88. The Searches made for Government Departments numbered 368, the largest number yet recorded in a year.

89. The Government Papers received during the year have been examined, checked, and replaced in cartons as follows:—Chief Secretary's Office Papers, Cartons Nos. 3562A to 3613; Council Office, Cartons 3614 to 3712; Convict Department, 3713 to 3776.

90. The Chief Secretary's Office Papers for 1838 have been examined, re-arranged, and made more easily accessible. Constabulary Account Books, 1824 to 1837, have been arranged preparatory to transfer to the Record Office. The arrangement of the papers relating to Tithe Composition, and Applotment, 1824--50, has been continued.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office,
Dublin, this 21st day of June, 1902.

JAMES MILLS,

Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER, M.R.

APPENDIX II.

REPORT BY MR. HERBERT WOOD ON CERTAIN REGISTERS OF IRREGULAR MARRIAGES CELEBRATED BY UNLICENSED CLERGYMEN, KNOWN AS COUPLE-BEGGARS.

The registers of certain irregular marriages, celebrated in Dublin between the years 1799-1844, which were purchased by the Government in the year 1900 from the executor of the late Arthur Samuels, esq., and on behalf of the representatives of the late John Haslar Samuels, esq., Registrars of the Diocese of Dublin, are nominally twenty-eight in number, but as some of these volumes are themselves composed of several books, they are in reality more numerous. As a rule, the registers are in fairly good condition, but some, which are mere pass or account books, in which the marriage entries were made in a very rough manner, are in a bad state of preservation. Many marriages are to be found entered twice, once in a rough book, and afterwards copied into another book. These registers contain the entries of dates of marriage, and names of parties; the names of the witnesses and residences being often added, whilst in many cases the respective fees paid are also recorded.

The custom of celebrating clandestine marriages, that is to say, marriages performed by clergymen, without the publication of banns or the granting of a licence, apparently dates back to an early period. In England, the registers of marriages in the Fleet and King's Bench prisons or Rules, May Fair, the Mint, &c., which were purchased by the Government in 1821, and are now lodged in the office of the Registrar-General, Somerset House, date back as far as 1674. They ended, however, in the year 1754, as these clandestine marriages were made illegal in England by Lord Hardwicke's Act of the preceding year. In Ireland, though the present registers only commence in 1799, marriages of this kind were celebrated at a much earlier date. Swift wrote to Pope in 1726: "I am just going to perform a very good office. It is to assist with the archbishop in degrading a parson who couples all our beggars. . . . . I am come back, and have deprived the parson, who by a law here is to be hanged the next couple he marrieth." In July 1739, the Reverend Edward Shewell, clerk, was deprived of the office of priest by the Vicar-General of the Consistorial Court of Dublin, for that he had contumaciously refused to appear before the Court on a charge of "unlawful and clandestine solemnization of a pretended marriage . . . . . without any banns published or licence granted for that purpose." He was executed in Stephen's Green in the following year, as an extract from the Dublin Gazette will show:—"Mr. Edward Sewell, a degraded clergyman, who lived for some time past at the World's End, and followed the business of coupling beggars together, was tried and convicted of marrying the son of an eminent citizen to a Roman Catholic young woman, and is to be executed for the same Saturday se'night." In 1744, the Reverend Howard Felton, clerk, was excommunicated for a similar offence. In connection with this incident, the following passage appeared in Faulkner's Journal of that date:—"It is hoped that all marriages will be made illegal which are not called at least three times in church beforehand."

It must not be supposed from these instances that all clandestine marriages were performed by regularly ordained clergymen. There were many impostors who offered to perform such marriages, though they were not in orders, either as Protestant Clergymen or Roman Catholic priests. The notorious couple-beggar, Samuel D'Assigny, who practised his profession during the early years of the eighteenth century, and died in the year 1737 worth nearly a thousand pounds, is reported "to have joined many thousand pairs in wedlock, although he never was in Holy Orders, yet wore a Band and a gown, &c., and so imposed on the credulous and hasty lovers."

There were several reasons which induced people in olden times to resort to these "couple-beggars" to be joined in matrimony. The most important, especially in cases of abduction, was probably the secrecy of the performance, the clergyman and witnesses alone being present, besides the parties. The notoriety consequent on the publication of banns in a parish church seems to have been very generally disliked, as the following extract from the Dublin Morning Post of 8th January, 1824, will show:—"The first marriage by banns in this neighbourhood for many years took place at Blessington on the 1st of January . . . Many people who cannot procure a licence preferring to be married by unauthorised clergymen rather than submit to have banns published." Another reason was the cheapness of the ceremony, most of the entries of fees for such marriages in the registers under notice being under ten shillings, many being as low as 3*s.* 3*d.*, while in one instance the sum of 1*s.* 1*d.* was paid. Again, the expedition and despatch of this system recommended itself to many who desired to avoid the delays caused by the publication of banns or the procuring a licence; and lastly the difficulty of getting mixed marriages celebrated by any other clergymen.

The places where most of these marriages were performed were No. 9, Haymarket, and Cullenswood. The Haymarket (sometimes called the Straw-market) is just beside Smithfield, on the North side of Dublin. In Dr. Whitelaw's Census of 1798, there is an entry under the head of "Haymarket" as follows:—"A Barrack, properly No. 9." How soon afterwards this house was occupied by the couple-beggars, it is impossible to say. The registers of the Reverend Steuart King cover the period of 1799-1818, but it is only on the register for 1817-1818 that the note "No. 9, Haymarket" occurs. The Reverend Matthew Harris, who was celebrating these irregular marriages at the same time (being in 1799 at 21, Gravel Walk, alias Tighe Street, now Blackhall Place) has a note in his register to the effect that in 1805 he went to live at No. 5, West Arran Street; but in 1815 he celebrated a marriage at No. 9, Strawmarket, as testified by a witness in "Durward v. Durward" (Dublin Consistorial Court). No. 9, Haymarket, was described by a witness in a suit as "opposite the weigh-house, and next door but one to Burgess Lane." On the death of the Reverend Steuart King, he was succeeded at No. 9 by his son-in-law, the Reverend Joseph Wood, who appears to have been assisted by the Reverend John Caldwell during portions of the years 1821-1822. On the death of the Reverend Joseph Wood, Mrs. Wood, his widow, and John King, his brother-in-law, continued in possession of No. 9; and employed the following clergymen, at different times, to do duty there, viz.:—The Reverends John Edward Allen, Benjamin Hobart, James William Maguire, Hill M'Kenna, and John Stenson. The Reverend Jas. W. Maguire, who acted for Mrs. Wood between 1838-1840, only resided part of that time at No. 9; for the remainder of that period, he had lodgings in several parts of the city, to which sometimes the persons desiring to be married were sent by Mrs. Wood.

The Reverend John G. F. Shulze, minister of the German Church, Poolbeg Street, was in the habit of celebrating these irregular marriages at his house, Anneville, Cullenswood, co. Dublin. He died in 1839, and was succeeded in his matrimonial duties by the Reverend James W. Maguire, who had severed his connexion with Mrs. Wood at No. 9, Haymarket. He, in turn, was probably succeeded in 1844, on his death, by the Reverend Hill M'Kenna, as, in the register of the latter, the name of Mary Armstrong, who was a servant maid at Cullenswood, often occurs as a witness.

It would appear that these marriages were celebrated at any hour. The Reverend Matthew Harris had, on one occasion, retired to his room to bed, when he was called at eleven o'clock at night to officiate. In ordinary course, on the clergyman coming into the room where the parties and their witnesses were assembled, the first proceeding was apparently to agree as to the sum to be paid for the service. This largely depended upon the ability of the parties, in one case the sum of £6 10*s.* 5*d.* having been paid, though as a rule the fee was under ten shillings, on one occasion being as low as one shilling and one penny (a British shilling). The amount of fees received in a year varied with different clergymen, and with different years. From the information afforded by the registers in this Office, the amount varied between £50 and £500. In a few cases, we find the entries "charity," "nothing," against the names of the parties. The Reverend Steuart King appears to have been particularly unfortunate, as there are many entries of "due" in his registers. Perhaps it was on this account that it was the usual practice to secure the money before performing the service. The formalities of the marriage service appear to have been few. If the parties did not bring their witnesses with them, Mrs. Wood, Mr. King, a niece or a servant was always at hand to perform that duty. There are a few instances of entries of declarations by the parties that they are not apprentices, under any guardian, a ward in Chancery, or related, and, in one case, a note of caveat is entered against certain parties being married. When the marriage ceremony was over, a certificate was issued, if demanded, and for this the fee varied from one shilling and sixpence to five shillings, but sometimes half or a whole sovereign was given. Mr. Arthur Samuels, however, stated that half-a-crown was the usual fee. The certificate was issued by John King, if the ceremony was performed in No. 9, Haymarket; if at Cullenswood, by Mr. Shulze or Mr. Maguire. The entries were not always made on the register at the time, being sometimes written on slips of paper and entered afterwards. At No 9, Haymarket, Mr. King appears to have vigilantly looked after Mrs. Wood's interests, and often when he could get hold of the note book of the clergyman, would make a copy of the entries in another book. Consequently, amongst these registers will be found several which are partially duplicates. Some entries occur where secrecy was evidently desired, as in several cases the only entry of the marriage consists of the words, "to an other"; with the fee. On some occasions the names were entered with several letters left out and asterisks in their place. We also find such entries as "names changed by mutual consent," "names erased by mutual consent." Now and then, the mere chronicle of names is enlivened by notes which throw a vivid light upon the condition of the persons who resorted to these "Couple-beggars," as in the following:—"1*s.* 6*d.* due. The Bride absconded without paying"; "This party stole a gold ring"; "a ring taken away"; "stole my Boots"; "2*s.* 6*d.* bad"; "other wife"; "behaved in a very unsuitable manner and were not married by me. J. M'Guire."

The state of the Civil Law, as regards marriages, in Ireland was as follows. Marriages between Roman Catholics and celebrated by Roman Catholic priests have always been regarded as valid. Although Presbyterian marriages by Presbyterian ministers were admitted to be valid by the Civil Courts, yet Presbyterians who were married by their own ministers had often "to confess themselves guilty of fornication, in their respective parish churches, or else pay a heavy penalty" (Latimer, History of the Irish Presbyterians, p. 130). In 1704, some Presbyterians residing at Lisburn were excommunicated by the Episcopal authority for the crime of being married by ministers of their own church (id., p. 136). The Government, however, refused to issue the writs necessary for seizing excommunicated persons, and the offenders escaped imprisonment. Next year a Bill was brought into the Irish Parliament containing clauses which would have rendered Presbyterian marriages illegal. But Mr. Broderick, the Speaker, managed to get these clauses struck out. It was not till 1782 that the Irish Parliament passed a Bill by which marriages of Dissenters celebrated by their ministers were legalised beyond a doubt, although the Lord Chancellor declared that they were already legal.

But mixed marriages, or marriages celebrated between people of different religious persuasions, were on quite a different footing. By the Act 12 Geo. I., c. 3, marriages between two Protestants, or a Protestant and a Roman Catholic, by a priest or degraded clergyman, were declared null and void. This disability, as far as the Roman Catholics were concerned, was not removed till 1870, when, by the Act 33 and 34 Vic., c. 110, sec. 38, mixed marriages by a Roman Catholic priest were legalised. The position of the Dissenters may be seen from the following extract from a memorandum amongst Clogher Diocesan Papers (Causes of Office for Clandestine Marriages):—"Several of the Dissenting ministers of the Diocese solemnize marriage between members of the Established Church and those of their own sect, and claim it as their right to do so . . . . in such cases (when it came to the knowledge of the Court) citations were issued against the parties so marrying, upon which they always came forward, obtained licence, and were married in Church. The fact is, the Dissenting ministers would use every means in their power to break in upon the Bishop's jurisdiction and abridge his prerogative." In 1840, the Armagh Consistorial Court declared that a marriage between a Presbyterian and an Episcopalian, performed by a Presbyterian minister, was illegal. Next year, a man convicted of bigamy carried the matter to a higher court, on the ground that his first marriage had been celebrated by a Presbyterian minister, although between a Presbyterian and an Episcopalian. In the Queen's Bench, three judges were for liberating the prisoner, and two for his condemnation. In the Lords, the Law Lords being divided, the decision of the inferior court was upheld and the marriage pronounced invalid. So great was the consternation on this decision that in 1844 the Government brought in and passed a Bill declaring valid not only any future, but any past mixed marriages celebrated by Presbyterian ministers.

Mixed marriages by regularly ordained clergymen of the Established Church of Ireland, though without publication of banns or licence, were never void in Ireland, and only voidable in cases of minors and wards entitled to estates over certain limits, if an action were taken within a year (9 Geo. II., c. 11, s. 8), but both the clergymen and the parties rendered themselves liable to certain legal penalties, and the clergymen were often degraded by the ecclesiastical authorities. If such a clergyman, however, after being degraded, again ventured to celebrate a mixed marriage, he thereby committed a felony, and rendered himself liable to the provisions of the Act, 12 Geo. I., c. 3, the marriage also being null and void. By the Act of 32 Geo. III., c. 21 (1792) inter-marriage between Protestants and Roman Catholics was permitted, if duly celebrated by a clergyman of the Established Church.

The Marriage Act of 1844 (7 and 8 Vic., c. 81) regulated the marriage laws of the United Kingdom, and clandestine marriages in Ireland henceforth became invalid.

As may easily be supposed, these clandestine marriages have frequently lead to litigation, and the registers have often been produced in court. To judge from the evidence obtainable, it would appear that these marriages, if performed by a duly ordained clergyman of the Church of Ireland, were regarded as valid, and the entries in the registers generally accepted as evidence, though in the case of "Browne v. Copland" (Delegates Court, 1847), the registers of the Reverend Jas. Maguire were not accepted as evidence. The Court was of opinion that "though these irregular marriages are to a certain degree by law binding, no one will pretend to say that they are regarded with favour. The Courts of Law are bound to submit to them when fully proved, but not to facilitate the proof of this sort of marriage. For these reasons we are of opinion that these books should not be received for any purpose." In England, by the Act of 3 and 4 Vic., c. 92, dealing with the custody of some non-parochial registers, the registers of the "Fleet" parsons were expressly declared to be inadmissible in a court of law as evidence.

On the other hand, in the case of Cluxton, a bankrupt, 1875, Judge Harrison was so struck with the enormous importance of the registers of these couple-beggars, "containing records which affected the legitimacy and rights of property of so many persons," that in 1877 he recommended that they should be obtained by Government. He also wrote:—"Evidence was taken before me in the course of the proceedings to establish the fact that this marriage was celebrated by a clergyman named 'Maguire,' who was an ordained clergyman of the Church of England and Ireland, and who celebrated marriages clandestinely in Dublin for several years before the passing of the Marriage Act of 1844, and this being established to my satisfaction, I decided that the marriage was a valid marriage, and that the Bankrupt was legitimate."* In the year 1875, Lord Chancellor Ball wrote:—"There is no doubt that in these books may be found the only record of marriages, which, though irregular (not being either by banns or licence), were legally valid and binding, and the offspring legitimate. I have known Mr. Schulz' book used in proceedings in which questions of this kind arose—and these are exactly similar and of equal value." In the case of "Kearney v. Walker," which was tried in the Probate and Matrimonial Court, London, in the year 1874, where it was sought to recall letters of administration of the estate of James Kearney, the case turned upon the validity of the marriage of James Kearney to Julia Farrell by the Reverend Mr. Baggs, a clergyman in holy orders, who was termed a couple-beggar, at his house in Straw Market, Dublin, on the 11th August, 1834. Mr. Arthur Samuels produced the register of the Reverend Mr. Baggs, and also the certificate of the marriage. After hearing the evidence, Judge Hannen expressed himself satisfied that the above marriage of the deceased was valid. From the evidence which Mr. A. Samuels gave about the case (see Cluxton, a Bankrupt), it is clear that he considered that it was the production of the register and the certificate which decided the case. He also stated that both he and his father were in the habit of giving certificates of marriages from these books, and that "they were never questioned."

* Another example is afforded by the matter of Maguire a Minor, in Chancery. In this case in 1840 it was referred to Master Brooke to enquire, amongst other matters, as to whether a marriage celebrated between the minor and one Margaret Hamilton, by the Reverend J. Maguire, was a legal marriage. In his report he stated that such marriage was a valid and legal marriage.

Considering the value of these registers in proving the legitimacy of so many thousands of people, it has been thought advisable to put upon record any information as to the custody of these records since the death of these clergymen until they came into the possession of this office. Mr. Arthur Samuels deposed (Cluxton, a Bankrupt, 1875) that he bought the registers of Caldwell, Wood, Allen, Baggs, Hobart, M'Kenna, and Stenson, on the 8th October, 1872, from Mrs. Catherine King, widow of the late John King, who received them from his sister, the late Mrs. Jane Wood, widow of the Reverend Joseph Wood. After the death of the last-named, his widow employed the other clergymen enumerated above to celebrate these marriages. It will be found that most of the registers of these clergymen contain endorsements in the handwriting of Mrs. Wood, indicating the names of those who performed the marriages recorded in the respective books. Mr. Samuels also deposed that the registers of King, Harris, Shulze, and Maguire came into possession of his father, the Registrar of the Consistorial Court of Dublin. With respect to the register of the Reverend Matthew Harris, Mrs. Stephens, his stepdaughter, deposed (Durward v. Durward) that it was formerly in her possession, but was afterwards lodged in the Consistorial Court, so that it is probably in this way that this register came into Mr. Samuels' possession. The register of the Reverend J. G. F. Shulze, in the custody of this office (1835-9), is probably the same as the one lodged with Messrs. Stock, of the Dublin Consistorial Registry, in 1842. Two other registers (1806-1837) of this clergyman are at present in the custody of the Registrar-General, having been bought by Government in 1870 from Mr. James Meyer, 13, Old Mount Pleasant, Ranelagh, nephew by marriage of the Reverend J. G. F. Shulze. At the time of his selling these registers to the Government, he made a declaration that these books came into his possession at the time of his uncle's death, and continued so till lodged in the General Registry Office; that he believed that they contained the registry of marriages which his uncle celebrated; that he believed that the entries were most, if not all, in his uncle's handwriting, and that none had been added since they came into his possession. With respect to the registers of the Reverend Jas. Maguire, his widow declared in her evidence (Cluxton, a Bankrupt) that she had lodged them with Mr. Samuels for safety sometime between the years 1844-1850, as far as she could remember, and that she had protected them as well as she could.

The following is a list of the clergymen whose registers are in the custody of this office, together with any information which has been collected about them:—

King, Reverend Steuart (Kingscourt, co. Cavan), B.A. 1784, M.A. 1787 (Trin. Coll., Dub.). Residence, 9, Haymarket. Registers, 1799-1818.

Harris, Reverend Matthew.—Priest in Holy Orders of the Roman Catholic Church, P.P., Navan. Recanted c. 1786. Died about 1816. Residences, 9, Strawmarket, and 5, West Arran Street. In 1799, officiated at 21, Gravel Walk. Degraded for breaking 52nd Canon of 1634 (irregular celebration of marriages). Register, 1802-1811.

Caldwell, Reverend John.—Presbyterian minister, late of Ballabay. Register, 1821-1822. Apparently was assisting the Reverend Joseph Wood during this period.

Wood, Reverend Joseph, B.A., 1795 (Trin. Coll., Dub.). Obtained priest's orders from the Archbishop of Tuam and Bishop of Ardagh, 18th October, 1799. Married a daughter of the Reverend Steuart King. Commenced performing marriages on his own account in 1821. Died July, 1829. He was degraded 1824 for that he did whilst residing in the Four Courts Marshalsea, celebrate a marriage not within the canonical hours (8 a.m. to noon). Registers, 1817-1829.

Allen, Rev. John Edward (late of Balbriggan). Residence in the Haymarket. Died 20th July, 1833. Registers, 1829-1833.

Baggs, Rev. Isham.—Was licensed as Curate Assistant to the parish of Donaghmore, diocese of Dublin, on the nomination of the Rev. Dr. Ryan, 29th September, 1808. Was licensed to teach schools in the year 1810. He was then described as of the parish of St. George, Dublin. Residence, 10, Strawmarket. Registers, 1833-1835.

Shulze, Rev. John George Frederick, Minister of the German Church, Poolbeg Street. He was licensed to be Minister of the Congregation of German Protestants on the 3rd August, 1806. He resided at Anneville Avenue, Cullenswood, co. Dublin. Died 2nd March, 1839. Registers, 1806-1839.

Hobart, Rev. Benjamin, B.A., 1792, M.A. 1832 (Trin. Coll., Dub.). He received priest's orders on 4th August, 1800, in the parish church of St. Mark's, Dublin. Was Vicar of Errigle, co. Tyrone, in 1820, and Rector of Stahalmac, co. Meath, 1835. He resided at 9, Haymarket, 1836-1838. Registers, 1836-1838.

Maguire, Rev. Jas. William, B.A. 1816 (Trin. Coll., Dub.). Student, scholar, and graduate, T.C.D. Was ordained in London by the Bishop of London, 20th December, 1818. Was married in 1817 by Rev. Steuart King (Haymarket). Was chaplain in the Navy, 1819-21. Was priested by the Bishop of Limerick, 21st December, 1821. Went again into the Navy. Then took curacies in Shropshire (Hope Boudlar, Eton under Haywood, &c.). Returned to Ireland about 1831-1832, and went to Limerick (Pallas Kenry) for a time. He celebrated marriages in No. 9, Haymarket, and other places, 1838-1840, doing duty for Mrs. Wood, from whom he severed his connection in April, 1840, and went to Cullenswood, where he performed marriages till 1844. In 1840 he was committed to the Marshalsea for celebrating a marriage between two people, one of whom was a ward in Chancery. He died 8th June, 1844. Registers, 1838-1844.

M'Kenna, Rev. Hill, B.A. 1808 (Trin. Coll., Dub.). Residences, Haymarket and Cullenswood. Registers, 1840-1844.

Stenson, Rev. John.—Previously of Sixmile Bridge, co. Clare. Residence, 9, Haymarket. Registers, 1816-1845.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

30th July, 1903.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29th inst, forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-fifth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), J. B. DOUGHERTY.

THE THIRTY-FIFTH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF DUDLEY,

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, on the proceedings had during the year 1902 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. A further addition to the counties whose Records have been brought within the charge of the Master of the Rolls was made by Order in Council of 24th July, 1902, dealing under section 5 of the Public Records Act, with the Records of the Clerk of the Crown and Clerk of the Peace for the county of Galway and Clerk of the Crown and Peace for the town of Galway. Owing to the pressure of work entailed in dealing with the papers from the three counties whose Records were so given in charge in 1901, it has not been found possible, as yet, to take up the Galway Records. xxxiv., par 3.

2. At the request of H.R.H. the Commander of the Forces in Ireland a number of books and documents were received from the offices of the military head-quarters in the Royal Hospital. As these were not covered by the general provisions of the Records Act, and as His Royal Highness desired that they should be preserved here subject to the same rules as govern the retention of similar documents in the London Record Office, the warrant authorising their removal was prepared under the 16th section of the Act; and regulations are imposed on the public access to the later papers similar to those in force for Departmental Papers in the London Record Office. App. I.

3. The Irish Land Commissioners, in accordance with the provisions of the Irish Church Amendment Act, 1881, Sect. 2, Sub-Sect. 3, made a further transfer to this Office, of Records which belonged to the former Established Church of Ireland. They are of a very miscellaneous character, including, beside certain documents specially mentioned below, Presentations, Licences, Certificates, Sequestration Papers, Building Papers, Plans, Leases, Mortgages, Commissions, Returns, Petitions, Memorials, Citations, Proxies, Titles, First Fruits papers, &c.

Par. 29.

4. A Parish Register of Births, Deaths, and Marriages which had for many years remained in the possession of the representatives of a former churchwarden, was offered to this Office by a person to whose hands it had come, and a reward was paid by the Treasury at the instance of the Irish Government.

xxxiv., par. 4.

5. Further progress has been made in the transcription of the volumes of the Civil Survey preparatory to the deposit, by H.M. Commissioners of Woods, Forests, and Land Revenue, of the originals in this Office. The volumes for County Londonderry have been completed; those for Limerick are in progress.

6. At the request of the Department for Technical Education, the cover of one of the volumes of the Journals of the Irish House of Commons, removed from the book for the purpose, was lent to the Department for exhibition in the Art collection at the Cork Exhibition.

7. One of the clerks on the staff of this Office, Mr. P. Kent, has been transferred to the Offices of the Local Government Board, Ireland. His place has been filled by the appointment on Civil Service Commissioners' Certificate, of Mr. David A. Chart. The facilities afforded for transfer and removal on re-examination of clerks appointed under the Class I. open examination scheme has proved very detrimental to the efficiency of this Office. The employment of a clerk for some time after appointment to this Office necessarily consists in training in palæography, and in acquiring a knowledge of the nature, use, and arrangement of the Records. In the frequent cases of removal from this Office, this training is rarely of any use in the Department to which the clerk is transferred. The period of training, therefore, represents a serious waste of public time; while by the depletion of skilled hands the work of this Office is much retarded.

8. The Great Rolls of the Pipe of the Irish Exchequer contain an important collection of accounts of sheriffs, escheators, and other public officers. These accounts afford an important illustration of the extent and power of the central government, especially during the 14th century, a period for which such information is much needed for the elucidation of Irish history. The rolls are practically unused by historical students. I propose to have prepared a catalogue of the accounts on these rolls, with notes of matters of special interest. Some progress has been made in this work by Mr. MacEnery, and the catalogue of the accounts on the few surviving rolls of the reign of King Henry III. is printed in the Appendix. App. III.

9. The transfer and arrangement of the Records from the Offices of the Clerk of the Crown and Peace of Waterford, and the Clerk of the Peace of Kilkenny, have been completed. A list of the classes of Records will be found in paragraphs 39 and 51. The removal of the Records from Donegal had not been completed at the end of the year. xxxiv., par. 2.

10. A further deposit of copies of Wills preserved in the Estate Duty Office, comprising those extending from 1819 to 1827 has been received from the Registrar. A partial examination tends to show that the collection contains a few copies, the originals of which were not received from the Probate Offices. In the present reduced state of the experienced staff of the Office it has been found necessary to postpone for a time a complete examination. xxxiii., par. 6.

61. One hundred and eighty-six certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these, 3,202 volumes, or files of Records, were produced for literary readers.

Buildings and Fittings.

62. The front of the bays on the east gallery of the top floor of the Record Treasury has been lined with galvanized sheeting, as a protection for the Records from dust and light. Bay 1 K has been refitted with new galvanized shelving.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

63. The checking and re-arrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has been carried back to May, 1735, and the Answers to May, 1736.

64. The increment of Wills and papers leading to grants of Probate and Administration for the year 1881 has been checked, stamped, and arranged.

65. The Records from the Crown and Peace Offices of Waterford, and the Peace Office of Kilkenny, have been classified, arranged, and stamped. The increments from other counties have been arranged and stamped.

66. The Ecclesiastical Records from the Land Commission, and 656 portfolios of files from the Bankruptcy Office, have been stamped, checked, and labelled. Four hundred and fifty bundles of Census Papers have been stamped, parcelled, and labelled. Exchequer Orders and Chancery Replications and Rejoinders have been stamped preparatory to arrangement. Thirty-six sacks of documents from Crown Office, Dublin, have been cleaned and stamped.

67. One hundred and sixty-one volumes have been re-bound; and many repaired.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 19.

68. The examination and re-arrangement of the portion of the Landed Estates Record Office Collection, transferred in sacks from the Custom House, was continued. The examination of five additional sacks was completed. Owing to the transfer of the officer who was engaged on this work, it has to be temporarily discontinued. A list of the classes of Records so far found is given in Appendix II.

Indexing and Calendaring.

par. 8.

69. The examination of the ancient Pipe Rolls of the Irish Exchequer has been carried to the reign of Edward I. The first part of a Catalogue of Accounts on these rolls, prepared by Mr. M'Enery, is published in the Appendix. The entries on the first roll have been given at considerable length as an example of the nature of the accounts. The remaining rolls are dealt with more briefly.

Rep. xxxiii., par. 3.

70. Progress has been made in the engrossing of the Index to the Entries of Marriages celebrated by unlicensed clergymen in Dublin; and in the consolidated Index to Wills and Grants of the Probate Court, 1858 to 1877.

71. Detailed catalogues of the Crown and Peace Records have been completed for the counties of Carlow, Kildare, King's, Louth, Meath, Monaghan, Sligo, Tipperary, Roscommon, Westmeath, and Wexford. A catalogue of the parishes, townlands, and streets in the Census Returns has been carried to 1841, Co. Clare.

72. The following Indexes have been completed and placed in Search Room for public use:—Wills, Ardagh; Wills, Kilmore; Chancery Recognizances, 1869-86; Detailed Catalogue Miscellaneous Collections.

73. Indexes have been made to the following volumes:—Ardagh Will and Grant, 1802-8; Elphin Will and Grant Books, 1731-58, 1754-60.

74. Progress has been made in the Index to the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

75. The printing of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of the reign of Edward I. has proceeded to nineteen sheets, and the first nine sheets were marked for press at the end of the year. A portion of the matter for the first volume of the Early Statutes of Ireland was also in type. Rep. xxxii., par. 80-81.

Proceedings under the Parochial Records Acts.

76. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of six parishes which had become attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by the death or resignation of the incumbents, were included in warrants of the Master of the Rolls for transfer to this Office. In four of these cases the Records have been removed here. In one a Retention Order has been made under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, authorising the retention of the books in the parish. In the remaining case the arrangements had not been completed at the end of the year.

77. The Records of the following parishes have been received:—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Ballyeuslane, ...	Kerry, . .	3	1837-1901	1841-1899	1853-1900
Clashmore, ...	Waterford, .	3	1822-1894	1822-1842	1822-1881
Faughart, ...	Louth, . .	1	1815-1840	1816-1839	1815-1828
Rosses, ...	Sligo, . .	1	1868-1901	—	—
Slane, ...	Meath, . .	2	1787-1901	1801-1844	1800-1902

A register of Kilmeen, Co. Cork, 1806-64, and two other books of that parish have been deposited here in consequence of the destruction of the safe.

78. The Records have been retained in the parish under Retention Order in the case of Craigs, and of Toome. The number of Retention Orders granted by the Master of the Rolls, permitting the retention of Parish Records in approved receptacles in their respective parishes, is 603, of which 574 were still in force at the end of the year.

79. The Annual Reports required by the 6th section of the Parochial Records Act, 1876, from the clergymen to whose custody Records were committed under Retention Orders were, with one exception, all duly received last year.

80. Notwithstanding the fullest observance of the provisions of the Parochial Records Act intended to safeguard the Records allowed to remain in approved repositories in the parishes, the experience of former years has been more than borne out by the events of 1902. During last year three volumes in three distinct parishes, each supposed to be protected by the carrying out in every detail of the requirements of the Act of 1876, were reported to be missing. In one case the book was found after representations to the incumbent from this Office. In two others, Drumballyroney and Carnew, the fullest inquiries have failed to elicit any information as to the lost books. In Kilmeen, Co. Cork, where a still graver crime has since been committed, the safe was early last year dislodged by thieves from its place in the vestry wall, broken open, and the Records removed; though subsequently recovered by the police.

81. Complaints continue to be made by persons engaged in genealogical research of the difficulty of gaining access to the Registers in local custody. Occasionally, also, to the extravagant fees demanded for the examination of the books. In one of these cases, which occurred in a prominent Dublin church, the sum asked as fee for searching the Registers was wholly prohibitory. It would seem that if the safety of the older books is to be secured, and their utility to the public preserved, measures should be taken to ensure that, as intended by the Act of 1875, they should be deposited in this Office.

82. A Register of the parish of Faughart, from the consecration of the church, has been restored to this Office after an absence from proper custody of more than half a century. It would appear to have been in the hands of a former Churchwarden and of his representatives during most of this time. It is probable that many such books are still preserved in Manor Houses, or Agents' or Solicitors' offices, or among the papers of former Clergymen. The restoration of such books would prove of great importance.

State Paper Office.

83. The Government Papers received were:—From the Registrar, Chief Secretary's Office, 67 cartons of papers for 1892, and the registers and index for 1890; Parliamentary Returns, 1860-80; Minute Book and Letter Books, 1885 to 1897, of Educational Endowments Commission. From Council Office—Files relative to Educational Schemes, 1888 to 1894.

84. The searches made for Government Departments during the year numbered 338.

85. The papers received from the Chief Secretary's Office have been checked, and put up in cartons, numbered 3,780 to 3,828.

86. The collection and arrangement of papers relating to Tithe Composition and Applotment has been completed.

87. Convict papers and Judges' Reports have been arranged from 1794 to 1823; and those from 1777 to 1789, with Index, have been transferred to Record Office. The indexing of this series is being continued.

88. The space remaining for deposit of papers having become very restricted, a certain amount of further accommodation has been secured by a re-arrangement of Miscellaneous Papers for 1830-9. These have been removed from Carton Boxes and made up in brown-paper parcels. For papers rarely consulted the latter form of deposit is more suitable, and occupies much less space.

89. The transfer to the Record Office included: Constabulary Records for the period 1796-1846. These consist chiefly of papers and books ranging between 1822 to 1837, at which date, under 6 & 7 Will. IV., c. 13, a new organisation of the force was adopted. par 54.

Returns of Valuation, and other papers connected with commissions to value premises in cities and certain corporate towns in Ireland, for the payment of Ministers' Money, under 17 & 18 Car. II., c. 7 (Ireland), and extending from 1717 to 1852, have been transferred to the Record Office.

Miscellaneous Papers for 1760-89, with a calendar. Among the other papers transferred to the Record Office, as detailed in par. 54, will be found the Minute Books of the Clerk and Assistant Clerk of the House of Commons, 1798, which belonged to the Parliamentary Collection in the Record Office. Rep xxxi., par. 17.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office,
Dublin, this 29th day of July,
1903.

JAMES MILLS,

Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER, M.R.

APPENDIX.—Catalogue of Accounts in the Pipe Rolls of the Irish Exchequer, i to xii Edward I. 22

No. 15,137.

DUBLIN CASTLE

9th August, 1904.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th inst., forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-sixth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), A. P. MACDONNELL.

The Deputy Keeper,
Public Record Office,
Four Courts.

THE THIRTY-SIXTH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF DUDLEY,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, on the proceedings had during the year 1903 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. Under the Irish Land Act, 1903, a new class of Record is directed to be deposited in this Office. Section 61 of this Act empowers the Commissioners of Woods to apportion any rent payable to the Crown, out of land the subject of proceedings for sale under the Land Purchase Acts. Sub-section 5 requires that a Duplicate of the Certificate of such apportionment, or exclusive charge, issued under the hand of the Commissioners of Woods, shall be deposited in the Public Record Office in Dublin. Nine such Duplicate Certificates have been received to the end of 1903.

2. The Records of the Offices of Clerk of the Crown and Peace for the County of Donegal have been received. They amount to more than five tons of papers and books. The classification and arrangement has not yet sufficiently advanced to enable particulars to be included in this Report. Portion of the collection for County Galway has also been received, but the transfer was not completed at the end of the year. xxxiv., par. 2.

3. Twenty years ago, shortly before the transfer to this Office of the collections of the Clerk of the Peace for Dublin City, a large portion of the Records of that office, some two tons in weight, were stolen from the basement of the City Sessions xviii., par. 4.

House. They were recovered through the exertions of the Detective Department of the Dublin Metropolitan Police; but the files being completely broken up, and all trace of arrangement lost, it was not possible then to give any particulars of them. The parchments and papers have now been examined individually, classified, and arranged, and are found to consist of the following series; which are, however, in most cases, supplemental to the series already preserved here:—

Convictions and Appeals, 1806-53.
Fines and Estreats Papers, 1660-1829.
Indictments, Informations, &c., x. Ch. I. to iii. Victoria.
Informations, Recognizances, &c., 1647-1848.
Jury Panels, Issues, and Precepts, 1634-1858.
Record Court Papers, 1527-1849.
Record Court Writs, xiv., Ch. II. to vii., Will. IV.
Releases, 1765-1813.
Certificates of having received the Sacrament, 1707-49.

The following Documents were found in the course of the arrangement:—

Applotment Book, City of Dublin, 1680-5, containing lists of householders in each street in the city and liberties, with the sum applotted on each towards the amounts presented by the City Grand Jury for public works.

Deed Roll, 1560-78.

Return of Hearths, Dublin City, 1665.

Plea Rolls, xv. Ed. IV. and George II.

Recognizance Roll (Sessions), Philip and Mary.

4. A vacancy in the staff of this office caused by the transfer of Mr. S. C. Ratcliff to the Public Record Office, London, has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Albert E. Langman, B.A.

xxxvi. par. 8. 5. The Appendix to this Report contains a further portion of the Catalogue of Accounts preserved in the Great Rolls of the Pipe, for the years 1 to 12 Edward I. These accounts afford valuable material for the historian. The accounts rendered by sheriffs and other officers indicate, by their fulness, and the regularity or otherwise by which they are presented, the extent and effective power of the central Government. The movements of the Chief Governor and other justices, the building and repair of castles, the collection of the Custom, have important bearing on the history and prosperity of the country. The Escheators' Accounts include interesting information as to the property and succession of the tenants of the Crown, especially the Bishops. The accounts of Sheriffs, and other accountants of towns, liberties, and manors, are of great local interest, and contain a large number of names which are not represented in the catalogue.

55. Two hundred and twenty-two certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these 5,377 volumes, or files of Records, were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

56. The checking and rearrangement of the Equity Exchequer Bills has been carried back to November, 1732; and of the Answers, to January, 1729.

57. Thirteen sacks full of Replications and Rejoinders in Chancery have been arranged, stamped, and parcelled; and 154 bundles of fragments of Chancery Bills and Answers have been stamped.

58. The classification, arrangement, and stamping of the initial transfer from the offices of Clerk of Crown and Peace of Donegal, has progressed. The increments from other counties have been arranged and stamped.

59. The increment of wills, and testamentary and administration papers from the different Probate Registries, have been examined, checked, and placed in envelopes.

60. 1,826 bundles, volumes, or portfolios of Inventions Patent have been stamped, and the current papers arranged.

xxxii., par. 71. 61. The mounting on guards and binding of the Parochial Returns to Visitation has proceeded, and is completed for three dioceses, which are bound in 145 volumes, viz. :—Ardagh 33, Armagh 57, Clogher 55 volumes. Eighty-four other volumes of Records have been bound during the year.

Indexing and Calendaring.

62. The examination of the Pipe Rolls and the preparation of a calendar of the accounts have been continued to the end of the reign of Edward I.

63. The consolidated index to Wills and Grants of the Probate Court, 1858 to 1877, has been completed to end of letter L. Draft index to marriages celebrated by unlicensed clergymen in Dublin has been completed. An index has been made to Deeds and Wills found in the Transcripts of the Exchequer Inquisitions. The index to Disentailing Deeds enrolled has been continued, for 1869 to 1881. The index to the Patent Rolls of George IV. has been rendered more complete by the addition of references to places named. Indexes have been prepared to Will and Grant Books, Leighlin Diocese, for 1707-61 and 1763-90.

64. A catalogue of Military, Militia, Yeomanry, and Naval Records has been prepared. The catalogue of the parishes, streets, &c., in the Census Returns, has been continued to 1851, Co. Antrim. Detailed catalogues of the Crown and Peace Office Records have been prepared for County and City of Dublin, County Waterford, and Peace Office, County Kilkenny.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

65. The printing of the text of the first volume of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of the reign of Edward I. has been completed and marked for press. The index is in preparation. The whole of the matter for the first volume of the Early Statutes of Ireland is ready for press, and a considerable portion is in type. Rep. xxxii., par. 80–81.

Proceedings under the Parochial Records Acts.

66. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of nine parishes which had become attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by the death or resignation of the incumbents, were included in warrants of the Master of the Rolls for transfer to this Office. In three of these cases the Records have been removed here. In two, Retention Orders have been made under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, authorising the retention of the books in the parish. In the remaining cases the arrangements had not been completed at the end of the year.

67. The Records of the following parishes have been received :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Durrus,	Cork,	2	1797–1903	1798–1845	1797–1903
Gowna,	Cavan,	2	1826–1874	—	1840–1881
St. Ann's, Dublin,	Dublin,	14	1719–1873	1719–1858	1719–1872
St. Michael, Dublin,	Dublin,	1	1658–1750	1656–1748	1659–1750
St. Michan's, Dublin,	Dublin,	15	1636–1877	1636–1845	1636–1865
Timogue,	Queen's,	1	1802–1844	1801–1844	1798–1845

68. The Records have been retained in the parish under Retention Order in the case of Balbriggan, Ballee, Bective, and S. John's, Sandymount. The number of Retention Orders granted by the Master of the Rolls, permitting the retention of Parish Records in approved receptacles in their respective parishes, is 607, of which 577 were still in force at the end of the year.

The Annual Reports required by the 6th section of the Parochial Records Act, 1876, from the clergymen to whose custody Records were committed under Retention Orders, were all duly received last year.

69. Repeated complaints continue to be received as to the difficulty of access to the older Parish Registers which remain in local custody, and also to the unsatisfactory conditions under which, in many cases, it is alone possible to consult them. It seems that in many parishes there is no suitable provision for meeting the needs of genealogical enquirers. Moreover, the conditions which are intended to secure the Records from fire and thieves, have in many cases tended to expose them to increased injury from damp. Influenced by such considerations, one city clergyman last year deposited his old books in this Office. It would greatly benefit the public, as well as the records themselves, if this example were more widely followed.

70. Registers of two parishes held under Retention Orders in parish safes were during the year reported to have disappeared. In one case (an important town parish) the books, which had been improperly removed from the safe by a curate, were, after a lengthened correspondence, recovered; in the other case, after some correspondence, the book stated to be wanting was also reported to be recovered.

71. The attention which has been directed to the Parish Records has been productive of some good. An old register of the parish of S. Michael, Dublin, 1656-1750, the existence of which had been for a long time unknown, has come to light among the muniments of another parish, and been restored to its place here. A register of the parish of Timogue, Queen's Co., containing entries from 1798 to 1845, has also been restored to its place among the records of the parish here, having been generously presented by T. S. Moyles, Esquire.

72. In the original administration of the Parish Records Act, it was contemplated that the current books might be capable of division, so that when possible the later entries, after Disestablishment, might be separated from those previous to it, enabling the former to remain in the parish while the older books were deposited here. This was not at first found feasible. The Master of the Rolls has during 1903 authorised the adoption of this course in cases now pending for removal, where it can be done without injury to the books, and it has accordingly been carried out in several cases.

State Paper Office.

73. The Government Papers received during the year were: —From the Registrar, Chief Secretary's Office, 71 cartons of papers for the year 1893, 9 cartons Compensation papers 1882-3, Registers and Index 1891. From the Council Office, 29 cartons of Parliamentary Returns, 1876 to 1894, 4 bundles of books and papers relating to Polling Districts 1873, being part of the collection received in 1889, (see Report xxii., p. 34).

74. The searches made for Government Departments during the year numbered 573. This number is considerably in excess of those recorded in any previous year.

75. The Office of Arms having been removed from the Record Tower late in the year, the apartments occupied by it have been handed over to the use of the State Paper Office.

76. The papers received from the Council Office have been checked, and put up in carton boxes Nos. 3829-58, and those from Chief Secretary's Office from 3859-3926.

77. The Distress Papers, 1891, contained in 37 cartons received in 1901, have been arranged and parcelled. The Evicted Tenants Commission (1892-3) Papers, 27 cartons and bundles, have been arranged and parcelled. Applications for situations 1880-3 have been arranged and parcelled.

78. Convict and Prisoners Papers (Transportation), 1780-1837, have been arranged. A number of Judges' Reports on Convict Cases, not originally put up with the regular series, have been arranged and indexed.

79. A calendar of papers connected with the State of the Country has been carried down to 1803. A small collection contained in four cartons labelled "Selected Papers" had been at some former time taken from this series. As there seemed no good reason for continuing it as a separate class, the papers have been restored to their places in the principal series. A number of miscellaneous papers not hitherto classed have been examined and inserted in the classes to which they relate.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office, Dublin, this 19th day of July, 1904.

JAMES MILLS.

Deputy Keeper of the Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to Your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records under my direction, pursuant to the statute.

APPENDIX.—Catalogue of Accounts in the Pipe Rolls of the Irish Exchequer, xv to xxii Edward I 24

No. 16211.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

8th August, 1905.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th instant, forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-seventh Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) J. B. DOUGHERTY.

The Deputy Keeper,
Public Record Office,
Four Courts.

THE THIRTY-SEVENTH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF DUDLEY,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, on the proceedings had during the year 1904 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. The number of counties whose records have been brought under the charge of the Master of the Rolls has been further added to by Order in Council of 6th September, 1904, dealing with the Records of the Clerks of the Crown and Peace of the county of Antrim, and of county of the city of Belfast.

2. The arrangement of the papers included in the primary transfer of the county records of Donegal has been completed. A list of the classes included will be found in par. 32. The arrangement of the Galway County Records is in progress. xxxvi., par. 2.

3. Further progress has been made in the transcription of the volumes of the Civil Survey. Those for Co. Limerick have been completed, and Co. Meath commenced. xxxv., par. 5.

4. The amount of fees paid by the public for access to and copies of Records as shown at par. 56, is the largest for any one year since the establishment of the Office. The number of paid inspections is also the highest, being about double of the average annual number of twenty-five years ago. These facts indicate a great increase in the legal business of the Office. This large addition to its modern use, tends to cripple the resources of the Office for historical work. In the original design of the Office it was contemplated that a portion of the higher staff would be allocated exclusively to the work of calendaring records, and acquiring an extensive acquaintance with genealogy, topography, and general historical information necessary for their elucidation. In the earlier days of the work of the Department, when the contents of a dozen Record repositories were being hurried in, this ideal was unattainable. Even yet, owing to the pressure of greatly increased legal work, with large collections not contemplated by the Records Act still coming in, and with a diminished staff, it has not become possible to detail any portion of the staff exclusively to record work and research. Some increase in the number of the present staff is requisite if this primary purpose of the Office is to be fulfilled, while its growing current work continues to be adequately carried on.

5. On March 31 the remaining clerk of the State Paper Office staff, Mr. J. J. Maginn, retired on pension. This vacancy had not been filled at the close of the year. Mr. Maginn has since died.

6. The Lords of the Treasury have sanctioned an alteration in the scale of the clerks which will ultimately effect a material improvement in the salaries.

Receipt of Records.

59. One hundred and eighty-seven certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these 4,664 volumes, or files of Records, were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

60. Seventy-three portfolios of Equity Exchequer Decrees, 1733-66, have been checked and numbered; and 248 portfolios stamped.

61. The classification, arrangement and stamping of the initial transfer of Records from the Offices of the Clerk of the Crown and Peace of the County Donegal have been completed. The collection, as put up, consists of 1,204 parcels. The increments of the records from other counties have been arranged and stamped. Par. 32

62. The increment of Wills and testamentary and Administration Papers for 1882 and 1883 have been arranged, stamped, and finally deposited in 173 boxes. Three hundred and four portfolios of Bankruptcy and Arrangement files have been labelled, stamped, and put up. Sixteen bundles of Letters Patent, 1794-1864; and 11 bundles of Bankrupt Deeds enrolled in the rolls of Chancery, 1790-1828, have been arranged and stamped.

63. Five hundred and twenty-six volumes of Patents for Inventions have been stamped and current papers arranged to 1902.

64. Fifty-six volumes of Records have been bound; 20 volumes, 8 Patent Rolls, 5 Plea Rolls, and 12 Wills have been repaired.

Indexing and Calendaring.

65. The examination of the Pipe Rolls, and preparation of a catalogue of the accounts contained has been continued. A further section of this catalogue, prepared by Mr. MacEnery, extending from the 15th to the 22nd year of Edward I., is added as an Appendix to this Report. xxxvi., par. 5. App

66. The consolidated index to Wills and Grants of the Probate Court, 1858 to 1877, has been completed to letter N. Draft indexes have been prepared to Administration Bonds, Diocese of Dublin, 1703-1800; and to Prerogative Inventories (Proctor's copies), 1819-1862. The index to Disentailing Deeds enrolled has been brought down to the year 1883, the latest received. An index has been made to a Grant and Marriage Licence Book, diocese of Dromore, 1790-1814. xxxiii., par. 84.

67. The catalogue of the parishes, townlands, and streets in the Census Returns has been completed. A catalogue of maps contained among the Church Records here having been recently prepared at the expense of the Church Representative Body, a copy of the catalogue has by kind permission of that body, been made for use in the Office. A catalogue of Soldiers' Wills (unproved), 1851 to 1881, has been made and furnished with an index.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes and Records.

68. The index to the first volume of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls was completed and placed in hands of the printer. Eleven sheets of the first volume of the Early Statutes had been marked for press at the end of the year.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

69. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages and Burials of nine parishes became attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by the death or resignation of incumbents in office in 1870; and warrants were signed by the Master of the Rolls for their transfer to this Office.

70. The Records of the following parishes have been received :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Inch, ...	Donegal, .	1	1828-1863	1829-1844	1845-1868
Kilkeirrin, . . .	Galway, .	1	1803-1903	1890-1845	1803-1903
Kilmalooda, ...	Cork, . .	2	1829-1870	1832-1871	1844-1882

71. The Records have been retained in the respective parishes under Retention Orders under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, in five cases—Carbury (Kildare), Castleknock and Clonsilla, Grange (Armagh), Innismacsaint, and Kilbride (Tullamore). The number of such Retention Orders which have been granted by the Master of the Rolls is 612, of which 582 were in force at the end of the year. Annual Reports under the 6th section of this Act were received from the clergymen charged with the custody of records of all these parishes. The later Records of Inch, in the diocese of Derry, have also been committed to the incumbent by Order under Section 7 of 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59.

72. Registers of the following parishes, the custody of which remain in the incumbents, have been bound in this Office :—Killesherdoney, 3 vols.; S. Mary, Dublin, 14 vols.; and Trory, 1 vol.

73. Complaints made of the difficulty and inconvenience experienced by genealogical workers in gaining access to Parish Registers in local custody, have led some gentlemen to form the Parish Register Society of Dublin, for the printing of the more important and older surviving Registers. This Society has received the support and encouragement of the Master of the Rolls, and official facilities have been given for the work in connexion with it.

State Paper Office.

74. The Government papers received during the year 1904 were :—From the Registrar, Chief Secretary's Office, 57 cartons of papers for the years 1893 and 1894, and Registers and Index for 1892.

75. The searches made for Government Departments during the year numbered 705. This greatly exceeds the number registered in any previous year.

76. The papers received from the Chief Secretary's Office have been checked and put up in boxes 3,927 to 3,971. The Chief Secretary's Office papers of 1837 and 1839, the arrangement of which was incomplete, have been arranged and made up in 160 parcels and finally deposited. A quantity of displaced papers of various years found among other collections have been arranged and put up in their proper places. Printed books of reference have been removed from a dark gallery at the top of the tower to presses in the rooms lately occupied by the Office of Arms. Papers received in 1892 from the Prisons Board have been arranged and made up in 221 parcels and finally deposited. xxv., par. 6.

DUBLIN CASTLE,

14th August, 1906.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Thirty-eighth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), F. J. CULLINAN.

The Deputy Keeper,
Public Record Office of Ireland,
Four Courts, Dublin.

THE THIRTY-EIGHTH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF ABERDEEN,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY.

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, on the proceedings had during the year 1905 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. By Order in Council dated 12th October, 1905, the Records of the Offices of Clerk of the Crown and Peace of the County of Leitrim were brought under the charge of the Master of the Rolls. The transfer of the older records to this Office was in progress at the end of the year. The arrangement of the papers included in the first transfer of records from the Crown and Peace Offices of Galway has been completed, and a list of the classes of records received forms par. 30 below.

2. Progress has been made in the transcription of the volumes of the Civil Survey for Counties Meath and Tipperary. The attention directed to these records has led to the finding of an official copy, certified by the Deputy Surveyor-General about 1700, of the Civil Survey of the barony of Clanmaurice, Co. Kerry, the original of which was afterwards destroyed by fire. The copy has been kindly presented to this Office, through Messrs. Creagh and Byrne, by Wm. T. J. Gun, Esq., among whose muniments it was found. xxxv., par. 5.

3. In pursuance of the power vested in the Master of the Rolls by Section 17 of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, his Honor has made certain Rules for admission to the use of the Records, Catalogues, Calendars, and Indexes in this Office. App. I.

The Rules have been duly laid before both Houses of Parliament as required by the section of the Act. They form Appendix I. to this Report.

4. The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury have sanctioned the appointment to the staff of this office of a Supplementary Clerk, in the place of the clerkship on the former staff of the State Paper Office. The appointment had not yet been made at the close of the year.

Receipt of Records.

46. Deeds affecting the rights of the Crown deposited in this Office by the Quit Rent Office, and registered in 1905, number 247, the largest number yet registered in one year. They include 150 duplicate Conveyances of Quit and Crown Rents sold ; 7 Conveyances of Crown reversions, leases, &c. ; and 90 certificates of apportionment of rents under the Irish Land Act of 1903.

☞47 The following donations have been received for the Library :—

From the Master of the Rolls in England : Twenty-four volumes of Record Publications.

From the Deputy Clerk Register in Scotland : Two volumes of Record Publications.

From the Keeper of the Records in Scotland : "Guide to the Public Records of Scotland," by M. Livingstone, I.S.O.

From the Royal Society of Antiquaries of Ireland : Proceedings of the Royal Historical and Archæological Association of Ireland, 1868 to 1884, and Index, 1849-89.

Pamphlets bearing on Irish History were also presented by Sydney Cary, Esq., T. P. Le Fanu, Esq., the late Rev. W. Reynell, T. J. Westropp, Esq., and the Commissioners of Woods and Forests.

48. The collection of the auction Catalogues and Account Books of Samuel Jones, 1817 to 1830, and John Fleming Jones, 1840 to 1877, having been purchased by a fund raised by E. R. M'C. Dix, Esq., have been presented by that gentleman to this Office. These being the leading literary auctioneers in Ireland for so long a time, it is expected that the books may prove the means of tracing books and manuscripts in private hands.

49. The stamps for fees on copies and inspections of Records by the public during the year 1905 amounted to £1,113 7*s.* 6*d.*

52. Two hundred and seventeen certificates were granted for examination of Records for literary purposes. Under these, 4,827 volumes or files of Records were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

53. The fittings originally designed for the Parochial Records having proved unsatisfactory, new fittings on a much improved plan have been erected by the Board of Works for this class of Records, occupying half of bay 2 B.

54. The arrangement of the Collectors' Accounts among the Revenue Records 1649 to 1822, having been found very defective, the accounts have been examined and catalogued. The collection consists of more than 1,200 large bundles, and contains two important periods, 1649-60, and 1684 to 1822. The accounts, with their accompanying returns and vouchers, in both groups, contain much detail not to be found elsewhere. The Commonwealth group is particularly valuable, as many of the account books of this period are not preserved, and much may be gathered from these accounts which has not been used by writers on this period.

55. Two hundred and nine bundles of Equity Exchequer Bills, June, 1722, to November, 1733; and 67 bundles of Answers, December, 1724, to December, 1728, have been checked and arranged. 131 portfolios of Decrees of same court, 1767 to 1819, have been checked and numbered.

56. The Crown and Peace Office Records of the several counties received during the year have been classified, arranged and stamped.

57. A Diocesan Register of the Diocese of Cloyne, 1683-1705, found in loose sheets among miscellaneous papers of the registry, has been bound and placed with books of the Diocese.

58. The increment of wills and testamentary and administration papers has been arranged and stamped. 224 portfolios of Fiants, 107 portfolios of Chancery Inquisitions, 27 portfolios of Decrees of Court of Claims under the Act of Settlement; 70 bundles of Deeds from Chancery Master's Offices, 58 bundles of Warrants to satisfy Judgments King's Bench, 20 Sacks of Army Returns, have been stamped.

59. Patents for Inventions for 1903 have been arranged and parcelled, and 328 volumes stamped.

60. One hundred and eight volumes of records have been re-bound, and 215 leaves, 20 wills, and 6 patent rolls repaired.

Indexing and Calendaring.

61. The examination of the Pipe Rolls, and preparation of a catalogue of the accounts contained in them has been continued to the fifth year of Edward III. A further section of this catalogue, prepared by Mr. MacEnery, extending from the twenty-fifth year of Edward I. to the end of that reign, is printed as an appendix to this Report. xxxvii., par. 65. App. II.

62. Mr. Wood has completed a revision of the catalogues of the Records of the Courts of Common Law, with a view to the collection of material for a general guide to the Records. xxxiii., par. 15.

63. A Calendar of the Inquisitions post mortem, and other inquisitions preserved in the Chancery and Exchequer, for the county of Limerick, has been commenced by Mr. MacEnery, as a step towards the publication of the Inquisitions of Munster and Connaught suggested in a former report. iv., p. 20.

64. The consolidated index to Wills proved and Administrations granted by the Probate Court, 1858 to 1877, has been completed and is available in the Search Room. A revised index to Wills proved in the diocese of Ferns has been made. The index to Administration Bonds, diocese of Dublin, 1697-1800, has been completed. Rep. xxxiii., par. 84.

65. A draft index to British Departmental Correspondence, 1741-59, has been prepared. An index to the Chancery Side Bar Orders Books from 1858 to 1875 has been commenced and carried to the end of Volume 24.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

66. The first volume of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of Ireland was completed and marked for press. The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury have, at the instance of the Irish Government, authorised the continuation of this Calendar to the reign of Richard II. A portion of the material for a second volume was in the printer's hands at the end of the year. Thirty-one sheets of the volume of the Early Statutes of Ireland had been marked for press at the end of the year.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

67. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of five parishes became attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by death or resignation of incumbents in office in 1870; and warrants were signed by the Master of the Rolls for their transfer to the Office. A warrant for transfer was issued in one other case in which a Retention Order had been made, but where the provision for the safety of the Records had proved insufficient.

68. The Records of the following parishes have been received :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Dromiskin, ...	Louth, ...	3	1802-1904	1805-1812	1802-1902
Killiney, ...	Kerry, ...	1	1815-1904	1817-1844	1818-1902
Killoughy, ...	King's, ...	1	1818-1876	1816-1841	1877-1904
Quin, ...	Clare, ...	1	1801-1904	1827-1870	1822-1905

69. The Records have been retained in the respective parishes under Retention Orders made under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, in the cases of Swords and Drumgoon. The number of such Retention Orders made by the Master of the Rolls is 614, of which 583 were in force at the end of 1905. Annual Reports under the 6th section of this Act have been duly received from the clergymen to whom the records were committed by these orders.

State Paper Office.

70. The Government papers received during the year 1905 were :—From the Council Office, 25 boxes of papers for the years 1895-6; Index, 1889-96; Civil Affairs Books, 1837-47. From the Registrar, Chief Secretary's Office :—86 boxes of papers for the year 1895; Registers and Index, 1893; Reports, 1887-90. From Convict Department, Chief Secretary's Office :—89 parcels of papers, 1895-1900.

71. The papers received from the Council Office have been checked and put up in cartons 3972 to 3995; those from the Chief Secretary's Office in 3996 to 4047; and the Convict papers in 4048 to 4117.

72. The searches made for Government Departments during the year numbered 634.

73. The wooden door to the lower storey of the tower and the iron gate at the entrance of the stairs have been replaced by iron doors, erected by the Commissioners of Works.

Additional iron shelving has also been erected in three of the upper rooms. The printed books of reference have been collected and suitably deposited in the rooms formerly occupied by the Office of Arms. The space thus gained in the upper rooms has left room for the better arrangement of the Letter books and other books and registers of the Government departments.

74. The papers of the General Prisons Board have been rearranged and finally deposited. Seventeen bundles of Proclamations, 1702 to 1811, including some not before catalogued, have been examined and arranged. A number of displaced papers of the years 1836, 1841, and 1845 have been examined and restored to their places. Miscellaneous papers extending down to 1870 have been examined and arranged in order of date, preparatory to being indexed. Miscellaneous papers from the Convict department have been arranged and parcelled. The volumes of the several series of Government Letter Books, transferred at different times, have been brought together and arranged for more convenient reference.

75. An examination of the contents of the several rooms in the tower has been made by Mr. Harvey, in conjunction with Mr. Chart, and a scheme arranged for constructing a new general catalogue of the classes of books and papers preserved there.

76. The Calendar of "Official Papers, 1790 to 1831," has been continued from carton 291 to 297.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office, Dublin, this 11th day of August, 1906.

JAMES MILLS,
Deputy Keeper of the Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

A. M. PORTER, M.R.

APPENDIX I.

RULES FOR ADMISSION TO THE USE OF THE RECORDS (MADE UNDER SECT. 17 OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS, IRELAND, ACT, 1867).

General.

1. The Search Rooms shall be open to persons desiring to inspect or search Records or documents on every week-day, except Christmas Day to New Year's Day inclusive, St. Patrick's Day, Good Friday, Easter Eve, Easter Monday and Tuesday, Whit Monday, the day appointed to be kept as the King's Birthday, First Monday in August, and days appointed for public holidays.

2. The hours of admission shall be from 10 to 4.30 o'clock, except on Saturdays, when they shall be from 10 to 2 p.m.

3. Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes preserved in the Search Rooms are open to all readers without fee or other restriction, save such restrictions as the officer in charge of the Search Rooms may consider necessary for the safety of the Books or the convenience of the officers or other readers, but subject to the provisions in Rule 20.

4. Persons admitted to the Search Rooms shall replace on the shelves the Calendars, Catalogues, and Indexes used by them.

5. Readers must not converse with each other. Strict silence must be observed in the Literary Search Room; and, as far as possible, silence shall be maintained in the General Search Room.

6. Smoking or any other dangerous practice is strictly forbidden within the Record Building.

7. A separate docket, stamped, as required by the table of fees, shall be clearly written, and signed with name and address, by every applicant desiring to inspect or search any Record, for each Record or document required; and such docket shall be given by the applicant to the officer in charge of the Search Room before any Record or document can be produced to the applicant.

8. No docket for production of any Record shall be received after 4 o'clock, or after 1.30 on Saturdays.

9. No person shall have more than one Record or document at one time, except under special circumstances, to be explained to the satisfaction of the officer in charge.

10. In cases where a number of documents are grouped together (as in parcels of Returns, Cause Papers, Deeds Boxes, etc.), the applicant shall examine the papers in presence of an officer, searcher, or other assistant, and select from the group the papers he requires to read, which shall then be handed to him, one at a time, by the officer in charge.

11. No reader shall read or make use of a Record or paper produced upon the requisition of another reader.

12. Records and documents of exceptional value, or in fragile condition, may be produced subject to such conditions as the officer in charge of the room shall, in the particular case, think requisite for their safety and integrity.

13. Records, documents, books, or other articles belonging to the Public Record Office, shall not be removed by readers from one room to another, or (except Indexes) be placed on the public counter.

14. Records and documents, when done with, shall forthwith be returned by the person to whom they have been produced, to the officer in charge, or to one of the attendants; and every such person shall be held responsible for the Records issued to him, until so returned.

15. No person shall lean upon any Records, documents, or books belonging to the Public Record Office, or place upon them the paper on which he or she is writing, or do anything else which, in the opinion of the officer in charge, is calculated to injure the Record.

16. No person, other than an officer of the Record Office, or an officer of Court, duly authorised for the purpose, shall make any mark, in pencil or otherwise, upon any Record, document, or book belonging to the Public Record Office.

17. Ink (whether in fountain pens, stylographs, or otherwise) shall not be used in the Public Search Room by any person admitted thereto for the purpose of inspecting or searching Records or documents.

18. Tracings or Photographs of Records or documents shall not be made by any person without permission of the Deputy Keeper. Permission to photograph Records cannot be given without payment of the fees for certified copies, unless the Deputy Keeper is satisfied that the photographs are not to be used for the purpose of any legal proceeding in a Court of Justice.

19. Records in course of arrangement shall not be produced without an order from the Deputy Keeper.

20. The officer in charge of the Search Rooms shall be empowered to exclude persons from the Public Record Office for any of the following reasons:—Wilful breach of the foregoing Rules and Regulations; persistent disregard of the officer's authority; damage of any sort to any Record or article belonging to the Record Office; any improper use of the Records, or of the information and privileges accorded to members of the public in the Office; conduct, language, habits, unseemly dress, or any other matter offensive, or likely to be reasonably offensive, to others using the Record Office. Provided always that the exclusion of any person shall be forthwith notified in writing with the cause thereof to the Deputy Keeper, who shall enquire into the circumstances, and whose order, unless reversed by the Master of the Rolls, shall be final.

21. Officers of Public Departments having occasion officially to consult the Records, shall, so far as they apply, be subject to the foregoing Rules for admission to and use of the Records.

Special Regulations.

22. The documents contained in Deeds Boxes removed from the offices of the former Masters in Chancery and from the offices of the former Landed Estates Court are not open to the public. The contents of the boxes from the Chancery Master's offices may only be shown on the order in the prescribed form, from the Chief Clerk to the Lord Chancellor or to a Judge of the Chancery Division, or a deputy nominated for this purpose.

The contents of boxes from former Landed Estates Court are to be shown only on similar order of the Registrar of the Land Judge, or his deputy, or the Keeper of the Deeds under the same Judge.

Officers having power to issue orders for inspection of Deeds Boxes may themselves deal with the contents, as to removing or returning them, on filling up and signing the usual inspection form, giving title and reference to Box. The contents of Boxes may be examined by the Registrars of Titles on filling up and signing the usual inspection form. Persons authorised to inspect contents of Deeds Boxes may make extracts or copies of documents contained in them.

23. MS. Books and Documents received from the Commander of the Forces in Ireland of later date than 1850 shall not be open to the public except on production by the applicant of a written permit, signed by the Commander of the Forces in Ireland, or by the Chief Staff Officer, Headquarters' Office, Ireland. Notes and extracts made under such a permit must be submitted to the officer in charge of the Search Room, and may, if it be considered necessary, be submitted to the Commander of the Forces in Ireland for approval, before being returned to the reader.

24. Documents deposited under 16th section shall be subject to the special conditions (if any) specified in the Warrant authorising their deposit, or which, by order of the Master of the Rolls, shall from time to time be imposed.

Entries on Records.

25. When, in pursuance of any Order of the Lord Chancellor, Master of the Rolls, or other Judge of the Chancery Division, it shall be necessary to make any amendment in or enter any Vacate or other matter upon any pleading or other document deposited in the Public Record Office, or when it may be necessary to enter thereon any Suggestion, on the proper officer attending at the Search Department of the Public Record Office, exhibiting to the officer in charge such Order (if any), and on his signing a requisition for such pleading or other document, it shall be produced to him, and he shall thereupon make such Amendment or Entry, and also every proper entry connected therewith in any Bill-book, Index, or other Book of Reference in said Department; and a book shall be kept in the Public Record Office containing a list of all such amendments or entries, with the dates thereof, under proper heads.

26. When in the King's Bench Division of the High Court, or in the Probate branch of said division, it shall be necessary to make any entry in writing upon any Record or document of said Division or branch, deposited in the Public Record Office, on the Master, or person certified in writing to be the proper officer by the Master of said Division, or on the proper officer of the Probate branch, attending at the Search Department of the Public Record Office, and delivering to the officer in charge there an Entry Docket in the prescribed form, signed by or on behalf of the said Master, or by the Registrar of the Probate branch, and on his signing the usual office requisition for such Record or document, the same and all proper books in relation thereto, shall be produced to him, and he may thereupon make such entry, and also every proper entry connected therewith, in any Index or other Book of Reference in said Department; and books shall be kept in the Public Record Office containing lists of all such entries, with the dates thereof, under proper heads.

Recall.

27. Records, Deeds, and Documents received from the offices of the former Masters of the Court of Chancery (except the Receiver Master), which may from time to time be necessary for the current business of the Chancery Division, may be recalled, in the form prescribed for that purpose, but the Chief Clerk to the Lord Chancellor or Judge of the Chancery Division, or an officer of his Department, to be nominated by such Chief Clerk, in writing, to the Deputy Keeper.

28. Like power of recall is given to the Registrar and the Keeper of Deeds of the Land Judge, or his deputy, for the Deeds Boxes; and to the Registrar, or his deputy, for the other Records transferred from the late Landed Estates Court, Land Judges' Offices, and Office of Receiver Master.

29. Like power of recall is given to the Taxing Masters for the Records of their Offices.

30. Like power of recall is given to the Registrar in Bankruptcy, or his deputy, for the Records transferred from the Bankruptcy Offices.

31. When and so often as it may become necessary for the purposes of the Probate Branch, King's Bench Division, that any original Will, which has not been proved, and which has been removed to the Public Record Office under Warrant of the Master of the Rolls, should be remitted to said Branch for the purpose of being proved there; on the proper officer (certified to be such by the Registrar of the Principal Registry) attending at the Public Record Office, and presenting such certificate, and giving his receipt in the prescribed form, such Will may be delivered to such officer, to be retained at the Probate Office until further Order.

Extern Exhibition.

32. No Records (except under Rules 27 to 31, and 34 and 35) may be taken out of the Record Office without the written Order of the Master of the Rolls.

33. Should any person desire to produce an original Record in Court, application should be made to the Deputy Keeper, who, on being satisfied that the production is required for proof of handwriting or for some other purpose, which could not be served by a certified copy, shall issue to applicant a form of Order for the signature of the Master of the Rolls, to be obtained through his Secretary.

In all other cases, should production of an original Record be desired, a formal application must be made to the Master of the Rolls, in writing, addressed to his Secretary, setting forth the special reasons for which it is desired to produce the original.

34. In the absence of the Master of the Rolls from the Four Courts, the Deputy Keeper may permit Records to be sent to a Judge of the Supreme Court of Judicature or of the High Court of Justice when on the Bench at the Four Courts, on receipt of a request, signed by the said Judge, stating that the Record or Records in question are required for the information of the Court.

35. Records required for the use of the Master of the Rolls may be sent on written request of His Honor's Registrar.

36. In all cases where Records are allowed to be sent out of the Office (except those recalled under Rules 27 to 31) they shall go in the hands and remain in charge of officers of the Record Office.

Applicants obtaining Orders for the production of Records shall, before the Records leave the Office, produce, in Stamps, the amount of fees set out in the Table of Fees.

Where the Records for which such Orders for exhibition have been obtained have to be produced at any place outside the Four Courts, the officer attending shall be paid by the person who shall have obtained such Order all travelling expenses and reasonable allowance for subsistence. And where the Records to be produced are numerous or of more than usual bulk, the applicant shall pay for such additional assistance as in the opinion of the Deputy Keeper is requisite.

Kildare.—He accounts for 15*l.* 16*s.* 4*d.* rents of the demesnes, &c., of the manor of Carbry which belonged to Matilda de Kyme, who held them of the King in capite, in the King's hand by the death of said Matilda, from feast of St. Gregory, pope, a.r. xxvii. to 1 Nov. same year, viz., for Easter and Michaelmas terms, when the Escheator delivered three parts of same manor to Johanna de Vivonia eldest daughter, Cecilia de Bello Campo second daughter, and Guy de Rupe Edwardi, who married Sibilla the third daughter, by writ from England dated 1 Nov. a.r. xxvii. ; 16*l.* 13*s.* 10*d.* rent of free tenants there, and 3*s.* 4*d.* from perquisites of the Court and Hundred there. Sum, 32*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* Note, a fourth part of said manor which fell into the purparty of Adomar de Archiaco, cousin and fourth heir of said Matilda, yet remains in the King's hand, and the escheator is answerable therefor.

He accounts for 15*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* rent of the fourth part of the manor of Carbry which fell into the purparty of Adomar de Archiaco 1 Nov. a.r. xxvii. to the morrow of St. Hilary a.r. xxxij. ; 16*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* rent of free tenants there. Sum, 32*l.*

DUNLOST, Co. Kildare.—He accounts for 20*s.* rent of the manor of Dunlost which belonged to Adam de Staunton, who held of the King in capite, and in the King's hand by his death, from Friday next feast of St. Hilary a.r. xxviii. to 28 Oct. same year, when the Escheator delivered it with other lands which Adam held of the King in same county, to John de Suttoun and Johanna his wife, eldest daughter and one of the heiresses of said Adam, Will. le Poer and Giles his wife, Richard de Lyt and Isabella his wife, Symon de Fladtebiry and Nesta his wife, daughters and heiresses of Adam, by writ dated 28 Oct. a.r. xxviii. ; 46*s.* 10*d.* rent of free tenants ; 14*s.* 8*d.* from the farmers of Moynauthy and Dullardstown ; and 3*s.* from the weirs and perquisites of court there. Note, 40 acres of the demesnes were seized before the death of said Adam and 40 acres lay fallow for which the Escheator answers not. Sum, 4*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*

Mounmohenek, Co. Kildare.—He answers for 42*s.* 11½*d.* rents of the demesnes, meadow, pasture, wood, cottiers and gavellers of the manor of Mounmohenok which belonged to said Adam, as before, until delivered to the aforesaid heirs; 66*s.* 10*d.* rent of free tenants; 29*s.* 3*d.* rent of mill, gardens, prise of ale, impositions and perquisites of the hundred there. Amount, 6*l.* 19*s.* ½*d.*, less rent paid to Will. de Athy, 60*s.* yearly for his salary leviable off the entire manor of Dunlost and Mounmohenok. Sum, 79*s.* ½*d.*

Arisc', Co. Kildare.—He answers nothing for premises belonging to said Adam there, because situated in the March near the Irish, the manor is burned by them, and nobody has courage to live there.

Balycappauch', Co. Kildare.—He accounts for 6*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.* from the demesnes and Irish of Balycappauch which belonged to said Adam (26*s.* 8*d.* having been paid to Henry de Rocheford yearly for said lands) before they were delivered to the said heirs as above. Sum, 6*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.*

Clain, Co. Kildare.—He accounts for 7*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.* rent of the demesnes, meadow, and wood at Clain which belonged to said Adam for period as above before they were delivered as above. Sum, 7*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.*

Leuedytoun [Co. Kildare].—He accounts for 14*l.* 0*s.* 2¾*d.* rents of the demesnes, meadow, and cottages which belonged there to the said Adam, who held them of the King in capite; 111*s.* 4¼*d.* rent of the free tenants of the manors of Arysc', Clain, and Leuedytoun during same terms; 4*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.* rent of the issues of the mill, gardens, prise of ale, and impositions at Clain for same time; 4*s.* from the perquisites of court and hundred there, until livery was made to the heirs. Note, the year is wanting by eleven weeks, and therefore 20*s.* are deducted from amount in extent with reference to issues of Clain mill. Sum, 24*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.*

The aforesaid Walter, escheator, accounts for 881*l.* 18*s.* ½*d.* as above, and 4*l.* 13*s.* 6¼*d.* arrears of his account as in roll a.r. xxvi. Total, 886*l.* 11*s.* 6¾*d.*

48. Certificates for examination of Records for literary purposes were granted to the number of 241. Under these, 5,503 Records or Volumes or files of Records were produced for literary readers.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

v., p. 68 49. The examination and arrangement of the contents of the miscellaneous sacks received from the former Landed Estates Record Office, Custom House, has been continued. The contents of eighteen sacks have been examined and arranged during last year.

50. The Miscellaneous Records from the Rolls Office have been examined and catalogued.

51. One hundred and fifty-five parcels of Bills of the Equity side of the Court of Exchequer, from 9 May, 1711, to 18 June, 1772; and 184 parcels of Answers, 17 July, 1712, to 24 December, 1724, have been checked, arranged, and parcelled. The checking and numbering of the Decrees of same court have been completed to 1843, in 126 portfolios.

52. The Warrants of Attorney from the Court of King's Bench 1720 to 1823, were in progress of being stamped and arranged. Seventeen bundles of Landed Estates Court copy Conveyances, commencing 1850, have been checked and numbered. The Crown and Peace Office Records of the several counties received during the year have been classified, arranged, stamped, and catalogued. The increment of Wills and Testamentary and Administration papers has been checked, arranged, and stamped. One hundred and thirty-three parcels of Inventions patent, 1904–5, were arranged and stamped. Twenty bundles of Insolvent petitions, and 931 bundles miscellaneous pleadings of the court of King's Bench have been stamped.

53. One hundred volumes of Records have been bound. Fourteen Patent Rolls, and 34 other Records were repaired.

Indexing and Calendaring.

54. The revision of the Catalogues of Records undertaken with a view to the preparation of material for a general guide to the Records has been continued by Mr. Wood for the Records of the Courts of Equity. xxxviii., par. 62.

55. The Calendar of Inquisitions for county Limerick has been continued by Mr. MacEnery, and is advanced to nearly the end of the reign of Elizabeth. xxxviii., par. 63.

56. The Index of British Departmental Correspondence, 1741–59, has been completed, and made available in the Search Room. An Index has been made to Proctor's Copies of Schedules, Court of Delegates, 1819–62. Indexes have been made to, and inserted in Cloyne Diocesan Register, 1683–1705, and Court of Appeal Order Book, 1881–3. A Catalogue of the Vice-Treasurer's Records has been made.

57. The Index to Chancery Side Bar Orders, 1858–1875, has been continued to Vol. 13 (New Series). An Index to Chancery Orders 1840–56, has been commenced and prepared in draft for vols. 296 to 303, and 373 to 422. The Index to Disentailing Deeds enrolled has been continued to 1885.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

58. The first volume of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of Ireland was issued in June. About half of the second volume was in the printer's hands at the end of the year, and six sheets were in type. The first volume of the Statutes was almost completed at press at the end of 1906.

App.

59. A further section of the Catalogue of Accounts entered on the Pipe Rolls of the Exchequer of Ireland, prepared by Mr. MacEnery, is printed in the Appendix to this Report, carrying the Catalogue down to the tenth year of Edward II.

60. An examination of the bundles of printed matter left by Record Commissioners shows that a considerable number of further copies of the Chancery Inquisitions of Ulster and Leinster printed for the Commissioners, and supposed to be out of print, remain in sheets, and could be made ready for publication.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

61. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of five parishes became attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by death or resignation of incumbents in office in 1870; and warrants were signed by the Master of the Rolls for their transfer to this office. A warrant for transfer was also issued in one other case (Shrule) where the records remained in local custody under a Retention Order, but where the provision for the safety of the Records had become unsatisfactory.

62. The Records of the following Parishes have been received :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Carrigallen, ...	Leitrim, ...	4	1804-1883	1804-1845	1804-1874
Castlemagner, ...	Cork, ...	3	1810-1905	1809-1844	1809-1906
Dromiskin, ...	Louth, ...	loose sheets	1791-2	—	—
Shrule, ...	Longford, ...	3	1727-1882	1727-1846	1795-1904
Tibohine, ...	Roscommon,	2	1800-1905	1795-1857	1811-1905
Tullagh, ...	Cork, ...	2	1796-1905	1802-1845	1803-1903

63. Orders for the retention of the Records in local custody under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, have been made in the cases of Carnmoney and St. Michael, Blackrock, co. Cork. The number of such Orders made by the Master of the Rolls is now 616, of which 584 were in force at the end of 1906. Annual Reports under the 6th section of this Act have been duly received from the clergymen of the respective parishes.

64. Books of the following parishes—the custody of which remain with the Incumbents—have been re-bound in this office :—Ballycanew (2 vols.), Dernakesh (Drumgoon), Lismore (2 vols.), Rathdrum (2 vols.), S. Canice, Kilkenny.

65. I regret to have to report that in two of the parishes, to the incumbents of which the care of the Parish Records has been committed by Retention Orders, it has been found that books formerly in their custody, and specified in the Orders, have disappeared. The parishes are Aghalee and Dundalk. In each case two volumes are not now forthcoming, and such enquiries as I have been able to set on foot have failed to elicit any information in regard to them. In one other case, a book was reported as missing, but was found on representation made from this Office.

66. These two instances bring up to six the number of parishes in which within the last nine years it has been found that books committed to the Parish Safe a few years ago are no longer known to exist. In several other cases, books said not to be found have been recovered on representations from this Office. In all these cases reports have been duly made by the incumbents year after year that the Records were safe and in good order. And it has only been on the appointment of a new incumbent, or on some chance enquiry, that it has been possible to discover the loss. In addition to this gradual loss of the books, many of the safes, especially those in damp vestries are undergoing steady deterioration. In five cases during the same period of nine years, the safes have become so bad that the Orders have been withdrawn, and the Records brought up to this Office. In four other cases the incumbents have been wise enough voluntarily to deposit the books here. But in a large number of other cases, it is feared that either the safe is ceasing to be in good order, and that the books are becoming seriously deteriorated by the damp condition in which they are kept.

State Paper Office.

67. The Government Papers received during the year 1906 included the Chief Secretary's Office registered papers for 1896, and Registers and Index for 1894; 136 volumes of Letter and Account Books; and 59 bundles of miscellaneous papers.

68. The Registered Papers have been checked and put up in cartons 4118 to 4157. The Miscellaneous Papers have been examined, arranged, and deposited.

Land of HENRY JUDAS.—He accounts for 3*s.* 2½*d.*, rent of the lands which belonged to Henry Judas and Walter Russel at Dungarvan, co. Waterford, in the King's hand by the minority of Thomas son of Maurice, as a custody within a custody.

Land of Roger de Mesington.—He accounts for 5*s.*, rent of a carucate of land held by Robert de Bordesalle of said Roger in co. Meath.

Land of Thomas le Trehour.—He accounts for 15*s.*, rent of land of said Thomas in Connaught.

Polsnekill, co. Waterford.—He accounts for 16*s.* 8*d.*, rent of a carucate of land there, which belonged to Elias son of Richard, who held it of John de Rupell', who held of the King in capite; a custody within a custody.

Kilsalchan, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 2*s.* 5½*d.*, rent of lands held there by Robert de Bree, from Jordan Locard, who held of the King in capite; a custody within a custody.

Tristeldermod, co. Kyldare.—He accounts for 16*s.* 1½*d.* from a moiety of the lands there belonging to Eliderus son of Meiler, who held of the King in capite. They are the purparty of Wentliana younger daughter and one of his heirs, and are in the King's hand on account of her minority.

Clonobrenan [co. Dublin]—He accounts for 1*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*, rent of certain free tenants, with perquisites of court there, part of the lordship of the Nalle, in the King's hand by the death of Richard de Cruys, who held of the King in capite; and 1*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, rent of the lands held in dower by Isabella wife of said Richard. Sum 2*l.* 9*s.* 10*d.*

The escheator answers nothing in respect of the lands which belonged to Hugh son of Audoen, in co. Dublin, because the lands were delivered to Thomas his son and heir, on 20 Sep. a.r. iv. Ed. II.

Nalle, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 8*l.* 7*s.* 3¾*d.*, rent of premises there held in dower by Isabella widow of Richard de Cruys, Richard the son and heir being a minor; and also for premises similarly held in Ardmasse.

Milletoun, co. Kyldare.—He accounts for 6*l.* 19*s.* 10*d.*, rent of lands, &c., and a mill there, in the King's hand by the death of Walter de Ivethorn, who held them of the King in capite, from 12 Sep. to 23 Oct., a.r. iv., when they were delivered to Philip de Nywetoun, who married Margaret daughter and heiress of said Walter.

Ouenaghbeg, co. Typerary.—He accounts for 3*l.* 18*s.* 10¾*d.*, rent, &c., of two parts of the lands belonging to Maurice son of Augustine there, who held of the King in capite.

Coulm'sawery, co. Waterford.—He accounts for 1*l.* 15*s.* 8½*d.*, rent of the demesnes, &c., there, which belonged to Peter de Bruys, who held of the King in capite, his heir being a minor; and 10*s.* increment. Sum 2*l.* 5*s.* 8½*d.* From this deduct 12*d.*, rent due to the master of the Templars in Ireland. Sum 2*l.* 4*s.* 8½*d.*

Drommeskyn, co. [Louth].—He accounts for 2*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.* rent, &c., of two parts of the lands of John Moure there, in the archbishopric of Armagh, in the King's hand, the see being vacant from 12 Sep.–14 Nov. a.r. iv., when they were delivered to John his son and heir.

Castlecnok, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 2*s.* 8*d.*, rent of 8 acres near the castle there, which Hugh Tyrel, who held the premises of the King in capite, demised to John Abbot, without having obtained licence.

Bryart in Carbry, co. Kildare.—He accounts for 16*s.* 8*d.* issues of the lands of Audoen le Blound there, who held of the King in capite.

Dromeskyn, co. [Louth].—He accounts for 10*s.* 1½*d.* rent, &c., of a messuage, &c., there, which William Hendy held of the archbishopric of Armagh, the see being vacant; a custody within a custody.

Tarmefeghyn, co. [Louth].—He accounts for 4*s.* 4*d.* for land similarly held of said archbishopric, by Walter de la More.

Balibrok, co. Kyldare.—He accounts for 2*l.* 6*s.* 2¾*d.* rent of two parts of demesnes, &c., with perquisites of court there, which belonged to Richard Arthour, who held of the King in capite.

TRISTELMOTHAN.—He accounts for 6*s.* 8*d.* rent and issues of 30 acres of arable land, &c., with the issues of two parts of a mill there, which Henry de Rupe held of the abbess and nuns of Kilkilthyn; a custody within a custody, on account of vacancy of abbess.

BALIHAMOND, &c., co. Dublin.—He accounts for 2*l.* 18*s.* rent of lands which belonged to William Wallop deceased, at Balihamond, Balihaunluith, and Balityr, co. Dublin, and were held of the King in capite.

TAGHMOLYNG co. Catherlagh.—The escheator answers nothing concerning the issues of two parts of the lands which Richard Taloun deceased held of the King in capite, at Taghmolyng, co. Catherlagh, and the rent of two parts of the land which belonged to him at Ballim'kill in same county, because John Taloun who is bound to answer therefor had the latter lands before the Escheator's time. Said John answers therefor in account for co. Carlow a.r. vi.

TORRAGH, &c., co. Kyldare.—He accounts for 3*l.* 1*s.* 5¼*d.* rent, &c., of two parts of the lands which belonged to William de Sully at Torragh, Tynery, and elsewhere in co. Kyldare, held in capite.

MORISCESTOUN, &c., co. Louth.—He accounts for 1*l* 16*s.* 10¾*d.* issues of two parts of the lands formerly belonging to Henry Toppe, at Moriscestoun, Turberuill, and Kenwettoun, co. Louth, held in capite.

GRYLLY.—He accounts for 5*l.* 1*s.* 2*d.* rent, &c. of a third part of the manor of Grylly, held in dower by Mabilla widow of Jordan Dardiz.

Lands of REYMUND CHEVERE in co. Catherlagh.—He accounts for 8*s.* 10¾*d.* rent, &c. of these premises, in the King's custody by the death of said Reymund, who held them of Walter Purcel, who held of the King in capite; a custody within a custody.

BALCAWENAN, co. Waterford.—He accounts for 2*s.* 11*d.* rent, &c. of the lands which belonged to Reymund de Lyouns there, who held them of the heir of Peter de Bruys, in the King's custody; a custody within a custody.

He answers nothing for the issues, &c. of the lands which belonged to Thomas son of Thomas son of Maurice in co. Kerry and elsewhere, because nothing was received, nor were they extended during the Escheator's time. Maurice son of Thomas brother and heir of said Thomas entered without licence. He accounts therefor in Escheator's account a.r. vi.

CLONOBRENAN, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 5*s.* 6*d.* rent, &c. of the lands which belonged to Walter son of Gilbert, who held of Richard de Cruys tenant of the King in capite; a custody within a custody.

Dower of the widow of ELIDERUS son of MEILER.—He accounts for 8*s.* ¾*d.* rent, &c. of a moiety of the dower of the relict of Eliderus son of Meiler in co. Kildare, of the purparty of Wentliana younger daughter and one of the heirs of said Meiler, she being a minor.

BALICULLAN, &c., co. Waterford.—He answers nothing concerning the issues of the lands which belonged to William de Stepeltoun at Balicullan, Balym'cart and Baliabram in co. Waterford, who held of the King in capite, in the King's hand by his death, because the lands are charged with a rent to the King greater than the extent, and Alex. de Bykenore answers therefor in another part of this roll.

He answers nothing concerning the issues of the lands which belonged to Almaric de St. Amand at Reyn, Athmacte, Molaglaragh, Lydestoun, and Baliscadan, co. Dublin, in the King's hand by the death of said Almaric, because Walter de Thornbury to whom the custody was granted on 21 Sep. a.r. iv. answers therefor hereunder.

DONAGHBROK, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 4*l.* rent of 1½ carucate of land at Donaghbrok, which belonged to Nigel le Brun deceased, who held of the King in capite, from 12 Sepr. a.r. iv.; 2*s.* ½*d.* rent of cottars which he had at Dengyn, co. Meath, for same time; 15*d.* rent of cottars at Rabo, co. Dublin, and 9*s.* 3*d.* rent of certain farmers at Rathdoun, co. Dublin. Sum, 4*l.* 12*s.* 6½*d.*

He answers nothing for the demesne lands of Nigel at Rabo, because they were tilled with the ploughs of said Nigel on the day he died, and nothing could be got therefor, nor for 27½ carucates which he had at Rauudoun, and elsewhere near the Leinster mountains, because the lands were waste and nothing could be got therefor.

Total of above sums 52*l.* 5*s.* 2¾*d.*

Payments and allowances into treasury amount to 36*l.* 1*s.* 5¾*d.*, and he owes 16*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.* accounted for at end of Kyldare account hereunder.

The allowances include escheator's fees, support for various heirs, expenses, &c.

NALLE, co. Dublin.—He accounts for 7*l.* 0*s.* 7¾*d.* rent of premises there, held in dower by Isabella formerly wife of Richard de Cruys, Richard the son and heir being a minor; and also for premises similarly held in Ardmasse.

Lands of Coulmaksawery, co. Waterford, Castlecnok, co. Dublin. Dromeskyn (held by William Hendy), Tarmefeghyn, and Tristelmothan as in last account.

He answers nothing concerning the rent and issues of the lands held of the King in capite at Balyhamond, Balyhauuly and Balytyr, co. Dublin, by William Wallop, because said lands were committed to William de Meones, a baron of the Exchequer, until the majority of the heir of William Wallop, and he answers therefor in account for co. Dublin a.r. viij.

Lands of Reymund Chauere in co. Catherlagh and Clonobrenan (belonging to Walter son of Gilbert), as in last account.

KYLSCHENALETH, co. Lymerick.—He accounts for 20*s.* rent, &c. of two parts of Kylschenaleth manor, in the King's hand by the death of John de Valle junior, who held the lands of Maurice son of Thomas, under age; a custody within a custody.

LIMERICK BISHOPRIC.—He accounts for 5*s.* rent, &c. of two parts of the lands which Robert Beauver held of the bishopric, see being vacant; a custody within a custody.

LYSKILTHYN, co. Waterford.—He accounts for 3*s.* 4*d.* rent of 20 acres of land at Lyskilthyn, co. Waterford, which Gilbert de Penbrok, who held lands in capite, aliened without license.

Land of MATTHEW DE BRUYS in co. Waterford.—He accounts for 2*s.* rent of these lands, aliened without license by said Matthew, who held them of the King in capite.

Dower of widow of Eliderus son of Meiler as in last account.

No 18,807

DUBLIN CASTLE,

1st September, 1908.

SIR,

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 28th ult., forwarding, for submission to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Fortieth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I am,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed), J. B. DOUGHERTY.

The Deputy Keeper,
Public Record Office of Ireland,
Four Courts,
Dublin.

THE FORTIETH REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

AND KEEPER OF THE STATE PAPERS

IN IRELAND.

TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF ABERDEEN,

LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY

I respectfully beg to submit my Report, under the direction of the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls, and pursuant to the 24th section of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, on the proceedings had during the year 1907 in connexion with the Public Records of Ireland.

1. A collection of 459 Books and Parcels of Papers, records of the Irish Branch of the Commissariat Department of the War Office, 1845–52, which had been deposited among the War Office papers in the Public Record Office, London, has, with the sanction of the Army Council, been transferred from London to this office. During the famine period, 1845–9, the storage, transport, and distribution of food supplies, and to a very large extent, especially in 1846–7, the organisation of the admirable system of relief, were controlled and carried out through the medium of the Commissariat Department of the Army, which was specially strengthened in Ireland for this purpose.

A large mass of papers of the Commission for Relief of Distress under 10 Vic., c. 7, and other Acts, with which the Commissariat was in intimate co-operation, were already preserved here.

The Commissariat collection now received contains among other classes: Letters received by Sir R. Routh, Commissary-General, from the Treasury in reference to purchase of stores, Government contributions, &c., also from Commissaries, Relief officers, and others; Tenders and contracts for bread, meat, and forage; Accounts of stores, of local Relief committees, of grants and issues of meal. The latter sometimes in detail, giving names of the poor recipients.

In 1852 the Irish branch of the Commissariat was, for the time, discontinued, and its records removed to headquarters. They were arranged and ticketed in 1854 by Mr. Lascelles, and passed to the Record Office with the War Office Papers.

2. The arrangement of the more important portion of the Records brought in sacks from the Landed Estates Record Office, Custom House, in 1869 (referred to in the 33rd Report, par. 19), has been completed by Mr. Langman, whose report on the records found is printed as an Appendix to this Report.

The Records thus made available consist chiefly of Warrants and Debentures for payments, from about the beginning of the 17th century; Accounts, and cancelled Stock Debentures, also Letters, Parliamentary Papers, Legal Papers, and some misplaced documents from other collections.

The Warrants and Debentures are supplemental to others of the same classes already arranged, and, with them, form the fullest record of the payments for public works and services, military and civil, in Ireland, obtainable from the end of the 16th century.

The Accounts contain much detail, especially for the Commonwealth period, and for military affairs, 1794 to 1816. The papers of the Commission for stating the accounts of the Army in Ireland—1689–96—are full of particulars and names not hitherto available.

3. Attention has been called to the fact that the operation of the Land Purchase Acts, in the cases of estates which are being completely sold, is calculated to risk the loss of many old Estate Records which may be of interest. With the removal of any immediate reason for keeping them, and the closing of the offices in which they are now kept, there is a danger that old Maps, early Rentals, Manor Court Rolls, and other papers of very considerable value for local history, may suffer from neglect or even be destroyed. Under the 16th section of the Public Records Act, "any Trustee or other Person having the custody of any Deeds or Documents, which, in the opinion of the Master of the Rolls, are fit to be deposited in the Public Record Office" are authorized to deposit them here. It would be very desirable that Landowners and Agents of Estates, who may be in possession of old Records of real interest, which it is no longer necessary to keep, should avail themselves of the provisions of this section.

This number is very greatly in excess of the number of searches for Public Departments in any previous year.

53. Two hundred and eighty-two certificates were granted for examination of Records for Literary purposes. Under these 6,029 volumes or files of Records were produced for literary readers, a larger number than in any previous year.

Arrangement and Preservation of Records.

54. The examination and arrangement of the contents of miscellaneous sacks from the former Landed Estates Record Office, Custom House, has been continued. The contents of 36 sacks have been arranged during the year.

55. The Bills of the Equity side of the Court of Exchequer, 8 Oct., 1708, to 8 May, 1711, 36 parcels, and 73 parcels of Answers, 14 May, 1707, to 16 July, 1712, have been checked, arranged, and parcelled.

56. The Crown and Peace Office Records of the several counties received during the year have been classified, arranged, stamped, and catalogued. The increment of Wills and Testamentary and Administration papers for 1886 has been checked, stamped, and put up in 85 zinc boxes. Sixty-one bundles of King's Bench Warrants to enter and satisfy Judgments, 1693-1837, have been arranged and parcelled. Fifty-seven bundles of Landed Estates Court Conveyances, 1851-4, have been checked and numbered. One hundred and sixty bundles of Affidavits of the same court have been stamped.

57. Eighty volumes of Records have been re-bound. The binding of the Census returns has been commenced for those of the 1841 Census. Twelve Patent Rolls, and 30 other Records have been repaired.

Indexing and Calendaring.

58. The Revision of the Catalogues of Records with a view to the preparation of a general Guide to the Records (Rep. xxxiii., par. 15), has been continued by Mr. Wood, for the Rolls Office and Hanaper Office, Chancery, the Tipperary Palatinate records, and the Council Office.

59. The Calendar of Inquisitions for County Limerick (Rep. xxxviii., par. 63) has been continued by Mr. M'Enery to the reign of James I.

60. The Index to Chancery Side Bar Orders, 1858-75, has been completed. Further progress has been made on the Index to Chancery Orders, 1840-56. Vice-Chancellor's Order Book, vol. 29, has been indexed. The index to Administration Bonds, diocese of Down, is being revised, in consequence of the finding of a large number of misplaced Bonds.

61. The Index of Wills of the Prerogative Court, 1536-1811, prepared by the Irish Record Commission, having been found to need revision, a re-examination of the Wills has been commenced, and continued for letters A and B.

Printing of Calendars, Indexes, and Records.

62. The first volume of the Statutes of Ireland (Report xxxii., par. 80) was published during the year; and considerable progress made with a second volume. The entire text of a second volume of the Calendar of the Justiciary Rolls of Edward I. was in the printer's hands at the end of the year, and a large part of the work was in type.

63. An Index to the 31st to 40th Reports of the Deputy Keeper of the Records in Ireland, prepared by Mr. Langman, is added as an Appendix to this Report. This Index includes references to the Accounts contained in the Pipe Rolls, catalogues of which from Henry III. to 10 Edward II. were printed as appendices to Reports xxxv. to xxxix.

64. The publication of the maps of the Down Survey of Ireland, made 1655-9, has been on more than one occasion urged on the attention of Government. The extent and cost of the reproduction and the very imperfect state of the Record Series of Maps of the Survey has hitherto prevented the work from being carried out. The results of the Down Survey were at first laid down on large protractions, each representing a barony, on the scale of 40 perches to the inch. From these originals several series of maps were drawn. The set supplied for official purposes of the Surveyor-General's Office consisted of a series of maps of the parishes which contained forfeited lands, usually on the scale of the original protractions, with index maps for each barony on a more or less reduced scale. Two or three other sets of the Barony Maps seem to have been prepared on the scales used for the barony index maps of the official set. On these were inserted most of the details contained on the Parish Maps deposited in the Surveyor-General's Office. Of these sets of barony maps one certainly remained in the possession of Sir William Petty until his death; and a second was probably retained for his personal use by Sir Thomas Taylor, deputy surveyor-general at the Restoration.

Of these maps there are now in this office (1) such of the original protractions as are known to survive; (2) the maps and fragments of the Surveyor-General's official set which escaped the fire of 1711; (3) a portion of the incomplete Taylor set received from the Quit Rent Office, and which were purchased from the representatives of Sir Thomas Taylor by the Commissioners of Woods and Forests in 1837.

The only set of maps made from the Down Survey which remains proximately complete is that of Sir William Petty himself. It is related that this set, while being conveyed from Ireland to London in 1710, was captured by a French privateer, conveyed to Paris and deposited in the Bibliotheque Royale. Here they were discovered in 1786 by Col. Vallancey, by whose instrumentality copies were subsequently made which are still preserved in this office.

The attention of your Excellency's Government was recently directed to these original maps of Sir William Petty at Paris. At your Excellency's instance, through His Majesty's Ambassador at Paris, the French Government gave permission for the temporary removal of the maps to Southampton for photographic reproduction at the office of the Ordnance Survey. This has been done during the past year, and the facsimiles of these maps can now be obtained by the public through the Agents for the sale of Ordnance Survey Maps.

Proceedings under Parochial Records Acts.

65. The Registers of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials of four parishes became attachable under 38 & 39 Vic., c. 59, by death or resignation of incumbents in office in 1870; and warrants were signed by the Master of the Rolls for their transfer to this office. A warrant for transfer was also issued in another case (Ballyadams), where the records remained in local custody under Retention Order, but where the provision for the safety of the Records had become unsatisfactory.

66. The Records of the following Parishes have been received :—

Parish.	County.	Vols.	Baptisms.	Marriages.	Burials.
Ballyadams, ...	Queen's ...	4	1791-1904	1793-1870	1792-1906
Baltinglass, ...	Wicklow, ...	1	1831-51	1831-44 1849-67	1831-76
Castleventry, ...	Cork, ...	1	1825-72	1825-44	1830-70
Glengarriff, ...	Cork, ...	1	1863-1907	—	—

An Order for the retention of the Records in local custody under 39 & 40 Vic., c. 58, has been made in the case of Lisnaskea.

67. Books of the following parishes, in custody of the Incumbents, have been re-bound in this office :—S. Peter, Drogheda; Currin, Eglish, Galloon, Kiltoghart.

68. Continued complaints are received of the difficulty of making searches in parochial records remaining in local custody. Some who have applied to Incumbents by letter complain that they can obtain no reply. Others who have made application in person, have failed to find the custodian of the books, have been refused permission to search the books, or have been deterred by heavy fees. Three cases were reported during the year in which applicants were informed that there were no books of the required date, though in each case the books wanted should have been in the parish safe, and were found by the Incumbent on representations from this office. The number of clergy of whom such complaints have been made form a very small proportion of those who are charged with the care of Records. Still the complaints are sufficiently numerous to point to the continued retention of the older Parish Registers in local custody as being very undesirable.

69. Further evidence of the existence of Parish Registers not in legal custody has been furnished by the publication in the Journal of the Association for the Preservation of the Memorials of the Dead, Ireland, of extracts from a lost register of the Parish of Cloncha, of much earlier date than the register returned to this office. The lost book had passed out of the hands of the Parish Clergyman before the transfer of the books to this office. The gentleman who supplied the extracts is dead, and I have failed as yet to obtain any information as to the present whereabouts of the book from his representative.

70. Mr. John G. Usher returned to this office a Register of the parish of Baltinglas, 1831-76, which, having been removed from the proper custody before the appointment of the late Incumbent, was returned to him after the transfer of the Records of the Parish to this office.

State Paper Office.

71. The Government Papers received during the year 1907 include Chief Secretary's Office registered papers for 1897 (69 boxes), and Register and Index for 1895; Civil Affairs Book, 1847-54; Papers as to appointment of Governors of Lunatic Asylums, 1881-4; Papers of Commission of Enquiry, Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction.

72. The Registered Papers have been checked and put up in cartons Nos. 4161 to 4206.

73. A system of electric lighting has been installed throughout the Tower and offices. The hot water heating apparatus has been renewed and made more efficient.

74. The searches for Government Departments during the year numbered 558.

75. The Calendar of Official Papers, 1790-1831 (referred to in Reports iv., pp. 24-5, and xxxviii., par. 76), has been advanced from carton 337 to 377 (sub-head Miscellaneous).

76. The General Catalogue of the contents of the Tower has been completed for all except Room VIII.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency as my Report.

Dated at the Public Record Office, Dublin, this 28th day of August, 1908.

JAMES MILLS,
Deputy Keeper of the Records and Keeper of the State Papers in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

R. E. MEREDITH, M.R.

APPENDIX.

Report of Mr. A. E. Langman on Records in Sacks transferred from former Landed Estates Record Office in the Custom House, Dublin.

The examination of the sacks containing the papers of earlier date has been completed. They were found to contain the following classes, which have now been arranged and put up:—

Warrants, 1602-1813.

These form a very large collection and are mostly Government authorisations for payments on the establishment; in the great majority of cases for military purposes. Among the earlier warrants are a number issued by the Lord President of Munster. During the Commonwealth period a large number of warrants were issued by Commissioners of Revenue for the various provinces and precincts: among them are to be found some for the payment of fixed sums for the killing of wolves (vide Prendergast, Cromwellian Settlement of Ireland, pp. 309 et seq.)

Warrants (with King's and Queen's Letters), 1621-1837.

Government authorisations for payments not on the establishment, but specially sanctioned by King's or Queen's Letter; of these Letters in most cases only copies are found in this collection; but in the earlier years some originals are attached to the warrants.

Warrants (Letters of Concordatum), 1601-1795.

Authorisations by Lord Lieutenant and Council for payments out of the fund styled Concordatum, so called from the fact that the earlier Warrants and Orders of the Privy Council began "It has been agreed"; equivalent to the earlier Latin form, "Concordatum, &c."

Wine Warrants, 1600-1790.

By the Statute 11 Eliz., Sess. 4, c. 1, § 5 the Lord Deputy had full power to limit and appoint to all peers and privy councillors such quantity of wines as he should think fit according to their degree, free of customs or subsidy. By an order of 1 April, 1618, this power was restricted to five hundred pounds. By 14 and 15, Ch. II., c. 9, § 16 this restriction appears to have been removed, and the statute of 1569 restored.

Warrants to pay Chief Constables, 1789-1808.

Under 27 Geo. III., c. 40, § 10, payments of salary to Chief Constables were only authorised on the certificate of the Justices of the Peace: the certificates are put up with the Warrants.

Miscellaneous Warrants include—

Warrants for particulars of lands compounded for, 1634-41 (Commission for Defective Titles); 1658-9; 1684 (Commission of Grace). These warrants are directed to the Surveyor General.

Warrants (Commissioners of Navigation Act), 1744-1784: these Commissioners were first appointed under 2 Geo. 1, c. 12.

Warrants (Commissioners for making wide and convenient streets in Dublin), 1782-1794: these Commissioners were first appointed under 31 Geo. 2, c. 19.

Warrants (Trustees of Linen Manufactures), 1709-1789: these Trustees were appointed under 9 Anne, c. 3, § 3, and subsequent acts, a list of which is contained in the preamble to 19 Geo .2, c. 6.

Warrants (Lord Chancellor), 1656-1709, directed to the Clerk of the Crown and Hanaper for paying Incidental Expenses of the Court of Chancery; among others to the Prebendaries and Vicars of Christ Church for the rent of the Chancery Chamber.

Warrants (Barons of the Exchequer), 1611-1692, for payment of ten shillings to the Vicars Choral of Christ Church for "doing homage to his Majestie" or "performing their duties in the usual manner."

Warrants (Commissioners of Accounts), 1618-1712, for paying allowances to officials connected with stating the accounts.

Warrants (Master-General of the Ordnance), 1704-5, for payment of expenses connected with the Ordnance, directed to the Paymaster of the Train of Artillery.

Warrants (Palatines), 1710.

Warrants (Commissioners of H. M. Treasury in Ireland), 1671-4, orders to Deputy Receiver-General to accept bills to make payments under Act of Explanation: also 1689—in part payment of general warrants.

Auditor-General's Letter Book, 1794-5.

Treasury Papers.

Letters to Auditor-General directing issues on unsatisfied orders, 1795-1814.

Treasury Warrants for issue of Orders and Debentures, mostly pursuant to Acts of Parliament, 1794-1815.

Government Warrants for issues on Vote of Credit, 1795-1814, directed to Commissioners of Treasury to make payments out of any sums applicable to Votes of Credit.

Treasury Warrants for issue of Concordatum, 1796-9.

Notifications from Lord Lieutenant to Auditor-General of appointments and other charges, 1783-1800 and 1814-5.

Correspondence concerning Establishments and Estimates, 1781-1807.

Treasury Letters, 1799-1805.

Informing Auditor-General that the Teller of H. M. Exchequer has been directed to receive certain sums over-issued to agents.

Orders on Collectors, 1659-1803.

Among these are to be found orders for payment of witnesses and counsel at Assizes, 1698; orders by Commissioners of Land Tax to pay Clerks' fees, 1700-1; payments for supplying lighthouses with fires; for postage; incidents, 1787-8, including travelling charges; sick allowances; allowances for house rent, &c.; also orders on the Cashier of Forfeitures.

Judges' Lodging Money, 1802-22.

Orders of High Sheriffs on Treasury for payment of money for lodging the Judges on Circuit.

Instructions to pay Salaries and Pensions, 1780-1802.

Concordatum Orders, 1802-13.

Drafts on Auditor-General.

Letters authorising issue of Debentures, 1721-1793.

Letters from the Lord Lieutenant to the Auditor-General for payment of salaries and pensions by debentures.

Debentures, 1595-1802.

Receipts for payment of salaries and allowances: a very large collection.

Debentures (Regimental), 1697-9.

DEBENTURES for arrears of Army, 1673-4.

Issued by Commissioners for stating the Accounts of the Army, and consisting of separate debentures not only for the officers, but also for the private soldiers of the various troops and companies. A large collection.

ENTRY BOOKS OF DEBENTURES, 1610-1711.

Some of these are fragmentary, but the volume for 1685-1703 contains, among others, a complete list of debentures issued for the officials of the Four Courts.

COMMONWEALTH DEBENTURES.

Certificates of amount due upon composition and agreement for arrears for service in Ireland. Such amount to be satisfied "out of the Rebels" lands, or "others in the dispose of the Commonwealth."

DEEDS OF SALE OF DEBENTURES, 1655-7.

CERTIFICATES OF '49 OFFICERS, 1672-3.

Stating amount payable by drawing of lots, in lieu of arrears to officers of the army in 1649, with Treasury order for payment endorsed.

TRANSPORT DEBENTURES, 1695-1702.

Debentures made under several Acts of William III. for interest of the debt due to ships employed on Transport service.

LICENCES OF ABSENCE, 1709-1800.

Sanction of payment of salary or pension notwithstanding absence from the kingdom, with notification to Auditor-General.

LIBERATES, 1602-1672.

Writs for payments of yearly pensions or sums of money granted under the Great Seal, directed to the Vice-Treasurer.

ACCOUNTS.

These have been arranged as nearly as possible in three periods: pre-Commonwealth, Commonwealth, and subsequent dates.

Among the earlier records, a list of which is set out in the detailed Search Room entry books, will be found Exchequer Receipt Books; Accounts of Remembrancers, Commissaries of Victuals, Receivers-General, Farmers of Customs, etc.; various accounts of building and repairing storehouses, forts or ships—among these are interesting references to the beginning of the work at Haulbowline, and to repairs at the house of the Phœnix; customs charges; collectors' accounts; accounts of expenses for 'several daies of Tryumphe'; also lists of fines and amercements (mostly fragmentary); receipt rolls of 3 Edw. VI.; and various rent rolls and surveys.

Commonwealth accounts chiefly consist of Impost books; port, customs and excise accounts; military ledgers, stores and provision accounts; some bundles of military accounts; muster rolls, charges, &c., relating to the forces at Inverloughy; lists of arrears due to soldiers; accounts of works done; repairs to buildings, &c.; rent rolls; a book of leases, and papers relating to rents and surveys.

In the later period there is a collection of Subsidy, Hearth Money and Poll Tax Rolls (mostly fragmentary); surveys and rent rolls; also a large collection of papers relating to Quit and Crown Rents; Exchequer receipt books; various account books: revenue, district, and port accounts arranged according to the respective ports and districts; fees on Army Commissions; papers relating to fees of law officers, &c.; abstracts of national accounts, and abstracts of receipts and payments into Treasury office.

Subsequent to 1660, military papers have been arranged in a separate series; before 1794 the collection is very miscellaneous, including orders of Commissioners for Militia, directing payment out of the subsidies for supply of pistols, &c., for arming the Militia; Ledger Books; Account Book of King James' Army, 1689.

From 1794 to 1816 a more regular and very large series of accounts exists, mostly of a regimental nature.

Under the head of military papers may be included States of the Army and Militia in Ireland, 1794-1816, and Monthly Returns (Yeomanry), 1796-1802. These yeomanry returns contain the names of all members of the corps, both officers and men. Also baggage certificates, 1708-1818, and official correspondence.

COMMISSIONERS FOR STATING THE ACCOUNTS OF THE ARMY IN IRELAND, 1689-96.

This is a large collection dealing with the financial problems left by the war, and comprises seventy-five bundles divided into the following classes:—

Lists of debts due by soldiers and officers of various regiments, with creditors' names. Certificates of debts charged to regimental accounts. Petitions and Regimental accounts. Hospital Accounts. Entry Book of Accounts. Miscellaneous Papers; and Bills, Supplies, and Receipts.

Other classes of accounts are Customs and Excise Accounts, 1822-1837; Sundry Private Accounts, 1660-1796; Constats and Sheriffs' Accounts 1543-1811; a large number of receipts and acquittances, and also a collection of papers connected with Mr. John Bayly, who was an agent for military purposes, c. 1724-52.

BONDS, 1639-1779.

A miscellaneous collection, including bonds of Custom House officers, and a large number of bonds of Michael Mitchell, Merchant, of Dublin, about the end of the seventeenth century.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS for payment of sums due, 1619-1818.

CORONERS' INQUESTS, 1632-40.

ESTABLISHMENTS, 1666-1763.

FRENCH PENSIONERS, 1691-1822.

A collection of papers referring to French Pensioners, including certificates of life and death; and certificates that the pensioners have no other means of subsistence; lists of pensioners (including other than French), and licences of absence.

PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS.

Including copies of Acts of Parliament, Orders, Votes and Resolutions of the Houses of Parliament.

COMPENSATION PAPERS for Boroughs abolished by the Act of Union 40 Geo. III., c. 34 Ir.

LEGAL PAPERS.

These include Orders of Composition, 1637-9; Deeds, Copy and Draft Deeds, 1598-1790; Petitions, Affidavits, Orders of Reference to Auditor-General and Reports; Ecclesiastical Deeds and Leases; Miscellaneous Orders; Jury Lists, c. 1698; Copy Judgments for Enrolment, Briefs, Notes, Costs, &c.

LETTERS.

Among these are the correspondence of members of the Jocelyn family; of John Goodwyn, of Chas. Dering, and Lewis Jones, Auditors-General. These are arranged separately, but the miscellaneous correspondence (1652-1820) includes letters to Geo. Clark, Secretary at War, c. 1690; William Robinson, Commissioner for Stating Accounts and Paymaster of His Majesty's forces in Ireland, c. 1697; Michael Mitchell, Merchant; and Captain William Dobbin, Secretary to Commissioners of Management of the forfeited Rebels' Estates, &c., of Ireland, 1690, and later Commissioner for Stating Accounts; also some interesting letters from one Pulteney, c. 1698, about political and social affairs, with no endorsement, but probably directed to Chas. Dering.

Miscellaneous Official Correspondence, 1772-1806.

Applications, &c., for payment of pensions and salaries, 1795-1822.

Mostly letters to bankers and agents authorising them to receive payment.

Maps.

A few, chiefly ecclesiastical, and of the diocese of Armagh.

Cancelled Government Debentures, 1715-1823.

This is a very large class, consisting of Certificates of Debentures issued by Government, subsequently cancelled on Redemption or conversion into Stock. The names of the holders, the amount, and the nature of the loan are shown in the Certificates; the great bulk of which range between 1786-1806.

There were also found four Fiauts of the reigns of Elizabeth, James I. and Charles I.; an Exchequer Inquisition of 1590; and a number of Chancery pleadings, ranging from 1587 to 1683. These have been put up in their proper places.

A Commission to James M'Carty to serve as Lieutenant in William III.'s army, signed G. Prince d'Orange, 5 Feb., 1688/9, during the Interregnum, was found and placed in the show case.
